

The Call of the Cumberlands

CHARLES NEVILLE BUCK WITH ILLUSTRATIONS FROM PHOTOGRAPHS OF SCENES IN THE PLAY

CHAPTER IX. by the most powerful combinations in New York.

Christmas came to Mistry wrapped in a shawl mantle of desolation. At the cabin of the Widow Miller Sally was sitting alone before the logs. She laid down the slate and spelling book, over which her forehead had been strenuously puckered and gazed somewhat mournfully into the blaze.

"The normal human mind is a reservoir which fills at a rate of speed regulated by the number and caliber of its feed pipes. Samson's mind had long been almost empty, and now from so many sources the waters of new things were rushing in upon it that under their pressure it must fill fast, or give away."

"He was saved from hopeless complications of thought by a sanity which was willing to assimilate with too much effort to analyze. The boy from Mistry was presently less biassed to the eye than many of the unkempt Bohemians he met in the life of the studios, men who quarreled garrulously over the end and aim of Art, which they spelled with a capital A—and, for the most part, knew nothing of. He retained, except within a small circle of intimates, a silence that passed for taciturnity, and a solemnity of visage that was often construed into right egotism."

"I want you to meet a friend of mine and take him under your wing in a fashion. He needs you." The stout man's face clouded. A few years ago he had been peddling his manuscripts with the heart-sickness of the unsuccessful middle-aged man who coupled his name with those of Kipling and De Maupassant, assailed as unfaithful servants, showed their teeth. From some hidden, but unfailing, source terribly sure and direct evidence of guilt was being gathered. For Wilfred Horton, who was demanding a day of reckoning and spending great sums of money to get it, there was a prospect of things doing.

"Does Billy Conrad still keep store at Stagnone?" Samson started and his gaze fell in amazement. At the mention of the name he saw a cross-roads store with rough mules hitched to fence railings. It was a picture of home, and here was a man who had been there! With glowing eyes the boy dropped unconsciously back into the vernacular of the hills.

"Miss Lescott," he said, "let's call that a trade—you're gettin' all the worst of it. To start with, you might give me a lesson right now in how a fellow ought to act, when she's talkin' to a lady—how I ought to act with you."

"The first installment of the notes appearing under this heading was published in our issue of November 14, 1914. The notes being prepared by the editor at time and opportunity permit. Their purpose is to bring into review the past for the people and for the entertainment and instruction of the present generation."

Major William Arthur, U. S. A., retired, a native of Vermont, and a brother of the late President Chester A. Arthur, died at Cohasset, Mass., last week. Madam Sarah Bernhardt, the noted French actress, who last week suffered the amputation of her right leg, is reported to be well on the road to recovery.

"The Ellen Wilson Memorial Homes Corporation, which is to build model homes in Washington, D. C., is authorized by a bill passed by the senate on Monday. It is to be a memorial to the late Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. Because of the European war situation President Wilson expresses some doubts as to whether he will visit the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco this spring. The president is quoted as saying, 'I am tied by the legs.'"

"The receipts of the treasury department from all sources for the month of February, totaled $48,638,272. The expenditures for all purposes for the month totaled $56,137,624, leaving a deficit for the month of about $12,500,000. The total cash assets of the treasury on March 1st were $1,975,859,378."

"The Hamburg-American steamship line and five of its officers have been indicted by a Federal grand jury in New York. The indictment charges conspiracy to defraud the government through false records and violation of the customs laws in furnishing German cruisers supplies at sea. The story that was widely circulated at the beginning of the war, to the effect that large bodies of Russian troops were being rushed through Scotland to France, is now admitted by the British press bureau to have been a hoax, originated by General Kitchener for the purpose of bluffing the German general staff. It is claimed that the hoax served its purpose."

"The room clerk of the Windsor hotel, Philadelphia, was notified by long distance phone from New York, Monday night, that if he would go to room No. 26 he would find the dead body of a man and a woman. The clerk did as directed and found the bodies. The woman was the wife of a New York man and was married last October. The Harrison anti-narcotic law, which went into effect last Monday, is creating much comment throughout the country. In Chicago the police say that 95 per cent of the habitual criminals of the city are users of cocaine and heroin, and express the fear that the dope fiends will commit all kinds of crime in efforts to get the drugs."

"As the result of a riot growing out of the beating of a woman by a drunken foreigner, at Langeloth, Pa., Sunday morning, Charles Smith, a desperado, who had no part in the beginning of the riot, was killed, and a trooper of the state police was fatally shot. The officer received two wounds in the first fire, but chased Smith for more than a mile before he was finally killed. In his annual report Superintendent Maxwell of the New York city schools, says in part: 'It is now generally admitted that the American boy on leaving high school at or about 18 years of age is at least two years behind the German or French boy of similar age in his studies.' Mr. Maxwell says, 'The American boy must have completed the sophomore year in college before he is on a par in intellectual attainments with the graduate of the German gymnasium or the French lycee.'"

