NO. 54.

ESTABLISHED 1855.

YORKVILLE, S. C., TUESDAY, JULY 6, 1915.

to that taken by the obliging barber.

quired was not far to seek in that locality, and when it was found, Griswold drove a hard bargain with the Portuguese Jew behind the counter.

The pledge he offered was the suit he cluded in an exchange of the still serviceable business suit for a pair of but-ness of which he deplored piteously before he would consent to accept it.

actly what Griswold had prefigured.

viction and the pledged clothing, which might otherwise have given the police the needed clue, was carefully hidden away against a time when the Jew's apprehensions should be quiet-

Having thus disguised himself, Griswold made the transformation artistically complete by walking a few squares in the dust of a loaded cotton float on the levee. Then he made a tramp's bundle of the manuscript of the moribound book, the pistol, and pulse to test his disguise by going back to the restaurant where he had recognize him; he was driven forth with revilings in idiomatic French and

"Bete! Go back on da levee w'ere you belong to go. I'll been kipping dis cafe for zhentlemen! Scelerat! Go!"

Gristwold went out, smiling between

"That settles the question of identification and present safety," he assured himself exultantly. Then: "I believe I could walk into the Bayou

As before, the daring impulse was irresistable, and he gave place to it on the spur of the moment. Fouling money, scowled at the man, and turned back to his cash book without a word.

"The dragon may have teeth and claws, but it can neither see nor smell," he said, contemptously, turning in his steps riverward again. "Now

I have only to choose my route and go in peace. How and where are the

For an hour or more after his return to the riverfront, Griswold idled up and down the levee; and the end of the interval found him still undecided as to the manner and direction

Griswold Went Out Smiling Between

more immediately pressing decision.

was no good reason why he should conditions more favorable than those mind's eye he saw himself domiciled laugh when he reached the street.

his teeth.

The effect of the haggling was ex-

A pawnbroker's shop of the kind re-

CHAPTER III. lo Triumphe!

Once safely in the street Kenneth Griswold, with a thousand dollars in his pocket and the packet of banknotes under his arm, was seized by an impulse to do some extravagant thing to celebrate his success. It had proved to be such a simple matter, after all- was wearing, and the bargaining conone bold strike; a tussle, happily bloodless, with the plutocratic dragon whose hold upon his treasure was so ternut trousers, a second-hand coat too easily broken; and presto! the hungry short in the sleeves, a flannel shirt, a proletary had become himself a power cap, and a red handkerchief; these in the world, strong to do good or and a sum of ready money, the smallevil, as the gods might direct.

This was the prompting to exultation as it might have been set in words; but in Griswold's thought it was but a swift suggestion, followed The Portuguese, most suspicious of instantly by another which was much his tribe, suspected everything but more to the immediate purpose. He the truth, flatly accused his customer was hungry; there was a restaurant of having stolen the pledge. And next door to the bank. Without thinking overmuch of the risk he ran, and ing the charge, suspicion became conperhaps not at all of the audacious subtlety of such an expedient at such a critical moment, he went in, sat down at one of the small marbletopped tables, and calmly ordered Since hunger is a lusty special pleader, making itself heard above any pulpit drum of the higher faculties, it is quite probable that Griswold dwelt less upon what he had done than upon what he was about to eat, until the hue and cry in the street reminded him that the chase the money in the red handkerchief; was begun. But at this, not to appear and having surveyed himself with suspiciously incurious, he put on the some satisfaction in the bar mirror mask of indifferent interest and asked of a riverside pot-house, a daring imthe waiter concerning the uproar.

The serving man did not know what had happened, but he would go and breakfasted seized and bore him upfind out if M'sieu' so desired. "M'sieu' " town. said breakfast first, by all means, and | The experiment was an unqualified information afterward. Both came in success. The proprietor of the bankdue season, and the hungry one ate neighboring cafe not only failed to while he listened.

Transmuted into the broken English of the Gascon serving man, the story broken English. of the robbrry lost nothing in its sensational features.

It was very evident that the plutocratic dragon did not intend to accept defeat without a struggle, and Griswold set his wits at work upon the problem of escape.

"It's a little queer that I hadn't thought of that part of it before," he mused, sipping his coffee as one who State Security and not be recognized." need not hasten until the race is actually begun. "I suppose the other fellow, the real robber, would have figured himself safely out of it-or would a five dollar bill in the mud of the guthave thought he had-before he made ter, he went boldly into the bank and the break. Since I did not, I've got to asked the paying teller to give him do it now, and there isn't much time silver for it. The teller sniffed at the to throw away. Let me see-" he shut his eyes and went into the inventive trance of the literary craftsman-"the Griswold's smile grew to an inward keynote must be originality; I must do that which the other fellow would never think of doing." On the strength of that decision he ventured to order a third cup of coffee, and before it had cooled he had outlined a plan, basing it upon a crossquestioning of the Gascon waiter. only remaining questions to be an-There had been but one man concerned in the robbery, and the sidewalk gossip was beginning to describe him with discomforting accuracy.

