

Scraps and Facts.

A heavy tax on the dowries on American brides in international marriages, "so that the penurious but titled fortune-hunters might secure but a small moiety of the price the bride pays for a name which she herself dishonors by thus putting it up at auction to the highest bidder."...

The Yorkville Enquirer.

Entered at the Postoffice in Yorkville as Mail Matter of the Second Class.

YORKVILLE, S. C.

FRIDAY, JULY 14, 1911.

We are inclined to the opinion that the successful consummation of the mill merger will effectively squelch the value of common stock.

The Georgia legislature has elected Governor Hoke Smith to the United States senate and it looks as if Joseph M. Brown is going to be elected governor to succeed Smith.

The Prohibitionists co-operated with the local optimists and elected Ansel; but when it came time for the local optimists to co-operate with the Prohibitionists, they refused to co-operate.

We are reproducing the defense that the appointive members of the state board of education make of themselves principally because they are entitled to it. He estimates that they are entitled to it.

Hoke Smith states that he will not resign his office as governor of Georgia until next December. He calls attention to the fact that a pair can be arranged for him so that Georgia need not lose her vote.

Swearingen is Willing to Wait For Vindication In Facts. State Superintendent of Education Swearingen, says the Columbia Record returned to Columbia Tuesday.

The Yorkville Enquirer is worrying about the song of the mosquito in its territory. No mosquito ever sang more sweetly than the Charleston insect, not even one New Jersey species.

It seems to us that those "local option" papers which are now urging the consolidation of all opposition to Governor Bleasdale, should have thought of that before the first primary last summer.

In view of the now very patent fact that the corn crop is going to be short this year, and there is going to be a general scarcity of all kinds of roughness that are usually relied upon with which to feed stock through the winter.

The supply this year is going to be scarce—the supply of this refuse stuff—but such as is to be had should be looked after. Those who neglect to utilize everything that can be used as forage in the winter are going to have occasion to regret their neglect.

In a recent issue of The Enquirer it is remembered that there was a calling of the fact that in the fall of 1881, some farmers even gathered cotton stalks as soon as the cotton was picked off and before frost, and used them as stock feed during the winter.

Announcement has been made in London of the engagement of Lord Kitchener, commander-in-chief of the British army, to Leonora Matilda, youngest daughter of Lionel Douglas Hearsay of the Kheri-Dowl, India.

At a point between Rock Hill and Port Mill the excursion train was returning from the city to the country.

LOCAL AFFAIRS. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. R. C. Jackson, Tirzah—Has a seven-eighths Jersey cow for sale.

J. L. McMill, Yorkville No. 1.—Will pay for advertising in the Enquirer a "round ring lost yesterday."

First National Bank, Yorkville.—Declares that its special sale will end tomorrow, and that the number of extra specials for the day.

J. L. Williams & Co.—Want you to take a look at the new "Patent" Low Prices quoted on a variety of goods.

National Union Bank.—Emphasizes its ability to keep your money safe and care of your banking business.

The blackberries that used to be so plentiful in this section are now very scarce. The price so far this season has been only one cent per bushel.

There was a pretty good rain at Bowling Green last Wednesday, the first of any consequence since last week. The rain was more than sufficient to saturate the soil.

Swearingen is Willing to Wait For Vindication In Facts. State Superintendent of Education Swearingen, says the Columbia Record returned to Columbia Tuesday.

The Yorkville Enquirer is worrying about the song of the mosquito in its territory. No mosquito ever sang more sweetly than the Charleston insect.

It seems to us that those "local option" papers which are now urging the consolidation of all opposition to Governor Bleasdale, should have thought of that before the first primary last summer.

In view of the now very patent fact that the corn crop is going to be short this year, and there is going to be a general scarcity of all kinds of roughness that are usually relied upon with which to feed stock through the winter.

The supply this year is going to be scarce—the supply of this refuse stuff—but such as is to be had should be looked after. Those who neglect to utilize everything that can be used as forage in the winter are going to have occasion to regret their neglect.

In a recent issue of The Enquirer it is remembered that there was a calling of the fact that in the fall of 1881, some farmers even gathered cotton stalks as soon as the cotton was picked off and before frost, and used them as stock feed during the winter.

Announcement has been made in London of the engagement of Lord Kitchener, commander-in-chief of the British army, to Leonora Matilda, youngest daughter of Lionel Douglas Hearsay of the Kheri-Dowl, India.

At a point between Rock Hill and Port Mill the excursion train was returning from the city to the country.

LOCAL AFFAIRS. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. R. C. Jackson, Tirzah—Has a seven-eighths Jersey cow for sale.

J. L. McMill, Yorkville No. 1.—Will pay for advertising in the Enquirer a "round ring lost yesterday."

First National Bank, Yorkville.—Declares that its special sale will end tomorrow, and that the number of extra specials for the day.

