His enemies had told this story in all parts of South Carolina, and adding their own selfish desires to the story, they had said: "The voters of York county are going to repudiate Blease for this offense, and when we turn him out of office we are going to put this lady back into the position he put her out the first time. You have a majority organizations. You had a majority probably settle the whole matter." Pleased With the Crowd.

It is all right to talk about govsigned the bill creating the state ware-house system because I believed it was a good thing; but let's not have any Federal control if we can help it. We have a so-called Democratic government at Washington now; but we have no guarantee as to how long the Federal government is going to be friendly to the south, and how would we feel with a Federal ware-house system under the management of a nigger warehouseman and nigge

If he had any part of the Democracy of Thomas Jefferson in his make-up, he would say to England: "Damn you, if you don't stop taking our cotton we will stop you!'

"Lots of them," said the ex-govern-or, "have been fighting the warehouse bill over the shoulders of McLaurin. They claim the idea is good; but that McLaurin only wants office and they don't want him. Now that's a come-off, ain't it? If it is McLeurin they object to, what do they want to kill the warehouse system for? Why don't they elect a commissioner that will please 'em and help improve the system? I am not sure they are honest about this thing. But McLaurin did not elect himself. The legislature did it without even asking him. When it him I did not know. I have since been surprised at myself because it did not occur to me to tell him that by all means he was the man; but I did not. I did not think of it until Representative Sapp of Lancaster, nominated him and the legislature elected him. But I do know that he never sought the office. But I suspections of these fellows don't like Mc Laurin any better than they do the warehouse system and they don't like the warehouse system any better than they do McLaurin. The speaker paid his respects to the newspapers, especially the dailies. He alleged that some of them had lied upon him outrageously and had refused to print corrections even when he had offered to pay.

Referring back to the campaign last year, the speaker said that his en-emies had undertaken to promise that if Smith was elected the south would get fifteen cents for cotton. They claimed that McAdoo had a billion dollars he was going to put into the south in the event of Smith's election, and what did he do with it? Sent some of it to Europe to bring home those globe-trotters. But you will not get Smith's fifteen cents cotton nor get Smith's fifteen cents cotton until McLaurin's fifteen cents cotton until your congressmen do something. And what are they doing? Nothing. They are so interested in the little bit of patronage Wilson is holding over them, that they are not even representing you. For a little postoffice or something, the president can make them do anything. That is why they have not helped to protect your in-terests. What you want to do is to assemble at your club meetings and at your courthouses, and pass resolu-tions demanding that your congressmen get busy. That will make them trot. [Cheers.] And until you do more in this way they are not going to do anything but lie around the pie counter waiting for little postoffices. "They tell you to diversify your crops," said the speaker, "but suppose you make all kinds of crops, how are you going to sell them without a "Lord Roseberry remarked, many years ago, that 'Unless the nation masters the drink interest, the drink in-terest would master the nation.' He did not explain as he could easily have done, that the great difficulty in bringing the drink interest to its knees in England as elsewhere in Europe, lies in the fact of its covert alliance with other great powers of social or der—the feudal aristocracy and mod-ern capitalism. And to this triple alern capitalism. And to this triple alliance a fourth element is attached in Refrigerated Candies more or less sympathetic correlatio -the clericals of the state churches Twelve hundred and fifty Anglician in English rectories-wives and sisters of the clergy—possess similar properties. Rebuilt Typewriters—As Good As a MUTUAL BENEFIT POLICY who was less than 25 years of age. During the past 15 months I have written a larger number of applications of ages indicated than in any similar period during the 16 years I have represented the company and I am hopeful that the time is not as far off as it has been that the majority of young men will realize that THEIR interests demand that the sooner they insure THEIR lives the BETTER. The Mu-tual Benefit's age limits are from 15 to 70 years and there are few, if any, young men who could not carry from one to five thousand dollars insurance one to live thousand dollars instrance if they tried, and there is no doubt of the fact that they WOULD TRY if they knew as well what IS AHEAD of them as thousands of men from 40 to 70 years of age who are applying for insurance every year, know what is BEHIND them. The young man has Everything to Gain and nothing to lose by insuring NOW. The parents who urge their sons to insure just as soon as they reach the insurable age, and even help them to pay the premiums, if necessary, will be doing them a kindness which will be appreciated in after years. SAM M. GRIST, Special Agent.

LESSONS OF YOUTH-Youthful impressions are lasting especially if they are forcibly ap-plied, like mother's slipper used to Teach the children that Saving is a duty they owe to themselves. Old age comes to all, but it's often hard to make youth realize it. Early formed habits are the lasting ones. The child taught to realize the full value of a dollar is better equipped than the one whose head is stuffed with a knowledge of a dozen different languages. Our Bank will help YOUR children to SAVE.