Griswold paid his score and went out boldly and with studied nonchalance. He reasoned that, notwithstanding the growing accuracy of the street report, he was still in no immediate danger so long as he remained in such close proximity to the bank. It was safe to assume that this was one of the things the professional "strong-arm man" would not do. But it was also evident that he must speedily lose his identity if he hoped to escape; and the lost identity must leave no clue to itself.

Griswold smiled when he remembered how, in fiction of the felon-catching sort, and in real life, for that matter, the law-breaker always did leave a clue for the pursuers. Thereupon arose a determination to demonstrate practically that it was quite as possible to create an inerrant fugitive as to conceive an infallible detective. Joining the passers-by on the sidewalk, he made his way leisurely to Canal street, and thence diagonally through the old French quarter toward the French market. In a narrow alley giving upon the levee he finally found what he was looking for; a dingy sailors' barber's shop. The barber was a negro, fat, unstuous and sleepy looking, and he was alone.

"Yes, sah: shave, boss?" asked the negro, bowing and scraping a foot when Gristwold entered.

"No. a hair cut." The customer produced a silver half-dollar. "Go of his flight-to say nothing of the somewhere and get me a cigar smoke while you are doing it. Get a good one, if you have to go to Canal street," he added, climbing into the rickety chair.

The fat negro shuffled out, scenting of detection would be greater than tips. The moment he was out of elsewhere, and he decided that there sight Griswold took up the scissors and began to hack awkwardly at his incur it. Besides, he argued there were other fields in which the sociolo beard and mustache; awkwardly, but swiftly, and with well chosen pur- gical studies could be pursued under pose. The result was a fairly complete metamorphosis easily wrought. In place of the trim beard and curling mustache there was a rough stubble, in some thriving interior town, workstiff and uneven, like that on the face nity theory and practice might go he told himself, standing back before hand in hand; he could know and be the cracked looking-glass to get the known; and the money at his comgeneral effect. "And it is decently mand would be vastly more of a moldoriginal. The professional cracksman ing and controlling influence than it would probably have shaved, where | could possibly be in the smallest of saw the speaker, consternation promptupon the first amateur detective he circles in New York. met would reconstruct the beard on struck out upon the instant, pleased the owner of the tagged trunk was the the sunburned lines. Now for a pawnbroker; and the more avaricious he it, he adopted it enthusiastically as earlier, he had given place at the pay- and Yellow rivers, are not, in a genhappens to be, the better he will serve an inspiration, leaving the mere geothe purpose."

He went to the door and looked up chance, or subsequent events, might and down the alley. The negro was determine.

of, there yet remained the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again line of flight; and it was a small thing when he was assured that she did not remained the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again footsteps of the fathers agonies of death the demons stood over him and prevented his agonized to the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again when he was assured that she did not footsteps of the fathers over him and prevented his agonized to the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again when he was assured that she did not footsteps of the fathers over him and prevented his agonized to the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again when he was assured that she did not footsteps of the fathers over him and prevented his agonized to the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again when he was assured that she did not footsteps of the fathers over him and prevented his agonized to the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again when he was assured that she did not footsteps of the fathers over him and prevented his agonized to the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again when he was assured that she did not footsteps of the fathers over him and prevented his agonized to the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again the choice of a her gaze fairly and became sane again the choice of a her gaze fairly and became s that finally decided the manner of his going. For the third time in the hour of aimless wanderings he found him- trunk into the stateroom. After AS Traced In Early Files of The Belle Julie, an up-river steamboat the approaching moment of departure Toiling roustabouts, trailing in and out like an endless procession of human ants, were hurrying the last of the car-

"Poor devils! They've been told that they are free men, and perhaps landings, and the resolve became sufthey believe it. But surely no slave of the Toulon galleys were ever in bit- words: · · · Free?—yes ter bondage.

go abroad.

and to be driven like cattle under the yoke! Oh, good Lord!-look at that!" The ant procession had attacked the final tier of boxes in the lading, and one of the burden-bearers, a white man had stumbled and fallen like a crushed pack animal under a load too heavy for him Griswold was heside him in a moment. The man could not rise, and Griswold dragged him not untenderly out of the way of the oth-

"Where are you hurt?" The crushed one sat up and spa-

"I don't know: inside, somewheres been dyin' on my feet any time for year or two back." "Consumption?" queried Griswold wrinkling.

in a deck crew. Don't you know when Griswold departed without denythat?" The man's smile was a ghastly face-

> "Reckon I hain't got any business anywhere—out'n a horspital or a hole in the ground. But I kind o' thought fingers at the world. If I am going to I'd like to be planted 'longside the

She Saw His Confusion, and Charged It to the Card Reading. woman and the children, if I could

"Where?" The consumptive named a small river town in Iowa.

make out some way to git there."

