

How Mr. Moody and Mr. Sankey, who live well and are well attired, subsist without the contributions of money which are offered to them invariably in vain, is a question that puzzles a good many peo-ple. Ever since they began in the West their work, which was afterward exten-ded into England, Scotland and Ireland, they have sturdily declined payment. They receive considerable profits on the sales of their hymn books, but Mr. Moody will have nothing to do with such moneys except to use them for poor churches and Sunday-schools and for other religions purposes. He never keeps a cent, nor, it is said, does Mr. Sankey. How, then, do the preacher and the singer, neither of whom has any private fortune,

Mr. Moody's startling success in Chi-cago was illustrated by the conversion and the friendship of many of the richest citizens. Among his best friends was John V. Farwell, the great dry goods merchant of the Northwest, to whom while he was accumulating his estate the late Mr. Stewart extended credits. Mr. Farwell said to Mr. Moody at the con-clusion of his labors there : "Moody, I know you want to go out and preach. You ought to. Go ahead, and I'll see that you have the means." Mr. Farwell and several other wealthy gentlemen speedily arranged for the necessary income, and have ever since maintained it. This is why Moody and Sankey are able to decline to take toll for themselves along the way.

merchant, who became one of the subscribers, declined for a long while to be converted. Mr. Moody was so persist-ent that, although the merchant liked him for some traits, he resented what he felt to be a persecution. It was not, is not, and probably never will be, entirely agreeable to a man to be pursued by the best-meaning evangelist into his office and his dwelling, and urged, vehemently, to "save his soul." At last the merchant said with candor: "Moody, if you ever speak to me again on the subject of reli-gion, by God, I'll horsewhip you, even if it's on the public street." The next time they met was on the verge at one end of a swing bridge, which was withdrawn to give passage to boats. They shook hands, give passage to boats. They snook names, and Mr. Moody, without flinching, said : "Mr. —, I hope you will remember that you have a Saviour who loves you, and a you have a Saviour who loves you, and a soul to save !" Crossing the bridge, they went their different ways without the horse-whipping. A few days later Mr. Moody entered the merchant's store, as Moody entered the merchant's store, as intent upon his purpose as ever he had been. He was anticipated by the mer-chant, who drew him aside, and togeth-er they sat on a dry-goods box. "Now look here, Moody," said the merchant, "what you said to me the other day there her the biddrem that I had a Saving who by the bridge-that I 'had a Saviour who loved me and a soul to save,' made a profound impression on me. I want you to talk to me." The revivalist seized the opportunity so long coveted, and soon the two men were on their knees together, in business hours, in the merchant's private office, turning it into a place of love of our children! Rather let us die of heaven. When the bell tolled for the mother's burial, we went to the sanctuary to pay our only token of respect to the aged stranger; for we felt that we could give her memory a tear, even though her own children had none to shed. "She was a good mother in her day, and toiled hard to bring us all up—she was no comfort to herself and a burden to everybody else !" These cruel, heartess words rung in our ears as we saw the coffin borne up the aisle. The bell tolled long and loud, until its iron tongue had chronicled the years of the toil-worn mother. One-two-three-four-five. Evw clearly and almost merrily each stroke told of her once peaceful slumber in her mother's bosom, and of her seat at nightfall on her father's knee. Six—seven-eight-nine-ten, rang out the tale of her sports on the green sward, in the meadow and beside the brook. Eleven -twelve-thirteen-fourteen.spoke more gravely of school days and little household cares and joys. Fifteen-sixteenseventeen-eighteen, sounded out the en-raptured visions of maidenhood and the dream of early love. Nineteen brought before us the happy bride. Twenty spoke of the young mother whose heart was full to bursting with the new strong love which God had awakened in her bosom. And then stroke after stroke told of her early womanhood--of the loves, and cares and hopes and fears, and toils

