Anderson Intelligencer.

Thursday, Morning, October 14th, 1869.

Hon. R. T. McLAIN will accept our thanks for the monthly report of the Department of Agri culture for August and September. We have al ready published a summary of the condition of the crops, as reported in this pamphlet.

ANSWER TO THE DARLINGTON SOUTHERNER.

In order to relieve the anxiety of our cotemporary, we will state that we did not use the language attributed to the Intelligencer by him, nor do we endorse the same. We have had very little to say about the Chinese, and this much not favorable to their coming to this section of the country.

WALTERS & BAKER.

These gentleman have delicately reminded us of the fact that they have in store a large assortment of fancy goods, besides their well selected stock of drugs and medicines, which one of the partners recently purchased in New York. They are enlarging their business, and offer many articles to dealers at wholesale prices. We advise an early call at their establishment.

TOURNAMENT AND COSTUME BALL.

We have received an invitation to be present a a Tournament and Costume Ball, to be given in the town of Union, on Wednesday, 20th of October. In the list of managers, we recognize our friends Col. Jos. WALKER and WM. MUNRO, Esq., among the "seniors," while the gallant Capt. DICK JOHNson heads the "juniors." Success to you, gentlemen-it would afford us great pleasure to be with you, but circumstances will prevent.

HON. JEFFERSON DAVIS.

This gentleman reached Baltimore on Saturday Inst, en route for his home in Mississippi. We believe that Mr. DAVIS intends taking up his permanent abcde among old friends and neighbors, and we think this is the right course for him to pursue. His exile is no longer demanded, even by his political enemies, while his example as a good citizen will be felt and admired, like that of Gen. LEE, throughout the country.

DEATH OF DE. WILLIAM HENRY CALHOUN.

Our exchanges announce the death of Dr. WM. HENRY CALHOUN, in Lee county, near Tupelo, Miss., on the 24th ult. He died suddenly of disease of the heart, whilst visiting a sick patient. He was a native of Abbeville, and emigrated to Mississippi in 1845, where he established a high reputation as a Physician and a successful planter. He married in Anderson many years ago Miss One, a sister of Hon. JAMES. L. OER. His wife and four children survive to mourn his loss. Dr. CALHOUN was the youngest son of the late JAMES CALHOUN, of Abbeville, and a nephew of

Hon. JOHN C. CALHOUN. He was about fifty-four years old.

THE OCTOBER ELECTIONS.

The elections in Pennsylvania, Ohio and other States took place on Tuesday last, but we have received no intelligence as to the result, up to the hour of going to press. The New York Herald; which is usually well informed, thinks that the chances for carrying Pennsylvania are very slim for the Radicals, and that in Ohio the Democrats will carry the Legislature, while it is quite probable that PENDLETON will be defeated. The New -both States being contested with a good deal of warmth." "If," says the Sun, "Packer and Pendieton are elected, it will throw a dark cloud over the future prospects of the Republican cause. If, on the contrary, both are defeated, it will show that the Democrats have not tact enough to take advantage of the demoralization diffused through

MERTING OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS. In accordance with a resolution adopted by the County Commissioners of the several counties represented in July last, an adjourned meeting was held in Columbia on Wednesday, the 6th day of October, at which sixteen counties were represened. After an informal discussion, it was resolved to memorialize the Legislature to postpone the organization of Townships, under the present law, for a period of ten years at least, and also to empower the County Commissioners to appoint a subcommissioner for each township, whose duty it shall be to supervise the working of the roads un der a system similar to the one heretofore existing in this State. They likewise recommended that jury ists be made out by the sub-commissioner, subject to revision by the County Commissioners. In brief, it is proposed to continue the present arrangements, whereby the County Commissioners will discharge the duties heretofore devolving upon the District Boards, with the exception of free schools ; and in order to give them proper assistance, the sub-commissioners, are suggested, in ien of the large number of township officers. We think the action of the meeting is wise and proper, and trust that the Legislature will give due attention to its suggestions.

The Washington Republican, a quasi official organ of the Administration, announces that the Attorney-General of the United States has received notice of an important decision which has recently been rendered by the Supreme Court of Louisiana. The decision is that when a person has taken an oath of office before the war to support the Constitution of the United States, and during the war held an office in one of the "rebellious" States which required him to take an oath to support the Confederate States, such a person cannot for this reason alone be said to have engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the United States, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof, within the meaning of the third section of the Fourteenth Amendment.

The Republican adds the following, which is some indication that the decision is not unfavorably received at Washington :

"This decision will be found very important, and of large scope in reducing and limiting dis-franchising clauses of the Constitution and acts of Congress.

Under the Constitution of this State, such a lecision would relieve a large number of able and xperienced citizens, whose disabilities are altogether caused by the fact that they held office during the war. It would prove of great value to he State were this class alone relieved, and the people enabled to select from among them to fill nany of the offices. Indeed, some of the staunchest Union men are thus disqualified, who are otherwise acceptable to their fellow-citizens, without disinction of party.

THE VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE.