In Griswold impulse was the domi nant chord always struck by an ap peal to his sympathies. His compas sion went straight to the mark, as was sure to do when his pockets were not empty. "What is the fare by rail to your town?" he inquired. "I don't know; I never asked. Somewheres between twenty and thirty dollars, I reckon; and that is more money than I've seen since the woman Griswold hastily counted out a hunthrust the money into the man's hand. fare on the train, and I'll take your ob on the boat. Don't be a fool!" he nands and began to choke. the other. What is your name? I may have to borrow it."

"Gavitt-John Wesley Gavitt." "All right; off with you," said the Once on board the steamer, he followed his file leader aft and made it his first care to find a safe hiding place for the tramp's bundle in the knotted handkerchief. That done, he stepped into the line again, and became the sick man's substitute in last man staggered up the plank with his burden. The bell was clinging its final summons, and the slowly revolving paddle-wheels were taking the strain from the mooring lines. Being near the bow line Griswold was one of the two who spring ashore at the mate's bidding to cast off. He was backing the hawser out of the last of even more evasive than the other and driven rapidly down to the stage and two tardy passengers hurried aboard His first thought had been to go The mate bawled from his station on back to New York. But there the risk the hurricane deck. "Now, then! Take a turn on that spring line out there and get them trunks aboard! Lively!"

The larger of the two trunks fell to the late recruit; and when he had set it down at the door of the designated stateroom, he did half absently what to be found in a great city. In his John Gavitt might have done without blame: read the tacked-on card, which bore the owner's name and address. written in a firm hand: "Charlotte Farnham, Wahaska, Minnesota."

"Thank you," said a musical voice put it inside.

Griswold wheeled as if the mild toned request had been a blow, and was properly ashamed. But when he The picture, ly slew all the other emotions. For plants as have been installed are alhim, and having sufficiently idealized young woman to whom, an hour or so ing teller's wicket in the Bayou State eral sense, suitable for hydro-electric common practice. All who were susgraphical detail to arrange itself as Security.

the card-reading at which she had sur- power stations may be ultimately innot yet in sight, and Griswold walked That part of the problem disposed prised him, and smiled. Then he met stalled.

recognized him: became sane, and whipped off his cap, and dragged the self loitering opposite the berth of the which he went to his place on the lower deck with a great thankfulness whose bell gave sonorous warning of throbbing in his heart and an inchoate resolve shaping itself in his brain. Late that night, when the Belle Juli was well on her way up the great river, he flung himself down upon the sacked coffee on the engine roomguard to snatch a little rest between ficiently cosmic to formulate itself in

"I'll call it an oracle," he mused 'One place is as good as another, just so it is inconsequent enough. And am sure I've never heard of Wahaska." Now Griswold the social rebel, was, oefore all things else, Griswold the mit. Their purpose is to bring into imaginative literary craftsman; and review the events of the past for the pleasure and satisfaction of the older pefore all things else. Griswold the no sooner was the question of his ultimate destination settled thus arbitrarily than he began to prefigure the place and its probable lacks and havings. This process brought him by easy stages to pleasant idealizings of Miss Charlotte Farnham, who was thus far, the only tangible thing con nected with the destination dream. A little farther along her personality laid hold of him and the idealizings became purely literary.

"She is a magnificently strong type!" was his summing up of her, made while he was lying flat on his back and staring absently at the flit-"Then you have no earthly business tering shadows among the deck beams overhead. "Her face is as readable as only the face of a woman instinctively good and pure in heart can be. Any man who can put her between the covers of a book may put anything else he pleases in it and snap his live in the same town with her, I ought to jot her down on paper before I lose the keen edge of the first

He considered it for a moment, and hen got up and went in search of a ng night clerk gave him both, with a sleepy malediction thrown in; and he went back to the engine room and scribbled his word picture by the light of the swinging incandescent.

