HELP IN ACQUIRING KNOWLEDGE.-In BC quiring a knowledge of the English Language, and especially in learning the meaning of words, probably no other work, nor many other books altogether, can afford so much aid as Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, with its 3000 Pictorial Illustrations, its precise and full definitions, its careful discrimination of synonymous words, and its many valuable tables. It is, in itself a whole library of the language. Let one family have a copy of this work, and use it faithfully, and another be without it—the difference in the progress of the two familles in geting knowledge will be very great.

We regret to chronicle a sad and futal accident, which occurred at the saw mill of Mr. L. Reid Watson, on last Monday evening about sunset, resulting in the death of Mr. William Alexander, who had been pearing off plank from the saw, when one accidentally struck it, which threw him in flesh, and the other badly broken. Medical of the victorious to be magnanimous. aid was immediately summoned, and every possible effort was made to save the unforhe died that night about 1 o'clock, after the most intense suffering. Mr. A. hailed from Greenville, but his parents reside in Pickens County. He was about twenty-five years of age. His remains were interred in Cencord graveyard on Tuesday afternoon.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION. The State Executive Committee of this organization, in presenting their annual report at the recent Convention in Sumter, gave an encouraging account of the work of visitation carried on by that Committee during the past year. Statistics show that for every $1.90 expended in the work, one soul was added to the Church of Christ. The Associations, as a result of this work, are giving more prominence to work for young men than has hitherto been the case. The young men in our large cities to-day are drifting away from the churches, and many a young man who leaves our country towns for the city is soon on the broad road rust in the growing wheat crop in many to ruin. Wherever there is temptation thrown in the path of young men, there is need of a Young Men's Christian Association to band the youth together, to resist the evil influences which surround them. One of the most gratifying features of the report alluded to, was the statement that the ladies of four communities in the State had raised for the Association in the cities and towns in which they reside the sum of of fifteen hundred dollars towards this work for young men. The mothers, sisters and wives are becoming interested in a work which ought to be dear to every heart, especially as it endeavors to reach those who re united to them by the ties of nature. At present, in this community, there is no place where young men can meet each other in a social way and spend a pleasant evening with each other. A nicely furished room, fitted up in an attractive manner, in which the social part of man's nature can be appealed to as well as the spiritual, would help to elevate the charcter of our young men. It is to be hoped that the Anderson ladies will shortly take some action in this matter, and follow the audable example of their sisters in other parts of South Carolina.

VISIT OF THE PALMETTO RIFLES TO GREENVILLE.

Pursuant to an invitation received from the Greenville Guards of our neighboring City, the Palmetto Rifles, of this place, Captain John E. Allen commanding, and numbering 26 men, rank and file, went over on Monday evening last. Before going they had a dress parade, and elicited the admiration of spectators by their neat and soldierly appearance, and their proficiency in the intricate manual of Upton. At about 44 o'clock they formed on the public square opposite their armory, and parched to the Depot, carrying the colors formerly borne by the celebrated "Anderson Cadets," of ante-war fame. Boarding the train, nothing of interest transpired until Belton was reached, at which place the hungry appetites of the volunteer soldiery were appeased by Mr. McGee, who furnshed an elegant supper.

