

Humorous Department.

Elastic Schedule.—In the old days, of Mississippi river travel, the "Stephen J. Hill" gained note as the worst boat on the river.

"It's too bad, we're going to be late, captain," said a passenger.

"We ain't," retorted the captain calmly.

"But I thought you were going to tie up here for hours."

"So we are, but that ain't going to make us late. We don't run so close to time as all that."

How to Prove It?—An American in dear old London was bragging about his auto. He ended his eulogy by declaring:

"It runs so smoothly you can't feel it, so quietly you can't hear it, it has such perfect ignition you can't smell it, and as for speed—boy, you can't see it!"

"But my word, old dear," interrupted the Briton anxiously, "how do you know the bally thing is there?"

A Get-Rich-Quick Plan.—"Is there any money in a perpetual-motion machine?" asked the inventor.

"I guess there is," said the man with the red tie. "I have a little machine in my store that would bring me millions if I could keep it in perpetual motion."

"What is it?" asked the other.

"A cash register."

Spoiled His Illustration.—A temperance lecturer, aiming to make a telling point, said: "Now, supposing I had a pair of water and a pair of beer and then brought on a donkey, which of the two would he take?"

"He'd take the water," came a voice from the gallery.

"And why would he take the water?" the lecturer asked.

"Because he's an ass," was the quick reply.—Rock Island Rotary.

Safety First.—A colored gentleman was being tried for chicken stealing. Another colored man was on the witness stand.

"George," cross-examined the lawyer for the defense, "you don't honestly believe this man guilty of such a thing, do you?"

"Well, sah," replied George, "ef Ah was a chicken an' Ah seen dat colored man sneakin' round mah henhouse, Ah'd roos' high, dat's all."

The Parson Knew.—A Massachusetts senator was back home, looking after his political fences, and was asking the minister about some of his old acquaintances.

"How's old Mr. Jones?" he inquired.

"Will I be likely to see him again?"

"You'll never see Mr. Jones again," said the minister. "Mr. Jones has gone to heaven."

Wouldn't Mind That.—An Italian who kept a fruit stand was annoyed by possible customers who made a practice of handling the fruit and pinching it, thereby leaving it softened and often spoiled.

"If you must pincha da fruit—Pincha da cocconut."

A Penalty for Life.—"Well," declared the man who had been looking over the law, "there seems to be a penalty for everything except stealing a man's daughter."

"Oh," said his friend, "there's a penalty for that too."

"What is it?"

"Hard labor for life."

Wonderful, Astounding Ability.—"I am going to be a greater man than Washington," announced the young hopeful as he looked up from his book.

"That's fine," answered the proud parent, "but what makes you think so?"

"Well, it says here that he couldn't tell a lie, an' I can, 'cause I've tried it."

Counter-Attack.—"Did that cultured book agent sell you a set of Hugo's works?"

"No, I talked him out of it."

"How did you do that?"

"I noticed that every time I mispronounced 'Les Miserables' he writhed in his chair, so I kept it up until the poor devil fled."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

That's the Question.—"Say, pa."

"Well, my son?"

"I took a walk through the cemetery today and I read the inscriptions on the tombstones."

"Well, what about it?"

"Where are all the wicked people buried?"

Described.—"And what do you say she is like?"

"Well, she's this kind of a girl: When you are dancing with her she talks all the time, but when you're alone with her she just sits and looks at you."—Columbia Jester.

Slight Accident.—A Chink by the name of Ching Ling.

Fell off a street car, bing-bing.

The con turned his head, to the passengers said—

"The car's lost a washer, ding-ding."

Classifying Papa.—"So," said Rob, "your engagement to Maud is broken off, is it? Why, I thought she doted on you."

"No, she did," answered Tom, "but her father proved to be an antidote."

But the Same Symptoms.—"Are you a messenger boy?"

"No, sir, I gotta sore toe makes me walk this way."

NEWS OF SHARON

School is Closed Two Days on Account of Thanksgiving.

LOCAL STORE IS FORCED TO CLOSE

Bullock's Creek Congregation Looking Around for a Pastor—Most of Local Cotton Crop Brought to Gins—Dogs Used to Go Errands—Other News and Notes of Western York.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Sharon, Nov. 24.—Pupils of the Sharon school and teachers of the school are enjoying holiday today and tomorrow on account of Thanksgiving.

Good's Store Closed.

Because of inability to satisfy a mortgage held by W. G. Hayes, the furniture and grocery store of L. H. Good in Sharon was closed last Tuesday.

Blairsville School.

Blairsville school located several miles southwest of Sharon has an enrollment of 80 pupils this year, the largest enrollment it has ever known.

Bullock's Creek Church.

The congregation of Bullock's Creek church will not only put a new roof on the church building, which is badly in need of such repairs but will very likely raise the necessary money to paint the building it was learned yesterday.

Some Cotton to be Ginned.

While Sharon ginners are still ginning a little cotton and are open every day for business the big bulk of the crop to be ginned here has already been handled.

Intelligent Dogs.

Floyd Stegall, Sharon barber who much prefers hunting the country around for rabbits, possums and birds than amputating the touch whiskers of Sharonites has a couple of pointer dogs about eleven months old of which he is quite proud and which have been trained to do many tricks.

To Remodel Residence.

Ralph Cain is making preparations to remodel his residence here. Carpenters are making good progress in construction work on residences that Messrs. J. A. and J. L. Whitesides are building in Sharon.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. S. C. Hollifield of Bamberg is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Byers in Sharon.

L. H. Good was a visitor in Greenville Wednesday.

Mrs. L. H. DuBoise and children are visiting relatives in Shelby, S. C.

Miss Virginia Pratt of Winthrop College, Rock Hill is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Pratt here.

Mrs. A. F. Plexico who has been quite sick at her home in Sharon for several days past is much improved.

Thanksgiving Observed.

Thanksgiving was observed here today with the closing of all business houses and special Thanksgiving services here at Sharon A. R. P. church. There was a large congregation in attendance. Many local sportsmen spent the day in the fields with gun and dog after rabbits and partridges and some of them reported fairly good luck tonight. Big turkey dinners were enjoyed by numerous families while others were thankful for chicken dinners which they said served just as well. Most of the young people attending the various schools and colleges were at home with their parents for the holidays.

Ashcraft's Last Editorial.—One of the very last editorials written by the late B. C. Ashcraft follows, it was found in a drawer of his desk, and doubtless he intended using it the week he was stricken.

"A man may be without money, he may not know where his next meal is to come from, his clothing may be worn and patched, yet if he has friends he will go down the street with a smile on his face and a song on his lips.

"A man may lose his health, wasting disease may lay him low and the skeleton hand of death may shake his hour glass in his face, yet if friends gather about his couch he will rejoice and be glad and die un-afraid.

"But let a man believe that he has no friends. Let him become convinced that in all the world there is for him no friendly hand, no hand of sympathy and love, life has no pleasure for him no matter what his financial condition or the state of his health. The thought more fragrant with gloom and despair than was ever any other emanation of the human brain, 'I have no friend in all the wide world,' has caused the suicide's pistol to crack this new fellow very thin?"