FOOTSTEPS OF THE FATHERS

As Traced in Early Files of the Yorkville Enquirer.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF YESTERDAY

Bringing Up Records of the Past and Giving the Younger Readers of Today a Pretty Comprehensive Knowledge of the Things that Most Concerned Generations that Have Gone Before.

The following promotion list, filling vacancies occasioned by the death of Col. Barman, vice of the 15th regiment, was announced by the adjutant general, Col. W. H. McCormick, lieutenant colonel; John L. Miller, major; in company B, First Lieut. W. S. Dunlap is promoted to the captaincy, vice Maj. Miller. The vote taken by the regiment for members of the legislature, resulted as follows—several it will be seen, are candidates: J. C. Chambers, 55; John L. Miller, 31; A. Whyte, 31; G. W. Williams, 25; J. N. Lowry, 19; J. N. McElwee, Jr., 6; J. N. McElwee, Sr., 7; John S. Bratton, 4.

The following promotion list, filling vacancies occasioned by the death of Col. Barman, vice of the 15th regiment, was announced by the adjutant general, Col. W. H. McCormick, lieutenant colonel; John L. Miller, major; in company B, First Lieut. W. S. Dunlap is promoted to the captaincy, vice Maj. Miller. The vote taken by the regiment for members of the legislature, resulted as follows—several it will be seen, are candidates: J. C. Chambers, 55; John L. Miller, 31; A. Whyte, 31; G. W. Williams, 25; J. N. Lowry, 19; J. N. McElwee, Jr., 6; J. N. McElwee, Sr., 7; John S. Bratton, 4.

The increase of salt works around us seems to have the effect of raising the price of this necessary article. Every means is used to make it pay—even to selling it by the pound. Georgia, Virginia and North Carolina have each made provision for their people, while we are left to the mercy of the speculators who occasionally find the price supplies that are occasionally scarce. The price may be on the coast we know not, but up here they are almost fabulous, and must soon call for the interference of the government. The supply here is quite limited, and we see but a poor prospect for saving our bacon this winter. Our legislature may do something for us when it meets, but it may be they are too late for many purposes, unless they hurry change instead of going into a system of the price that would require time to mature. Our friends on the coast have no idea of the suffering for salt in the up-country.

Three days later another English column 3,000 strong, left Genette for Kubri, a distance of some ten miles, the ElKatara column, and if the colonials were not completely routed, it was thanks to the courage and the brilliant bayonet charge of the Canadian contingent. Large groups of Bedouins well concealed behind the high dunes attacked the column from all sides, inflicting losses estimated at 300 dead and 1,00 wounded. The public never heard of these engagements, and when several days later a ship bearing 500 wounded reached Alexandria, it was a common knowledge that they were convalescents who had gone to Egypt to recruit.

On motion of G. R. Ratchford and seconded by Robt. Whitesides, it was resolved that the petition of W. A. Latta be entered. It was unanimously adopted, to-wit: To the president and directors of the K. M. R. Co., the petition of W. A. Latta shows that the house near the depot, known as the Thomas house, was built on the land of the petitioner, in gross violation of the terms of his deed to the company, and said house at present located, being a nuisance to this petitioner, he respectfully asks its removal. On motion of W. A. Latta it was resolved that a dividend of 5 per cent on the capital stock of the company be paid, at the treasurer's office in Yorkville, on and after the first day of January, next, out of the earnings of the road for the past year. The following communication was unanimously received with regret: To the Directors of the K. M. R. Co., Gentlemen: I resign the office of president of your company. W. E. Rose.

Dec. 27, 1862. It was then: Resolved, That W. A. Latta, Esq., be unanimously elected president of the King's Mountain Railroad company until the next annual meeting of the stockholders, by the board of directors present. On motion in treasury $21,248.52 Dividend declared $10,160.00 Balance left in treasury $11,088.52 The above was ordered to be published in the Columbia Guardian and The Yorkville Enquirer. Alfred Craven, Sec'y.

Salt for the States. Col. McCave has deposited a sack of salt at the Enquirer office and another at the store of Messrs. Darwin and Jefferys, with instructions to dispense the same to needy families in such quantities as may be necessary to meet immediate wants.

TOLD BY LOCAL EXCHANGES

News Happenings in Neighboring Communities.

CONDENSED FOR QUICK READING

Dealing Mainly With Local Affairs of Cherokee, Cleveland, Gaston, Lancaster and Chester. Chester Reporter, March 1: Mr. Neely M. Estes died at his home in the Sealy's Creek neighborhood Saturday morning, at five o'clock, after a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home near Lexington last Wednesday night of tuberculosis, following a long illness. The body was brought to Gastonia on No. 11 Friday, accompanied by the husband, Mr. Newton Peters and the children. The body was interred in Shiloh cemetery, East Gastonia, that afternoon, following brief funeral services conducted at the home of Mrs. C. B. Jones, a former resident of Gastonia, died at her home