

In Future. It seems to me that the best expectation has not yet been reached to the perfect flower that with its wondrous exhalation...

The lamps we light are but the stars of promise that faintly reflect of a distant sun. The faintest rays of a distant sun...

What'er we do falls short of our ideal; the structure lacks the beauty we design; And tortured angels, to their home ascending, Depart and leave no sign.

By all the doubts and trials that so vex us, By all the griefs and sorrows that annoy, By all the straggle delusions that perplex us, And yield no fruits of joy.

THE QUAKER ARTIST. "I tell thee now, Richard, that thee'll never get a cent with this devil's work."

The Baking Business. The baker comes down to us from antiquity and has always figured more or less prominently in sacred and profane history. Witness the conspicuous part played by "Baruch" the baker, and the appearance of the functionary in nursery lore in connection with the butcher and the candle-stick maker.

EARTHQUAKES. Some of the shocks that have visited the Western Hemisphere. The last great earthquake which visited Central America was on March 19, 1873, when San Salvador was utterly destroyed. That part of the world is peculiarly exposed to these convulsions, but the disaster of 1873 was not so fatal as that just reported, for, though three successive shocks were felt, the inhabitants, warned by previous noises, were able to find places of safety, and only about 500 perished.

Danenhower's Life in Yakutat. Mrs. Danenhower has received a long letter from her son, Lieutenant Danenhower, of the Jeannette exploring expedition, dated Yakutat, Siberia, December 30, 1881. It contains many interesting details, but it gives some interesting details with regard to the life of the Jeannette survivors at Yakutat. Mrs. Danenhower's letter Lieutenant Danenhower says:
