THE LITTLE CORPORAL.

We have received the October number of this little juvenile, and as usual, it presents a beautiful table of contents, always original, and always popular. The publisher offers to send the Decem ber and November numbers, of this year, free to all new subscribers for 1868, that are sent before the last day of October. Great inducements are offered to those who raise clubs. Price, One Dollar s year. Sample copy, ten cents. Address AL-FRED L. SEWELL, Chicago, 111.

THE PROSPECTS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

The Philadelphia Age, in speaking of the present prospect of political effairs in Pennsylvania, and the probability of carrying the State against the dominant party, says:

"From every portion of Pennsylvania, we have glad tidings of a Democratic revival. There is not a break in the column in any portion of the State. Everywhere the greatest enthusiasm prevails .-Thousands who never before acted with the Democracy intend to vote for Geo. Sharswood, the able lawyer, the accomplished scholar, the upright Judge, and the honest man. In the great battle which is soon to be fought in our State, Pennsylvania will out strip Connecticut, Maine, California or Montana."

THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION IN COURT. We are glad to chronicle the fact that the effect of the late amnesty proclamation of President Jognson, is to be tested in the Courts. The Montgomery Mail, says : "The Hon. S. F. Rice, of that city, went before the Board of Registration on Saturday, subscribed to the registration oath, and claimed the right to registor as a voter under the Inte amnesty proclamation of President Johnson, and was refused. Judge Rice will at once test the constitutionality of the law and the proclamation before the United States Court. This is the first case under the proclamation, and we are glad to know that the matter is to be tested and decided by the legal tribunals. The affidavit was made before W. R. Wyatt, United States Commissioner."

HORRIBLE MURDER.

JOHN HENRY MCGILL was shot by a freedman at the residence of Mr. J. P. TUCKCR, in this Diatrict, on Saturday night, 21st ult., only surviving a few hours after receiving the shot. The circumstances, as related to us, are substantially as follows : A. J. HALL and J. P. TTCKER had had a diffioulty sometime during the day of the 21st ult., at or near TUCKER's residence. A. J. HALL left, and went home about sun dewn, and got a freedman, ELBERT BROWNLEE, who is working on his farm, and his gun, and started back to TUCKER's for the purpose of getting satisfaction. On their way to TECKEE's they stopped at J. S. ASHLEY's, and HALL went into the house to get a drink of brandy, while the negro remained at the gate. Asular refused at first to give him the brandy, until HALL promised him upon honor, if he would, he would go home. After he succeeded by this strategy, in getting the brandy, he went out to the gate and gave the negro part of it. He then confessed that he had told a lie, in order to get the brandy, and that he was going to TUCKEN's to have satisfaction. When he rode up to TUCKEN's, he called him out. but Capt. D. L. HALL, who was at TUCKER's. fold TTCREE to go into the house, and he would go out and try to get A. J. HALL to go home. When Capt. HALL got near the gate, where A. J. HALL was, he saw a man whom he took to be a negro, standing near by in the corner of the fence with a gun. When the negro saw that Capt. HALL had discovered him, he stepped off some six paces from thee fence, and faced toward Capt. Hall, at the same time bringing his gun in a shooting position. Capt. HALL told A. J. HALL several times to go home, as he had seen TUCKER, and the difficulty of the day was all settled ; but A. J. HALL remained, saying he intended to have satisfaction. Capt. HALL then went towards the freedman, EL-BEET BROWNLEE, and asked him to give up his gun, when the negro swore he would not do it, and ordered him to halt. About this time Joux Mc-GILL, who was also at TUCKER's, came out to where Capt. HALL was standing. Capt. HALL again asked the negro several times to give up the gun, but the negro would not do it. At length Capt. HALL told him he must give up the gun-and at the same time he and McGill commenced to ad. vance towards him. The negro still swore that he would not give up the gun, and ordered them to halt, as he "belonged to the Union League, and would shoot," About this time the negro aimed his gun at McGILL, and discharged it, the load entering the upper part of McGill's stomach. This was about 8 o'clock, at night, and McGILL lived till about 2 o'clock next morning. ELBERT BROWNLEE has been arrested and lodged to say, A. J. HALL has been permitted to escape ! submission to the Senate, as required by the civil Stranger still, we understand he was present at the is safe under such adminstration of law? WHAT THE RADICALS HAVE DONE. The Metropolium Record prefers the following bill of indictment against the Radical faction .