A BABY .- The following is no less admirable as a description of a baby than

An opulent and stubborn Chicago joys and sorrows in those of her children and children's children. Every family of all the group wanted grandmother then, and the only strife was who should win the prize : but hark, the bell tolls on ! Seventy-seventy-one -two-three-four. She begins to grow feeble, requires some care, is not always patient or satisfied ; she goes from one child's house to another, so that no one place seems like home. She murmurs in plaintive tones, and after all her toils and weariness, it is hard she cannot be allowed a place to die in ; that she must be sent, rather than invited, from house to house. Eighty-eighty-one-two-three-four. Ah, she is now a second child-now "she has outlived her usefulness, she has now ceased to be a comfort to herself or anybody;" that is, she has ceased to be profitable to her earth-craving, money-grasping children. Now sounds out, reverberating through our lovely forest and echoing back from our "hill of the dead," eighty-nine. There she lies now in the coffin cold and still-she makes no trouble now, demands no love, no soft word, no tender little offices. A look of patient endurwinter was over he was sure to be out of ance, we fancied also a look of grief for unrequited love, sat on her marble fea-tures. Her children were clad in weeds corn, in which emergency he would bring his bag to the Colonel for a supply, which was generally furnished. Once which was generally furnished. Once upon a time Jake came with his bag very of woe, and in an irony we remembered the strong man's words, "She was a good mother in her day." When the bell ceased tolling the just set in. strange minister rose in the pulpit. His prayer and tears. form was very erect, and his voice strong, early in your call for corn." III. but his hair was silvery white. He read Not long after his recent arrival in New York, a distinguished merchant in-vited Mr. Moody to his house to meet a several passages of scripture expressive of God's compassion to feeble man, and especially of his tenderness when gray hairs are on him, and his strength faileth this yer season." party of eight or ten of the wealthiest for corn. "business men" at dinner. Being averse to such 'entertainments he thanked his him. He then made some touching re-marks on human frailty, and of depend "Yaas, I s'pose it has, Colonel. But-y'see-I forgot to plant." host and said : "I will be glad to go, on one condition—that it shall be understood ence on God, urging all present to make their peace with their Maker while in health, that they might claim His promamong your guests that at the table reliises when heart and flesh failed them. gion shall be the topic, and that I shall be sure to urge it upon them all." The condition was acceded to, the gentleman "Then," he said, "the eternal God shall be thy refuge, and beneath thee shall be everlasting arms." Leaning over the desk and gazing intently on the coffined form before him, he then said reverently : "From a child I have honored the aged; who gave the invitation judging rightly that the curiosity of the rest of the comour land. Do not let them fill a drundesk and gazing intently on the coffined form before him, hethen said reverently: "From a child I have honored the aged; but never till gray hairs covered my own head, did I truly know how much love and sympathy this class have a right to I feel it." "Our mother," he added most pany would transcend their dread of a possible bore. They came in force, and one of the toughest, most "wide-awake" men amongst them accompanied Mr. Moody into an adjoining room to talk, to be convinced, and to subsequently offer I feel it." "Our mother," he added most tenderly, "who now lies in death before of him as you did before he drank "his check for several thousands. IV. us was a stranger to me, as well as all of "No." "You should have said to him: these her decendants. All I know of her "If you drink, I will not go with you any When the revival in Brooklyn was at its height, a very wealthy, cultivated and skeptical lady from New York went over is what her son told me to-day-that she was brought to this town from afar, sixty-nine years ago, a happy bride—that here she has passed most of her life, toiling as the has passed most of her life, toiling as there to hear Mr. Moody preach. She was amazed and a little disgusted by his style of oratory. But for some reason which probably she could not have deonly mothers ever have strength to toil, fined, she went again. Still again. On her fourth visit she passed into the in-ther fourth visit she passed into the in-dulry-room and said to Mr. Moody that she would like to hear from him, directly and privately, his argument why she should become a Christian. He an-swered her, saying, "Madam, I know of no surer way to reach your heart than she loved. God forbid that conscience indication of health than leanness, both of which, in the extreme, are evidences through prayer. Let us pray." Mr. Moody knelt. His manner was such or murmuring on account of the care she has been to you of late. When you go back to your homes, be careful of your ble to have them very fat and plump.—

as an example of a keen sense of the proper place at which to put a full stop:

Did you ever watch a dear little baby waking from its morning nap? It is one of the prettiest sights in the world .--There is the crib with its small preparations and snow-white drapery that covers something, outlined, round and plump. There is nothing to reveal what it is, no

God forbid that we should outlive the solved, does not undergo any healthy change; on the contrary, being kept up to the stomach heat of about a hundred while our hearts are a part of their own, that our grave may be watered with their tears and our love linked with their hopes legrees, it soon begins to ferment, to decay, to rot; if meat, it literally becomes carrion; if vegetable, it sours; in either case, generating gas and wind, causing unseemly belchings and noisome eructations ; or these gases, being confined, dis-tend the stomach, causing pressure against the nerves, originating various pains and discomforts more or less distressing, to last sometimes for hours or half a night, preventing refreshing sleep, to be followed by a day of general dis-comfort and unfitness for business.— Sometimes the stomach becomes so distended with wind that it crowds up against the lungs, preventing them from receiving their proper amount of air, and there follows a distressing feeling of impending suffocation. These same effects follow when too much food is eaten; more than there is fluid in the stomach to dissolve .- Dr. Hall.

