

Several original articles, which were in type for our last issue, are published to-day upon the fourth page.

Blank deeds of conveyance, printed on fine paper and in good style, in any quantity to suit purchasers, for sale at this office.

President HAMMETT, of the Greenville and Columbia Railroad, will accept the thanks of this office for complimentary favors.

An ordinance relating to sidewalks, shade trees, &c., will be found elsewhere in our columns. The public should carefully examine this regulation of the town authorities.

A special communication of Hiram Lodge, No. 68, A. F. M., will be held in the Lodge Room on Saturday evening next, January 16th, at 7 o'clock. The E. A. degree will be conferred, and brethren are requested to be punctual in attendance.

An advertisement in another column informs the citizens of this vicinity that D. C. CUNNINGHAM, of North Carolina, will be at this place on Wednesday next with a choice lot of horses and mules. Persons desiring to buy stock will do well to await the arrival of Mr. C., who promises to furnish good animals at reasonable prices.

We observe that a new firm has been organized in Columbia, under the name of FISHER, LOWMEYER & FISHER, embracing our friends of the late firm and Dr. JOHN FISHER—all reliable, trustworthy men of business, possessing the requisite qualifications for success. We extend congratulations to the new firm.

STATE CENTRAL CLUB. The next regular meeting of the Democratic State Central Club will take place in Columbia on Wednesday next, 20th instant. Business of importance will be transacted, and a large attendance expected. Every District is entitled to three delegates, under a resolution adopted at the last meeting.

GRAND CHAPTER B. A. M. The annual convocation of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons will be held in Charleston, beginning on Tuesday, 9th of February next, at 12 m. Arrangements have been made with the various railroads to pass the delegates for one fare. A large attendance of delegates from all parts of the State is anticipated.

REDUCTION OF TAXES. The ordinance to raise supplies for the present year, adopted by the Town Council of Anderson, and published in our columns to-day, will be gratifying news to the tax-payers of this village. Important reductions have been made in the levying of taxes, in many instances from twenty-five to fifty per cent. on the tax list of last year. The tax on Waicides has been abolished.

WILLIAMSTON MALE ACADEMY. We are gratified to learn that Capt. J. A. TOWNSEND, who has been teaching successfully for the past two years at Ninety-Six, has been elected Principal of the Male Academy at Williamston, and will open school on Monday, the 18th of January. The price of tuition will be reasonable, and board can be obtained at from $10 to $12 per month. Capt. T. is a graduate of college, and has been teaching with great success for several years.

EX-GOVERNOR PICKENS. The Edgfield Advertiser is pained to announce that this distinguished and much-honored citizen of South Carolina is lying seriously ill at his home near that village. Gov. PICKENS has been afflicted for two months with some subtle nervous affection, of which great difficulty in breathing seems to be the chief outward sign. His physicians concur in the opinion that it is a very curious and critical case, though not hopeless.

THE KEOWEE COURIER. The last number of this popular journal announces that W. C. KEENE, Esq., has assumed editorial control of its columns, and will devote his brilliant talents to the advancement of journalism in this section. We extend a cordial welcome, and wish him a pleasant and profitable career. Our friend, WHITNER SYMES, is retained as an associate editor, and we may confidently predict an unprecedented prosperity for the paper.

THE MURDER OF RANDOLPH. The Columbia Phoenix learns that a man named WILLIAM TALBOT, formerly of Edgfield, but more recently of Abbeville, surrendered himself to one of the deputy constables as one of the murderers of the late B. F. Randolph, and was brought to that city on Monday and lodged in jail. It is said that he professes valuable information in reference to the other murderers, as also about the disturbances which are reported to have taken place in Abbeville during the last few months.

RETURN DAY. Tuesday last was Return Day for this county, and we learn that only about thirty cases were issued to the approaching term. As a matter of course, these cases belong to the class known as writs, or to use plainer language, involved more than $100, as jurisdiction below that sum belongs to Magistrates, under the new regime. The return, however, is comparatively light, and we are informed that many of our people are compromising old debts, thus avoiding litigation.

