

Draps and Facts.

The carry-over from one season to another of American cotton, shrank in record breaking manner during the cotton year ending last Tuesday, according to the annual statistical statement issued by H. G. Hester, secretary of the New Orleans cotton exchange.

He put the carry-over of bales against just ended at 4,904,000 bales against 9,364,000 a year ago. He placed a total of American cotton at 10,330,000 last year, against 12,894,000 in 1921. The commercial crop of American cotton he counted at 11,553,000 bales against 11,337,000 last year. The carry-over figures were considerably smaller than expected by most traders and brokers in cotton.

A negro named John Glover was lynched by a mob of about 100 men at Hottel, Ga., last Tuesday morning. Mr. Glover was accused of having killed Deputy Sheriff Walter C. R. Pappas as the latter was leaving a negro room in the colored section of Bronx, N. Y., last Saturday night. Immediately after the killing a large mob collected and a search for Glover was commenced and continued till Tuesday. Glover resisted arrest and was seriously wounded. He was finally surrendered and was taken from the jail to the lynch site where he was hanged.

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, died at his summer home at Sidney, Nova Scotia, last Wednesday morning at 2 o'clock. Dr. Bell had been in bad health for several months; but his death at this time was unexpected. He was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1847, and came to America when a lad. He early devoted himself to the study of acoustics and had much success in teaching deaf people to talk.

Female jealousy as anti-war propaganda says an Athens dispatch is the latest complication in the Turkish-Greek fighting in Asia Minor. Many Greeks, both officers and men, have taken unto themselves Turkish women since the Greek army has been defeated, and the women folks are heartbroken. They don't like it; in fact they are so alarmed that they are clamoring that the war be ended quickly so their husbands and sweethearts can be brought home.

The cotton crop for July 25 by states follows: Virginia, 90; North Carolina, 78; South Carolina, 60; Georgia, 54; Florida, 65; Alabama, 70; Mississippi, 74; Louisiana, 70; Texas, 72; Arkansas, 81; Tennessee, 85; Missouri, 90; Oklahoma, 75; California, 95; Arizona, 86; New Mexico, 85. The final outcome of the crop, the department announces, may be larger or smaller than forecast depending on conditions developing during the remainder of the season. The average change in the last ten years between June 25 and July 25, was a decline of 8.3 points. The cotton crop of July 25 by states follows: Virginia, 90; North Carolina, 78; South Carolina, 60; Georgia, 54; Florida, 65; Alabama, 70; Mississippi, 74; Louisiana, 70; Texas, 72; Arkansas, 81; Tennessee, 85; Missouri, 90; Oklahoma, 75; California, 95; Arizona, 86; New Mexico, 85.

The British foreign office has issued the text of an important note on the questions of inter-allied debts. Though not formally addressed to the Washington government, having been ostensibly meant only for some of the Allied and associated powers, it is clearly intended primarily for consumption in the United States.

Of course the people of Lancaster cannot make 'em take down the Wax-law monument marking the place where Andrew Jackson was not born; but they can erect a monument in Lancaster county where he was born. Although Congressman Stevenson has proved very conclusively that Jackson was born in Lancaster county, unless something definite is done about marking the spot the fake spot will eventually come to be recognized as the real spot. But while the Lancaster people should start the movement to mark the true spot, they should not be expected to provide for all the expense. The issue is the truth of history, and the people of the state should help.

The leaders of the striking shopmen have agreed to the acceptance of President Harding's peace proposals; but the railroad executives, with the exception of those of the Southern railway, have refused to accept. The Southern railroad has all along been willing to continue under the old arrangement; it has employed no strikers.

saw many wild animals. These congregated for the luxuriant vegetation, made possible by the heat generated by the springs, and in the valley were hundreds of mountain sheep and goats, caribou and moose with bears and other fur-bearing animals. The moose, almost square from fat, were so tame that he has been able to walk amongst them and could almost touch them, he said. The tree growth in the valley was abnormal. Mr. Perry states. The ordinary wild rose bushes were like trees, with stems as thick as a man's forearm, and so dense that it was impossible to force a way through, while the willows grew to tree sizes, and it was possible to walk along the branches. Some of the trunks of the latter were fully a foot and a half through. Vines grew to a length of about sixty feet and nettles and ferns were both of unusual height. Another peculiar feature was that the valley was free from frost in the winter because of the action of the boiling springs and the consequent vapor. Important mineral deposits were discovered by Mr. Perry, including gold, silver and copper. Coal, iron and oil formations were also found.