> One morning he saw a farmer with a slouch hat and a genuine butternut suit, trying to sell a cow in the market there. It was a large, long-horned animal, and the planter was informing a man that the cow would give four quarts of milk a day, f fed well.

Up stepped the Judge. "What do you ask for the cow?" "About $30. She'll give five quarts of milk, if you'll feed her well," replied the planter, and he prothrough which she passed during these long years, till fifty rang out harsh and loud. From that to sixty, each stroke told of the warm-hearted mother and nother, living over again her own your cow, which give twenty to twenty- dice.

USE YOUR INFLUENCE .- Young wo

All Serts of Paragraphs. - The key to the penitentiary-whis-

- When asked to contribute for charity a poor excuse is better than none.

-The man who pays more for shop rent than for advertising, don't know his business.

As a general thing, the political outlook with candidates is to lookout for themselves.

- Don't tell an editor how to run a newspaper. Let the poor fool find out for himself.

- We should not forget that life is a flower which is no sooner fully blown than it begins to wither.

- A lady thought it was the essence of rose that made her hair white. Jerrold suggested that it might have been the essence of thyme.

- Fringes for ladies' dresses are unu-sually rich this year, and will be worn very long-long enough to reach to the bottom of a man's pocket probably.

"Mamma, don't you want some nice candy ?" said a little child. "Yes, dear, I should like some." "Then, if you'll buy some, I'll give you half," lisped the polite girl.

- A good book and a good woman are excellent things for those who know justly how to appreciate their value. There are men, however, who judge of both by the beauty of the covering.

- The man who is curious to see how the world could get along without him, can find out by sticking a cambric needle into a mill-pond, and then withdrawing it and looking at the hole.

- About a half a million pounds of old bullets and pieces of battered lead have been picked up off of the old battle fields around Marietta, Ga., and brought to that town, sold and shipped.

- As an evidence of hard times it may be mentioned that a young man in New York State wrote to every bank in Detroit offering to "be your kasheer for $20 per month and board;" and no bank could give him a place.

- "How like its father it is !" said the the nurse, on the occasion of the christening of a baby whose father was more than seventy years of age, and who had married a young wife. "Very like," said a satirical lady; "bald, and not a tooth in its head."

- An illegitimate child is not a natural inheritor of its father's estate. It can only inherit from the father by special provision of his will. It is a natural inheritor of the mother, however, and can only be dispossessed of her estate by her own act or will.

- The first day Artemus Ward entered Toledo, travelworn and seedy, he said to an editor who was on the street : "Mister, where could I get a square meal for twenty-five cents?" He was told. "I say, mister," said he, "where could I get the twenty-five cents?"

- A merchant asked two friends to keep store for him while he went off a while. During his absence each sold the other a large lot of goods cheap for credit. The merchant considered it a joke, but they claimed to be his agents, and now the courts will have to decide the matter.

- A young gentleman in New York lately made an evening call upon a young lady, and got rather shabbily treated. It more than there is fluid in the stomach to dissolve.—Dr. Hall. THE PLANTER TOO MUCH FOR THE JUDGE.—Judge Grant was in Little Rock, Ark., a couple of weeks ago, in at-tendance at the United States Court one more ing, he saw a former with a lady, "if you start now you will get home at just nine o'clock."

- The seal of the Contederate States is on exhibition at Jacksonville, Fla.-It is inclosed in a handsome case, and is two and a half inches in diameter. In the centre is a fine representation of the equestrian statue of Washington in the Capitol grounds at Richmond. Sur-rounding this figure is a wreath of the agricultural productions of the South, and encircling this, on the outer rim, the

To those indebted to us on Accounts for last year, we will give one-half cent above the market price for Cotton, in payment of such Accounts and Notes, at any time between the 1st of November next. We must have the money on them, and do not might to add any cost. So come forward at any and sattle ye do not wish to add any cost. So come forward at once and settle up. BYRUM & McGRATH, Mechanics' Row. Oct 7, 1875

Ap- None genuine but these having my full ad-iress lettered in the castings. Apr Newspapers in want of advertising, from first parties, should send for my circular proposal ANSON HARDY, AUBURNDALE, MASS. I will buy of those that buy of me. Feb 10, 1876 30

1y

10

Encourage Home People and Home

Enterprise.

