Wells gave bond for his appearance to answer the charge that will be lodged against him.
Honor for Callie Smith.
 Private Callie Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Smith of Rock Hill and a member of Company G, one hundred and eighteenth infantry (Fort Mill Light Infantry) has received the croix de guerre with the gilt star from the French government, awarded through the commanding general of the French armies of the east with the approbation of the commander in chief of the American expeditionary forces. A translation of the citation accompanying the medal reads as follows: "When his company was stopped by violent machine gun fire, he volunteered to accompany an officer and helped him to take a machine gun post from the rear, after having put the guns to flight with grenades and revolvers."
Willie Nims Gets Croix de Guerre.
 Sergeant Willie Nims, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nims of Fort Mill, has received notice of the award by the French to him of the croix de guerre with the accompanying citation: "Adjutant Nims, Willie, Company G, one hundred and eighteenth American infantry regiment. All the officers of his command having been wounded, although he was himself hit by a shell siver in the leg, took command and led his company with exceptional self possession under very violent machine gun fire, using a stick as a crutch, and continued to advance to his objective, and only after he had the position consolidated did he consent to withdraw to the rear for attention to his wound."
Memorial to Soldiers.
 Rev. J. L. Oates of Yorkville has accepted an appointment from Governor Cooper to collect York county's part of the voluntary contribution to the memorial fund for soldiers of the world war, provided for at the last session of the legislature. The idea is to erect in Columbia suitable memorial buildings to commemorate the part the people of South Carolina took in the world war. The act appropriates $100,000 to become available when the commissions in charge consider that voluntary subscriptions from private and corporate sources have amounted to enough to warrant the undertaking. The commission is asking for voluntary subscriptions to the aggregate of $400,000 of which York county's part is to be $19,875.

Bullock's Creek Officers Active.
 Constable Coy Jones of Bullock's Creek, assisted by several other citizens of that township, destroyed a moonshine distillery located a short distance in the rear of Hopewell church in Bullock's Creek township, last Friday. The plant was not in operation at the time it was destroyed, although it was ready for business and the officers had been watching in the vicinity for some time in the hope that somebody would get busy. About 200 gallons of mash were poured out and the boxes, still and other paraphernalia was destroyed. There was no sign of the worm. The authorities have the names of several negroes and pretty good evidence to sustain their belief that these negroes are the owners and operators of the plant, which is understood to have been located at the point where it was destroyed since some time in March. Very probably several arrests will be made shortly.
 —George Gladden, a 70 year old white man, was waylaid and murdered early Wednesday morning as he was going to his work at the Wateree Power Dam in West Wateree, Kershaw county, and his body was robbed of a considerable sum of money. The old man is known to have carried a large sum of money with him at all times and his relatives state that he was relieved of around $1,500 by the murderer. The crime occurred just before daylight on a by-road leading to the Hardaway Company's works, and two negroes following close behind Mr. Gladden state that they saw the revolver flashes and could hear the murderer as he made his way through the woods. The assassin evidently sat beside the road and awaited his victim. Three shots were fired, two taking effect, one passing through the body entering from the back, causing instant death. Melton Banks, a white man, who worked alongside of the old man at the Hardaway works, was arrested soon after the crime was committed as being a suspect.

YOU CAN FOOL SOME MEN ONCE BUT NOT NINE TIMES

It has been more than twenty years since I made my original contract with Mr. M. M. Mattison, General Agent for the Mutual Benefit for South Carolina, to represent the company in this territory.

Before making or signing the contract I had made a pretty extensive investigation of the records, standing, and reputations of the various legal reserve or "old line" companies then doing business in the State, and became thoroughly convinced that not one of them was in its class when the matter of a Square Deal to policy holders under any and all circumstances was taken into consideration, or had carried out its contracts at lower cost, and while today there may possibly be men engaged in soliciting life insurance in this county who have been in the work longer than myself, there is not one who has represented the Same Company continuously so long, in fact, so far as I know, half so long.

Twenty, yes fifty years ago, the Mutual Benefit, wherever known, was regarded as the best policy-holder's company in the business and it has exactly the same reputation today, and it has it because it was established in 1845 for the express purpose of furnishing absolutely safe insurance to its members at a minimum cost.

And each successive management has religiously lived up to the ideals of the founders, and up to this day it has never resorted to any experimental schemes or issued any special "prize box" policies that would not bear dissection at the hands of a man capable of explaining exactly what they meant. It is a fact that there is not a single feature of real value embraced in the contract of any other company doing business in the United States today that is not in all Mutual Benefit contracts, whether one week or seventy years old.

FOR MORE THAN TWENTY YEARS

I have been reiterating in the columns of The Yorkville Enquirer that the average individual in buying life insurance actually bought the gab of the agent and neither knew or cared, evidently, whether the company he represented was financially safe beyond the possibility of a doubt or whether it had a record covering fifty years or longer for square dealing and economical, conservative management, and never gave a thought to the probability that he might go on paying premiums for years before the ability and willingness of the company to make good the representations of the agent were tested. It is a solemn duty that every man owes himself in buying life insurance to KNOW that the Company and Contract are all that life should be. Numerous citizens in York County have from three to nine policies in the Mutual Benefit, taken out at different times, and many of them are among the leading business men of the county, yes of the State. "You may be able to fool some men once, but you can't fool any man nine times," especially the kind that has nine Mutual Benefit policies for a total amount of about $25,000.00.

Brother, when you decide to buy life insurance, or take out additional insurance, just bear in mind that it is barely possible that by looking around some you may be able to find something that will prove more satisfactory than that you have already examined.

SAM M. GRIST, Special Agent
 You can investigate the Mutual Benefit without incurring any obligation to buy.
