

CRISIS OF THE AGES

Upon the World Now Says Noted Lawyer and Churchman.

The year of 1921, marks a "crisis of the ages" the Honorable Ernest L. Tustin, president of the Northern Baptist convention, and a well-known lawyer of Philadelphia, declared today in his opening address at the fourteenth annual convention of Northern Baptists in session in De Moines, Iowa.

He laid emphasis upon the "great extravagances in living" the "deplorable," the "morals in our local politics life," the "moral-degeneration and let-down in the habits of our young people, the "morals in our local politics perhaps lower than ever before" and the "high-church-going and non-religious people, whose knowledge of the sacraments is chiefly confined to those of marriage and of death" as evidence of such a crisis. There is, he declared "a clear, distinct call throughout the land for the unification of all forces of Christianity to consider the great questions confronting the political business and religious world."

WANTS VOLUNTEER HELD

Dawes Says Congress Has Not Provided for Budget Establishment. Declaring congress had provided pitifully inadequate machinery for the new bureau of the budget, Charles G. Dawes, director-designate of the bureau, announced Thursday that in organizing his office he would have to put chief reliance on the volunteer service of experienced business men.

"When the call came to me to take this place," said Mr. Dawes, in a statement in which he appealed to business men to give their assistance without compensation. "I had the same abhorrence of the thought of leaving private life to engage in such a task as you have. Only the thought that if I declined the president's call in a time of business emergency like this I would regard myself as a unflinching quitter the rest of my life, led me to accept. If there is one of you who, after enjoying the benefits of the great prosperity, success, and prestige under the protection of a government which you claim to love, decline to accept this call for reasons of life and death, your conscience will be cursed by the same convictions."

Congress, the statement said, had given the budget director authority to choose only four paid assistants at a salary of not over $6,000 each. "One might as well be handed a toothpick," continued Mr. Dawes, with which to tunnel Pike's peak. In addition to the volunteer aid to be summoned, the new director said he would ask the war department to detail to his bureau Brig. Gen. George V. Mosley and Col. Henry S. Smith, because of their experience in organization work in the A. E. F. He announced that William T. Abbott, his associate in business in Chicago, would serve temporarily as assistant director and that Francis J. Kilgenny, his confidential secretary, and J. C. Koop, of New York had offered also to contribute their services.