Sept 23, 1875

ARCHITECTURAL

IRON WORK,

IN all its branches, done that the lady could not choose but kneel beside him. He asked her to repeat after him his prayer. In low earnest tones, and with all the tender and pathetic phraseology of which on such occasions he is a master, he uttered his supplication, pausing after each sentence for his companion to follow. The prayer con-cluded with the vow :

"And now, O Lord, I give my life to Thee!" "Mr. Moody," said the lady, in a hard, "Mr. truly," painful whisper "I cannot say that; truly, I cannot."

Mr. Moody made no reply, nor did he change his position. There was a pause of half a minute. Then again he uttered the words : "And now, O Lord, I give my life to five quarts of milk a day.

them rigiments !"

example before your own children; for the fruit of your own doing you will sure-fort, and especially liable to attacks of ly reap from them when you yourself the croup and kindred diseases. This totter on the brink of the grave. I en-treat you as a friend, as one who has small amount of exercise, and from himself entered on the evening of life, wrong food, such as an excess of sweets that you may never say in the presence of your families, or of Heaven, 'Our mother had outlived her usefulness—she was a burden to us.' Never, never; a mother cannot live so long as that. No; when she can no longer labor for her which shows the folly and wickedness of for ding a babe outle children, nor yet care for herself, she can of feeding a babe on cream and water. children, nor yet care for nersen, she can fall like a precious weight on their bosoms and call forth by her helplessness all the noble, generous feelings of their natures." Adieu, tifen, poor, toil-worn mother; there are no more drug of nein for thea there are no more days of pain for thee. | cream, and more air and exercise.

- A young man told us yesterday The planter eyed the Judge sharply for a moment, as if trying to remember whether he had ever seen him before or not, and then asked: "Stranger, where would pay their long deferred visit this summer, about the time of the Centen-nial. The cousin replied: "There won't do you live?" "My home is in Iowa." "Yes, stranger, I don't dispute it.— Stranger, there was heaps of solgers from be any Centennial this year, the exposi-Iowa down here during the war, and, stranger, they were the d-est liars in tion having been postponed on account of the weather, the high-water, political de-velopments, etc. Have shut up the house and gone to boarding; should be the whole Yankee army. Stranger, may be you mought be an officer in some of happy to see you, and may spend all sum-mer in Vicksburg."—Vicksburg Herald. — A gentleman out of the kindness of The Judge slid for the Court House .-

home.

A SHORT CORN CROP.—Colonel Fin-negan was a Florida planter, wealthy and hospitable. Toward the poor he was always kind, and even the shiftlere h and hospitable. Toward the poor he was always kind, and even the shiftless he and he took the smallest boy on his back would not turn coldly away. A man Then they all cried to be carried in the same way. He then resorted to an ingesame way. He then resorted to an ingebounty was named Jake Hartruff. Jake nious experiment. "I'll get horses for was a squatter in the woods where he us all," and jumping into a hedge, had a log cabin, and a small clearing. cut small wands for ponies for the li cut small wands for ponies for the littu fellows, and a great stake as a charger for Upon this land he sometimes raised corn himself, which put mettle into their lit-tle legs, and they all rode cheerily and with his gun he captured game. Of the game he ate the flesh, and the skins he traded for whisky. Long before the

THE WEEKLY SUN. NEW YORK. 1876

Eighteen hundred and seventy-six is the Centen-nial year. It is also the year in which an Opposi-tion House of Representatives, the first since the war, will be in power at Washington; and the year of the twenty-third election of a President of the United States. All of these events are sure to be of great interest and importance, especially the two latter; and all of them and everything con-nected with them will be fully and freshly repor-ted and expounded in THE SUS. The Opposition House of Representatives, taking up the line of inquiry opened years ago by THE SUX, will sternly and diligently investigate the corruptions and misdeeds of Grant's administra-tion; and will, it is to be hoped, lay the foundation for a new and better period in our national history; of all this THE SUS will contain complete and ac-curate accounts, furnishing its readers with early and trustworthy information upon these absorbing topies. early in the season-in fact, winter had "Why, how's this, Jake?" demanded Finnegan. "Seems to me you are rather Well, Colonel, fact is my crop failed

"Failed! How is that! I thought it had been an uncommonly good season man, you don't know how much influ-The twenty-third Presidential election, with the The twenty-third Presidential election, with the preparations for it, will be memorable as deciding upon Grant's aspirations for a third term of power and plunder, and still more as deciding who shall be the candidate of the party of Reform, and as electing that candidate. Concerning all these sub-jects, those who read This Sux will have the con-stant means of being thoroughly well informed. The WEXKLY SUX, which has attained a circu-lation of over eight; thousand copies, already has its readers in every State and Territory, and we trust that the year 1875 will see their numbers doubled. It will continue to be a thorough news-paper. All the general news of the day will be found in it, condensed when unimportant, at full length when of moment; and always, we trust, treated in a clear, interesting and instructive man-ret. ence you have over young men. If you would labor earnestly, we should not have so many dissipated young men in

