THE BLUE RIDGE RAILROAD. We are gratified to learn that an arrangement has been entered into with the Greenville and Columbia Railroad Company which will secure to the traveling public a convenience of the trains upon the Blue Ridge Road.

EXTRAORDINARY VIEWS ON THE SITUATION. From time to time this journal has presented the views entertained by prominent men and leading newspapers regarding the duty of the people in the present emergency. We have striven, with singleness of purpose, to enlighten our readers as to the issue before them, and the proper course to be pursued in relation to the recent legislation of Congress.

Another letter from Gov. PENNY has been published, and the tone and temper of this epistle induces a more thorough analysis of his opinions, in order that the humblest of our readers may not be misled by these vigorous appeals to passion and prejudice.

"But now," says Gov. PENNY, "they are going to sacrifice their honor as a people and lose their lands in the bargain! They are going to enfranchise 60,000 black voters, and surrender the political power of the State into the hands of the negroes!"

negro debarred the right of suffrage, by any action the South may choose in the premises? Has the conduct of the white voters in this State ought to do with determining this question of negro suffrage?

But what does Gov. PENNY advise? The people must vote against a Convention, according to his theory, in order to prevent the surrender of political power into the hands of the negroes.

He also thinks it "better—far better—to remain as you are, under the military rule of your conquerors, and await their returning sense of justice."

As to a "returning sense of justice," we will claim that its inspiration will be doubly quickened by a spirit of acquiescence and submission to the destiny we cannot avert and by an earnest demonstration that this people are not contumacious and rebelliously inclined.

We will notice one other point in this letter of the ex-Governor, and for the purpose of endorsing the opinion expressed. He says "there is no danger of confiscation by Congress," and we agree with him.

"But now," says Gov. PENNY, "they are going to sacrifice their honor as a people and lose their lands in the bargain! They are going to enfranchise 60,000 black voters, and surrender the political power of the State into the hands of the negroes!"

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The History of a Brigade of South Carolinians. Known first as Gregg's, and subsequently as McGowan's Brigade, by J. F. J. CALDWELL, lately an officer of the First Regiment, S. C. V.

We are under obligations to Gen. JOHN A. WAGNER for a pamphlet, containing a succinct history of South Carolina, with comprehensive details of her climate, resources and population, designed for circulation among the classes of Europe.

The steamer John Sylvester, with Mr. Davis on board, arrived this afternoon, at half-past 5 o'clock. Long before her arrival, the military arrangements had been made by Gen. Schofield.

On the trip up, Mr. Davis was quite cheerful, and as he had no guard, walked freely about the boat, conversing with the passengers, who were all anxious to speak to him.

Two bridal parties came up in the same boat. There is a large and curious, but orderly, crowd around the Spotswood Hotel, waiting to get a glimpse of the prisoner. He will remain in General Burton's charge until produced in court, on Monday.

Our respected cotemporary complains that country exchanges fail to give credit to that journal for telegraphic dispatches. We acknowledge to a remissness, brother SELBY, in this particular, but beg your indulgence at the same time.

Editorial Pennings and Clippings.

The Conduct of the South. The Boston Post, a staunch old Conservative Journal, has an editorial under the above heading, from which we make the following extract:

There is nothing in the conduct of the people of the Southern States that challenges the respect and confidence of the whole country more than the sincere alacrity with which they have obeyed the conditions of the situation in which they find themselves placed.

They have complied without delay with the different conditions imposed on them in the name of practical reunion. They have not shown any backwardness in co-operating in one experiment after another that looked towards restoration.

The people of the Northern States had the course of their brethren at the South with unaffected satisfaction. They rejoice to find such a substantial evidence of a sincere desire to get back into the Union, and to become once more a part of the government.

The New Orleans Crescent on Gov. Orr. Governor Orr, of South Carolina, has just made a speech to a number of the new citizens of his State. In his capacity as Governor he was expected to advise these political neophytes as to the proper course for them to pursue.

We have only a brief telegraphic synopsis of the remarks which the Governor addressed to his fellow citizens on this important occasion, and, therefore, we are precluded from having before our readers the whole of his speech.

New York, May 11.—Cotton more active, and advanced 1c; sales 2,600 bales—middling 25. Augusta, May 11.—Cotton market stiff, and advanced 1 to 2c; sales 43 bales—strict middling 25.

above all, of what particular use it would be for anybody to vote, just at that particular time, when votes shall have become altogether unnecessary and superfluous. In this point of view the suggestions of Governor Orr do not seem to be very practical.

The Supreme Court as a Political Power. The New York Journal of Commerce has the following sensible article on the importance of the Supreme Court as a department of the government:

It seems to startle some minds very much that an application should be made to the Supreme Court in so important a subject as that which is now occupying its attention, to-wit: the operation of the Military Reconstruction bill.

Registration of Voters. The Charleston Mercury, in alluding to the orders of the commanding General, has the following: The whole framework of our State organization and every right in the community is involved in the action taken by our citizens in this business, and it requires no reflection to arrive at the vital importance of every one registering who is entitled to vote.

For the Intelligencer. NEW ORLEANS, May, 1867. Mr. Editor: I know that it is sometimes the case that men are justly banished from their homes, and that by their own acts; but it is frequently the case that men banish themselves from their homes and country when they have done no wrong to any one.

I have the honor to be, sir, Very respectfully, Your obedient servant, TEXAS BROWN.

For the Intelligencer. BELTOS, S. C., May 13, 1867. Mr. Jas. A. Holt: I beg to announce through your paper, that I am in receipt of another hundred sacks of corn, for distribution to the needy.
