MUSIC IN CAMP.

BY JOHN R. THOMPSON.

Two armies covered hill and plain Where Rappahannock's waters Ran deeply crimsoned with the stain Of battle's recent slaughters.

The Summer clouds lay pitched like tents In meads of heavenly azuro; And each dead gun of the elements Slept in its hid embrasure.

The breeze so softly blew it made No forest leaf to quiver, And the smoke of the random cannonade Rolled slowly from the river.

And now where circling hills looked down With cannon grimly planted, O'er listless camp and silent town, The golden sunset slanted.

When on the fervid air there came A strain, now rich, now tender, The music seemed itself aflame With day's departing splendor.

A Federal band, which eve and morn Played measure brave and nimble, Had just struck up with flute and horn And lively clash of cymbal.

Down flocked the soldiers to the bank Till margined by its pebbles; One wooded shore was blue with "Yanks," And one was gray with "Rebels." Then all was still-and then the band

With movements light and tricksy, Made stream and forest, hill and strand Reverberate with "Dixie." The conscious stream, with burnished glow, Went proudly over its pebbles, But thrilled throughout its deepest flow With yelling of the Rebels.

Again a pause, and then again The trumpet pealed sonorous,
And "Yankee Doodle" was the strain
To which the shore gave chorus.

The laughing ripple shoreward flew
To kiss the shining pebbles;
Loud shricked the crowding Boys in Blue Defiance to the Rebels!

And yet once more the bugle sang Above the stormy riot; No shout above the evening rang-There reigned a holy quiet.

The sad, lone stream its noiseless tread Spread o'er the glistening pebbles; And silent now the Yankees stood, All silent stood the Rebels.

For each responsive soul had heard That plaintive note's appealing, So deeply "Home, Sweet Home" had stirred The hidden fount of feeling.

Or Blue or Gray, the soldier sees,
As by the wand of fairy,
The cottage 'neath the live-oak trees,
The cottage by the prairie. Or cold or warm his native skies

Bend in their beauty o'er him; Sending the tear midst his eyes— The dear ones stand before him. As fades the iris after rain In April's tearful weather, The vision vanished as the strain

And daylight died together. But memory, waked by music's art, Expressed in simplest numbers, Subdued the sternest Yankee's heart— Made light the Rebels slumbers.

And fair the form of music shines, That bright, celestial creature, Who still 'mid War's embattled lines Gives this one touch of nature.

A MODERN MANSION. dence of Hon. Wm. M. Stewart, of Nevada, recently erected in Washington City, is one of the finest private buildings on this continent. Senator Stewart is one of the wealthiest men in the United Staies, and has lavished the ample means at his command in providing a home for his family. The appointments and conveniences of this modern establishment are thus described by a correspondent: "Some idea of the vastness of the house may be gathered from the fact that it takes four tons of coal every twenty days' fire; and yet, large as it is, there is a flood of sunshine and fresh air all through it. In every room and in features of the house, there are speaking tubes and electric bells-these also connecting with the stables. The rooms devoted to the host of servants are wholly separate from the main part of the house. The dressing-rooms are the loveliest little nooks imaginable; heavy curtains, with delicate lace beneath, drape windows; marble-lined bath; a corona of gas over the mirror; and side-lights and soft cushions at the foot of the glass, whereon the lady may rest her dainty feet while under her maid's manipulation. Immense closets, with shelves and drawers and pegs enough to accommodate the most extravagant wardrobe, are attached to the chambers, and cedar and linen closets stand convenient to the housekeeper's hand. The dome surmounting the hall and the smaller one over the vestibule are lit by a corona of gas, forming two rings of solid fire similar to those that quiver around the galleries of the Capital rotunda. In every room there is a writing-desk—sometimes a rich escritoire, pannelled, gilded, and stamped with the monogram of its mistress, "A. F. S." Be-yond the mere richness of the furniture, no visitor can help noticing the complete fitness of everything. All that experience and taste could suggest, all that wealth could furnish, are there-not in an incongruous jumble, as too often happens, but artistically arranged, appropriately contrasted, and always beautiful."

