Mr. Belcher proposes to re-establish the Anderson Sun, and will issue the first number this week. We

We direct attention to the advertisemen of Mr. J. E. Peoples, who is the agent for the sale of cotton gins and presses of superior manufacture, together with other ma chinery. A little child of Mr. S. P. Tate received a painful and dangerous injury on Tuesday, the 18th inst., from being kicked while in a buggy with its father and mother. The child was riding in the foot of the buggy, and the horse becoming frightened commenced kicking, and before it could be got out of the reach of the animal's heels, it received a serious lick. , Dr. W. The temperance celebration of Orion Lodge, No. 107, L. O. G. T., which was mentioned in our last issue, will take place in connection with a Sunday School celebration at Mt. Bethel Church on the first Saturday in August next. Addresses upon temperance will be delivered in the forenoon by Messrs. G. F. Tolly, A. J. Watt and W. G. Browne, and Sunday School speeches in the afternoon by Rev. B. Hays, Rev. C. V. Barnes and Dr. W. C. Brown. All temperance organiza-tions and Sunday Schools in the surrounding country are respectfully invited to particinate. A basket dinner will be served.

The break above this point on the Blue Ridge Railroad has been mended, and on last Saturday the trains over this branch of the Greenville and Columbia Railroad began making regular trips. The trains from Belton and Walhalla meet each other at Broadaway and transfer passengers and baggage, so that the inconvenience of travel ong this line is greatly reduced. We learn that Mr. William Smith, formerly a freight conductor on the main road, has been assigned charge of the passenger train on this line. In passing Anderson in the morning the train leaves at 8.05 o'clock. and returning leaves at 5 p. m.

The neighborhood of Centreville mourns the loss of a popular and worthy young man, Mr. William C. Hale, who died on the 19th inst., after a brief illness, in the 25th year of his age. The deceased was held in great esteem by his neighbors, and the large attendance at his funeral attested this fact. He was buried at Asbury Chapel on Thursday last-the religious services being conducted by Rev. D. L. Whitaker, after which the beautiful and impressive funeral rites of the Sons of Temperance and Patrons of Husbandry were conducted by the officers of New Prospect Division and Deep Creek Grange, to which the deceased belonged.

The Rock Mills Democratic Club held its regular meeting at Providence Church on Saturday afternoon-the Vice President, Mr. James McLees, presiding. Capt. James A. Hoyt addressed the meeting at length upon the political topics of the day, and was followed in short and pointed speeches from Messrs. R. F. Divver, W. J. Ligon, J. H. McConnell, Samuel Browne and Wm. S. Brown. Ten additional names were enrolled as members of the Club. Messrs. Jas. A. McLesky, T. H. Anderson and O. Geisberg were elected delegates to the County Convention. It was determined to have a basket dinner at the next regular meeting on the fourth Saturday in August, and a committee was appointed to invite speakers.

Camden Journal: It is gratifying to note the fact that the Democratic party in this part of the State is becoming thoroughly aroused upon the subject of the approaching campaign. The determination to reform the government, and thereby save the country from utter and irretrievable ruin and degradation seems to be universal.

Kershaw County proposes to "stick" to the straight-out policy.

We directed attention not long ago to the act that the summer meeting of the State Agricultural Society will take place in Annext, and in order to insure a full meeting direction; but the time is close at hand, and | tution as this. whatever plans have been perfected ought to be made public, so as to secure the largest State might send delegates to the meeting, if timely information is given as to the fare upon the railroads, and we are quite sure that our citizens will make every needful arrangement for the entertainment and comfort of the delegates. We will take pleasure in publishing the programme for the occasion, including the topics for discussion, whenever furnished with the requisite information.

UNLAWFUL CONDUCT.

One day last week, a squad of fourteen armed negroes came from Abbeville County into the Bear Creek section of our County with a warrant for the arrest of a white man named Wilson, charged with shooting the man named Williams, an account of which Honea Path Baptist Church on the 15th we gave last week, and were very insolent to the people they met, even going to private houses and frightening women and children. Their conduct was unlawful and seditious. The Trial Justice who granted them the warrant should be dismissed from office at once, for just such conduct as this is at the bottom of all the trouble through the South. Our people exercised commendable forbearance in allowing these maraud ers to return unmolested. If such a thing is repeated, we advise our citizens to immeliately secure warrants for their arrest, and bring them to Anderson for trial. Either a warrant for riot or a peace warrant would be a proper remedy for such violators of the

GREENVILLE & COLUMBIA RAILROAD. The non-payment of interest upon the onded debt of the Greenville and Columbia Railroad was commented upon by the Inteligencer two weeks ago, and has elicited a statement of the financial operations of this corporation from a source entirely worthy of eredit, which we are gratified to place before our readers, in justice to the present management. The statement given below will tend to satisfy the bondholders, who are entitled to know the causes which prevent the prompt payment of interest upon the company's obligations:

