BRIEF MENTION. Cotton active, price ranging from 10 to 104 cents. The members of Martin Township Democratic Club are respectfully urged to meet at their usual place on next Saturday at 2 o'clock p. m. It is important for every member to attend the meeting, as subjects of general interest will be before the Club.

We would call attention to the advertisement of Mr. J. J. Smith, who announces that he is prepared to do all work in the line of upholstery at the work shops of Messrs. J. L. Fant & Co. He asks a trial from the people of Anderson, and promises satisfaction to his customers.

The citizens of Broadaway Township had a large and enthusiastic jollification meeting at Neal's Creek on last Saturday. Eloquent speeches were made by Messrs. John B. Moore and E. M. Rucker, after which the excellencies of an abundant dinner were testified to. The meeting was largely attended by ladies, and was an exceedingly pleasant affair.

The Honea Path High School will resume its session on the 27th inst., under the charge of Mr. H. G. Reed, who is a graduate of Wofford College with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Mr. Reed is prepared to teach the branches usually taught in the high schools of our country. The people of that section may congratulate themselves upon securing his services. See advertisement.

We are requested to announce that Rev. J. P. Smeltzer, D. D., President of Newberry College Walhalla, S. C., will deliver a lecture before the Young Men's Christian Association in Temperance Hall at this place on next Sunday, at 3 o'clock p. m., upon the subject of "study." Dr. Smeltzer is a fine lecturer, and we have no doubt many of our citizens will avail themselves of this opportunity to hear him.

The Eclectic Magazine for December makes its tribute to the interest felt in the recently. closed Centennial Exposition, at Philadelphia, by presenting its readers with an excellent portrait of Gen. The managers of election at Long's Shop precinct did sign one return of the election, but the important one they did not sign. It was sent to them on Thursday night by the Commissioners for this County, two ofthem signed it, but Capt. Nathan McAlister refused to sign it, on the ground that he could not sanction such frauds as were practiced at that box, and stated that the fraud of which he spoke, was the use of red tickets by the Democrats. These are the facts, as given in by two respectable citizens, who

It is therefore more than one hundred years old and contains a copy of the Declaration of Independence, the announcement that that immortal paper would be proclaimed at 12 o'clock that day to the eager people of the young nation at the State House, an Act of the South Carolina Legislature to further the war, and other interesting articles relative to the revolution It is a small paper of twelve columns, and is we expect the oldest copy of a newspaper that can be found in Anderson County.

GARVIN DEMOCRATIC CLUB.

The Garvin Township Democratic Club had a call meeting on the 18th inst. The President called the meeting to order, and upon motion the following resolutions were

Resolved, That notwithstanding the Democracy have won a glorious victory in the State of South Carolina, and particularly in Anderson County, we will not lay down our Democratic implements to canker and rust by no use, but that we will continue to hold our regular monthly meetings.

Resolved, That we postpone the consideration of taking in as members of our Club the colored men that did not vote in the recent election until our next meeting.

Our President, Maj. R. F. Simpson then tendered his resignation on account of age and infirmities, which was received, and Mai. Larkin Newton was elected to fill the vacancy. We reorganized our Executive Committee, making W. J. Martin Chair-

We have started afresh to run another political year of twenty-four months if that be necessary to retain the position we have gained over the Radicals. We do not intend to go back on ourselves or eat any more dirt in politics.

We certify that Capt. Nathan McAllister, a manager of election at Long's shop, did sign the election returns at said box deemed necessary by the managers on the night of lection. The return he refused to sign was matter of doubt, and was not signed by the remaining managers until Thursday night, and after the managers had separated.

How to Count the Vote.-United States Senator Whyte, of Maryland, in an interview with a Sun reporter, said: He is confident that Mr. Tilden has carried Louisiana and Florida, and probably South Carolina, and that in spite of the returning boards the votes for Mr. Tilden in those States will be counted for him. The votes of such electors will be certified to the President of the Senate, and copies will also be sent to Senators. When the Senate and House sit t gether to count the votes in February one teller will be appointed by the Senate and two by the House, who will count and declare the votes as they dent. Should the Vice-President decline to produce the certificates in favor of Mr. Tilden, a Senator may produce copies of them and move that the votes be counted. of the two Houses, in which case the tellers will be asked to put the motion to a vote. As two of the tellers will be justice, to rob without mercy. Democrats and one a Republican, a majority of them can decide as to the propriety of putting the motion, and as the are really cast for Mr. Tilden may thus

A PRESENT FOR HAMPTON.