The Yorkville Enquirer.

Entered at the Postoffice at York, as Mail Matter of the Second Class.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 4, 1922.

Now that the railroad executives have rejected a perfectly fair proposal, it would seem that Mr. Harding would have a perfect right to get mad. Indeed he appears to be where patience has ceased to be a virtue.

On the reading of the government condition report on the New Orleans exchange last Tuesday, cotton jumped $8.50 a bale to the very discomfort of the bears who have been trying to hold back the flood.

Just what the outcome of the coal situation is going to be of course it is impossible to predict with certainty; but the wise people of the country will do well to look out for a supply of firewood in case they are unable to get coal.

In the re-nomination of Senator Reed regardless of the bitter personal opposition of former President Wilson during the past several years the Democrats of Missouri have put the word on notice that they "have been shown."

Some of the newspapers that formerly fought Cole Blaise on the ground of his alleged bitterness, now seem all the more concerned because of his mildness. The Columbia Record warns its readers that the former governor is the "same old Blaise," in which the Record is evidently correct.

We are looking forward to the government's plan for coal distribution with some hope; but not with a great deal of confidence. As we see it the coal operators have things pretty well "sewed up." They have all along been profiteers of the most pronounced kind.

It is common to hear people express the fear that farmers who have taken up the boll weevil fight will get tired of it before the end and give it up. This may happen in some instances; but it will be the exception rather than the rule. Most people understand that if a fight like this is not continued to the end, it would be just as well if it had not been commenced.

It is announced that if the shopmen's strike is not settled within thirty days, the Big Four brotherhoods will go out. It seems to be a case of necessity. The condition of the rolling stock has deteriorated so much that it has become dangerous and the people who belong to the Big Four unions cannot afford to take the risks any longer.

Even the Columbia Record is poking fun at the Columbia State for its pusy-foot methods of fighting Mr. Blaise. But the Record should remember as how people learn by experience. When the Columbia State feels inclined to yield to the temptation to "get rough," it is generally cured by visions of its famous bizzard cartoon in 1910. Otherwise, it would probably give more vigorous support to Mr. Duncan.

Of course the people of Lancaster cannot make 'em take down the Wax-law monument marking the place where Andrew Jackson was not born; but they can erect a monument in Lancaster county where he was born. Although Congressman Stevenson has proved very conclusively that Jackson was born in Lancaster county, unless something definite is done about marking the spot the fake spot will eventually come to be recognized as the real spot. But while the Lancaster people should start the movement to mark the true spot, they should not be expected to provide for all the expense. The issue is the truth of history, and the people of the state should help.

The Southern railroad has all along been willing to continue under the old arrangement; it has employed no strikers.

breakers and it has made no promises to the men who declined to go out with the strikers. It has acted white all along and its willingness to accept the president's proposals is in keeping with this same attitude. What will be the next step in the matter remains to be seen; but in the meantime it would seem that it is the shopmen who are entitled to the most consideration on the part of the suffering public.

The Citadel at Charleston, has loomed up an important issue in the state campaign. During the past few years the appropriations for the new Citadel plant have loomed up to tremendous proportions. At the present time the Citadel is debtor to the state to an aggregate of something over one million dollars. It is understood that a large part of this is to be paid back out of the proceeds of the old Citadel property; but past experience is that undertakings of this kind rarely materialize. According to the ambitious plans which are now under way, the Citadel folks are not only going to require all the money that has been directly appropriated along with the money that has been borrowed; but some more after that. Indeed the state has already given to the Citadel for building purposes more than that it has ever given to Winthrop. Winthrop has had more for building purposes to be sure; but it has not had so much from the state.

It is not uncommon to hear people express impatience at the state campaign, and declare how much better satisfied they would be if they did not have to submit to the annoyance of such things.

To be perfectly frank about it, a state campaign does involve a good deal of mental worry and discomfort to the people who give their attention to it and follow it up.

Hard thinking over matters political is not an easy matter by any means. It is about as difficult and trying employment as one can well conceive of.