He read it over thoroughly when i was finished, changing a word here and a phrase there with a craftsman's fidelity to the exactness. Then he nook his head regretfully and tore the scrap of paper into tiny squares, scattering them upon the brown flood surging past the engine room

"It won't do," he confessed reluctantly, as one who sacrifices good litrary material to a stern sense of the fitness of things. "It is nothing less than a cold-blooded sacrilege. I can't while the world stands."

the rifle is a toy. The infantry soldier is used merely to occupy trenches that artillery has won," said a Russian officer a few days ago. Now from Holland comes the report that the Germans are replacing rifles by machine guns wherever possible, and that one hundred thousand are already soldier of tomorrow will not bear rifle and bayonet, but will carry under his arm a yard of iron pipe and several yards of leather belting filled with ammunition. He will squirt death at Morris, D. W. Wilks. his enemy as if he were spraying flowers with a hose. The Germans re- Privates James V. Garrison, Thomas gard a machine gun merely as an improved automatic rifle with a water jacket. They point out that the guards at Waterloo carried a weapon heavier and more clumsy than the latest machine gun, and that in modern trench warfare, with its charges against barbed wire entanglements, the soldier dred dollars from his pocket fund and who can fire a hundred shots to his opponent's five has twenty times the "Take that and change places with chance to live through the fight. The Wilderness, May 6, 1864, Sergt. Winme," he commanded, slipping on the rifle seems doomed to follow the longmask of gruffness again. "Pay your bow as the principal arm of infantry. ands of machine guns, the Germans dded, when the man put his face in have anticipated the allies, just as "It's they did in the use of heavy field arfair enough exchange, and I'll get as tillery, torrents of high explosive shells much out of it one way as you will and gas. They have been the masters of making today the weapons of tomorrow. In this war without preedent, imagination, not tradition, shows the way to victory. The Geriberator, curtly; and with that he man physicists, chemists and mehouldered the sick man's load and chanical inventors may yet save their country from the destruction prepared for her by her diplomats and ruler. -Philadelphia Public Ledger. "Artillery" Ear .- The war has dereloped what might be termed an "artillery ear," especially among the solly what kind of a shell is being fired in its flight. The heaviest sufferers drew a breath of blessed relief when the at them, and whether or not it is by the enemy were in the southeastern aimed at their battery or at some portion of the district through which other spot. Many lives have been sav- a portion of the enemy's infantry ed by this gradually developed oral passed. alertness.

The men have learned to pay not the slightest attention to a shot that gives February, and left on the 4th inst., and off the peculiar sound indicating that I venture to say a better organized it is aimed at some other position. Because of the confusing noise of the rtillerist's own battery, the squad garret and all portable valuables ending it usually is divided into two stolen. What could not be carried groups, one of which listens for the away was in many instances carried shells of the opponents, and gives the to their camps and destroyed. Not a warning to dive for the shelter back horse, mule nor colt was left on the of the guns. The men learn to talk line of march; those not fit for cavwith pauses between each word, lis- alry or artillery were shot. About tening meantime for the tell-tale 150 carcasses of such animals were whistle of the dangerous shell.

The big howitzers give nearly half a minute's warning. As an officer ters were here, which fact probably these guns and still cut off a slice of "field bottle" before seeking shelter. The shelter in this case must consist of about three layers of heavy wood and two yards of earth and stoneelse the shelter and artillerists are most altogether driven by steam. The immense delta plains of the Yangtze plants, but in Fukien, Yunnan and pected of having coin concealed were She saw his confusion, charged it to parts of Shantung provinces, water made to suffer. One gentleman, Mr. invented to enable a military aviator wants. A Mr. Belk was also murdered. The lifeless body of C. B. North-

NEWS AND VIEWS OF YESTERDAY

Yorkville Enguirer.

Bringing Up Records of the Past and Giving the Younger Readers of Today a Pretty Comprehensive Knowledge of the Things that Most Concerned Generations that Have Gone

The first installment of the notes aplished in our issue of November 14, the editor as time and opportunity perpeople and for the entertainment and instruction of the present generation.

143D INSTALLMENT. (Wednesday Evening, Feb. 11, 1865.) James E. Quinn.

We are pained to record the death on the 7th inst., of Mr. James E. Quinn, one of the few noble and unselfish spirits whose name will be handed down to time in colors bright and enduring as the soldiers' garlands.

From the beginning of this struggle he has labored earnestly and incessantly to ameliorate the sufferings of the poor, to feel the destitute and to be a father to the fatherless. Bright is the record his good deeds have left behind him. From the resources of a moderate income, he distributed charities to the needy that the millionaire would call enormous. No soldier's sick wife ever left his premises without help and comfort, and a heart will miss him but he reaps his heavenly reward.

The News.