It is our aim to make the WEEKLY SUN the be It is our aim to make the WEEKLY SUS the best family newspaper in the world, and we shall con-tinue to give in its columns a large amount of mis-cellaneous reading, such as stories, tales, poems scientific intelligence and agricultural information, for which we are not able to make room in our daily edition. The agricultural department espe-cially is one of its prominent features. The fash-ions are also regularly reported in its columns; and so are the markets of every kind. The WEEKLY SUS, eight pages with fifty-six broad columns is only $120 a yer, postage prepaid. As this price barely repays the cost of the paper, no discount can be made from this rate to clubs, agents, Postmasters, or any one. You might have saved him from young man who is attentive to you, that you do not mean to go with any young man who drinks one drop of liquor? He

s. Postmasters, or any one igents, Postmasters, or any oue. The Dathy Sux, a large four page newspaper of wenty-eight columns, gives all the news for two zents a copy. Subscription, postage prepaid, 55e. a month or $6.50 a year. SUNDAY edition extra, $1.20 per year. We have no traveling agents. Address, erg. THE SUN, New York City. FAT BABIES .- Fatness is no more an

April 27, 1876

TO EXTRACT TEETH WITHOUT PAIN ! WITH NITROUS OXIDE GAS-but it costs something.

To Physicians, applicable to all cases of minor surgery, or where the vitality is too low to admit the use of any other anæsthetic. W. G. BROWNE, Dentist.

March 30, 1877 NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT.-Notice is hereby given that the un-dersigned, Administrator of John Erskine, deceased, will apply to the Judge of Probate for Anderson County, on the 20th of May next for a final settlement and discharge from said Estate. from said Estate. THOS. ERSKINE, Adm'r.

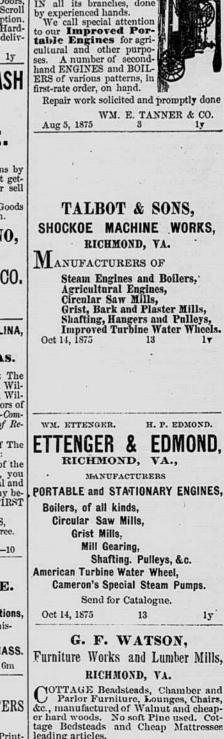

K EEPS constantly on hand a well-selected stock of CONFECTIONERIES of all kinds, such as French and Plain Candies, Canned Goods of every description, Pickles, Jel-lics, Dried Figs, Raisins, Currants, Citron, Dates, Crackers of all styles, Fruits, &c. A large selection of

TOYS AND FANCY GOODS,

Such as Toys, of every kind, Ladies' Work Boxes, Companions, Writing Desks, Portfolios, Fine French and Bohemian Vases, Perfumes of the very best quality, Toilet Sets, Fine Silk Flowers, Musical Instruments of different kinds, Wax Dolls of every kind, from 5c. to $7.00. I have one of Mathews' splendid SODA FOUNTAINS for dispensing pure Soda Water. Tickets will be sold cheap. Any one buying three dozen tickets at a time will get them at 90e nd dozen. time will get them at 90c. per dozen.

J. R. FANT, East E. 1 Masonic Building.

Oct 14, 1875 13 M. GOLDSMITH. P. KIND.

PHENIX IRON WORKS

July 8, 1875 WM. J. HARBIN.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT.-

Notice is hereby given that the under-signed, Administratrix of John B. Earle, deceased, will apply to the Judge of Probate tomers.

COLUMBIA, S. C. GOLDSMITH & KIND

1y

FOUNDERS and MACHINISTS.

HAVE always on hand Stationary A VE always on hand Stationary Each State and Stationary Mills, etc., Saw and Grist Mills, Cotton Presses, Gearing, Shafting, Pullies, etc Castings of every kind in Iron or Brass. We guarantee to furnish Engines and Boilers of as good quality and power, and at as low rates as can be had in the North. We manufacture, also, the Gaddy Im-proved Water Wheel, which we recom-mend for power, simplicity of construc-tion, durability and cheapness. We warrant our work, and assure promptness and dispatch in filling orders. GOLDSMITH & KIND, Columbia, S.C.

46

for Anderson County, on the 30th day of May next, for a Final Settlement and dis-charge from said Estate. JANE A, EARLE, Adm'x. April 25, 1876 41 5 May 28, 1874