Card of Thanks. We take this means of conveying to our relatives and friends an expression of our deep appreciation and gratitude for their sympathetic re-lief and helpful services during the illness of the late J. T. Wilkerson, and in the hour of our greatest sor-row at the taking away of our beloved husband and father. The re-membrance of our friends' expres-sions of sympathy and of their kind services is a source of comfort to us and helps us to bear up under the weight of our great bereavement. Gratefully, Mrs. J. T. Wilkerson and family.

A Man With a Level Head. A well known and level headed citizen with whom I had had a talk several years ago, and explained some of the special and exclusive benefits incorporated in all Mutual Benefit contracts of all other companies, and who assured me that he expected to apply for insurance later and would like to see me called at my office a few days ago and said: "The word got out recently that I was thinking about taking out some insurance and as a number of agents representing different companies, have been to see me. I told each that I wanted insurance on the right, but they all de-termined that it would be the Mutual Benefit kind. My assertion did not seem to convince them. They tried to show me that theirs was just as good, and one or two claimed his was cheaper—would cost less—but none claimed theirs to be better. I have called to make application for a Mutual Benefit Policy." Of course the application was made.

A WORD TO YOU It is probable that you also, are thinking of buying life insurance. If you are not, the best interest of your family, yourself or your estate, de-mands that you should be, and your best interests demand that you should have a policy on your life. You are under no obligation to insure with the man who "sees you first," unless con-vinced after examining the contract offered, and the past record of his company, that he offers you more for your money than you can get else-where. You are the individual that will pay the freight.

SAM M. GRIST, Special Agent.

That Buggy You Intend To Buy See us about it. We can interest you in Quality, Style and Price. The Buggies we offer are known for their Leading Qualities. They are not ex-periments in these parts. They have been sold in this section for years. The Tyson Jones always gives sat-isfaction and the Sumter Buggy is a very close second in all that a Buggy ought to be. Yes, see us before you buy.

MULES—Before you buy, come and see what we have to offer. We can get together on Price and the Terms.