Sherman has been for the past week, steadily and cautiously advancing from the Savannah to the Edisto. Skirmishes between the cavalry forces of the two armies has occurred daily with trifling results. The enemy forced a crossing at Benneker's bridge over the South Edisto, on Saturday with cavalry and occupied the Rev. T. T. Walsh Questions Editorial village of Blackville; thus cutting the South Carolina railroad between point, though his movements are herd (Episcopal), Yorkville, on Monveiled in so much mystery that his day of last week: real destination is difficult to ascer- Editor of The Enquirer:

line and concentration will not be various liquor sources." asily attainable when his designs are With reference to curtailm unmasked. The country is admirably adapted to scouting parties and on the boldness and vigilence of Hampton's the nobility; but the Church of Engand Wheeler's gallant riders will depend much of our success.

The latest news from the front will through. be found in the proper column

Fifth Regiment, S. C. V. Near Richmond, Va., Jan. 30, 1865. Messrs. Editors: Please publish the Church of England as such, has either following list of casualties in Co. B., in use. If these stories are true, the 5th Regiment, S. C. V., from the 6th directly contrary to official statements He was a native of the county of May to the 31st of December, 1865, which I have read. inclusive:

> Killed in the battle of the Wilderness, May 6th, 1864: Privates W. S. At Fort Harrison, Sept. 30, 1864:

J. Stevenson. At the battle of Darbytown, Va., Oct. 7, 1864: Corp. Wm. G. Stinson. Died of wounds: Privates John B. Brown, wounded June 22, 1864, and died July 3, 1864. Henry Ratterree, wounded Aug. 16, and died Aug. 22, 1864. John C. Brandon, wounded Sept. 30, and died Nov. 18, 1864. Captured: At the battle of the

on a subject upon which it is not good rule for newspapers to follow field S. Taylor; Privates Wm. Z. Kell, Thos. J. Evans. cite mere newspaper gossip or zine articles, but will verify Near Spottsvivania C. H., Va., May verify your statements from official sources Respectfully, T. Tracy Walsh.

26, 1864, Private James Shaw. G. A. Patrick, Capt.,

Co. B. 5th Regiment, S. C. V.

(Wednesday Evening, March 16, 1865.) The Enemy in Lancaster.

sombre ruins of Ninevah or Babylon marks the pathway of the destroyer through many portions of this district.

burnt for several miles along the highways; not a vistage of fence or the semblance of a living being is left.

It is as desolate as if some poisonous blackening and charring everything

Kilpatrick's cavalry entered this

'llage on the morning of the 28th of gang of thieves never existed. Every left in the streets and the suburbs of the village. Kilpatrick's headquar-have interferred with his comfort. It respects, for officers and men seemed to regard plunder as their principal object and highest success. The jail was the only building burned. After the main column had left a party of Many citizens in the country were abused in their person. Whipping and fessions of hidden valuables was the their heels.

blast has spent its furious contents

In many places the houses are all the absence of the editor, as was also the following, with which Rev. Mr Lancaster, S. C. March, 12, 1865. Walsh favored us later: The flood has swept over us and left York, S. C., July 1st, 1915. a wide belt of ruin in its track. Deso-Editor of The Enquirer: lation as complete as ever clad the

I sent a copy of your editorial state-ment concerning the Church of England and the liquor traffic, to the British ambassador, at Washington. A copy of the reply is enclosed, and request that you publish it. Respectfully, T. Tracy Walsh.

(Copy). British Embassy-Washington. June 29th, 1915.

article which you enclose.

have to acknowledge the receipt o to inform you that, as far as I am ersonally aware, there is no ground or the statement contained in the

Yours very trul (Signed) A. S. Hudson, Rev. Thomas Tracy Walsh, Rector, Church of the Good Shepherd

As we have absolutely no informa tion on the subject under inquiry except such as we have been able to glean from Associate Press dispatches and other newspaper gossip, we regret very much our inability to comply with Rev. Mr. Walsh's request. The statements we made are altogether in line with all the information we have as to the attitude and status of the established Church of England; but like the honorable secretary of the British embassy, we will have to admit that "so far as we are personally in the home of Mrs. Readon's parents."

Miss Ella Beaty of Winnsboro, is the at Culebra cut were made 85 feet deeper, as it would have to be in order to lower the canal to sea level. But even that is not the worst. In a sea level canal there would be slides to contend with not only in the nine mile long Culebra cut, but all the way across the isthmus—in the deep mowith Rev. Mr. Walsh's request. The puts it, one can hear the shells from spared us from the torch as that would like the honorable secretary of the wurst and take a swallow from one's afforded but little protection in other mit that "so far as we are personally ure of Lloyd-George's efforts, however, to secure the abolition of the liquor traffic in England under such about 100 returned Sunday with the circumstances, we confess that the avowed object of burning the village reasons ascribed for that failure strike but the timely arrival of a part of us as quite plausible. While we can Wheeler's cavalry put the villians to not say certainly at this time, our recollection is that the Associated Press dispatch from which we got the information, was also printed in the hanging by the neck to extract con- Charlotte Observer.

