Some Items of Fact, Some of Comment and All Helping to Give an Idea of What Our Neighbors Are Saying and Doing.

Fort Mill Times, Nov. 17: After months of more or less vexatious delay, there is now the prospect that the congregation of St. John's Methodist church will be able to worship for the first time in their new and commodious church edifice on Sunday, November 27. For some time the building has been practically completed except for the installation of the heating plant and the window lights. Work on the heating plant has been rushed for the last ten days, however, and there now remains to finish this part of the contract only the installation of the boiler, which is expected to arrive and be placed in position within the next three or four days. The window lights have been shipped from Atlanta, according to a letter received the early part of the week by an officer of the church, and the work of putting them in will consume only a day or two. Apparently all will be in readiness for the morning service at the church on the last Sunday in the month. Joe M. Belk is a patient at a Chester hospital. Mr. Belk is a world war casualty, who was severely wounded in the attack of the 30th division on the Hindenburg line, and from time to time finds it necessary to enter a hospital for treatment of his wounds. Acting under instructions of Sheriff Fred Quinn, Magistrate J. R. Halle of Fort Mill, a few days ago bound over Mrs. Rosa Purnell of Charlotte, N. C., as a material witness in the case of the state against her husband Frank Purnell, charged with bigamy. The case against Purnell is expected to be called next week. An interesting relic of the days when the automobile industry was in its infancy may be seen in the rear of Starnes' garage on Confederate St., in the shape of a Brush runabout. The car was built about 17 years ago and was the second automobile to be brought to Fort Mill for use locally. Fifteen years ago it was a familiar sight in Fort Mill chugging along over the streets of the town and nearby country roads as best it could with its single cylinder and other mechanism now considered antiquated. The car was owned by W. F. Harris, who operated it in connection with a livery stable he was then running here. Mr. Harris got the car from a Lancaster man, to whom he traded six horses for it. A peculiarity of the car was that sometimes it refused to climb a hill in the ordinary way, but having greater motive power going backward than forward could always be depended upon to back up the steepest hill in this section. The condition of W. M. Crook, son of C. T. Crook, of the Gold Hill community, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident in Tennessee two weeks ago, was considerably improved the early part of the week, according to a message Mr. Crook received a day or two ago from the bedside of his son, whose injuries are being treated at a hospital in Knoxville, Tenn. Wild ducks are said to be more plentiful on the streams near Fort Mill this year than for several years in the immediate past. One Fort Mill youth is reported to have killed 12 of the ducks on lower Sugar creek during the past week and several other hunters have had almost equally good luck in bagging the fowl. A number of the ducks were sold to Fort Mill householders at 50 cents each.

Chester Reporter, Nov. 17: Beautiful in its simplicity and quiet dignity was the wedding of Miss Martha Brownlee Bigham and the Rev. D. Alvin Miller at the A. R. P. church on Wednesday afternoon. Graceful ferns and gay colored autumn leaves lent their beauty to make the church a place of loveliness for this occasion. Married Monday, November 14, 1921, at Shiloh cottage, Mr. C. D. Vinson, from near Mt. Pleasant church, Chester county, S. C., to Miss Enmit Price, from near Armenia church, Chester county. Mr. Perry T. Carter left for Columbia this week to take a position with Miot's pharmacy. To Mr. John N. Colvin, of the Woodward church neighborhood, so far as County Farm Agent H. K. Sanders has been advised, goes the honor of being the first farmer in Chester county to plow all of his cotton stalks under. On Mr. Colvin's plantation every stalk has been plowed under, with the exception of one renter, who by now may have, and no doubt has, initiated Mr. Colvin's enterprising and praiseworthy example. "Bon-clarken," the beautiful and expressive word coined by Mrs. A. G. Brice and signifying "Good, clear vision," has been chosen by the committee as the most appropriate name for the A. R. P. church's new Assembly Grounds near Hendersonville, N. C. More than fifty names were submitted, covering a wide range and including many beautiful and euphonious names, rich in sentiment, meaning and church and Scriptural history; but "Bon-clarken," in the judgment of the committee, is the name that most perfectly combines all of the ideals and requirements; and "Bon-clarken," the lovely Assembly grounds will be christened. As stated, many beautiful and appropriate names were suggested from various quarters, and it is an honor, indeed, to have furnished the name that has been adjudged the most appropriate and beautiful of all. Marriage licenses as follows have been issued this week from Judge of Probate A. W. Wise's office: Mr. Norris Newton Hill and Miss Olive Evelyn Byrd, both of Great Falls; Mr. H. J. McKeown, of Cornwell and Miss Ella Sterling, of Blackstock; Mr. R. S. Wigard and Miss Susan Inez Beardon, both of Columbia; Rev. D. Alvin Miller, of Liberty Hill, and Miss Martha Brownlee Bigham, of Chester; Mr. James H. Lee, of Lowryville and Miss Cecile Blackburn, of Rock Hill; and Mr. Clarence D. Vinson, of Bullock's Creek and Miss Emma Price, of Lowryville.

Lancaster News, November 18: Mrs. Nannie Lathan, widow of John F. Lathan, died at her home on Guy Street Wednesday morning, after an extended illness. She was 65 years old, a member of the A. R. P. church and was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends. Mrs. Lathan before marriage was Miss Nannie Mills. Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Kirkley have announced the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to Mr. Harold Rucker, Jr., of Columbia. The marriage will take place in December. At a meeting of the American Legion Monday night at the Legion club, the matter of compensation for disabled service men was taken up. It was brought out that there are a number of men in Lancaster county who are unable to work as a result of sickness or injury received in the service and who the government Clean-Up Squad has failed to get in touch with. As these men are due compensation it is the desire of the local post of the Legion to see them and talk the matter over. Any ex-service man who is due compensation and is unable to come himself, can have some relative or friend handle it for him, bringing his discharge along. The Legion appointed J. P. Richards and J. F. Moore to get these cases before the proper authorities, and any former soldier who gives either of these men the facts will have their full cooperation, by telegram, if necessary. This is not a matter of charity, but only what is due any disabled soldier by the government. Milton C. Duncan has rented his plantation in the Dixie section and moved with his family to the old John D. Taylor place, now owned by D. F. Helms of Darlington, four miles north of the city. Mr. Duncan made the change to give his children the advantage of the Lancaster schools.

Gastonia Gazette, Nov. 18: Gastonia is responding in its usual whole-hearted manner in the annual Red Cross call which is now in progress, says Miss Mary Malcolm, field director of the American Red Cross, who is here assisting the local committee in putting over the campaign. Already $1,190 of the $4,000 necessary to carry on the work with the ex-service men and the nursing programme in the county has been raised in Gastonia proper, the campaign in the suburban communities, and the other parts of the county having not as yet been reported on. Twenty-five more families, 125 people in all, arrived Wednesday night from the western part of the state to take employment at the Loray Mill. The Loray Mill village is rapidly filling up. Approximately 150 spinners of the spinners' section of the Southern Textile Association met in Gastonia today for a one-day session. The meetings were held in the chamber of commerce. Purely technical discussions consumed the greater part of the morning session. Problems of spinning, of employment and general mill conditions together, with the more varied and detailed discussions of yarn weights, variance in numbers, humidity, etc., formed the general trend of the discussion. Luncheon was served at 12:30 in the Baptist Annex. David Clark of Charlotte, presided. Several short speeches, including a word of welcome from A. G. Myers, president of the chamber of commerce, were made. At the conclusion of the afternoon session, an automobile ride over the city was given the visitors.

Cleveland Star, (Shelby), Nov. 18: J. W. Gantt, Shelby jitney driver, killed a hawk Wednesday which measured four feet from tip to tip. Mr. Gantt was driving along the road near Mr. Tom McIntyre's when he saw the hawk with a chicken. He leveled his pistol on the bird and killed it with the first shot, bringing his prey to town to show it to friends. A marriage of wide interest throughout this state and that of our sister state of Virginia was that of Miss Dora Grice of this place and Mr. Franklin Charles Bordeaux of Norfolk, Va., which happy event took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Grice on South LaFayette St. Roy Rippey, young white man of Blacksburg, S. C., came to the home of Mr. Hayne Patterson Wednesday morning and confessed to being a party with Arthur Martin in the theft of two bales of cotton some weeks ago from Mr. Patterson's gin. Martin was arrested sometime ago but has been released on bond. Rippey has also given bond and both will be tried at the next term of the Superior Court. Mrs. W. F. Gold died Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock following an illness of six months or longer with a complication of troubles and the funeral took place Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock with her pastor, Rev. D. G. Washburn conducting the services. Mr. Summey Collins who lives with Mr. Elzie Borders is still active despite his advanced years. A few days ago he picked 100 pounds of cotton in a day.

