sound, but Curly's imagination con-

Sound.

them. Therefore neither Curly nor dent voice. "The place is surrounded by our friends and it won't do you a whole lot of good to shoot me up. I'd advise you not to be too impulsive."

He descended the steps, his face recorded. At his heels came the older turned the button. Instantly the dark-

The two Flandraus were quite alone and not made up, and a couple of rough chairs. The place had no windows, no n.eans of ventilation except through the trap door. Yet there were evidences to show that it had recently been inhabited. Hulf-smoked cigars littered the floor. A pack of cards lay in disorder on the table. The Sentinel with date line of that day lay tossed

"Make anything out of it?" the hills, so they can picket the trails."

"How do you know he is being taken is in it. He knows every nook of the Curly put the newspaper in his pock-

"The birds have flown, Dick. Made this afternoon, probably just after it got dark." He turned to the woman.

"Mrs. Wylie, murder is going to be done I shouldn't wonder. And vou're liable to be held guilty of it unless

She began to weep, helplessly, but with a sort of stubbornness, too.

Frightened she certainly was, but some greater fear held her silent as to the secret. "I don't know anything about it," she repeated over and over.

et and led the way back to the store.

hills. The party left here not two in a corner.

there?"

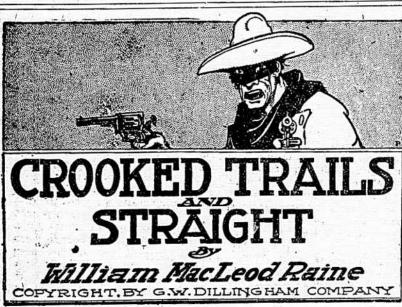

older Flandrau asked.

hours since, looks like."

you tell us all you know."

ness was driven from the cellar.

ing a weapon.

Two Hats on a Rack.

One casual remark of Mackenzie had given Kate a clew. Even before she had explained it, Curly caught the point and began to dig for the truth. For though he was almost a boy, the others leaned on him with the expectation that in the absence of Maloney he would take the lead.

In the morning he and Kate had a talk with his uncle on the subject. Not content with this, he made the whole party adjourn to the club rooms so that he might see exactly where Luck had sat and the different places the sheepman had stood from the time he entered until the poker players left.

Together Billie Mackenzie and Alec Flandrau dramatized the scene for the young people. Mac personated the sheepman, came into the room, hung up his hat, lounged over to the poker table, said his little plece as well as he could remember it, and passed into the next room. Flandrau, Senior, taking the role of Cullison, presently got up, lifted his hat from the rack, and went to the door.

With excitement trembling in her voice, the girl asked an eager question. "Were their hats side by side like that on adjoining pegs?"

"That's how I remember it." "Both gray hats?" Curly cut in. "Can't be sure of that. Luck's was gray all right." Curly looked at Kate and nodded. "I reckon we know how Cass got Mr.

Cullison's hat. It was left on the "How do you mean?" his uncle asked: "Don't you see?" the girl explained, her eyes shining with excitement. "Father took the wrong hat. You know how absent-minded he is sometimes." Mackenzie slapped his knee. "Till bet a stack of blues you've guessed it." "There's a way to make sure," Curly sald. "Fendrick couldn't wear Mr. Cullison's hat around without the risk of someone remembering it later. What would he do then?"

Kate beamed. "Buy another at the nearest store."

"That would be my guess. And the nearest store is the New York emporlum. We've got to find out whether he did buy one there on Tuesday some time after nine o'clock in the morning."

The girl's eyes were sparkling. She bustled with businesslike energy. "I'll go and ask right away."

"Don't you think we'd better let Uncle Alec find out? He's not so likely to stir up curiosity," Curly suggested.

Within a quarter of an hour Alec Flandrau joined the others at the hotel. "You kids are right at the head of the class in the detective game. Cass bought a brown hat, about 9:30 in the mo'ning. Paid five dollars for it. Wouldn't let them deliver the old one but took it with him in a paper sack."

With her lieutenants flanking her Kate went straight to the office of the sheriff. Bolt heard the story out and considered it thoughtfully. "You win, Miss Cullison. You haven't proved Fendrick caused your father's disappearance by foul play, and you haven't proved he committed the robbery. Point of fact I don't think he did either one. But it certainly looks like he may possibly have manufactured evidence."

