

The state's public school books are to be purchased anew by the state board of education at a meeting on May 15, and already the state superintendent of education and Governor Cooper, who is chairman ex officio of the state board of education, are being sought after by school book agents. The state has a five-year contract for its school books, and this expires this year. The state board will meet with Governor Cooper the middle of the coming month.

GET READY

FOR THE YORK COUNTY FAIR For it is going to be the best held yet. Mr. Duncan was up the other day to see my chickens, and was well enough pleased with what he saw to take a promising youngster home with him. Mr. Duncan is an old-timer when it comes to breeding Dark Cornish Indian Game; but he has to divide the ribbons with me. I hear that Captain Marshall is getting ready to carry off the ribbons in the S. C. R. I. Red class. Well, he will have to do about, to get them all. We are going to have some new fellows in the ring this fall. You can look out for them, for they will have something good.

Not An Unusual Occurrence

IN THE PAST several issues of The Enquirer there has appeared an advertisement setting forth the facts in connection with the payment of a $2,000 policy by the MUTUAL BENEFIT, on the life of a Utah farmer who had paid only one annual premium, and who died about two months AFTER the expiration of the year. For fear some who read the statement, and who are not familiar with the contracts of the MUTUAL BENEFIT, got the idea that the case was unusual, we beg to state that the payment of such claims is a common occurrence, and our purpose in using this special one was to impress the fact once more that "All Life Insurance Companies are not the same." It is different in many respects as an investigation will prove to your satisfaction. During the time that we have represented the MUTUAL BENEFIT it has paid several claims in our agency that NO OTHER Company would have paid, and they were paid because the contracts provided that they should be.