GENTLEMEN: I notice in your paper of last week an article in reference to the Greenville and Columbia Railroad Company not being able to make immediate payment of interest due 1st July, 1876, on their bonded lebt, which, to parties uninformed, might oe construed into a reflection upon those having the financial management of the Company's affairs in their hands. You, together with others residing on the line of the road, and accustomed to traveling upon it, are well aware of its physical condition in the month of January, 1872, at which time the controlling interest passed into the hands of the South Carolina Railroad; but at the same time, few are probably aware of the amount of pecuniary responsibility which had to be assumed, in the shape of obligations entered into by the previous holders of a controlling interest in the stock of the road.

In the first place, those outside of the management are not probably aware of the fact that the money used for the payment of the last two dividends paid by "Bush & Co.," (as you term them,) was borrowed in New York at extraordinary high rates of bonds to the amount of six hundred thousand dollars, and which notes, with the accumulation of interest, were not paid by them, but had to be assumed by the new nanagement; and the principal and interest, before the Company could arrange to pay them and get their bonds returned, amounted in round numbers to some three hundred thousand dollars; in addition to which were various floating obligations to the extent of some one hundred and fifty thousand dollars; notes due and unpaid for rails, locomotives, &c., to the extent of some fifty thousand dollars more, making an aggregate in round numbers of five hundred thousand, or a half million of dollars, which had to be assumed and paid by the new management.

In addition to which, since January, 1872, twenty-seven hundred tons of new rails have been purchased and laid down; six locomotives purchased and paid for, in addition to three which, although purchased by the previous management, were paid for by the present one; eighty new box and platform cars added to the rolling stock; new bridges over Broad and Rocky Rivers, the sum total for which aggregates some three hundred thousand dollars, which with extensive extraordinary general repairs of road, machinery, &c., &c., rendered ecessary by long previous embarrassment ncident to the war, and neglect in conse quence thereof, make a total aggregate of extraordinary expenditures of nearly a million of dollars to be provided for, in addition to the interest on the Company's bonded debt, since the parties now controll ing the road took it in charge.

Had the extraordinary and unprecedented falling off in the revenue of the road, incident to the general stagnation of business throughout the country for the past twelve months been anticipated, the Company would not have entered into obligations for new rails, &c., &c., to the extent they have done, and which must be met, and would have been thus enabled to meet their interest, which they have heretofore paid promptly. The falling off in earnings from the 1st day of January, 1876, to the 1st of July, has been sixty thousand dollars, as compared with 1875. Had they been anything near a general average of the four years preceding, for the same period, the Company would have had no difficulty in meeting their interest. The Board of Directors did not deem it judicious to borrow money for the purpose of paying the interest, as is too frequently the case, and thus add to future burthens, financially, but hope as soon as the fall bus iness furnishes a sufficient amount of income, to meet the July coupons.

Every agricultural society in the it has attained even in the short time of the one session that it has been in operation, should be very gratifying and encouraging to the principal, who has certainly exerted most praiseworthy efforts towards the advancement of its interests. Mr. Carswell is gentleman who is endowed with great energy and perseverance, and on account of his superior moral and intellectual qualifications, is peculiarly fitted for the responsible position of being at the head of an institution of learning. The system practiced by him for the management and instruction of his pupils seems to have acted most successfully in their progress and improvement. We were informed by him that he succeeds in controlling his pupils and enforcing perfect discipline without the necessity of using any harsh means whatever, and the pupils have progressed in their studies very rapid-

The pupils in the two college classes, first and second term Junior, stood written examinations in their various studies at the end of the session, closing Tuesday 11th, only leaving them from Tuesday to the following Monday to prepare for their Exhibition exercises, which, however, consisted of no originalities by the students. The principal stated in his salutatory address that the students would offer nothing of their own production. The smaller boys and girls of the school were the principal participants in the first part of the Exhibition, including principally the morning exercises, which consisted in debates and speeches by little boys, and other exercises by little girls, the pupils more advanced in age appearing more conspicuous in the second part, or afternoon exercises, when the young men entertained the audience with some very fine efforts in elecution, delivering well-selected extracts, and the young ladies road selections they had made some of which were very amusing and witty, all of them reading in clear and distinct voices so as to be heard by the audience.

