it all. All of a sudden he heard a splash and, looking around, he saw his friend Green struggling in the water. Without attempting to save him he rushed off to the local house agent.

"Quick!" he gasped. "Green has fallen in the river. Can I have his house?"

"Sorry," said the house agent, "I've already let it to the man who pushed him in."-London Ideas.

A Regular Superman .- A farmhand who had worked every day in the week from dawn till late at night, finishing the chores by lantern light, went to the farmer at the end of the month and said: "I'm going to quit. You promised me a steady job of work."

"Well, haven't you got one?" was the astonished reply.

"No," said the worker. "There are three or four hours every don't have anything to do except fool away my time by sleeping."-Buffalo Times.

A Bad Investment,-"May I ask the cause of all this excitement?" said the stranger.

"Certainly," replied the countryman "We're celebrating the birthday of the oldest inhabitant. She's one hundred and one today."

"Indeed! And may I ask who is that little man with the dreadfully sad face, walking by the old lady's side?"

"Oh, that's her son-in-law. He's been keeping up the payments of her life insurance policy for the last thirty Medical Morality.-Not so very long ago a certain attorney was quite ill. A doctor was summoned, but directly he arrived and got one look at his patient he said, "Sorry, but you'll have to call another doctor.' "Am I as sick as all that?" gasped the attorney. "No, but you're the lawyer that cross-examined me when I was called to give expert testimony in a certain case. Now my conscience won't permit me to kill you, but I'm darned if I care to cure you. Good day."-Argonaut.

A Skeptical Jury .- An Idaho lawyer tells of a case tried in that state some years ago, on which eccasion the judge, an Easterner who desired to display his learning instructed the jury very fully, laying down the law with the utmost authority. But the jurors, after deliberating some hours, found themselves unable to agree. Finally the foreman asked for additional

THE NORTHERN STATES HAVE OFFICIALLY ADOPTED THE 56' AUTO TRACK WAGON

Neither too Wide nor too Narrow but Standard 56-Inch Auto-track

WEBER

Bought by Farmers Because of Its Known Qualities

EGARDLESS of all other considerations - the 60-inch wagon does not fit the road. Any advantages it might possess are offset by the fact that it is a stranger on its own roads. It rides the ridges, which causes broken axles, wheels and other parts, and the tongue whips about which is hard on the team.

The justly famous Weber wagon is built only in 56" auto-track because this is the standard approved tread of automobiles - and the automobile makes the ruts in mud or soft roads. If the farm wagon is not made to follow the same path it is out of date for road service. Automobiles are increasing among farmers because they are a time-saving necessity, and every farmer who hasn't an automobile intends to procure one at the earliest opportunity.

The Weber 56" auto-track wagon will do everything that the old 60" wagor would do. It will haul cotton bales as easily as the wide track wagon and the team can draw the load without having to pull every inch of the way. It lends itself just as readily to all kinds of farm work and in addition it fits the prevailing road tracks.

Besides the auto-track feature the new Weber has the patented Fifth Wheel and the "Safety First" Swivel Reach Coupling - two advantages that are worth $20 apiece to the user during the life of the wagon.

By all means see our Weber wagons before you buy. We can offer you something that will save you money and give you service.