Every citizen is entitled to a say in the selection of the people who are to be invested with governing power and authority, and while there are many who have but small relish for such responsibility, it is a self-evident fact that dominance in the government will go to those who come nearest to the acceptance and discharge of their duty.

I have been about quite a lot and I have talked to people who have been about more than I have, remarked Mr. W. M. McConnell yesterday, and I am quite persuaded that York county farmers are making a little better fight than the farmers of any county in the cotton belt have made heretofore on the first coming of the weevils. Of course the farmers are now fighting well over the whole cotton belt where the weevil has been; but what I mean is that our York county farmers have been more prompt to get down to business at once promptly bringing to bear all the best knowledge and experience of the past thirty years.

Real estate transfers have been indexed in the office of the county auditor as follows:

- Bethel-A. A. Barron to W. S. Hodge, 60 acres, $350.
Catawba-T. L. Bridges to Greene Motor Co., 1 lot, $400.
Hattie L. White, et al, to James H. Boyd, 1 lot, $140.
C. W. F. Spencer and B. J. White, Exors. of S. J. Gibson, deceased to T. E. Rawlinson, 1 lot, $11,000.
J. B. Johnson to Lucinda E. Marshall, 1 lot, $700.
Fort Mill-L. S. White to William E. Wilson, 50 acres, $100.
King's Mountain-W. B. Flannagan to Victoria Lodge No. 6,019 (Old Beattie P. Lilly to E. B. Price, 115 acres, $5.
York-Louis Roth to Miles J. Walker, 49 acres, $2,155.

Two pretty little "house stinks" fell into the hands of officers operating in Catawba township, about seven miles east of Rock Hill yesterday. One outfit was found in the home of Will Sloop, a white farmer and the other was found in the smoke house on the premises of Dan Goins, white. Goins was placed under arrest, but Sloop was not. The house stinks were found in a barrel of beer which was found in the smoke house at Goins' place.

When the strike came on, the classes referred to got into regular work and good pay, which work they could not have gotten on a basis of real efficiency in comparison with other men.

These men were employed by the railroads not because of their efficiency; but out of a desire to whip the fight.

If the rail executives had cared anything about the public, which means the retail merchant, the tinker, the gardener, the preacher, the doctor and the farmer, they would not have sought to reduce the pay of the shopmen who have a community of interest with these other classes. What the rail executives are trying to do is to break up the unions, so they can make slaves of all the men, including not only those who went out; but those who took the places of those who went out. The rail executives are not concerned about the public, nor are they concerned about the living standards to which the shopmen have a right; they are concerned first about salaries, and second about dividends, and they are foolish enough to think that increased salaries and dividends may be coined out of the sweat and blood of labor, the more especially if labor can only be disorganized.

The Democratic enrollment in York county this year is 6,275 against 3,877 in 1920 and 4,050 in 1919.

The government report placed the condition of the York county cotton crop at 67 on July 25 against 66 on June 25.

The attendance on the state campaign meeting at Confederate Park, Rock Hill, last Tuesday night, was largest in the state up to that time; but there was a much larger crowd at Filbert on Wednesday. The Confederate park crowd was made up principally of Rock Hill people; but all parts of the county were well represented.

Mr. Kelly Inman, of Bullock's Creek, has told the negroes on his place that if they do their full duty with regard to the boll weevil, he is going to give them a big barbecue after the fight is over. The barbecue is not altogether dependent upon the results to the boll weevil; but upon the faithfulness with which the men who are interested work. That is the right way to go at the thing. This boll weevil fight is a big thing and there must be complete cooperation all along the line.

Of course Jennings K. Owens will not get all the York county votes for lieutenant governor; but he will get lots of them. Jennings was born in Rock Hill, and largely educated in Yorkville, and the hundreds of York county people who know him are satisfied that he is as worthy of the honor to which he aspires as is any man in the race. Mr. Owens has been making a good record in the legislature, as a representative not only of his adopted county of Marlboro but of the whole state, and he is going to get the support of most interested citizens who have been keeping up with his record.