Arriving at the Mountain City, they were net by the Greenville Guards, Capt. Norwood commanding, and escorted to their Armory, on Main street. After an address not Democrats. In so doing we ask for an and much enjoyed by the Palmetto Rifles. Afterwards the Riflemen went, some to that first-class Hotel the Mansion House, while others were very hospitably entertained at the plans of the campaign are all kept with private residences in and around the city. Promptly at 3 o'clock on Tuesday morning the battalion was formed on Main street, the Palmetto Rifles occupying the extreme right, (the post of honor,) and the Spartan Rifles the extreme left, with the Greenville Guards and the Butler Guards in the centre, Capt. Norwood, of the Greenville Guards commanding, with Lieutenant W. W. Thompson, of the Butler Guards, acting as need swear them? Possess we no confi-Adjutant. After marching through the principal streets, they wended their way to he picnic grounds, at the Coleman place. Here was everything to please the fancy of the most fastidious in the way of welladen tables, presided over by Greenville's fuir daughters, and numberless games and other amusements on hand. The chief finture of the picnic was the target shooting, which was participated in by all the Companies. The music for the occasion was furnished by the Silver Cornet Band of Spartanburg. The distance for shooting them on the most reasonable terms, and at was one hundred yards, and the prizes were a silver cup for the visiting Companies, and a silver badge for the resident Company. A member of the Butler Guards won the visiting Companies' prize, and Mr. Thomas Sloan, of the Greenville Guards, (formerly of this place,) won the prize for the best shot in the resident militia. At 41 o'clock an inspection was held by Gen. Gray and staff. The Battalion formed in a hollow square, and presented a military appearance, which must have been highly gratifying to the distinguished reviewing officers. After the picnic, which was greatly enjoyed by all, the Battalion re-formed and marched back to the city, and had a dress parade in front of the Mansion House. Resting for a few hours, the delighted members of our gallant Palmettoes entered the

They were met at the depot by hundreds of friends, and as they entered the public square, on the way to their Armory, cheer after cheer went up from the many spectators who had assembled to witness their arrival. Much honor is due the gentlemen of the Greenville Guards for their kindness and courtesy towards the citizen soldiery of Anderson, and we trust that the time is not far distant when the military of our town will extend cheers and a tiger.

HONEA PATH.

The public schools in this township have been closed until about 1st July ...... Some frost reported on Monday morning last on Breadmouth and Saluda ..... The stockholders had a gay time riding last week ..... The crops are reported as being well advanced. Rev. D. E. Frierson preached in the Presbyterian Church on last Sunday morning, and Rev. Mr. Hickson in the Baptist Church in the afternoon.