THE EDGEFIELD ADVERTISER. This time-honored journal undergoes a change with the new year, Mr. ELIJAH KEENE having sold out his interest in the Advertiser to the senior proprietor, Mr. D. R. DRISCOLL, who pronounces that every effort shall be put forth to make the Advertiser equal to any weekly journal in the State. In our opinion, this has already been accomplished. We are glad to note that our friend, JAMES T. BACOS, will continue as editor, and of course will enlarge its columns and adorn the position he has held for several years. All hands have our most ardent desires for abundant success.

THE BANKRUPT LAW. It may be well to correct certain popular misapprehensions in reference to the Bankrupt Law. Many persons are under the impression that debtors are deprived of its benefits on and after the 1st instant, which is not the case. They are, however, debarré the privilege from that time of petitioning for voluntary bankruptcy, unless the assets pay 50 per cent. of the indebtedness, or a majority of those proving claims against the bankrupt consent in writing. Another and important branch of the law is the right of creditors to force debtors into bankruptcy, which is a permanent feature, and which was fully explained by a correspondent of this paper about twelve months ago.

THE LEGISLATURE.

This body re-assembled on Tuesday of last week. The proceedings so far are almost devoid of interest. We glean from our exchanges the following items:

A bill to punish Sheriffs and other officers for violating the homestead law has passed its third reading in the Senate, and will doubtless pass the House.

A bill has been introduced to increase the salaries of the Circuit Judges and the Justices of the Supreme Court.

The bill to organize and govern the militia of this State is receiving consideration by the Senate, and will be passed at an early day.

A bill has been introduced in the House to charter the Wilson Bridge Company in Anderson and Greenville counties.

A bill empowering the Attorney General to change the venue in State cases was introduced in the House on Friday. This bill is proposed with a view to removing the case of Col. D. Wyatt Aiken to Beaufort for trial.

A resolution, adopted by the House, and sent to the Senate for concurrence, authorizes an investigation of all matters connected with the management of the State Lunatic Asylum. This movement has reference to malicious rumors against the present management, in order to make room for some aspiring sprig of loyalty.

An appropriate resolution was adopted by the House abolishing a bar-room adjacent to the hall, which establishment is declared in the preamble to be "totally unauthorized."

Resolutions were introduced authorizing the payment of per diem and mileage to the families of the late James Martin, of Abbeville, and S. G. W. Dill, of Kershaw. Also, a bill has been introduced to provide for the widows and orphans of men murdered for their political opinions.

Petitions and memorials from sundry citizens of Beaufort, praying a division of that county.

IMPORTANT TO COTTON PLANTERS. A bill has been introduced into Congress to regulate the price and encourage the production of cotton in the United States, which provides that after the first of July next, the Secretary of the Treasury shall be authorized to purchase all raw cotton grown after the passage of this bill (when the same shall be delivered at any railway station or on board any steamboat making direct running communication with the port of New York) at twenty cents per pound for upland, and thirty cents for sea island, provided it be in good merchantable order, and put up in bales of four hundred pounds each. The purchases are to be made through the internal revenue officers. Cotton so sold shall be exempt from tax; but if sold to other parties than agents of the United States, shall pay a tax of three cents per pound; the cotton purchased by the Government shall be sold in New York at a price not less than five cents per pound in advance of the purchase price, not reckoning expenses of transportation, storage, &c., part of the latter; but manufactures of cotton within the United States shall be allowed a drawback of two and a half cents per pound upon all cotton used by them; and a full report of all transactions under the foregoing provisions shall be laid before Congress at the commencement of every regular session.

Godey's Lady's Book for January has been our table for several weeks, and we are pleased to know that this old favorite yet upholds its reputation for interest and excellence. We will send Godey and this paper one year for $5.00.

Frank Leslie's Magazine is not excelled by any for progress and splendid array of talent in the various departments. Published by FRANK LESLIE, New York. Sent with the Intelligencer at a reduced price.