Curly snorted scornfully. "You're letting your friend down easy, Mr. Bolt. By his own story he was on the ground a minute after the robbery took place. How do we know he wasn't there a minute before? For if he didn't know the holdup was going to occur why did he bring Mr. Cullison's hat with him punctured so neatly with bullet holes?"

"Hold your hawses a while, Flandrau, and look at this thing reasonable. You're all prejudiced for Cullison and against Fendrick. Talk about evidence! There's ten times as much against your friend as there is against Cass."

"Then you'll not arrest Fendrick?" "When you give me good reason to do it," Bolt returned doggedly.

The four adjourned to meet at the Del Mar for a discussion of ways and

"We'll keep a watch on Fendricksee where he goes, who he talks to, what he does. Maybe he'll make a break and give himself away," Curly sald hopefully.

"But my father-we must rescue him first."

"As soon as we find where he is. Killing him wouldn't help Cass any, because you and Sam would prove up on the claim. But if he couls hold your father a prisoner and get him to sign a relinquishment to him he would .be in a fine position."

"If we could only have Fendrick ar-

"What good would that do? 'If he's guilty he wouldn't talk. And if he is holding your father somewhere in CHAPTER IV. the hills it would only be serving notice that we were getting warm. No. I'm for a still hunt. Let Cass ride around and meet his partners in this deal. We'll keep an eye on him, all > right.' "Maybe you're right," Kate admitted with a sigh.

Sheriff Bolt, though a politician, was an honest man. It troubled him that Cullison's frient's believed him to be a partisan in a matter of this sort. For which reason he met more than half way Curly's overtures. Young Flandrau was in the office of the sheriff a good deal, because he wanted to keep informed of any new developments in the W. & S. robbery case. It was on one of those occasions that Bolt tossed across to him a letter he had just opened.

"I've been getting letters from the village cutup or from some crank, I don't know which. Here's a sample.' The envelope, addressed evidently in a disguised hand, contained one sheet of paper. Upon this was lettered roughly. "PLAY THE JACK OF HEARTS." Flandrau looked up with a suggestion of eagerness in his eyes. "What do you reckon it means?" he

"Search me. Like as not it don't mean a thing. The others had just as much sense as that one. I chucked them into the waste-paper basket. One came by the morning mail yesterday and one by the afternoon. I'm no mind reader, and I've got no time to guess fool puzzles."

Curly emptied the basket on the floor and went over its contents carefully. He found three communications from the unknown writer. Each of them was printed by hand on a sheet of cheap lined paper torn from a scratch pad. He smoothed them out and put them side by side on the table. This was what he read:

Went Over Its Contents Carefully.

"HEARTS ARE TRUMPS." WHEN IN DOUBT PLAY TRUMPS."

"PLAY TRUMPS NOW." There was only the one line to each message, and all of them were plainly in the same hand. He could make ouf only one thing, that someone was trying to give the sheriff information in a guarded way. He was still puzzling over the thing when a boy came with a special delivery letter for the sheriff. Bolt glanced at it and handed the note to Curly. "Another billy doo from my anxious friend." This time the sender had been in too much of a hurry to print the words. They were written in a stiff hand by some uneducated person.

THE JACK OF TRUMPS, TODAY.

"Mana if I keep these?" Curly

"Take 'em along."

Flandrau strolled back to town along El Molino street and down Main. He had just crossed the old Spanish plaza when his absorbed gaze fell on a sign that brought him up short. In front of a cigar store stretched across the sidewalk a painted picture of a juck of hearts. The same name was on the window. Fifty yards behind him was the Silver Dollar saloon, where Luck Cullison had last been seen on his way to the Del Mar one hundred and fifty yards in front of him. Somewhere within that distance of two hundred yards the owner of the Circle C had vanished from the sight of men. The evidence showed he had not reached the hotel, for a cattle buyer had been waiting there to talk with him. His testlinony, as well as that of the hotel clerk, was positive. Could this little store, the Jack of Hearts, be the central point of the mystery? In his search for information Curly had already been in it, had bought a cigar, and had stopped to talk with Mrs. Wylie, the proprietor. She was a washed-out little woman who had cace been pretty. She had protested with absurd parnestness that she had seen nothing of Mr. Cullison. A single glance had been enough to dismiss her from any possible suspicion. .

