theatrica Explaining Him.-A manager bought and staged a play and then became cursed with the usual doubts. He felt that it would never go. The author stood in the wings at dress rehearsal, very proud and confident, in irritating contrast with the gloomy manager. One of the stage hands was a person of peculiar aspect, and just to make conversation the author asked. "Who is that strange-looking fellow?" "That!" said the manager. "That's an Eskimo." "Why in the world an Eskimo?" asked the author. "Why," said the manager wearily "we had to get somebody that could stand the frost around here opening night."

Her Reasoning .- Two men were discussing golf courses in general and a pretty little nine-hole course in particular, Eventually the conversation turned to a certain eighteen-hole course familiar to both.

"I always think," commented one to the other, "that the little nine-hole course is far more difficult than the eighteen-hole course."

"Well, one would expect it to be so," exclaimed a lady friend, who needless to add, did not play golf. "Why?" asked the two men simultaneously.

"Why, it is obviously easier to get a little ball into one of the holes when there are eighteen. It would be twice as hard when there are only nine."

On Your Way .- A couple of former doughboys got jobs in town and commuted to the suburbs, where they tried to maintain small farms, but had to keep on the jump because of increases in rent.

"Move!" ejaculated one. "It's move, move, move all the time. Say, listen, my landlords are worse than the old loceys. It's 'Let's go,' morning, noon and night."

"You said it," agreed the other. "We've got so used to moving that every time the expressman goes by my chickens lie on their backs and hold up their feet to be tied."

Perfectly Safe .- "My stars!" ejaculated the washing-machine agent who was endeavoring without success to sell one of his household necessities to Gap Johnson, of Rumpus Ridge. "Aren't you afraid to let your children fight in the road in that manner? They are kicking up such a dust that they are hidden in it, and a motor car is liable to rush right through it at any moment."

"Aw, the kids are safe as long as they stir up enough dust, I reckon," was the reply. "The fellers in the cars don't know what in thunder is making all that smudge, and on that account they're afeard to-p'tu-run into it."

Would Tote His Own Bundle-An old Irishman was struggling along the high road with a heavy bundle when a friend passed in a cart. It was a hot day, so the friend thinking Pat would be glad of a lift, said: "Jump up here, old man." Pat was delighted and after climbing up, rested his bundle carefully on his knee.

"Put your bundle on the seat," said his friend.

"Oh, no," Pat answered. "Since you are to good as to give me a ride Oi'll not be after asking you to carry me bundle as well!"

Answering Back .- The other day a fellow jut a sign on his coat in the Athletic building: "The owner of this coat is a member of the boxing team and can deliver a knockout blow of 250 pounds. I shall return in five minu-

When he came back the coat was gone but the sign said: "You're all wrong. The owner of this coat is a member of the track team and can do the half mile in two minutes flat. I shall not return."

"How do you account for it?" asked

"Don't know," said the first. "I'm not sure whether I convince him or only make him tired."

Fatal Honors .- A woman visiting one of the beaches this summer, missed a young guard who had been there for years and who had won many medals for life saving. She asked an old salt what had become of him.

"Well, miss," he replied, "one day when off duty poor Bill fell into the water and the weight of his medals carried him down."

NEGRO MASONRY

PRINCE HALL WAS FIRST MASTSR

Original Warrant Said to Be Older Than Declaration of Independence-New York Grand Lodge Raising Funds for a Big Temple. Walton in The World.

The ancestry of negro Freemasonry in the United States, generally termed "Prince Hall Masonry," antedates by sixteen months the adoption of the Declaration of Independence.

On March 6, 1775, in a British Army Lodge holding a warrant under the Grand Lodge of England, and attached to one of the regiments stationed in or near Boston, commanded by Gen. Gage, Prince Hall and fourteen other negroes were duly initiated and admitted as members of good standing in the Masonic fraternity.

Nine years later the fifteen negro Masons, all of whom resided in Boston, applied to the Grand Lodge of England for permission to be set apart as a regular lodge. The application was granted and a warrant issued them on September 29, 1784, authorizing the setting up of a regular lodge to be known as African Lodge, No. 459, with Prince Hall as master.

It was not until about April 29, 1787, that the warrant from the Mother Grand Lodge of the World was re ceived, the delay in delivery being primarily due to chaotic conditions superinduced by strained relations existing between the Colonies and Great Britain. Four days after the warrant had been turned over to Prince Hall and his colleagues, the African lodge was organized and entered on the English Registry with other Colonial Masonic bodies.

The original warrant issued by the Grand Lodge of England to the fifteen negroes is to this day kept in a vault in Boston by the Prince Hall Grand Lodge of Massachusetts. The document reads as follows:

The magistrate, Alderman Edward Burke, of Pittston, Pa., had heard only part of the wife's testimony when he shouted: "I am going to see how he likes it," and, jumping over his desk ordered Anthony Azakas, the defendant, to stand up. As Azakas did the magistrate hit him a sharp blow over the left eye. The defendant fell, but was ordered up again and received another judicial punch over the other eye, which once more sent him to the floor. Azakas promised never to strike his wife again.

While the resident membership of Bethesda congregation is about 220, the attendance upon the institute reached a maximum of about 320 before its close. The total expense was less than $12 and $400,000. The site for the proposed this money was spent for the necessary literature.

On the final day a big picnic dinner was served, all of those who had attended the institute being present, regardless of whether or not they were in any way affiliated with Bethesda church. The material success of the institute was realized a short time later when a great revival meeting was held under the direction of Dr. Dobyns of Alabama. As a result of that meeting there were forty-six additions to the church and twenty of these additions were of people who were not interested in affairs religious or who had never attended Bethesda until the holding of the Bible insti-

Should Take Survey. Following Rev. Wardlaw's talk, Rev. Wilson dwelt at some length on the importance of each Sunday school in the presbytery making a Sunday school survey in its own territory. Citing the experience of his own Sunday school he said in making a survey he learned that there were 107 people in the McConnellsville section who attended no Sunday school, despite the fact that his Sunday school membership was more than 150.

The report and discussion relative to Sunday school work was considered one of the most interesting and inspiring matters to come before presbytery and most of the delegates went away with a new vision of Sunday school possibilities in their own respective fields.

ERWIN CAROTHERS, Commissioners of Federal Election for York County, S. C. W. W. RIDDLE,

All Are Satisfied-

IN THE LAST ISSUE of The Enquirer we published official figures show-ing that the lapse ratios of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company was the smallest of any of the 29 leading companies of the United States, which beyond doubt proves that it has the BEST SATISFIED policy holders of any company doing business.

IS IT NOT a reasonable proposition that if those who are already members are satisfied, that YOU would be also? We are sure you would, and in fact if we had any doubt about the matter we had any doubt about the write your applies. would not be willing to write your application for a policy, for the simple reason that there is not a single dissatpolicy holder in our territory, And We Don't Wast Even One.

IT IS A DUTY you owe yourself and dependents to Look Before You You incur no obligation by ooking. In other words, If after looking you do not care to make application, we will not try to persuade you to do so.