Onward, a new monthly magazine just issued by GABLETON, of New York, and edited by Capt. MAYNE REID, the great novelist. Its design is evidently sensational, although professedly for the benefit of the youth of America. In our humble judgment, the youth aforesaid are too much inclined to trashy, sensational reading, and this magazine will stimulate that inclination, which is in the wrong direction.

Hearth and Home, whose expected appearance was heralded a few weeks since, is a creditable and attractive publication, and deserving a warm reception at the fireside, in town or country. Published by PATTINGILL, BATES & Co., of New York.

Peters' Musical Monthly for January brings the contemplated change in its form of publication, and is a decided improvement. Terms, $3 per annum. Address, J. L. PETERS, 198 Broadway, N. Y.

The Little Corporal for January has been received. The attention of parents is directed to this pleasing publication for the little ones. Published by ALFRED L. SEWELL, Chicago, at $1 per annum.

We have received from the publishers, Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., New York, a specimen sheet of a new work, which they will shortly issue, entitled "The American Newspaper Directory," containing accurate lists of all the newspapers and periodicals published in the United States and Territories, and the dominions of Canada, and British Colonies of North America; together with a description of the towns and cities in which they are published. It will prove valuable to advertisers and newspaper men. The price of a bound copy will be $5.

A TRIP TO THE SOUTH.

Mr. Editor: As a number of your subscribers have expressed a desire to hear something of the present and prospective condition of the sunny South since the desolations of the late war, and especially how their friends and relatives are now getting on in that country, by your permission, I will give them the result of my observations on the subject. In doing this I may be a little more particular in the mention of families who have emigrated from this region, and have friends here desirous to hear particularly from them.

I have been imitating the example of the pigeons and wild geese during the year now closed. They often revisit the North, and spend the warm summer months in sporting on the beautiful lakes there, or sport on the mountains and in the valleys of that more elevated region and cooler climate. On the approach of winter, they often take leave of the snow-capped mountains and ice-bound lakes of the Northern latitude, and visit the sunny South, where they can enjoy a more mild and genial climate, either in the forests or in our Southern rivers and lakes that are seldom covered with ice. They don't tell us what are their motives for these annual or semi-annual visits. I suppose it is not taking a bridal tour, as some of our young people do, after parting with single blessedness for a new and untried state of purer and more perfect and more enduring happiness. This feathered tribe have not told us their object was sight seeing; but they are prompted to it by some kind of instinct to increase their happiness. My object, after discharging the duty I owed to the Church, was to spend a few weeks in visiting the country North of us, see their manner of farming, their fine stock, and what changes may have passed over the great Northern cities in a period of more than thirty years; to unstring the bow, and gain fresh strength and invigorate my health, and return better prepared for buckling on the harness for renewed efforts and labors in the great vineyard of the Master. I was not disappointed in this expectation. My health and strength were both improved, and I really felt nearly ten years younger on my return home.

My friends in Mississippi, hearing through some source I had not only stood the trip well, but improved upon it, commencing writing to me to visit them while I was able. I replied that I thought one trip of six weeks in a year was quite enough. They thought a man seventy-five years of age must necessarily die soon, and to come now. I thought so far as physical powers were concerned, I could travel around the world, and proposed to defer the trip there until next Spring. They said by that time I might die, or they might, and I might never come. They expressed strong desires to hear an old familiar voice once more. They proposed, unasked, to defray all my traveling expenses, if I would come and attend their Fall meetings, and spend some time among them. I felt a strong desire to see many who were really the lambs of my own flock, and see whether they were feeding "in green pastures beside the still waters," or whether they were as a flock wandering on the mountains without a shepherd. Notwithstanding all opposing difficulties that appeared to hedge in my way, I resolved to go, and made arrangements accordingly, encouraged by a number of our own people. With some misgivings, I left Good Hope, went to Mr. James Sadler's, in Georgia, that evening, and after an early repast, reached Athens next evening, and received a kind, hearty reception at the house of Rev. Mr. Barker, by himself and his good lady, but too late to stroll over the place and see how they had come through the ordeal of the war, but left this for a return visit.
