Some Items of Fact, Some of Comment and All Helping to Give an Idea of What Our Neighbors Are Saying and Doing.

Gaffney Ledger, September 22: The annual singing held at Limestone Baptist church Sunday was well attended and was enjoyed by all. The old-time favorite hymns were sung under the direction of Cherokee county's leading singers. A special choir from Greenville which had been expected was unable to be present on account of a previous engagement. J. L. Plaxico, a prominent banker and business man of Hickory Grove, spent Friday in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. White. Mr. Plaxico was accompanied by his wife, and was en route to Clinton, going to that place Saturday morning. Mr. H. Fay Gaffney is moving his family soon to Columbus, Ga., where they will make their home much to the regret of their many friends here. Mr. Gaffney's interests have been in Georgia for the past two years. Miss Blanche Gaffney left Friday morning for Columbus, where she will enter school. Superintendent of Education J. L. Walker yesterday said that a majority of the rural schools will open for the fall term about the middle of October. Teachers are very scarce and rather hard to secure despite the higher salaries being paid this year, according to Mr. Walker.

Rock Hill Record, Sept. 22: Miss Birdie Lee Reynolds of Swansea and Curtis Pinckney Smoak of Rock Hill were married at the former place on September 17. Maj. Lindsay McFadden returned to his duties this morning at the Diehl-Moore Shoe company, he being a member of that corporation. N. V. Sanders recently of the Aragon Mills, Rock Hill, but formerly of Gaffney, has succeeded A. F. Briggs as superintendent of the Hermitage Mill of Camden. Lindsay Miller, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Miller, of this city, will leave Wednesday for Johns Hopkins, where he goes to take up the study of medicine. Mr. Miller graduated with the A. B. from Erskine College in 1918, and with the B. S. from the University of South Carolina in June, 1919, and is one of the 40 men picked from the country at large who are permitted to study medicine at Johns Hopkins, which is quite an honor. The friends of Miss Margaret Walmsey, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Walmsey, were surprised to learn of her marriage to Lewis Joseph Bellus of New York City, which occurred on Saturday morning in Charlotte. The parents of the young lady were present. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Bellus left for Camp Bragg, where they will reside temporarily. Mrs. W. S. Neil and children returned home in Columbia on Saturday after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Neil, on Marion street. Mrs. Neil entered her daughter, Miss Dorothy, at Winthrop College. The Manchester Cotton Mills, which was sold recently to the Jobbers Overall Company of Lynchburg, Va., will increase the spindles to 30,000 and looms to 1,000 all on Genim, and the Jobbers Overall Company will take the entire output. The mill now has 1,800 spindles and 400 looms. Miss Mary Louise Little, a recent Winthrop graduate, was married in Laurens county last Tuesday afternoon to William B. Bailey, a farmer of that county. Lieut. Dozier of Rock Hill was a guest at the wedding.

Chester Reporter, September 22: Mr. W. Thompson Wilks, a well known farmer, died Thursday evening at his home in the Baton Rouge section, after a few days' illness. He was about 68 years of age. The state Highway Commission let a contract last week to the Birmingham Steel Corporation for the construction of the Broad river bridge at Lockhart, for which contract was let some months ago, but which was afterwards rejected by the contractors, the deposit check being forfeited. The contract for the construction of the steel bridge was let for $37,800. A separate contract for the construction of the concrete structures of the bridge was let to the Lockhart Power Co., for $26,039, a total for the entire bridge of $63,839. The contract calls for completion of the bridge in nine months. Work is to start at once. A peculiar type of beetle has been causing considerable damage to trees at Evergreen cemetery. One has been sent to Clemson College and a reply is shortly expected looking toward the elimination of these pests. They bore holes in the trees and deposit eggs. A government article here on the subject states that by whitewashing the trees and especially the holes made by the beetles relief can be obtained. This has been done. An appeal from Chester county regarding the adjustment of boundary lines between Great Falls and Rossville school districts was heard Friday before the state board of education, and referred to a special committee, consisting of Messrs. Montgomery, McGarity, and Derrick for investigation and report. Prof. E. H. Hall, superintendent of the Great Falls school, who was in Chester Saturday, said that practically the same condition exists in the school at Great Falls as here. The school is badly over-crowded, and there are about fifty more pupils enrolled than there are accommodations for. Prof. Hall is also short one teacher. Master Billy Wilson, of the Hazelwood section, died in this city Friday night from blood-poisoning. The deceased was thirteen years of age, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wilson. Burial was at Armenia Saturday afternoon.