J. L. Williams & Co.—Want you to take a look at the new "Patent" Low Prices quoted on a variety of goods.

National Union Bank.—Emphasizes its ability to keep your money safe and care of your banking business.

The blackberries that used to be so plentiful in this section are now very scarce. The price so far this season has been only one cent per bushel.

There was a pretty good rain at Bowling Green last Wednesday, the first of any consequence since last week. The rain was more than sufficient to saturate the soil.

Swearingen is Willing to Wait For Vindication In Facts. State Superintendent of Education Swearingen, says the Columbia Record returned to Columbia Tuesday.

The Yorkville Enquirer is worrying about the song of the mosquito in its territory. No mosquito ever sang more sweetly than the Charleston insect.

It seems to us that those "local option" papers which are now urging the consolidation of all opposition to Governor Bleasdale, should have thought of that before the first primary last summer.

In view of the now very patent fact that the corn crop is going to be short this year, and there is going to be a general scarcity of all kinds of roughness that are usually relied upon with which to feed stock through the winter.

The supply this year is going to be scarce—the supply of this refuse stuff—but such as is to be had should be looked after. Those who neglect to utilize everything that can be used as forage in the winter are going to have occasion to regret their neglect.

In a recent issue of The Enquirer it is remembered that there was a calling of the fact that in the fall of 1881, some farmers even gathered cotton stalks as soon as the cotton was picked off and before frost, and used them as stock feed during the winter.

Announcement has been made in London of the engagement of Lord Kitchener, commander-in-chief of the British army, to Leonora Matilda, youngest daughter of Lionel Douglas Hearsay of the Kheri-Dowl, India.

At a point between Rock Hill and Port Mill the excursion train was returning from the city to the country.

LOCAL AFFAIRS. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. R. C. Jackson, Tirzah—Has a seven-eighths Jersey cow for sale.

J. L. McMill, Yorkville No. 1.—Will pay for advertising in the Enquirer a "round ring lost yesterday."

First National Bank, Yorkville.—Declares that its special sale will end tomorrow, and that the number of extra specials for the day.

J. L. Williams & Co.—Want you to take a look at the new "Patent" Low Prices quoted on a variety of goods.

National Union Bank.—Emphasizes its ability to keep your money safe and care of your banking business.

The blackberries that used to be so plentiful in this section are now very scarce. The price so far this season has been only one cent per bushel.

There was a pretty good rain at Bowling Green last Wednesday, the first of any consequence since last week. The rain was more than sufficient to saturate the soil.

Swearingen is Willing to Wait For Vindication In Facts. State Superintendent of Education Swearingen, says the Columbia Record returned to Columbia Tuesday.

The Yorkville Enquirer is worrying about the song of the mosquito in its territory. No mosquito ever sang more sweetly than the Charleston insect.

It seems to us that those "local option" papers which are now urging the consolidation of all opposition to Governor Bleasdale, should have thought of that before the first primary last summer.

In view of the now very patent fact that the corn crop is going to be short this year, and there is going to be a general scarcity of all kinds of roughness that are usually relied upon with which to feed stock through the winter.

The supply this year is going to be scarce—the supply of this refuse stuff—but such as is to be had should be looked after. Those who neglect to utilize everything that can be used as forage in the winter are going to have occasion to regret their neglect.

In a recent issue of The Enquirer it is remembered that there was a calling of the fact that in the fall of 1881, some farmers even gathered cotton stalks as soon as the cotton was picked off and before frost, and used them as stock feed during the winter.

Announcement has been made in London of the engagement of Lord Kitchener, commander-in-chief of the British army, to Leonora Matilda, youngest daughter of Lionel Douglas Hearsay of the Kheri-Dowl, India.

At a point between Rock Hill and Port Mill the excursion train was returning from the city to the country.

HEBURN AND WILLIAMS. The reciprocity debate in the senate yesterday was preceded by a sharp monologue incident to the vote on the Lodge resolution dismissing several laborers from the senate payroll.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

HEBURN AND WILLIAMS. The reciprocity debate in the senate yesterday was preceded by a sharp monologue incident to the vote on the Lodge resolution dismissing several laborers from the senate payroll.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

HEBURN AND WILLIAMS. The reciprocity debate in the senate yesterday was preceded by a sharp monologue incident to the vote on the Lodge resolution dismissing several laborers from the senate payroll.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

HEBURN AND WILLIAMS. The reciprocity debate in the senate yesterday was preceded by a sharp monologue incident to the vote on the Lodge resolution dismissing several laborers from the senate payroll.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.

Senator Williams had asked to have "Jim" Jones, the 82-year-old negro proprietor of the Standard Oil Company, removed from the senate payroll as a laborer.