LOOK OUT FOR DROUGHT THIS SUMMER. We may look out for drought every season, and shall seldom look in vain, but the present spring up to this time has, in most parts of the country, been marked by frequent rains, and a wet spring is likely to be followed by a dry summer. "What can we do about it?" do you ask? Keep the soil well stirred and our crops vigorous by clean cultivation. If our lands were properly prepared before planting, we have the means in our hands of protecting our crops against all moderate droughts. The bad farmer suffers every year from drought or from too much moisture, and, generally, from both. Such "bad luck" is sure to follow him, from year to year, till he shall mend his ways and learn a more rational system of farming.-Rural Carolinian, May No.

- The Petersburg (Va.) News relates that a colored man recently entered a drug store in that city and asked for five grains of strychnine. The young salesman refused to give it to him, and referred the matter to his employer, who interrogated the darkey as to what use he wished to make of it. He said he wanted to take it. The proprietor told him he must swallow it in the store, which he agreed to do. The same quanity of flour was duly mixed and handed to him, when his courage failed him. and he put the glass on the counter and quickly left the store.

- A well known wealthy Parisian has had himself painted by an eminent artist-"As he was," "As he is," and "As he will be." "As he was" represents him, at the age of twentyfive, a poor wretch in ragged garments, with his toes peeping through holes in his shoes sinking, half-famished, by the side of a wall.
"As he is" figures him fat and jolly as an alderman, well-dressed, with gold chains dicking his waistcoat, and diamond rings blazing on the paintings hung in his drawing-room.

Monoplies, Railroads, Middle-Men, Grangers and Farmers.

The complaint of the Grangers and farmers is that Railroads and other monopolies, mer-chants and other "middle-men" get the lion's share of their earnings, and they allege that so long as this is the case they cannot prosper. No one can call in question the truth of the allegation, when it is known that they pay from 50 to 75 per cent, interest on their plantation supplies. We do not wonder that they groan under the heavy burdens they bear. The wonder is, they have patiently borne them Grievous as are these burdens, our agricultural friends can easily relieve themselves, without any legislation whatever. The remedy is simple—it is their fault if they do not apply it. Simple and efficient as it is, we doubt whether they will avail themselves of it. But if they will all adopt it, and stick to it, they will appear have accession again to complain of will never have occasion again to complain of monopolies, high transportation, middle-men, or usurious interest. Instead of being borrowers they will become lenders of money. Instead of empty purses, corn-cribs and smoke-houses, they will have a superabundance of cash-"hog and hominy" in abundance—fat horses, mules, cattle and hogs. Instead of long faces, their countenances will beam with joy—instead of hard fare, they will revel in abundance. Plenty will crown the smiling land, and contentment sit enthroned on every countenance.

But how may this wonderful transformation be wrought? As we announced in the outset the plan is easy, simple and within the reach of the very men who justly complain of their present condition. They and they alone can give relief. Congress cannot do it—the State Legislatures are powerless. But how, then, can the farmers do it? That's the question. It is easily answered. Let every planter and farmer in the cotton States make an ample supply of provisions for home consumption and carefully save and apply to his lands all the domestic fertilizers in his reach.

This is the remedy, and the only one which will afford adequate relief. The farmer or planter who makes his own supplies is never taxed with heavy railroad transportation. He cares not how high Western corn and bacon may be, and if he husbands his own resources, he feels no interest in the price of guano. Nor does he have to pay 30, 50 or 75 per cent. for plantation supplies; but, on the contrary, he will be demanding fair interest on his surplus cash! He will thus place himself beyond the reach of monopolies, middle-men and all the other evils of which, under the present suicidal policy, he so justly complains. Are our agricultural friends willing to try the experiment? Let them look around and call to mind all the farmers and planters who have had money to loan, and he will remember that they were those who raised their own supplies, and instead of buying, had corn and bacon to sell. Try it, and prosperity will again smile on the land.—Athens (Ga.) Watchman.

