

The people of the United States produced more whiskey during the fiscal year 1912 than ever before in the history of the country according to the preliminary annual report of Royal E. Cabell, commissioner of Internal Revenue, submitted to Secretary MacVeagh last Tuesday. The consumption of whiskey was exceeded only by the year 1907, but beer drinking fell off by a substantial percentage. The unprecedented smoking of 11,221,624, 684 cigarettes exceeding the record of 1911 by nearly 2,000,000,000 amazed treasury officials who were unable to account for the enormous increase. Stored in warehouses the country over are 262,756,070 gallons of whiskey and rum, the greatest on record, in Kentucky alone are stored 153,000,000 gallons which exceeds the amount of whiskey and rum in the whole United States eleven years ago. The record production of these intoxicants for 1912 was 188,000,000 gallons or 13,000,000 gallons greater than 1911. The consumption of wine and rum for 1912 was 17,458 gallons, the nearest approach to the record of 134,031,000 gallons in 1907. The consumption of beer for 1912 was 62,108,323 barrels, a decrease of over 1,108,000 barrels as compared with 1911.

John P. Scruggs, well known for many years as a deputy collector of Internal Revenue, died at his home in Greenville on August 12. Mr. Scruggs was a Confederate veteran and was 72 years of age.

At Philadelphia. Rev. J. H. Anderson, in preach at Philadelphia Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Portion of Address issued by N. B. Dial, Candidate for U. S. Senate. To the Democratic Voters of South Carolina.

I have not criticized or said anything unkind about either of my opponents. However, they are both old men, and Edgefield County has held the senatorship for thirty years. Senator Tillman has been an exceedingly able man, and has attracted a great deal of attention. He has had all the honor we can possibly bestow upon a southern man, having been in office twenty-two years. Therefore, I think he is making a mistake to ask the people to re-elect him to a six-year term. I am not asking him to resign, or running against his term of office, but am asking the people to elect me to succeed him. He says his health is such that he cannot make any speeches; he has not been to a single meeting. If he is too feeble to make some speeches, his health must be too weak to discharge the duties of the office. In the nature of things there cannot be a substitute in a legislative body. If the senator is ill, he must resign. You can obtain an agent in nearly any other business in the world. It would not do to say that he can pair; we do not send men to the senate to pair. Besides this is only a temporary device. We expect to elect a Democratic president, in which event the work devolving upon the senators will be very great, such as having appointed new postmasters, revenue officers, etc. Besides, we want constructive legislation. It is more important to have two senators now than it has been since 1860. Senator Tillman has great influence with the departments, but the heads of these departments will be changed if Wilson is elected, and younger men appointed. The senator taught us for twenty-odd years that a man should be strong, otherwise he should not ask for public office. Suppose the best man you can think of, whose health is in the condition to be too weak to discharge the duties of any office, how many votes do you suppose he would receive? I do not claim to be the best man in the state for this office, but have made a success in a modest way, and I do know the requirements of all our people. I believe in a man that I can be of service to them, and would appreciate your suffrage and influence.
