

Anderson Intelligencer.

THE EDGEFIELD AFFAIR. The Edgefield Advertiser gives the following particulars of the outrage perpetrated upon the people of that town...

A little more whiskey and cajolery for the ignorant and misguided blacks, and a little more unprovoked provocation for the astonished and insulted whites...

For the last month, four or five deputy State constables have been sojourning in our midst, said to have been sent here by Governor Scott...

On Thursday afternoon last, to the utter astonishment of the peaceable and law abiding citizens of our town, two hundred and forty guns...

The arms having been escorted in triumph to the public square, one of the State Constables, Bellinger by name...

And thus matters stand in Edgefield; and, without a doubt, all these proceedings are high-handed and unjustifiable outrages upon an unoffending people...

Now, when has the Sheriff of this District failed to enforce the laws? Never. We defy Governor Scott, Eichelberger, Hubbard, or any of the crew...

This negro guard around our jail, and this contemplated negro militia, will do no good in Edgefield. They are emphatically uncalled for and unnecessary...

The Advertiser invokes Governor Scott to visit Edgefield and examine for himself. INTERVIEW WITH GOVERNOR SCOTT. Two of the distinguished citizens of Edgefield...

The Southern Express Company was robbed of $4,900, on the line between Augusta and Savannah, a few days ago...
