E. B. MURRAY, County Chairman.

Sensors Wade Hampton and Z. B. Vance spoke at a Democratic ratification meeting in Staunton, Va., on Monday, and we are told by the correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch that "constant roars of applause were kept up, except when the pathetic appeals of the Senators from the Carolinas to Virginians not to force the hated Republican rule again upon the South brought a solemn hush upon the vast assembly, and some tears to the eyes of Massey."

The handsome residence of Col. J. T. Robertson, of Abbeville, was entirely consumed by fire on last Tuesday night from an unascertained cause. The dwelling was built in 1850 by the late Col. J. Foster Marshall, at a cost of some twelve thousand dollars, and had recently been repaired at considerable expense. It was one of the handsomest residences in Abbeville. There was only four thousand dollars of insurance on it, so that Col. Robertson is a very heavy loser. A considerable amount of Hon. A. Burt's personal property, which was in one of the rooms, was also destroyed.

IMPERIALISM REVIVED.

Gen. Grant has at last determined to support Garfield and Arthur, and appears for their relief in a most dictatorial proclamation to the "Boys in Blue," whom he seems to imagine he still commands, in the following:

GENERAL ORDERS, NO. 1.

HON. UNION VETERANS' UNION, "BOYS IN BLUE," New York, July 22, 1880.

I, the member for each State of the National Committee of the Union Veterans' Union will at once proceed to organize the "Boys in Blue" in their respective States to promote the election of Garfield and Arthur.

I, the organization of the "Boys in Blue" will report to the department commanders in their respective States. By order of U. S. GRANT, Commander-in-Chief "Boys in Blue," DRAKE DEKAY, Adjutant-General.

This is a pretty piece of impudence coming from the party which is opposing Gen. Hancock, because he is a military man. They do not want to elect a military man who pursues the way of peace in times of peace, but wish to elect by military means the man who pursues the way of war in times of peace. This order of Gen. Grant shows that he is so thoroughly imbued with imperialism that he cannot write out a notice for organization without doing so in the dictatorial style of an autocrat. It would be unsafe for the Republic to sanction the political party which pursues victory by such methods. The foregoing is the serious view of "General Orders, No. 1," but it also has something of the ludicrous. Gen. Grant seems to have forgotten that he is not at the head of an army, and is issuing his "General Orders" as if there were some body of men to obey him. Shakespeare tells us of Banquo's ghost, which would not down when bidden, and we predict that Gen. Grant's army of "Boys in Blue" will show themselves equally fervent by refusing to up at his command. Grant is a dead lion so far as politics is concerned, and the sooner he realizes the fact the less ridiculous he will appear.

SOME VERY PLAIN ENGLISH.

The Letter of Acceptance of the Democratic Candidate for Vice-President.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 30.

The Hon. Wm. H. English transmitted the following letter of acceptance of the nomination of candidate for Vice-President to the committee of notification to-day:

To Hon. John W. Stevenson, President of Convention, Hon. John H. Stockton, Chairman, and other Members of the Committee of Notification:

INDIANAPOLIS, July 30.

Centennial. I have now the honor to reply to your letter of the 13th instant informing me that I was unanimously nominated for Vice-President of the United States by the late Democratic National Convention which assembled at Cincinnati. As foreshadowed in verbal remarks made by me at the time of the delivery of your letter, I have no objection to accept the honor conferred, with a realizing sense of its responsibility, and am profoundly grateful for the honor conferred. I accept the nomination and the platform of principles adopted by the Convention, which I cordially approve, and I accept it quite as much because of my faith in the Democratic party as of the great statesman and soldier nominated on the same ticket for President of the United States. His eminent services to his country, his ability, his Constitution, the laws, and the laws, his clear perception of correct principles of government as taught by Jefferson; his scrupulous care to keep the Government in strict subordination to the civil authorities; his high regard for civil liberty, personal rights and the rights of property; his acknowledged ability in civil as well as military affairs, and his pure and blameless life, all point to him as a man worthy of the confidence of the people, as not only a able statesman and pure patriot, but a prudent, painstaking, practical man of unquestioned honesty. Frustated with the impolicy of our republican institutions. Laws of entail have not been favored in our system of government. The perpetuation of property of place in one family, or the office, or the great and good men who, founded our Republic government and its traditions, who limited the tenure of office, and in many ways showed their disapproval of long leases of power.

Not only is he the right man for the place, but the time has come when the best interests of the country require that the party which has monopolized the executive department of the Government for the last twenty years should be retired. The continuance of that party in power four years longer would not be beneficial to the public, or in accordance with the principles of republican institutions. Laws of entail have not been favored in our system of government. The perpetuation of property of place in one family, or the office, or the great and good men who, founded our Republic government and its traditions, who limited the tenure of office, and in many ways showed their disapproval of long leases of power.

It should not be forgotten that the four last years of power held by that party were procured by discreditable means, and the majority of the people. It was a grievous wrong to every voter and our system of self-government which should never be forgotten or forgiven. Many of the corrupt partisan services in this decade of the fair and legally expressed will of the majority, and by the party in power, and in many ways showed their disapproval of long leases of power.