The proceedings of this body, as furnished by telegraph to the daily papers, are quite interesting. The various matters properly before the Legislature seem to have been settled in caucus by the conservative members. The 14th and 15th Amendments to the Constitution of the United States were ratified by both Houses, with a few dissenting votes in either branch. The Governor's Message expresses the conviction that the Legislature would ratify the Fifteenth Amendment voluntarily, and even if it was not a requisite to admission into the Union. He also recommended the appointment at his session of the Standing Committees, in view ems must be remodeled and placed in harmony with the new Constitution ; suggested that internal improvements demand the gravest consideration. and expressed the opinion that the election of Senators was clearly requisite to admission. In corclusion, he says : "Permit me to congratulate you upon the progress already made towards the restoration of the State to civil government. Its good effect is already visible everywhere within the State. Confidence is being restored, commerce is reviving, mining and manufacturing enterprises are being organized, capital is seeking investment in our public improvements and in our rich agricultural and mineral lands, and above and more gratifying than all, joy and hope are taking the place of gloom and despondency-peace and prosperity are once more dawning upon our desolate land. Conscious of the rectitude of our own acts, motives and intentions, and relying upon the continued favor of the Almighty disposer of human events, let us all manfully grapple with the living present, and confidently hope for a glorious future for the Commonwealth." On Friday, an amendment was introduced in the House to the bill passing the Fifteenth Amendment, making it take effect on and after the admission of the State into the Union, but the amendment only received five votes. A resolution was then offered. that in view of doubts expressed about the legality of this Legislature, it will re-enact the 14th and 60 15th Amendments after the admission to the Union, which resolution was referred. On the same day, a similar resolution was presented in the Senate, and was pending when that body adjourned. The Legislature, by joint resolution, adjourned on Friday until the 18th of October. The conservatives in caucus decided to go into the election of United States Senators on Tuesday, the 19th inst. OUR LITERATURE. -If our people knew the many good things every month published in the XIX Century ; if they fully appreciated the fact that this Southern Magazine, with Ex-Gov. Perry, Wm. Gilmore Simms, Rev. Dr. Hicks and others, for contributors, is equal to the best of Northern Monthlies; if they realized that it is in itself a "circulating library" of choice literature cheap at $3.50 a year, they would like ourselves welcome it to their homes and firesides. The October number is before us, full as usual of entertainment. Miss Annie M. Barnwell furnishes "The Bandits of the Hartz Mountains," a thrilling legend ; Dr. Simms continues his Reminiscences of Southern authors; "Personne" gives us another chapter from "The early war": Rev. John Bachman D. D. furnishes an interesting personal sketch of Humboldt, and in the "Political Crisis", which is evidently from the pen of a statesman, is suggested the remedy for the present misfortunes of the South. There are many choice articles in prose and poetry besides, attractive to both young and old. The FIX Century may be had at the book

For the Anderson Intelligencer. FORT BENTON, MONTANA TERRITOR,) September 18, 1869.

Editor Intelligencer: Presuming that aine or wo from this far off Northwest will provinter esting, I undertake to write them, knowig your charity is broad enough to cover the manyerrors likely to occur.

I left you about April 1st. I left St Louis April 24th, on board the steamer "Nick Wall," which sank at a point about ten miles sbye Nobraska Gity; re-embarked aboard the seamer "Sallie," and reached this port June 11th."

Since my arrival here I have traveled ;over, a good portion of this Territory, and have foundal. branches of industry and trade dull, owing to he great scarcity of water here this season. All other interests here depend on the mining interest STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA. for support; without water it is not possible to mine. Hence, general stagnation. There are By Richard Lewis, Esq., Probate Judge. many fine valleys in Montans, capable of supporting a goodly population. I have visited the Gallatin Valley, said to be the finest in the Territory, and found it to be beautiful, indeed. Already a great many fine farms have been opened, a thriving city is being built, and for those seeking homesteads here, it is certainly the place. Helena is a city of six or eight thousand souls, built in the heart of the mines--is the metropolis of Montana-and will be the capital before long. Virginia City is the seat of government now, but rotes and gold will ultimately give it to Helena. Politically, Montana is largely Democratic. At an election just holden they elected their delegate to Congress. Territorial officers, and generally their local officers. The appointment of himes M. Ashley as Governor of this Territory gives general dissatisfaction, the Radical press-othe contrary notwithstanding.

The North Pacific Railroad Commission passed through here a few weeks ago, and assurel the citizens that the road would be built. This will give Montana a Railroad of her own-a thorough fare independent of the uureliable Missouri liver and the Union Pacific, which passes five hundred miles to the southward.

Game is abundant here-Buffalo, Elk, Antdops, Deer, Wild Sheep, &c., can be seen in innunersble bands in almost any part of the Territory. The "noble red men" are very troublesome this season, letting no opportunity to pillage and murder pass. This they can only do in small, uiprotected settlements.

I have said, in my own poor way, about all I know of interest to you. If you give this a place in your paper, please send me a copy to this, place. With many good wishes, I remain truly. DAVID OWEN. vours.