Editor Yorkville Enquirer.

A dictating phonograph has been - Adams was shot on his own to record his premises and while struggling in the have his hands free.

family from administering to his rop, Esq., a well known member of the Charleston bar, who had taken refuge here, was found, after the enemy left, concealed in a ravine, some distance from this place. Singular to say, his wife and family are reported to have gone off with the murderers. Mrs. Mary Barnes, when ask ed to receive and entertain a party personal abuse that vicious ingen-

Such are a few of the instances of uity could suggest.

of the war.

dangerous there?

(To be continued.)

CHURCH AND LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

Statement.

land exerted its powerful influence

That some of the clergy of the expressed themselves in opposition to "prohibition" is probably true. But that you furnish your readers with your authorities bearing out these commend the Charlotte Observer be-cause it does not "write learnedly up-most serious charg Church of England.

The enemy seems to have

of the villians, nobly replied,

News Happenings In Neighboring Communities.

CONDENSED FOR OUICK READING

Dealing Mainly With Local Affairs of Cherokee, Cleveland, Gaston, Lancaster and Chester.

Chester Reporter, July 1: Misses here, but I will not permit you to en- ville, Tenn., for a trip to the expositer my house." The torch did its tion. They will visit Denver, Colorado work to completion and the defense- Springs, Salt Lake City, the National less lady was made to suffer every park, Frisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, the Grand Canyon and many other the last day for filing state income tax Such are a few of the instances of the suffering to which our people were County Auditor M. C. Fudge show that subjected. It is but a sample of affairs elsewhere in the district. To de-Mrs. A. M. Aiken, $10.15; A. L. Gaston stroy was the watchword everywhere $15.00; Rev. A. D. P. Gilmour, D. D., and had the enemy remained long $22.80; Mrs. A. D. P. Gilmour, $16.92; stroy was the watchword everywhere J. G. White, $48.34; Dr. S. W. Pryor $29.00; A. G. Brice, $4.14; R. B. Cald enough, probably not a brick or stone would have stood in in the whole of would have stood in in the whole of well, $9.82; Dr. W. M. Love, $3.00; S Lancaster occupied by them to tell M. Jones, $45.00; J. L. Glenn, $5.00 Chester Machine & Lumber Co., $24.

that it was once inhabited. 90; T. H. White, $23.00..... Mr. A. M. McKeown of Blackstock, died a Kilpatrick's cavalry numbered about 6,000 and Sherman's entire force will his home on that town yesterday af-probably not exceed 40,000 men. They ternoon after a lingering illness and do not seem disposed to fight—are much demoralized from indiscriminate McCown conducting the service. Mr. millage, and when once our brave boys McKeown was 59 years of age and was encounter them we believe it will be a worthy and respected citizen..... the easiest and most complete rout may burn and destroy what you find this morning to join a party at Nash-

Mr. J. L. Glenn received a letter yes-terday from Mr. Paul Dana, written from London, June 16. Mr. wrote that he had just returned Dana Namur, Belgium, and left Mr. J. L the Pee Dee and the last of their col-Glenn, Jr., there and that he was umns gone into North Carolina. Sherwell. He further stated that Mr. Glenn man is reported to be at the county was expecting to leave for England seat of Rockingham and moving toward Fayetteville, from whence it is as the committee could get some one ward Fayetteville, from whence it is to take his place......Supervisor D. supposed he will move toward Wil-G. Anderson announced this afternoon mington. Report goes on further to that the steel bridge at Cany Fork will gladdened by his kindness. The poor say that Gilmore has advanced a con- be ready for traffic by four o'clock siderable force from Charleston in the this afternoon. direction of Florence-probably think-direction of Florence—probably think-ing we were green enough to leave a few Yankee prisoners there. Let him 77, was arrested here a few days ago for blocking the Mountain street crossing over five minutes, and was beware lest Florence prove a dangerous place for him. Who knows but fined $10 and costs by Mayor Cline.