THE DRUNKARD'S CURE.-Some months ago a gentleman advertised that he had discovered a sure specific for the cure of drunkenness. He would not divulge the secret of what compounds he used, but furnished the medicine at so much per bottle. He did not have so many applicants for his cure as he expected, considering the extent of the disease. In fact, the more malignant cases did not seem anxious for relief; they rather appeared to enjoy the malady. A few, however, placed themselves under treatment, and some were cured-whether by taking the medicine, or by not taking strong drinks, is not stated. One of the cured ones had faith in the medicine, rigidly carried out the directions of the doctor, and now has out the directions of the doctof, and has not the least taste for intoxicating drinks; whereas one year ago he was an inebriate, and could not get along with less than a pint to a quart of whisky per day. He said that, at some trouble and expense, he had procured the recipe for the preparation of the medicine, which he had published for the benefit of sufwhich he had published for the benefit of suffering humanity. It is as follows:

Sulphate of iron, five grains; peppermint water, eleven drachms; spirit of nutmeg, one drachm. Twice a day. This preparation acts as a tonic and stimulant, and so partially supplies the place of the accustomed liquor, and prevents that absolute physical and moral prostration that follows a sudden breaking off from the use of stimulating drinks. It is to be taken in quantities equal to an ordinary dram, and as often as the desire for a dram returns. It is estimated that there are in England alone not fewer than six hundred thousand each of the halls, which are the distinctive habitual drunkards! Of these sixty thousand die annually, and their places are supplied by sixty thousand others, drawn into the vortex of ruin, from what many regard the safe and happy streams of moderation. So that every ten minutes some fresh victim becomes a drunkard -every ten minutes some drunkard's soul is hurried to a drunkard's eternity!

EYE, EAR AND THROAT. DR. J. W. GURLEY HAS OPENED AN OFFICE IN THIS PLACE, WHERE THOSE

SUFFERING WITH ANY DISEASE OF THE EAR OR THROAT, EYE,

CAN receive immediate attention and permanent relief. With the Otoscope for examining the Ear, the Ophthalmoscope for examining the Eye, the Laryngoscope for the Throat, he is able to detect, and treat successfully, troubles that have heretofore been considered incurable. As to his success in the treatment of Eye diseases, he invites attention to the following certification:

cates:

ANDERSON, S. C., August 1st, 1873.

This is to certify that I have been blind for the last three years, during which time I have spent several hundred dollars in trying to obtain relief, the greater part of which I spent in Atlanta, Ga., under treatment of Dr. Hooton, without obtaining any relief whatever. I had almost despaired of ever being able to see, when Dr. J. W. Gurley informed me that my case was Cataract, and, by an operation, he believed that he could restore my sight. I consented, and on the 17th of February last, he operated upon my eyes. On the seventh day after, I was able to distinguish objects at a distance. My sight has improved ever since, and now (Aug. 1st) feel that, with the aid of my glasses, I can see as well as any person of my age (67), and am able to attend to all my business—which renders me a happy man, being brought from Darkness to Light. I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Gurley to persons suffering with any disease of the Eye.

MATTHEW SNIPES.

ABBEVILLE C. H., S. C., May 13th 1873.

DR. J. W. Gurley—Dear Sir: I have been almost blind for quite three years, caused by Granular Ophtalmia, and general inflammation of the Eyes. I was under treatment of Dr. Voorhees, (Ophthalmic Surgeon,) of Memphis, Tennessee, one year; and at the expiration of that time, found myself very little improved. I had about despaired of ever being able to enjoy perfect vision again, when my attention was called to your advertisement. I made up my mind to try your skill, hoping at least to get rid of the terrible inflammation, which rendered me almost crazy at times. My hopes have been more than realized within the remarkably short time of eight weeks. The inflammation is all gone—granulations very nearly so. The lids have resumed their normal appearance, and my sight is perfectly restored. I can read the smallest print with ease, without the aid of spectacles. I can recommend those suffering with any disease of the Eye to call on you at once.

BENJ. E. BARKSDALE. any disease of the Eye to call on you at once.

Iron in the Blood

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as casily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "athousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the won-derful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhea, Bolls, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reac-tion, but are permanent, infu-sing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.