DEATH OF EX-PRESIDENT PIERCE.

The telegraph announces the death of Frankin Pierce, at Concord, New Hampshire, on Friday morning. He was the last survivor of the race of distinguished Presidents representing the school of Jefferson and of Jackson, as he was the last survivor of the Presidents directly elected by the people, whose term of office has expired. Fillmore and Mr. Johnson, it is true, are still liv-ing, but both of them reached the Presidency through death and not through election.

General Pierce was born at Hillsborough, New Hampshire, November 23, 1804. After completing his preparatory studies, he entered Bowdoin Col-friends, and all in want of good lege, Maine. After completing his collegiate course, he studied law with Judge Levi Woodbury, who was for many years a Judge of the Supreme Court, and had been previously Secretary of the Treasury, under Martin Van Buren. He hegan C. the practice of law in his native town, but had not the practice of faw in his harve cown, out had not been thus engaged for two years, when he was elected a member of the State Legislature, to, which he may reacher to the state Legislature, to, the was early distinguished for his intellectual capacity; and his social qualities soon made him nine years old, he was elected to Congress, and he Real and Personal Estate. was re-elected in 1835. In the House General, Pierce did not distinguish himself as a debater, but was a firm and prominent adherent to the principles of the Democratic party. In 1837 he was elected to the United States Senate, but after serving one term, he withdrew to devote himself to FARMERS, BEAD.

Agricultural journals have been attempted in this State at several periods of its history. As a general rule, such enterprises have not met with deserved success. Without stopping to discuss the causes producing this result, we desire to appeal to the farming community in behalf of the Rural Carolinian, the first number of which appoared last week. In point of general excellence, this monthly is not surpassed by any of the estab-Eshed and recognized organs of the agricultural and mechanical population of the country. Its aims are high and ennobling, and withal there is a practical recognition of the best interests of those it seeks to represent, and an earnest devotion to the improved systems of agriculture coming in vogue throughout the South. Such features must commend this new candidate to the patronage of the general public. As the authorized agent for the Rural Carolinian, we invite our friends to examine specimen copies always on hand at this office. Persons who have already received the October number, and who desire to become regular subscribers, are requested to hand in their names and money without delay.

The typegraphical appearance of the Rural Carolinian cannot be excelled. The publishers, Messrs. WALKER, EVANS & COGSWELL, have certainly spared no pains or expense in procuring an Sucht at once pleasing and attractive. It is published at Charleston on the first of every month. Price, Two Dollars per annum.

Judge Oan went to Newberry on Monday last, and will probably hold Court there for two weeks. On his return from that place, he will hold an extra term at Greenville for another week. and then follows the regular terms for Oconee and Pickens, which, added to the past four weeks at without intermission upon the bench.

CHARLESTON OTSTERS .- By reference to an advertisement in this issue it will be seen that an enterprising Charlestonian has undertaken to put these delicious bivalves within the reach of the benighted people of the interior, and the first class names to which he refers are a guarantee that he is all right.

"Admiral Farragut is sick of congestive chills." -Associated Press Dispatch. We should think that he or "any other man" yould be sick of them, especially after taking a Greenville and this place, will make eleven weeks few. They are not the most wholesome things in the world.

the pr offered by Mr. Polk the position of Attorney-General or of Secretary of War, but he declined both offers. In the same year he entered the rolunteer military service of the United States as a private soldier, but was soon made a Brigadier-General, and went to Mexico. During the war his conduct was such as to merit and receive the official approval of General Scott. In 1850 he was elected President of the New Hampshire Constitu-tional Convention. In 1852 the Democratic Con-vention met at Baltimore for the purpose of nominating candidates for the offices of President and Vice-President. The rivalries of the great leaders of the party ran so high that forty-five balbis ad without any result. The Virginia deswere h gation then asked leave to retire for consultation, and on their return cast the vote of the State for Franklin Pierce, who on the forty-ninth ballot, was nominated by the Convention for the presidency. The Whigs had nominated General Scott; At the election before the people every State but four voted for General Pierce, and in the electoral gol-lege he received two hundred and forty-four votes against forty-two cast for General Scott. When elected President, General Pierce was the youngest man who had ever held that position, and his term of office was a period of storm and strife. The cloud of ruin and of war, which afterwards barst, was then forming, but General Pierce served with ability, administered the Government with firmness, and retired at the close of his term with a pure and unspotted name, the leve of a large portion of the people of the country, and the respect of even his enemies. Faults he had, but they were the faults of a generous, strongwilled man, and were the necessary accompain-ments of virtues such as his. Mistakes he made, but who could have occupied his position at that time without doing the same. He was one of the last survivors of a race of public men too proud to do wrong, too pure to be corrupted, too noble to descend to such work as is now daily done by the men who hold the highest positions in the gift of the American people. May the day not be far distant when men as pure, as able, as noble, and as good as Franklin Pierce shall again direct the destinies of America .- Charleston Courier.
