SENATOR TILLMAN AT CLEMSON.

Gives Graduating Class History of the Agricultural College.

The fifteenth commencement of Clemson college took place Tuesday night, a class of eighty-seven being presented with diplomas. The principal address was delivered by Dr. Jas. Patterson, president emeritus of the University of Missouri. The Norris medal was presented to Cadet Albert McMichael Salley of Orangeburg, the presentation being by Senator Tillman, who spoke in part as follows:

"Ladies and Gentlemen: My physician has forbidden me to make a speech, but I cannot on this occasion refrain from expressing to you my great pleasure at being here, and, above all, to return to you thanks for the heartiness of your welcome. I shall not take long, but there are some things I think ought to be said, and if my strength holds out I will attempt to say them. Our honorable president of the board of trustees has spoken of Mr. Clemson's dream and of his vision years ago. I also had a dream and a vision, and will tell you of it. In 1885, twenty-six years ago, the 5th day of next August, I attended the joint meeting of the State Grange and State Agricultural society, at Bennettsville, in Marlboro county. I offered a series of resolutions there, which were not adopted by the meeting, but the speech I made on this occasion met with such a spontaneous outburst of approval from the assembled farmers of the state that I felt sufficiently encouraged to march forward along the line I had marked out.

"That fall I wrote a series of letters for the News and Courier, which was then the leading paper of the state and reached almost every farm house. In these articles I advocated a different education from that which we had in the state. I urged the establishment of a separate college, although the Bennettsville resolution had only demanded that the legislature establish a department in the University of South Carolina, which would be devoted to agriculture and mechanical arts and to which women would be admitted. I have seen the time when I would enjoy very much talking to you. I have addressed thousands and hundreds of thousands of my fellow citizens in this and in other states, and enjoyed the stimulus of a large audience, but my mind will not respond to my will as it once did.

"I will go on and tell you about my vision. I dreamed that there ought to be a college for boys and girls that would equip them for the battle of life, a college where the studies would be not only Latin and Greek and the classics, but such as would prepare a man to make his bread and butter. I had a vision, not of this school, but something like it; not of Winthrop, but something like it. I did not dream that this school would become what it is or that Winthrop would become what it is. I attended the commencement at Winthrop last week and saw 700 young women, your sisters, your sweethearts. Well, is there anything more to say? They were there in full force and were the prettiest things I ever saw or ever expect to see again. It is not often that a man is allowed to live and to see his dreams come true, and to my fellow members of the board of trustees and my coworkers in the state is due my realization of these dreams.

"Now, young men, I had the good sense and the good luck to find a good woman who was willing to hitch up with me and who has trotted down the road of life with me ever since. I consider my marriage the greatest piece of luck I ever had. I want to say to you that if you will go and do likewise, you ought to be successful, for there is nothing in the world so inspiring as the love of a pure woman.

"But I must proceed to do what I came out here for, and if Mr. Albert McMichael Salley will come upon the rostrum I will award to him the medal. Mr. Salley, I wish you would put it on and let us see how handsome you look. Now turn yourself around, for there are some girls up yonder who may wish to see you. In presenting you this medal I want to have a few words to say about how you got it and whence it came. Since I have been here my mind has been busy thinking about the men who have helped us plan and work for this college. Three of them are no more. I speak of the life trustees, Col. D. K. Norris, the Hon. R. E. Bowen and Capt. John E. Bradley. These three life trustees have ceased their labors and have crossed that bourne to which we are all hastening.

"You are not near enough to it to realize or consider it as yet, but I will soon be there and join these men. Col. D. K. Norris was a man who loved the college and worked for it day and night. While he was a trustee he helped to plan and build it, and he as much as any other trustee did his full duty to bring about the results which you see about you. If you will wear this medal honorably, which I trust and know you will, because I know the county you are from and the breed to which you belong; I know your family and people and the stock from which you came; I hope that you will occupy the highest position to which you may aspire.

"And now, young friends, I want to ask you to take home to your parents my greetings, and say to them that Clemson college has made you what you are; that it has afforded you the opportunity to develop your highest powers. If, in after life, you will climb to the top of the ladder, that is all I ask. All men can't be senators or governors, but every man can be a good citizen, good husband and a good father. And if you will remember this and let it be an inspiration to you to your future career, that you went to Clemson; that you at least learned how to obey orders. Although I have a recollection of April Fool's Day, when some did not, you will always be proud of the fact of your years at Clemson, and if, in after life, when you have climbed high, it can be said, here goes a Clemson boy, a poor boy that Clemson has helped to educate, that is all I ask of you. I ask God's blessing on you all."