Now Curly stepped in a second time. The frightened gaze of Mrs. Wylie fastened upon him listantly. He observed that her hand moved instinctively to her heart. Beyond question she was in fear. A flash of light clarifled his mind. She was a conspirator, but an unwilling one. Possibly she might be the author of the anonymous warnings sent Bolt.

The young vaquero subscribed for a magazine and paid her the money. Tremblingly she filled out the receipt. He glanced at the slip and handed it

"Just write below the signature 'of the Jack of Hearts,' so that I'll remember where I paid the money if the magazine doesn't come," he sug-

She did so, and Curly put the receipt in his pocket carelessly. He sauntered leisurely to the hotel, but as soon as he could get into a telephone booth his listlessness vanished. Maloney had returned to town and he telephoned him to get Mackenzle at once and watch the Jack of Hearts in front and rear. Before he left the booth Curly had compared the writing of Mrs. Wylle with that on the sheet that had come by special de-Beyond question the same livery. person had written both.

Certainly Mrs. Wylie was not warning the sheriff against herself. Then against whom? He must know her antecedents, and at once. Calling up a local detective agency, he asked the manager to let him know within an hour or two all that could be found out about the woman without alarming her.

"Walt a moment. I think we have her on file. Hold the 'phone." The detective presently returned. "Yes. We can give you the facts. Will you come to the office for them?"

Fifteen minutes later Curly knew that Mrs. Wylle was the divorced wife of Lute Blackwell.

He returned to the Del Mar and sent his name up to Miss Cullison, With Kate and Bob there was also in the room Alec Flandrau.

The girl came forward lightly to meet him. "Have you heard something?" she asked quickly. "Yes. Tell me, when did your father last meet Lute Blackwell so far as you know?" The owner of the Map of Texas answered the question of his nephew. "He met him the other day. Let's see. . It was right after the big poker game. We met him downstairs here. Luck had to straighten out some notions he had got." "How?"

Flandrau, Senior, told the story of what had occurred in the hotel lobby. "And you say he swore to get even?" "That's what he said. And he looked like he meant it, too."

"What is it? What have you found cut?" Kate implored.

The young man told about the letters and Mrs. Wylie.

"We'ye got to get a move on us," he concluded. "For if Lute Blackwel did this thing to your father it's mighty serious for him."

Kate was white to the lips, but in no danger of breaking down. "Yes, if this man is in it he would not stop at less than murder. But I don't belive it. . know father is alive. Cass Fendrick is the man we want. I'm sure of it."

"By George, that's what we did, too every last one of us," his uncle ad-her little double nod thanked Curly.

Alec, will you keep guard outside?"

before you were walking howlegged," blame me if you get shot up."

Maloney met them in front of the

"Dick, you go with me inside, Uncle

"No, bub, I won't. I knew Luck

Curly grinned, "All right, Don't when she saw the three men. Her

"I'm here to play trumps, Mrs. Wy lie. What secret has the Jack or Hearts got hidden from us?" young

Flandrau demanded, his hard eyes

"I-I-I don't know what you mean."

"No use. We're here for business

Dick, you stay with her. Don't le

He passed into the back room which was a kind of combination liv ing room, kitchen and bedroom.

door led from the rear into a back yard littered with empty packing cases, garbage cans and waste paper

After taking a look around the yar-

he locked the back door noistlessly

There was no other apparent exit from the kitchen-bedroom except the on by which he and his uncle had entered from the shop. But he knew the place must have a cellar, and hi

Inspection of the yard had showed to entrance there. He drew back th

Navajo rug that covered the floor an found one of the Ad-fashioned tra-doors some cheap houses have. Int this was fitted an iron ring with which

From the darkness below came n to lift it.

fastened to her timorous ones.

her leave or shout a warning."

for his hat.

the bank again."

Jack of Hearts.

face was ashen.

Maloney had an inspiration. He spoke in a low voice to Curly. "Let's "First thing is to search the Jack of Hearts and see what's there. Are take her to the hotel. Miss Kate will you with me, Uncle Alec?" know how to get it out of her better "I sure am, Curly," and he reached than we can." Mrs. Wylie went with them quietly Curly turned at the door with his warm smile. "By the way, I've go: some news I forgot. I know where your father got the money to pay his enough. She was shaken with fears, but still resolute not to speak. They might send her to prison. She would tell them nothing-nothing at all. For poker debts. Mr. Jordan of the Cathabit of her life had put the fear of tlemen's National made him a personal loan. He figured it would not death into her soul. hurt the bank because the three men (To be Continued). Luck paid it to would deposit it with

OYSTERS AND SHAD INCREASE

Last Year 200,000 Bushels of Oysters Planted on Carolina Coast.