A calm survey of the situation in South Carolina would justify the hope for an amicable, a satisfactory and permanent adjust ment of our political difficulties. If firmness with moderation can be applied; if fortitude employed only the morning before to assist | with conciliation can be possessed; if thorn running the mill. Mr. Alexander was ough organization on such basis can be had, the most pleasing anticipations may be indulged for a peaceful and prosperous future. front of it, and before he was able to recover | And what more fit occasion has ever transand rescue himself, had one of his legs cut pired in the history of any people to pracoff with the exception of a small piece of tice the virtue of forgiveness? It is the part After a civic achievement unparalleled, and deliverance so complete that the most unate man's life, but all to no purpose, as sanguine could not have expected, can we not afford to extend liberality? The government is ours, with all its influence and patronage, honestly and wisely adminis tered. At its head stands a patriot, aided by able counsellors and subordinates. Any considerable opposition to the administration has long since ceased. Acquiescence is universal, obedience to law is cheerfully rendered throughout the length and breadth of the State, the whole gang of late conspirators in flight, in prisons, in disgrace, powerless, the Republican party astonished, terror stricken, demoralized, disbanded, and without a leader-what more could we ask? what more desire? Can there, therefore, be any well-grounded apprehension, adverse to the continuance of present rule? Surely not, if dissensions and divisions are kept out the ra: 'is of the dominant party. The danger lies here, and it is of the last importance that the wisest counsels and most consummate management should prevail. Differences of opinion as to method and policy at least should be tolerated, and the whole question exhaustively examined before a conclusion reached, and not a plan for conducting the campaign suddenly, prematurely promulgated, for let it be remembered it was the prestige of a great name, intense abhorrence of the most corrupt, profligate, tyrannical government, and the common and imminent danger unifying all the elements of opposition into one burning mass of enthusiasm and indignation resistless as an avalanche that brought victory to our standard. It could not, however, have been achieved-it was not achieved-by the unaided exertions of the orthodox Democracy. Many who stood aloof from clubs, and a respectable number of Republicans, came gallantly to the breach and contributed largely to success. Then, is it just, is it right, is it expedient to proscribe these and deny to them all participation in the selection of candidates for office? There can be but one answer-an emphatic No! Is the exigency so great as to require the lines to be drawn at such sharp angles? Self-preservation is the first law of nature: the right of revolution is inherent; the overthrow of a besotted despotism, like > of a palpable wrong. Not only gratitude, but expediency, and even necessity, demand that we extend to these classes a proper consideration. The relative strength of parties (heretofore standing) is, say as 80 to 100. Now, if by any mathematical statement it can be demonstrated that 80 is equal to 100, then it will be admitted that the pure Democracy of the State can carry the election. This is an absurdity. How may the proposition and result be reversed? I answer, by subtracting twenty thousand from the majority of our opponents, and casting them up in our column. I indicate a plan: Let organization even be more thorough, let every club increase its membership, let no candidate be placed in nomination before the clubs except known and declared Democrats, (and members, if you please, of some Democratic club,) in the primary elections invite unaffiliated Democrats and well affected Republicans to cast their votes with us, and count no votes which may be cast for any who are would have a beneficial, a harmonizing effect. The councils, the internal workings, in the walls of the club room. How could such a course pursued by the Democratic party tend to disorganization or diminishing efficiency? Why, it is preposterous to suppose that Democrats would nominate any but Democrats of known and estab-lished reputation. Then, away with solemn oaths, pledges and prescribed formularies. Are the rolls of the clubs lost, that you acceptance be forced by double pressure power. I know not if there is sufficient to eration at the present in the public mind to permit an honest difference of opinion as to the policy to be pursued by the Democratic party in the approaching canvass, or that you may feel justified to publish any reflections or criticisms upon the attitude a sumed by the party. I do desire, however, to enter my most solemn dissent from, and protest against, the programme recently enunciated and sent forth by the Central Executive Committee, for I see in it the seeds of dissension and the entering wedge (I much fear) to the speedy disintegration of the party. I look upon it as anti-Democratic, inexpedient and proscriptive. I cannot conscientiously accept or support it. I would not enjoy a party triumph at the sacrifice of principle, or the violation of the spirit of liberty. I cannot countenance or contribute to a humiliation, and a party machinery that practically disfranchises a respectable minority of my fellow-citizens, (especially that class of Democrats unaffiliated with any club.) We have been fighting for the last ten years against party intolerance and tyranny outside the lines of our organization, dencuncing and repudiating the blind following of the Republican masses. Let us beware lest we imitate their example, raise up in our midst an oligarchy, and apply the party lash as they did. The occasion demands sacrifice and concession in a large degree; but patriotism itself cannot ask the surrender of personal and individual liberty. Liberal statesmanship, a conciliatory course, a conservative policy, will confer on the whole country permanent peace, create confidence between the races, restore tranquility, and give what all so much desire-a feeling of security. WM. D. EVINS.

An Astonishing Fact.

All astonisming Fact.

A large proportion of the American people are to-day dying from the effects of Dyspepsia or disordered liver. The result of these diseases upon the masses of intelligent and valuable people is most alarming, making life actually a burden instead of a pleasant existence of enjoyment and usefulness as it ought to be. There is no good reason for this, if you will only throw aside prejudice and skepticism, take the advice of Drugdies and skepticism. for this, if you will only throw uside prejudice and skepticism, take the advice of Druggists and your friends, and try one bottle of Green's August Flower. Your speedy relief is certain. Millions of bottles of this medicine have been given away to the limit of the series of the series. "Give us this day our daily bread" and good medicine to digest it, is both reverent and human. The human stomach and liver are fruitful sources of life's comforts; or, disordered and diseased, they tingle misery along every nerve and through every artery. The man or woman with good digestion see beauty as they walk, and overcome obstacles they neet in the routine of life, where the dyspeptic sees only gloom and stumbles and growls at even imaginary objects. The world still needs two or three new kinds of medicine before death can be perfectly abolished; but that many lives have been prolonged, and many sufferers from Liver disease, Dyspepsia and Headache, have been cured by Merrell's Hepatine, is no longer a doubt. It cures Headache in twenty minutes, and there is no question but what it is the most wonderful discovery made in medical science. Those afflicted with Biliousness and Liver Complaint should use Merrell's Hepatine. It can be had from Simpson, Reid & Co. Good Digestion.