....A. M. Long holds the toga as the champion gardner of this section.
He has just finished marketing 35 bushels of silver skin onions which that he may stumble upon something he raised on 35 short rows. The largest one weighed 26 ounces. He has five short rows of cucumbers. He $100,000,000. picked the fruit clean on Friday, then went back Monday and gathered 29 dozen marketable cucumbers...... News comes from Eldorado, Ark., that I. W. McGill is married and will be

The following communication was Branchville and Augusta. The latter received from Rev. T. T. Walsh, rec- here in a few days to visit relatives. place is believed to be his objective tor of the Church of the Good Shep- Mr. McGill is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McGill of King's Mountain, and has been in the middle west about four and a half years.....W. F. Go-forth had a serious accident last week ain.

In your issue of June 25th, you when a young horse kicked him in the make the following statements: "The side in the region of the floating ribs.

Our forces are reported for these established Church of England has He was in the wheat field and had Our forces are reported for these established Church of England has reasons to be scattered over a lengthy revenues amounting to millions from mounted the older horse and expected 17-year-old son, who was accidentally With reference to curtailment of the to dinner. The younger horse got too liquor traffic, you say: "The king was much reign and gained sufficient lead willing to make the sacrifice (of in-come from it) and so were some of and he kicked Mr. Goforth off the other horse.

Lancaster News, July 2: Little they are, and so the movement fell Louis Hay, the 3-year-old child of through."

Louis Hay, the 3-year-old child of Mrs. Della Dunlap of this place, fell off the porch while playing yesterday ally evening and got several bruises and his collar bone knocked out of place. But Medical attention was given and he Church of England have individually this is my first information that the is resting well this morning.....Mr. Church of England as such, has either J. E. Bowers of the mill village, died this morning at 3 o'clock. He had secretly or openly opposed curtail-ment of the liquor traffic, in fact it is been in bad health for quite a while. was about 60 years of age, moving to the mill village It is possible that a few buildings have been sub-leased to persons who in the Primus section of the county sold liquor. Some churches in this He is survived by his wife and three country also, have found themselves children. He was a member of the in this predicament and were helpless Baptist church.....The trustees of national convention than William Jen-until the leases expired. I am only the Tradesville school, have elected nings Bryan, and there will be no surmising, whereas your statements Capt. C. A. Plyler principal, and Miss are positive. It is presumed that in Belle Shuler assistant, for the next making statements so unequivocal and session of this school, which will open far reaching, you are prepared to its summer term sometime in July. substantiate them. I therefore ask This school has an 8-mill tax and reprepared to its summer term sometime in July of Mr. Bryan," said Senator Kern of ceives state aid of $200.....Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Payseur left today for a nost serious charges against the three months' trip in northwestern Canada, at Vancouver, B. C. They go In the same issue of your paper you ommend the Charlotte Observer better through the Klondike and Yukon Los Angeles, then home by Salt Lake City and the great lakes.....Mr. Jess Price died at his home in the mill I therefore infer that you are "well village Wednesday, after a long illness informed" on this subject and will not with dropsy. The remains were taken to Zion church for burial. The funeral Gastonia Gazette, July 2: the next thirty days a new industry for Gastonia will be in operation. Mr. A. H. Cook & Co., manufacturers of The foregoing was received during belting have leased the second floor of the Long building and expect to begin operations shortly. This new firm has been drawn to Gastonia by the large number of cotton mills and other industries in this section that Gastonia for the last two or three days looking over the field and making final arrangements for beginning busi-ness.....Mr. Grier Hawkins and Miss Emily Gobel, both of Gastonia township, were married at 8.30 o'clock last night by W. M. Adams, Esq., in his office in the Rankin building....Mr. O. D. Carpenter, president and general manager of the Harden Manufacturing Co., whose plant was destroyed by fire some weeks ago, was in the city yesterday en route to Charlotte on a business trip. In conversation with the Gazette, he stated that it was his letter of the 26th instance and purpose to rebuild his plant as soon as The building will be constructed anew from the ground

> Mr. Carpenter was very optimistic over he prospects, despite his recent loss. Fort Mill Times, July 1: The mains of Miss Annie daughter of the late Robert Jones, were brought to Fort Mill Saturday afternoon from Greensboro, N. C., and canal now dislike to be reminded of interred in New Unity cemetery. Miss the fact. Jones' death occurred Friday, follow-ing an illness of several months. She was a sister of Charles Jones of Fort ant Valley, and with her parents resided some years ago in this city. Miss Ella Beaty of Winnsboro, is

New and improved machinery will be driven by electricity.

in the home of Mrs. Readon's parents. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Harris, in this city..... Prof. L. W. Dick, at one time o-principal of the old Fort Mill held the superintendency of the pub-lic schools of Hartsville.....The local Graded school will, it is stated, shortly be equipped with sanitary drinking fountains, the installation being the gift of the Parent-Teacher club. nection will be made with the city connection will be about $75.