HICKORY GROVE NOTES.

Correspondence The Yorkville Enquirer

Hickory Grove, June 14.—Mrs. John McDaniel died suddenly Sunday, June 11th, while on her way to church, of heart failure. She had been to see her physician and after securing the desired medicine decided to attend church before going home, but just before reaching the church, in front of Mr. McClain's residence, it was noticed by her companion that she was struggling for breath. He immediately summoned help, but shortly after carrying her in Mr. McClain's home, she breathed her last. Mrs. McDaniel had been afflicted with heart disease for a number of years, but her case was not thought serious, either by her family or her physician. Mrs. McDaniel was for a number of years a member of the Methodist church, and lived an exemplary Christian life; giving a great deal of her time to the advancement of God's cause here on earth. However, she was not only an ardent church worker, but she was a devoted mother and wife. She was in the 52d year of her age.

Mr. N. M. McDill spent Friday, June 9th, in Gaffney.

Mr. W. G. Fowler of Wilkinsville, and Mr. States Aycock of Union, were in town yesterday on business.

Messrs. Fred and Grady McGill are home from Erskine college, Due West

Mrs. Cade of Bordeaux, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. W. T. Slaughter, is improving rapidly.

Mrs. T. S. Martin and daughter, Miss Eva, left for their home at Fairforest Friday, June the 9th.

The Rev. W. B. Justus spent a short while in Blacksburg yesterday on business.

Revolution In Portugal.—Revolution is reported to have broken out in Portugal. Advices received here today, says a Madrid cable of Thursday, state that as the result of a monarchist uprising the garrison at Chaves has revolted, killing the commandant, and that the monarchists and mutineers have stormed and destroyed a republican newspaper plant. The revolt is said to be rapidly spreading toward the Spanish frontier and many Portuguese refugees are fleeing into Spain without waiting to secure passports.

Chaves is located in Traz-os-Montes, on the Tamega river. It has a population of 10,000. Chaves is 44 miles west of Braganca and boasts of a fine old Roman bridge of eighteen arches. It is noted for its hot saline springs. Advices indicate that the Portuguese government was not taken by surprise by the uprising, for it has been making preparations for revolt for weeks. Orders had been issued, mobilizing the army for "inspection and reorganization." The real object of this move, however, was to safeguard the new republican government against monarchist plots.

Rumors of unrest from Ponte Da-Barca and Montalegre have also led to the sending of republican reinforcements to those points. Captain Couceire seems to be in command of the operations of the royalists along the frontier.

The government has sent a large quantity of artillery from Lisbon, stationing the guns at strategic points along the northern frontier.

OBITUARY.

DIED—At the home of its parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Darby Smith of Yorkville No. 1, WILLIE LOVE, Wednesday, June 14, 1911, of whooping cough, aged 4 years. The interment was at Union cemetery after funeral services conducted by Rev. W. E. Lowe.

The Cotton Market.

Yorkville, June 16—Cotton 15 3-8.

New York, June 15.—Spot cotton closed quiet, 15 points lower; middling uplands 15.65; middling gulf 15.90; no sales. Futures opened steady and closed steady as follows: June 15.19; July 15.26; Aug. 14.89; Sept. 13.71; Oct. 13.40; Nov. 13.40; Dec. 13.42; Jan. 13.40; March 13.46; May 13.53.

New York, June 15.—Reports of rain in the southwest were followed by even more general and active liquidation than yesterday in the cotton market today and prices broke very sharply with the close steady, but a net loss of from 12 to 26 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 6 to 14 points in response to private rain reports from Texas and lower cables. There was good buying by leading bull brokers on the decline, but offerings were too heavy to be absorbed except on a scale-down, and while a slight rally followed the western belt forecast, which held out no definite promise of further showers in Texas, the market soon weakened again, and, in the late afternoon showed a net loss of from 27 to 32 points on the old crop, and of 19 points on new crop positions.

Trading in the old crop months was not active, but July led the decline, in the absence of support selling at 15.20 or 32 points under the closing figures of last night and 9 points below the high record of the season.

New crop deliveries were very active and excited on the break, which carried October contracts off to 13.34 or 45 points below the high price of the earlier week, but it was thought that the heavy selling and stop-loss orders were responsible for the sharp decline.

The close was only 6 to 7 points up from the lowest. Wall street was a heavy seller during the day, presumably for both accounts. The south was also a seller here, and about the only demand aside from covering by recent sellers was that from the prominent bull brokers and trade interests, who seemed to feel that the rains so far reported had been insufficient to permanently relieve the drought.