It has been suggested in several papers of the State that the ladies of South Carolina ought to raise a fund and present Gov. Hampton with the elegant mansion in Columbia which once belonged to his family. It would be a fine compliment to our gallant son of Carolina, and coming from the fair maideas of the State he could not decline to receive it. They do not make this proposition, because they think the position of Governor of South Carolina is a burden to any true Carolinian. It is an exalted position, and is of itself a sufficient reward for a whole life time of public service. The proposition is made with a view to placing on record the sentiments of our noble women towards the man who has wrested our State from thieves. It is not to reward him for accepting the office of Governor, but to testify their appreciation of his past services to his State. We hope the ladies of Columbia will lead off by forming a society for this purpose, and that the ladies of every county in the State will promptly imitate their ex-

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Ex-Governor Chamberlain is exceedingly nervous, wrathy, &c., since the election, and continues to pour forth spleen against the people of South Carolina. His latest exploit is a telegram to the Department of Justice, which is published in the New York Tribune, stating that many of the witnesses against persons who have committed or attempted to commit frauds in the election in Aiken county are in danger of being killed, to prevent them from testifying in Court. The Ex-Governor might as well leave off his bloody shirt campaign. He cannot make any further political capital of his statements, for the country has become too well acquainted with him and his governing proclivities. He had better telegraph that Gen. Hampton will be inaugurated Governor of South Carolina in a few days, and that from that time forward the rights of every man will be protected, and no person will be punished in South Carolina except by the courts of justice. Hampton as Governor will protect the people, and that is more than Chamberlain has done.

Chamberlain ran far behind his ticket, and many are surprised. It is natural enough that the man who could not protect the peace and dignity of the State without the United States troops should not run well; that the man who is responsible for the Hamburg massacre, on account of his miserable appointments to office, should not run well; that the man who left the Ellenton riot in progress and went North for pleasure, should not run well; that the man who as Governor allowed the strikes on the Combahee, the carried the blanks to him for his signature. riot in Charleston, and the Cainhoy slaughter, to go unferreted out and unpunished, should not run well. It was the colored race which supported him, it is true, but that race loves life and profered most in these riots, and hundreds of colored men very sensibly voted against him, because they feared he would continue to allow them to be the victims of base political plots to advance the Republican cause, without meeting out justice to the perpetrators of crime. They voted for Hampton because they recognize in him the champion of equal rights and justice to all men.

The distinguished Chancellor Kent, in his Commentaries on American Law, published in the year 1826, in speaking of the election or appointment of the President of the United States, said: "The mode of his appointment presented one of the most difficult and momentous questions that could have occupied the deliberations of the Assembly which framed the Constitution, and if ever the tranquility of this nation is to be disturbed, and its peace jeopardized, by a struggle for power among themselves, it will be upon this very subject of the choice of a President. This is the question which is eventually to test the goodness, and try the strength of the Constitution." If now a few corrupt men known as the Board of State Canvassers, r the States of Louisiana, Florida, and South Carolina, elect a President by fraudulently throwing out the votes of Counties and Parishes, over the clear and undisputed vote of a majority of near three hundred thousand of the people of the United States, what becomes of the strength of the Constitution. If such a precedent be permitted, all subsequent elections of President will be placed under the control of a few bad men in each State, and the voice of the people-disregarded.