Gaffney Ledger, July 2: The numer-ous friends of Col. T. B. Butler, who underwent an operation at the city hospital recently, will be glad institution is to the effect that his condition is so far improved as to be extremely gratifying to the attaches from this assertion, long been held by Mr. R. F. Spencer.No clue has yet been unearthed as to the identity of the one or ones who entered and robbed the store of Tolleson & Webster Friday night last, and on the same night the residence of Mr. R. C. Sarratt.

TERMS----$2.00 A YEAR IN ADVANCE.

SINGLE COPY, FIVE CENTS.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES

Items of Interest Gathered from All Around the World.

By a vote of 14 to 17 the Wisconsi senate has defeated a woman suffrage "You Bertha Stahn and Julia Phillips left

An explosion destroyed an illuminating rocket plant near Marseilles, France, Thursday. About 70 workers are reported missing. During the past year the Chicago courts granted 3,458 divorces. There were 33,897 marriages in the city during the year. The destruction of the Austrian submarine U-11, in the Adriatic sea, by a French aviator a few days ago, has been reported from Rome. John D. Redmond, the leader of the Irish Nationalist party of Great Britain, says there are 120,741 Irishmen from Ireland in the British army.

Miss Katherine Page, daughter of United States Ambassador Page, is to be married in London in August, to Charles G. Loring of Boston.

The agricultural department reports that the Hessian fly is doing immense damage to the wheat crop in several western states. Major General Gosthals, builder of the Panama canal, is to retire from the army and on January 1st. will enter private business in New York. William Thomas, a wife murderer, and Wm. B. Stewart, murderer of the chief of police of Ronceverte, were hanged at Moundsville, W. Va., Fri-lay. Both were negroes. The bankruptcy business of the Federal district court of Pennsylvania, during the year ending June 30, totaled $8,170,796 in liabilities, against total assets of $1,872,066. A group of New York bankers, including J. P. Morgan & Co., the City National bank, and the First National baank, are negotiatinng with the British government for a loan of

The Negro Industrial and Historical association opened a national exposition at Richmond, Va., vesterday, to continue to July 25, to cemmemorate the 50 years of negro freedom and to Sigmond H. Weihenmayer, a wealthy manufacturer of Hagerstown, Md., committed suicide Thursday because of despondency over the death of his to lead the younger horse by a reign shot by a companion about six weeks > troit, Mich., has taken out life insurance on the lives of 6.500 of its employes, with a New York company. The amount involved totals several million dollars. The insurance is to

According to advices received at Laredo, Texas, July 1st, 300 Carranza soldiers, their wives and children. were killed in the wreck of a military train near Monte Merelos, Mexico, accident. "There will be no more enthusiastic nings Bryan, and there will be no man whose support after the nomination will be more necessary than that last Friday.

General Villa is quoted as having said: "I am willing to take part in any movement which will bring about peace in Mexico. However, I state emphatically, most emphatically, that convention or arrangement in which Victoriano Huerta takes part. If Huerta takes the field in Mexico I and my followers will fight until the last drop of our blood soaks into the white sands of our prairies. Huerta can never be." George Joseph Smith, charged with the murder of three wives for their insurance, has been declared guilty by a London, England, jury, and sentenced to be hanged. "You will hang se belting. Mr. Cook has been in me before your're done, my lord," was Smith's excited outburst while Justice Scrutton was summing up the You cannot hang me for murder: I've done no murder. This is a disgrace to a Christian country." Four fishermen were drowned in the Atlantic off Ocean City, Md., Thurs-

LOCKS OR SEA LEVEL.

Building the Panama Waterway. led some persons to say that it was a mistake not to build a sea level canal. In discussion that criticism Mr. Chas. Whiting Baker, editor of the Englneering News, recently said that the few engineers who urged a sea level

"Bad as the slides are and costly as the work of cleaning them away is proving to be," said Mr. Baker, "they would be vastly greater if the canal at Culebra cut were made 85 feet across the isthmus-in the deep mothe soft mud is a hundred feet deep, Mr. Dick has for the last several years When at Panama I myself saw a slide move into the cut that was being made for the Gatun locks foundation. in which half an acre or so of soft ground flowed down the slope like stiff molasses.

"We owe a great debt of gratitude for our correct choice to President Taft. President Roosevelt. Colonel Goethals and the late Alfred Noble and other great engineers, who threw all the weight of their influence in learn that the latest report from that favor of a lock canal. There is no dissent in the engineering profession of the hospital.....The city council ought also to understand it."

The Wisdom That Was Shown In