The cotton caterpillar is doing great damage to the cotton crop in the southwest. Hon. J. Skottowe Wannamaker, president of the American Cotton association, writes: "While I was writing this letter to you I have received a telegram from Dr. Coad, in charge of the Delta laboratories at Tallulah, La., in which he informs me that they have an invasion of the cotton caterpillar throughout Texas and Louisiana and extending half the lands planted in cotton in South Carolina alone. This is indeed a serious problem."

HOUSE STILLS TAKEN.

HURT BY HAIL.

Crops of farmers living west of Yorkville suffered considerable damage on account of a hail storm which came shortly after 7 o'clock last evening. The storm extended over an area about two and one-half miles wide and soon to be as far as Piedmont springs being in the territory struck by the storm. Farmers in the hail area, who were in Yorkville this morning, said that some of the hail stones were as large as the end of a man's thumb and that the stones fell thick and fast for a couple of minutes. The hail was quite severe in Yorkville also, and gardens this morning gave evidence of a severe beating by hail stones. Farmers said this morning that it was impractical to tell just how great the damage was, but that there was no question of its severity. Some of them showed stalks of cotton and corn that were literally reduced to shreds. Among the farmers whose crops seem to have suffered the greatest damage were the following: J. B. Pickett, E. R. Shannon, J. M. Frier, James L. Freeman, John T. Feenster, M. A. McFarland, W. T. Galloway, Dr. W. G. White, W. L. Williams, W. E. Gordon, Will Russell, Leslie and Joe Feister, W. M. Ferguson, B. E. Ferguson, C. R.

CANDIDATES FILE PLEDGES

Candidates who have so far filed their pledges and paid their assessments to John A. Marion County Chairman, are as follows: House of Representatives-J. L. Starnes, W. J. Talley. Probate Judge-G. P. Smith, J. L. Houston. Treasurer-M. C. Willis, E. W. Guy. Supervisor-J. E. Latham. Magistrate, York township-F. C. Black, W. S. Peters. Magistrate, Ebenezer-John R. Poag, W. S. Braswell. Magistrate, Broad River-R. L. A. Smith. Magistrate, Catawba-J. F. Wingate. All candidates are required to sign the following pledge: As a candidate for the office of in the Democratic primary election, to be held on the last Tuesday in August, 1922, I hereby pledge myself to abide by the results of such primary and support the nominees of the party, state and national, and I declare that I am not, nor will I become the candidate of any faction, either privately or publicly suggested, other than the regular Democratic nomination.

WITHIN THE TOWN

The mercury went up to 92 in the shade at noon last Wednesday. The lost brooch advertised for in The Yorkville Enquirer of Tuesday, was found and returned by Mr. M. C. D. Owens. More Yorkville people attended the state campaign meeting at Filbert than would have attended at the meeting held in Yorkville. Mr. B. J. Curran, of Yorkville has left at The Yorkville Enquirer office a cluster of seven tomatoes, bunched so closely on the stem that practically all of them are in touch, and all of them together weighing 4 pounds and 14 ounces.

Playing on a muddy field, Grover, N. C., defeated Yorkville in a game of baseball played on the graded school grounds on Wednesday afternoon, the score being 7 to 4. There were only a few people out for the game which was started in the rain. Moss, pitching for Grover, tossed a better game than did McMackin for the locals and was also given better support. Bartley, Grover, and H. Mackrell, of Grover-Moss and Ellis, Umpire, B. F. Smith. Roused from its moribund lethargy by the demand of the palates of thousands of smokers, the five-cent cigar on cigar counters everywhere, the nicker smokes, which are being displayed in a profusion of shapes and varieties, while gigantic bill board advertisements are sending forth their messages of this return to normalcy in the tobacco world.

Every needs most, a good five cent cigar is a remark attributed to Mark Twain. And those smokers, who saw the one time five cent brands mount to six, seven, eight and sometimes ten cents, during the period of soaring prices, now have plenty to select from. Tobacco merchants, cigar wholesalers and tobacconists, admit that the old five cent cigar is the fastest moving article in the trade but they disagree as to its merits. Retail dealers are inclined to the belief it is as good as any of the old brands which climaxed during the war. Tobacco merchants say it can't be as good as the old standard because the cost of materials and labor is still above the old level and manufacturers say it isn't as good as the nicker favorite of pre-war days. "We can't get enough five cent cigars," said a salesman in a tobacco shop.