They have fastened upon the country a debt of three thousand millions, at least one-half of which was stolen by official harpies and cormorants of their own party.

They have ground to the earth with a crushing weight of taxes the industrial and producing classes of the country. They have established a bond-ocracy which shares none of the burdens imposed upon the people, but which waxes rich and fat on their sweat and toil While they have increased the price of all the necessaries of life by their infamous policy, official plundering and partisan legislation, there has been no corresponding increase in the wages of industry. They have built up a thieving, swindling banking system, that picks out of the pockets of the people from twenty-five to thirty millions a year. They have reduced ten States to the condition subject provinces, where all the rights of the people are at the will of the infamous miscreants like Sickles and Pope, and where the nigger is politically the superior of the white man.

They have disfranchised ten millions of our own race and blood.

They have trampled under foot the great vital principle:of free government; that taxation and representation should be inseparable.

They have deprived the President on his consti utional authority and power, and created in the place of the three departments an overshadowing isurpation in the form of a Congressional oligarchy They have inflicted eternal disgrace upon the country by the murder of an innocent woman, through such devil's instruments as Holt and Stan-

They have made a mockery of the ballot in Tennessee and Missouri, where innocent men are murdered through the connivance of Brownlow, Fletcher and their hell hounds.

They have broken every Congressional and other pledge which they made when they tricked the country into the adoption and proseedtion of the war policy.

They have let loose a flood of spies and detecives over the land, and suborned perjuers to swear away the lives of innocent men and women.

They have provoked bloody collisions in the South, and then fabricated therefrom, through the instrumentality of paid agents and correspondents, infamous lies, with which to fire the Radical heart. They have concocted, through such degraded wretches and black-hearted miscreants as Ashley and Butler, most devilish plots for the ruin of their political opporents.

They have reduced the agricultural and producing portion of the country to a state or tribulary vassalage to the manufacturing monopolies of Puritans.

They are now engaged in a deep conspiracy to change the form of our government and reduce the North to the same condition as the South. Such are the acts, such the designs of the Radi cal party.

SPEECH OF THE PRESIDENT.

The following speech was delivered by President Jourson at the dedication of the National Cemetery at Antietam :