"Every little helps," Kate said, and Big increases in the oyster and shad industries of South Carolina are reported for 1920, by the State Board of Fisheries! in its annual report made last week, to the legislature and the governor. The oyster industry of the state is growing each year, in quantity, quality and size, says the report. the old cattleman answered brusquely. During 1920 there were planted 200,-000 bushels of oysters on the South Carolina coast. "There is no scarcity Mrs. Wylle's startled eyes told tales of oysters in our state," says the report: "all we need to make this a ple interested in settling our own people."

As to commerce in shad in South Carolina, the report shows that due of Mrs. Molly Jones. ing last year the catch was the biggest in many years, $5,736 shad being caught and bringing in revenue totalling $3,000 not counting the shad Better act at once. caught for personal use, of which the board has no records.

The report also shows that during geon and 344 pounds of caviar was in lots. Here is an opportunity to make some money. report says, gives employment to hundreds of people during the summer

The report also says that the clam industry in South Carolina shows slight increase; but that commerce in terrapins is on the wane in South Carolina, E. W. Dullant, Georgetown, E. C. Epps, of Kingstree, and Thos. H. Rainsford, of Edgefield, constitute this board.

-A Memphis man has invented a new cotton picker with a capacity of 700 pounds daily. The picker, at the end of a flexible tube, is placed against the boll and the cotton is drawn from the bolls my means of two cylindrical horsehair brushes which revolve. A suction arrangement draws he cotton to a receptacle in the rear.

Hastings Seeds 1921 Catalog Free

It's ready now. 116 handsomely illustrated pages of worth while seed and garden news. This new catalog, we believe, is the most valuable seed book ever published. It contains twenty full pages of the most popular vegetables and flowers in their natural colors, the finest work of its kind over attempted.

With our photographic illustrations, and color pictures also from photographs, we show you just what you grow with Hastings' Seeds even before you order the seeds. This catalog makes garden and flower bed planning easy and it should be in every single Southern home. Write us a post-card for it, giving your name and address. It will come to you by return mail and you will be mighty glad you've got it. Hastings' Seeds are the Standard of the South and they have the larg-From the Darkness Below Came No est mail order seed house in the world back of them. They've got to be the best. Write now for the 1921 catacelved the place as full of shining log. It is absolutely free. H. G. HASeyes glaring up at him. Any bad men TINGS CO., SEEDSMEN, ATLANTA, down there already had the drop on his uncle made the mistake of draw-PYRAMID PAINT SHOP "I'm coming down, boys," young Flandrau announced in a quiet confi-

ROCK HILL, S.ºC.

Automobile Tops

It is the top of the automobile, of course, that conduces to real comfort. If the overhead and the curtains are like a stone wall for all the emotion it not in first-class shape there is no com-fort. You cannot get your tops put in proper shape just anywhere or by just anybody, because just anybody DOES NOT KNOW HOW to do this work. Automobile Tops is our Leading Spentrum. man. Curly struck a match, found an electric hulb above his head and cialty. We are prepared to do absolutely everything that is needed in conin the room. For furniture there was nection with them and we have workmen who know their business. We don't a table, a cot which had been slept in ask the builders of the automobiles any odds in this regard, and you may bring your work to us with the assurance that it is not a temporary makeshif you are after, but the REAL THING.

JAS. A. JOHNSON, Prop.

Very Much Obliged---

We thank each and every one of our customers' for the business given us during the year 1920, now closing. It "He's been here, but they've taken has not been the best year ever, but it him away. Will you cover the telehas been very good to us and we ap-preciate the support of the buying pubphoning? Have all the ranches notilic in our line. fied that Luck is being taken into the

FOR THE NEW YEAR

We wish for all mankind a prosperous nere?"