Ex-Gov. Chamberlain claims to have received a theatening letter recently, and our contemporary, the Columbia Register, characterizes the letter in proper terms if it emanated from a Democratic pen, but we do not believe any Democrat wrote he has received such a letter, we believe some Republican wrote it to him, in order to help him out in his slanderous crusade against our people. With such a document in his pocket, the sleektongued Chamberlain can weave quite an entertaining yarn for the amusement of his bloody-shirt co campaigners and their admirers, about the lawlessness of our people, and the heroic daring he is giving daily exhibition of in remaining among the fearful South Carolina "Sioux." We do not believe any of our people care to heroise this ex-exalted official return as speedily as possible to obscurity in Massachusetts. If he remains here, are handed to them by the Vice-Presi- izens, but the Nemesis of violated justice may summon him to the bar of our courts, to answer the charges which Elliott professes to be able to sustain, and to make The Vice-President may also decline to restitution to that Treasury which he put this motion to the joint convention either helped to deplete, or as Attorney General, allowed others, unwhipped of electors by their unconstitutional measures, they will probably learn some sense for the future. In Oregon and Vermont the Democrats have the matter before the Courts, and in the latter State Hon. Ames Aldrich, who has four more votes than the other Democratic electors, is thought to be entitled to the seat of postmaster Sollace. The provision that the remaining electors may fill the vacancy under the State law is not thought to apply in his case, as being ineligible at the time he was voted for, his votes could not legally be counted, and the person receiving the next highest vote are not privately disposed of sooner. was legally elected. The position is a strong one, and no doubt will be pushed to the full letter of the law in both cases. The States of Louisiana, Colorado, Florida and Nevada have failed to provide a mode for filling vacancies in the electoral college. In Louisiana, if the statement that two of the Republican electors are Federal office-holders prove correct, they need not try to count Hayesin, for all the doubtful votes combined could not elect him, even if Tilden gets no more votes. The two vacancies referred to would prevent a majority, and the House of Representatives would elect Tilden and Hen-Governor Hampton.

To the Editor of the News and Courier: The people of South Carolina cannot repay the debt of gratitude they owe to Wade Hampton by electing him Governor, That imposes a burden rather than a benefit, for no such position can add to his fame. But the people of the State can demonstrate their regard for the man in a way that will add comfort and honor to his declining years. It is known that Gen. Hampton by the recent war, in his noble efforts to maintain what all regarded the honor and interest of the Palmetto State, lost all of his princely fortune, and is now reduced to absolute poverty. It is also known that the old homestead, long known in the City of Columbia, to which our people were wont to repair in days of yore, as their political and social Mecca, has passed out of the family, and is now in the hands of strangers and infidels. It is therefore proposed that the friends of Governor Hampton throughout the State contribute, each the sum of one dollar, to be applied to the purchase of the old family mansion of his fathers, to be presented to him on the day of his inauguration, or as soon thereafter as practicable. If the clubs will take it in hand now in the flood tide of victory, the work will be accomplished in ten days. The writer took no part in the late political canvass, nor did he vote at the clection, but sympathized most earnestly throughout in the reform movement, State and National, and unite in the universal demonstrations of joy at the result.

She was ever in the van in every good word and work, and many who have passed through scenes of affliction, and over whom dark and lowering clouds of sorrow have gathered, will bless her memory, and respect her grave as the resting-place of a true and

During her last long and painful affliction she was never known to murmur, and con-stantly expressed the most explicit confidence in and reliance on Christ-her friendever feeling, and seeming to realize in its fullness, the precious truth that in His providence over her He would do that only which would be for her good and His glory. Her only anxiety seemed, as it is with every Christian, for the loved ones left behind. Many earnest prayers fell from her dying lips for the husband and children whom she loved as her own life. When the last movent save without one doubt or feer she ment came, without one doubt or fear, she quietly breathed life's last moment away, and fell gently asleep in the arms of a bless

It is sad to know that we shall see her in life no more. Her place in the church and family are vacant forever in time, but we may meet her where no adieus are spoken and no farewell tears are shed.

A Scene in a Church.

There was a ludicrously sudden descent from the sublime to the ridiculous in a country church, not a thousand miles off, when a clergyman, preaching on the miseries en-tailed by sin, suddenly exclaimed, "Thank tailed by sin, suddenly exciained, 2005 food, I am not a sufferer; my miseries have all been healed, and what did it?" The all been healed, and what did it?" The started one of the deacons change of tone started one of the deacons from a drowsy mood, and springing from his feet, he cried out, "Turr's LIVER PILLS."— The deacon was right in his estimation of this celebrated medicine. They will certainly cure your "miseries" if they result from Dyspepsia. Torpid Liver, Chills, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Nervousness, Desponden-cy or General Debility.