My Fellow-Countrymen : In appearing before you, it is not for the purpose of making any lengthy remarks, but simply to express my appro bation of the ceremonies which have taken place to-day. My appearance on this occasion will be the speech that I will make. My reflections and my meditations will be in silent communion with the dead, whose deeds we are here to commemo rate. I shall not attempt to give utterance to the feelings and emotions inspired by the addresses and prayers which have been made, and hymns which have been sung. I shall make attempt at no such thing. I am merely here to give my countenance and aid to the ceremonies on this occasion but I must be permitted to express my hope that unconscious of the fact, ) who make it a business to talk too much-to tell everything they hear, and very often, if a report requires a few additional polishes to make it plausible, they do not scruple to give it the coloring necessary-for this class of people are always desirous that others shall believe what they say. They do not wish to be regarded as tattlers-nor do they consider themselves such ; for, when they have disburdened themselves of a load of gossip, abuse, or vituperation, it is very common for them to enjoin secrecy upon you. They will say-"you must not tell that you heard this from me, for if you do, I will never tell you anything again." &c. Some of them, perhaps, have no particular desire to harm any person by making current everything they hear ; but they must tell it, or burst, and let the consequences take care of themselves. Others do it from envy, jealousy, and a desire to drag their superiors down to a level with themselves. They are miserable and wretched, and can't bear to see others prosperous and apparently happy. It is unfortunately the case that almost every community is cursed with too many of these characters, and the amount of injury done by them is lamentable. In fact, they are among the worst enemies to the peace and harmony of society-for alas! poor, frail human nature is too willing to credit an evil report-we are too ready to do injustice to our fellow-man, and rather sanction his guilt and condemnation before we have ascertained the real facts in the case. We are more apt to notice a fault, and to speak of it, than to admire and commend a virtue. A man's faults are often published and magnified before the world, while his virtues are untold and unappreciated, and the result is that many sensitive, rash young men are ruined perhaps for life. Such injustice is so galling to a proud, sensitive mindand especially one that is not familiar with the depravity and treachery of human nature, that it often creates a kind of desperate recklessness upon such minds, and there being perhaps no immediate possibility of successful contradiction-revenge, or rather consolation is sought in intoxication, which is the parent of vice and degradation-and thus, giving cause for censure, they receive it, and from one step to another, they gadually sink into infamy, disgrace and crime. Many promising young men have been driven to utter ruin in this manner, whereas, if they had received a little forbearance and encouragement instead of abuse-had their good qualities been recognized and encouraged, they would have doubtless made good and useful citizens, instead of worthless, miserable creatures. Some few may have the moral courage, after a bitter experience in dissipation and crime, to reform, and make an effort to regain their wonted position of respectability and usefulness in society. but then remorse claims her sway over that strick. en conscience, and he is the victim of his own folly.

"Time may steal on with silent tread, And dry the tear that mourns the dead ; May change foud love, subdue regret, And teach e'en vengeance to forget : But thou, Remorse! there is no charm Thy sting, avenger, to disarm! Vain are bright suns, and laughing skies, To soothe thy victim's agonies: The heart once made thy burning throne, Still, while it beats, is thine alone." How muck better every person would get along, f they would only attend to their own business, nd adopt the golden rule-"do unto others!" &c. We should never believe an evil report until we are very certain of its truth ; for many probable things rove false, and a little patience will enable us to obtain this proof. We should never condemn a friend unheard, or without letting him know his ccuser, and the offense with which he is charged. It is often the case that these tale-bearers are the fabricators of falsehoods, having some selfish design in view-others make it a kind of sport, or National Intelligencer, of Monday, states that the President and Gen. Grant held a consultation last week in reference to the postponement of electious in the Southern States. It is understood that they agreed that under the reconstruction acts, neither the Executive nor the General-in-Chief has any control or authority over elections or registration in the military districts ; but it is understood they have agreed on the propriety of holding elections on the same day, and that it would be advisable to suggest the same to the generals commanding, not in the shape of an order, however, but as an advisory communication, which General Grant was expected to send.

Information receivad in Washington, Sunday, from private sources, leads to the belief that Gen. Mower will postpone the election in Louisiana until the first Monday of November next, on account of the yellow fever, and the consequence absence of many voters. In official circles it is not believed that General Mower will take action in that direction except upon consultation with Gen. demn a general for selecting such officers as he Hancock, who is understood to acquiesce in the suggestion that all elections be held on the same ders in a campaign. SHERIDAN AND SICKLES .- A Washington disratch savs :

A rumor prevailed here last night that General Sheridan had expressed himself strongly against President Johnson's policy, and had assailed him for his removal of military commanders. I learn from good authority that there is no foundation whatever for the report, but on the contrary, Sheridan, in conversation last night, remarked that he did not blame any President for choosing Cabinet advisers and Executive subordinates who accord with his own policy, any more than he should condeemed best for the several subordinate commanpopular, the people have the power to change it at the end of his term of office.

The conduct of General Sickles excites some un favorable comment. He talks openly about insistmandership, and says that if that is not ordered he will throw up his commission and stump the country against the President's course. His restlessness is attributed to his want of thorough education as an officer. The sentiment here is that a oldier ought to be willing to obey orders without grumbling, and leave all expressions of anger and dissatisfaction to the people.