"I don't know. I guess. Blackwell and happy New Year in every legitimate endeavor. We trust that you and your friends will get everything that is good that you deserve and more, the poorty left here not two and as for us we promise to do our best to give you the very best possible service in the way of supplying your needs in House Furnishings, Furniture and such other goods as we handle. We will appreciate a continuance their getaway through the alley late of your patronage. May we serve you? PEOPLES FURNITURE --- COMPANY ----

REAL ESTATE

$$$$$ If You Want Them, See SOME OF MY OFFERINGS:

40 Acres—Seven miles from York, bounded by lands of J. B. McCarter, C W. Carroll, H. G. Brown and others; 3-room residence, barn and cotton house. Well of good water; five or six acres bottom land. Buck Horn creek and branch runs through place. About 4-acre pasture; 5 or 6 acres woodsmostly pine and balance work land. About 3-4 mile to Beersheba school. It is going to sell; so if you want it see me right away. Property of H. C. Farris.

60 2-5 Acres-4 1-2 miles from York, some one who had made terror the and less than half mile to Philadelphia school house, church and station. Four room residence, besides hall; 4-room tenant house; barns; 3 wells of good water, and nice orchard. About 8 acres in pasture and woods and balance open land. Act quick if you want it, Property of C. J. Thomasson,

90 Acres at Brattonsville-Property of Estate of Mrs. Agnes Harris. Will give a real bargain here. 144 Acres-Five miles from Filbert on Ridge Road, bounded by lands of W. M. Burns, John Hartness and others; 7-room residence, 5-stall barn and other outbuildings; two 4-room tenant houses, barns, etc.; 2 wells and 1 good spring; 3 horse farm open and balance in timber (oak, pine, &c.) and pasture. About 2 miles to Dixie School and Beersheba church. Property of Mrs. S. J. Barry.

33 Acres-Adjoining the above tract. About 3 or 4 acres of woods and bal-ance open land. Will sell this tract separately or in connection with above tract. Property of J. A. Barry.

195 Acres-Four miles from York, on ple interested in settling our own const for we have everything but the pasture. One and one-half miles to Philadelphia and Miller schools. The One and one-half miles to price is right. See me quick. Property

> Five Room Residence-On Charlotte street, in the town of York, on large I will sell you this property for less than you can build the house.

McLain Property—On Charlotte St., in the town of York. This property lies between Neely, Cannon and Lockmore mills, and is a valuable piece of property.

from Smyrna and 5 miles from King's Creck. Smyrna R. F. D. passes place. One horse farm open and balance in woods-something like 100,000 feet saw timber. 12 acres fine bottoms, 3 room residence. Property of P. B. Bigger. 210 acres-3 1-2 miles from York on 'inckney road. 8 room residence, welof good water, 2 large barns, three 4 room tenant houses and one 3 room tenant house. 40-acre pasture. Good orchard. About 150 acres open land, balance in oak and pine timber. Property of M. A. McFarland. Loans arranged on farming lands.

GEO. W. WILLIAMS REAL ESTATE

TO SUBSCRIBERS AND CLUBMAKERS

Annual Revision of Mailing List of The Yorkville Enquirer.

REDUCTION AND PREMIUM OFFERS

All Invited to Join In Campaign Now On and Continuing Until February 19, 1921.

THIS is the sixty-sixth annual announcement that The Yorkville Enquirer has made to subscribers and clubmakers preliminary to revising the mailing lists for the year following, and there is very little that is different from the sixty-five announcements that have gone before.

THE YORKVILLE ENQUIRER is a public institution under private ownership and direction, having for its object the public good through the dissemination of news of interest and importance, useful information and wholesome entertainment. For their continued ability to carry on their work the publishers are proudly, but none the less gratefully, dependent upon that portion of the public which is sufficiently appreciative to lend their voluntary support.

There is no ground for complaint on the part of the publishers There is no ground for complaint on the part of the publishers at the manner in which The Yorkville Enquirer has been and is being supported. It is a fact that throughout the whole South there is not another newspaper in the class of The Yorkville Enquirer of which The Yorkville Enquirer has occasion to be envious. The subscribers of The Yorkville Enquirer, however, have noticed that as the mailing list grows larger, the paper increases in size, interest and usefulness, and on this ground the publishers desire to offer this suggestion.

That every subscriber of The Yorkville Enquirer who feels that he derives due benefit and satisfaction from its semi-weekly visits, recommend the paper to others with whom he has influence, and in whom he has an interest, to the end that its circulation and influence may be still further increased. An easy and effective way for the subscriber to do this is to give the Clubmaker as much assistance as he can without expense or too much inconvenience.