Gastonia Gazette, September 23: City Manager W. J. Alexander has received from the state chemist a detailed report on the specimen of city water recently sent for analysis, the water having been taken from a spring. The analysis shows the water pure, being entirely free from colon bacilla or any other contaminating matter. Gastonia's city water is analyzed regularly by the state chemist. Miss Willie B. Otey, community worker for the Armstrong, Clara and Dunn mills, who has been in Washington at the Walter Reed hospital for treatment for the past month, arrived home yesterday. Her many friends will be glad to know that she has been much benefited by her stay in the hospital. A wedding that came as a surprise to their many friends in the county was that of Mr. Earl Armstrong and Miss Gertrude McKnight, of the South Point section. They were married Sunday evening at the Presbyterian manse, Rev. J. T. Dendy, pastor of the church officiating. Work on the remodeling of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McLean on Broad street continues. One of the most interesting and pathetic stories as well as one of the most baffling that has faced the department for some time comes from Chief Orr, of the Gastonia police department. The facts as related are these. Some two weeks ago, a married lady, Mrs. Chas. Whitley, and a little daughter, a few years old, alighted in Gastonia from an interurban car from Charlotte. They had been placed on the car some time during the day in Charlotte by the father and husband, Charles Whitley, who with a son, Ernest Whitley, were coming through the country in a wagon. Mrs. Whitley, after a day and night spent here and no sign of her husband appearing, came to the police department for aid and advice. She told how they had left their home somewhere in Western North Carolina some days previous with the intention of coming to Gastonia to work. They were traveling through the country in a wagon, driving two horses. At Charlotte, Mrs. Whitley says, her husband put her and the girl on a P. & N. car for the trip to Gastonia, he and the son to follow. Since that date, September 9, she has not heard from or seen him. An interested and interesting visitor in the city is Mr. J. Walter Beattie, of Los Angeles, Cal., who is paying Gaston his first visit in 40 years. He arrived yesterday morning, resting, as he himself admitted, under the apprehension that in all probability he would not see a soul that he knew. "I hadn't been in town but a few minutes," he said to The Gazette man, "until I ran right into Mun Whitesides (meaning Munroe) and Tom Craig." As a boy of thirteen Mr. Beattie left Gastonia 40 years ago with his father, the late W.-W. Beattie, who moved from Gaston to Paris, Texas. He had thought many times of coming back to see what the old town looked like but had just kept putting it off from year to year. When he did come, he was immensely surprised at what he saw. "When I left here," said Mr. Beattie, "Gastonia had four stores, if such they might be called, a postoffice, a little depot and The Gazette. That is all I remember." The Beattie family lived in the Pisgah neighborhood, a few miles west of Gastonia, and Mr. Beattie, in company with Mr. Whitesides, drove out to that section yesterday afternoon. "Coming down on the train," said Mr. Beattie, "I was wondering whether I could hire a horse and buggy to drive out to the old home-place or whether I would have to foot it. Imagine my surprise when I found such a thriving city as you have here with more automobiles to the square inch than you will find almost anywhere." Mr. Beattie is a traveling man, representing Harris & Ewing, one of the largest photographic and newspaper illustrations concerns in the world. This is the firm that probably photographs more notables than any other in the world. He will probably spend several days here looking over the town and county.

Burch Kirkley, an employee of the town of Cheraw, and a well known citizen of that town, was shot and killed last Saturday afternoon by T. L. Ingram and E. G. Ingram, brothers. The tragedy occurred on a main street of Cheraw, and happened at a time when the street was blocked with a usual Saturday afternoon crowd. Miss Long, a high school teacher of Cheraw, was struck by a stray bullet and painfully though not seriously wounded. The tragedy was the result of a dispute over the sale of land. The Ingrams had purchased certain lands from Kirkley and later sold the land at auction in small lots. Burch Kirkley and E. G. Ingram met in front of one of the banks of the town Saturday afternoon and a fist fight ensued. Ingram later drawing a pistol and shooting Kirkley in the leg. Then T. L. Ingram came up and learning of the trouble, took the pistol out of the hands of his brother and shot Kirkley to death. The tragedy occurred in the presence of Kirkley's wife and little child who were seated in an automobile nearby. Kirkley had no pistol.

A one story frame dwelling near the overhead bridge of the Southern railway at Blacksburg and occupied by the family of Ed Cauthen was burned Sunday night. Cauthen and his family were away from home at the time of the fire. All of their furniture was destroyed. Asheville's water famine is somewhat improved. The reserve supply in the reservoirs is now about 4,000,000 gallons and laundries and soda fountains have been allowed to resume business.

Food served in the army hospital at Oteen, N. C., was of such poor quality the inspector general's department made several investigations. Lieut. Robert L. Murry of Minneapolis, recently discharged, told a special house investigating committee in Washington last Tuesday. "Food served enlisted men," he said, "was not fit for lumber jacks. There was no refrigeration plant and the 1,100 patients were forced to eat badly prepared food." Even after the investigations, he added, the quality of the food was not improved.

Marvin L. Rich, Charlotte lawyer and J. H. Graham of Concord, both labor organizers were held under bond of $1,000 each for the Stanley county grand jury at the conclusion late Monday evening of a preliminary hearing before County Judge Ingram on charges of inciting to riot in connection with the strike disorder at the Waccasaw Textile mill at Albemarle, N. C. last week.

Sergeant Alexander Arch who fired the first shot in the war and Corporal Lewis Vazady, who loaded the projectile, both from South Bend, Ind., got a rousing reception in Washington Tuesday when they appeared in the house galleries and Representative Hickley of Indiana announced their presence.