The morning exercises were opened by the singing of that beautiful hymn, "Hold the Fort," by a few young ladies and gentlemen, universal chorus by a large portion of the school, after which Rev. W. E. Walters offered an earnest and eloquent prayer. Rev. E. R. Carswell then delivered the salutation in a brief but most eloquent and appropriate address, when the regular exercises of the students begun as follows:

At the conclusion of the afternoon exer cises, the following prizes were awarded for excellence in latin grammar studies: First prize awarded to Miss Annie McPhail, second to Miss Emma Wakefield, and third was shared by Misses Rosa and Nannie Harkness. The awarding of the prizes was accompanied by a short, feeling address by the principal, when the Rev. Mike McGee pronounced the benediction, and the Exhibition came to an end. It is certainly not a want of our own appreciation that makes us discard the opportunity of commenting upon the manner in which some of these young ladies and gentlemen acquitted themselves; indeed, we think they should each one be complimented upon their success, considering that they are nearly all unfamiliar with the stage, this being their first appearance before a public audience. The debates on the "Pig and Crack" question and "Old Bachelors and old Maids," were very amusing, indeed. The debatants were very small boys, and seemed to be perfectly at home on the stage, creating a great deal of amusement among the audience. The piece read by Miss Annie Long, "Mazin Ann," was also a source of considerable mirth, being a composition of wit and fun, and read well

The young people had also prepared an entertainment for the benefit of the audience in the evening, consisting of some very amusing plays, tableaux, songs, &c., and before the hour for commencing had arrived, the hall was crowded literally to overflowing; even the windows were filled with peo ple, and vehicles outside served for people to stand on, who looked over the heads of those who stood upright in the windows; hence, your correspondent not being able to stand the pressure, was denied the pleasure of witnessing a good portion of the performance. This feature, as is generally the case, proved to be very entertaining, and we surmise was enjoyed more by the majority than any other part of the Exhibition. Some of the pieces were extremely well rendered for amateur performers. "A few rounds at betting," "Frain to-morrow," and some others were vastly enjoyed, having a farcical and amusing vein through them, and the parts being well acted by the different persons assuming the various characters. Music upon the violin and piano was furnished through the exercises, and some sweetly

AT WILLIAMSTON.

MESSES. EDITORS: By previous appointment we left town early on last Thursday morning, in company with a friend, for the beautiful little village of Williamston, our object being to institute a Division of Sons of Temperance. After a very pleasant ride of a few hours, we arrived about 10 o'clock at our destination. We might say en passant, that the crops along the route look promising. They bear the evidence of having been well cultivated, and with the help of rain, which they were beginning to need, there will be a good yield, especially of corn. We are glad to see that the good farmers in this section are waking up to their own interest, by planting more corn and less cotton.

At 11 o'clock we repaired to the Masonic Hall, where we found twenty of the substantial citizens of the place ready to organize themselves into a society of Sons of Temperance. The meeting was called to order, and the Division regularly instituted by G. F. Tolly, Deputy Grand Worthy Patriarch, assisted by L. P. Smith. The officers having been previously elected, they were duly installed as follows: W. P. Cannon, Worthy Patriarch; "r. H.

I. Epting, Worthy Associate; J. T. hogers, Recording Scribe: C. E. Horton, Assistant Recording Scribe; Hugh Mahaffey, Treasurer; G. W. Lester, Financial Scribe; W. W. Holder, Conductor; M. A. Mahaffey, Assistant Conductor: E. I. Pinson, Inside Sentinel; J. A. Wallace, Outside Sentinel; G. W. Anderson, Past Worthy Patriarch; M. M. King, Chaplain.

This bids fair to make a fine Division, as all the members entered into it with zeal and energy. In fact the people generally seem to be alive to the temperance interest, and if they can only succeed in eradicating from their midst King Alcohol, with the aid of the health giving properties of their sparkling little fountain that juts up in the middle of their beautiful park, we believe they will attain a longevity of life unprecedented. Judging from the fine appearance and pleasant countenances of those jovial fellows, Drs. McC. and H. I. E., we think they promise to attain that age that will require them to append to the nose the second edition of eye-sight for many years to come. They are certainly fine representatives of that character described in the couplet,

"Let the wide world wag as it will, I'll be gay and happy still!" By invitation we had the pleasure of dining with Rev. S. A. Weber and his good lady, and also met at the table Prof. Samuel Lander. President of that model institution, the Williamston Female College, who had just returned that morning from an extended tour through the North, taking in his route, of course, the big show at Philadelphia, We were very highly entertained by this genial gentleman with a description of his trip. We only wish that a few more such men could visit the Centennial Exposition. and then those of us who could not go to it would have it almost brought to us. We were informed by one of the Professors that their institution would re-open on the first

Party lines are now strictly drawn, there is no place for independents, and he who is not with the Democratic party is against it, whether he be called Radical or Independent.

We cannot now afford to be divided, all individual interests and personal preferences must be subordinated to the general good, and as brethren we must stand shoulder to shoulder, firm, undismayed and resolved that we will make one manly, patriotic effort to save our country, and to perpetuate it to our posterity as we received it from our fathers. This we owe to ourselves and posterity. This we can and must achieve.