All of the Clubmakers who have been making clubs are cordially invited to continue their work, and all other well wishers of the paper who desire to become Clubmakers will be welcome.

To the individual subscriber sending in his subscription independently of the Clubmaker, the price of The Yorkville Enquirer is $3 per annum, cash, with the entry of the name.

The price of the paper to the Clubmaker is $2.50 per annum, and he may give the paper to the subscriber who subscribes through him at that price if he so desires; but not for less. For any Clubmaker to give the paper to any one for less than the price to all is strictly forbidden by the postal regulations.

Clubmakers may return names as they secure them, and must pay the cash On or before 6 o'clock p. m., Saturday, February 19. Names not paid for by that date will be discontinued and the Clubmaker will be liable for the time during which the paper has been sent at the rate of 6 cents per week.

WOODSTOCK TYPEWRITER.

FOR THE LARGEST CLUB of names returned and paid for in accordance with the foregoing, the premium is a WOODSTOCK TYPEWRITER. This is a standard keyboard machine and absolutely one of the best on the market. The cash price of it is $110.

NINETY DOLLARS CASH. FOR THE SECOND LARGEST NUMBER of subscribers the premium will be $90.00 CASH, with the understanding that this sum goes to the largest club and the first premium to the second largest club at the option of the maker of the largest club.

FORTY-FIVE PIECE SILVER SET

FOR THE THIRD LARGEST CLUB the premium will be 45 Pieces (1847 Rogers Bros.) TABLE SILVER in mahogany chest, blue velvet lined with drawer, lock and key, brass trimmed, containing: Six hollow handle medium knives, 12 teaspoons, 6 flat handle medium forks, 6 individual salad forks, 6 butter spreaders, 6 dessert spoons, 3 table spoons. Cash value including war tax, $75.75.

FORTY DOLLARS CASH.

FOR THE FOURTH LARGEST CLUE Forty Dollars Cash. . .

TWENTY-SIX PIECE SILVER SET.

FOR THE FIFTH LARGEST CLUB, 26 Pieces (1847 Rogers Eros.) TABLE SILVER in Leatherette case, containing 6 embossed solid handle medium knives, 6 solid handle medium forks, six tea-spoons, 6 dessert spoons, one sugar shell and one butter knife. Value including war tax, $26.65.

TWENTY DOLLARS CASH.

FOR THE SIXTH LARGEST CLUB the premium will be $20.00

42-PIECE DINNER SET.

FOR THE SEVENTH LARGEST CLUB the premium will be 42-Piece DINNER SET, that retails for $14.00 Cash. 42-PIECE DINNER SET.

FOR THE EIGHTH LARGEST CLUB the premium will be one 42-Piece DINNER SET, that retails for $14.00 Cash.

42-PIECE DINNER SET.

FOR THE NINTH LARGEST CLUB the premium will be one 42-Piece DINNER SET, that retails for $14.00 Cash.

OTHER PREMIUMS. FOR FIVE NAMES-Three-bladed Pocket Knife with name in handle, worth $1.50. FOR TEN NAMES-Year's subscription to The Yorkville Enquirer, sent to any address in the United States. FOR FIFTEEN NAMES-Thirty-one-Piece Dinner Set, worth

FOR TWENTY-FIVE NAMES-Set of 1847 Rogers Bros.'s Knives and Forks-6 knives and 6 forks. Knives medium swaged Value $9.00, including war tax.

CASH PREMIUMS.

CLUBMAKERS who prefer may have Cash Commissions in lieu of any of the above premiums. The amount of commission may be learned on application.

BOOKS ARE NOW OPEN.

THE CLUB BOOKS ARE NOW OPEN and New and Old Subscribers may be returned as rapidly as secured.

It is distinctly understood that there can be no transfers of names from one club to another after the names have been entered. on our books.

IMPORTANT INSTRUCTIONS.

In sending names Clubmakers are especially requested to write names and addresses plainly, and in the case of a name already on the mailing list, it is desirable that it be written in the same manner as it now appears on the printed label. Clubmakers will confer a favor if in sending renewals they will begin the letter with "Renew" or in the case of a New name if they will begin with the word "Enter." That will save the bookkeeper trouble in having to hunt the list to avoid entering the same name twice.

And let it be remembered also that this offer of the paper at $2.50 a year will be withdrawn on February 19, and that after that date the price will be $3.00 a year.

L. M. GRIST'S SONS, York, S. C.