Didn't Matter.—A brakeman was walking along beside his train, which had stopped at a country station, calling out the name of the place: "Sawyer, Sawyer!" Suddenly a window of an almost vacant car, from which came the sound of kissing, was opened, and a blushing young lady put her head out and said: "I don't care if you did, we're married."

PAINLESS DENTISTRY

Supreme Court Makes Ruling Regarding the Teeth.

That painless extraction of teeth is not only possible, but is being practiced every day, is the opinion of the supreme court in a decision handed down yesterday in which the court reverses Judge Townsend in the case of J. E. Harris, dentist, vs. the state board of dental examiners, says the Columbia State of Friday. The state board of dental examiners revoked the license of Harris and refused to allow him to practice dentistry, alleging that he had violated the state laws in advertising that he could extract teeth without pain and further claiming that he was unethical. An appeal was made to Judge Townsend and he upheld the action of the state board of dental examiners. Harris then appealed to the supreme court and this court yesterday reversed the action of Judge Townsend and the dental board.

Judge Cothran, who wrote the opinion, says that practically the only issue in the appeal was whether or not a dentist could extract teeth without pain or whether or not an advertisement that he could so extract teeth without pain was a violation of the statutes.

"To profess to conduct a certain branch of dentistry or a certain operation in a branch of dentistry without pain is not only within the inhibition of the statute, but is susceptible to absolute demonstration as a fact," says Judge Cothran, who continuing says: "It may not be a matter in which the court may take judicial cognizance, but it is a fact which a judicial utterance can not make otherwise than in the advance of the science the process of extracting teeth is daily accomplished without pain or consciousness of the fact. The fact that the pain may follow the operation does not at all negative the fact that the extraction was painless."

Charleston, November 14: One of the boldest robberies in local annals occurred on upper King street at 11 o'clock this morning when a white man entered the jewelry store of I. Lesser, covered the lone clerk with a pistol, forced him to open the safe, and then looted therefrom about $200 in cash and jewelry estimated to be worth $2,000. The robber forced the clerk into a rear room, the door of which he locked, and dashed into the street, escaping arrest. It is said he boarded a street car in Meeting street, a block east, and on his way, palm from a bucket carried by a passerby splashed upon his overcoat. The police are making a wide search for the man. The clerk gave the alarm as soon as he could get out of the locked room but too late to permit catching the fleeing robber.

Tariff Against English Girls—Lots of English women are coming to this country. If an English girl can raise enough money to pay her transportation and get by the barrier she is glad to take a chance on America. She figures that her chance of securing a husband is about 100 per cent better than in the homeland. In England the women now greatly outnumber the men and so the prospects of securing a mate are not good. When they reach this country they begin the pursuit at once. What do the American damsels think of an invasion of this kind? First thing we know they will be asking a prohibitive tariff for protection against the pauper brides of Europe. Some of our home girls find it hard enough to find a suitable mate without having to compete with the rest of the universe. A tariff would be a wise thing, to their manner of thinking.—Los Angeles Times.

Three stores on the main business street of Florence were entered and robbed Saturday and Sunday nights. From the office of J. C. Crowell & Co. the robbers secured $85 in cash and $150 in Liberty bonds. The safe was broken open. At the Palmto Drug company $12 in cash and a number of articles were stolen, while Gibbs Bros. lost a fur coat valued at $600. Police officers believe the robbers are a part of a gang which has been operating in this section for some weeks and for whom they have been making a search. The Florence postoffice has been robbed twice recently, the robber indicating his preference for articles of merchandise by not touching stamps or stamped envelopes.
