

"Your Lips are Cold."

A remarkably animated and picturesque spectacle was presented at the free swimming bath at the Battery yesterday. It was "ladies day," and before nine o'clock in the evening more than five thousand women and girls had gambled in the brine for that marine larder.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

Just then a quaint and rosy checked lass came walking down the gangway with an unassuming innocence calculated to deceive Adam and all the serpents in the Garden of Eden.

THE POSSIBILITIES OF COTTON.

Mr. Edward Atkinson has recently written a letter to the New York Herald on the subject of cotton-raising in this country, and the gains to be expected from a thorough utilization of what is now wasted.

A FAZZLING SPECTACLE.

The bathers came swarming in by dozens, the splashing water was everywhere, and the scene was not only a panorama within the bath, but the entire area of the water was alive with youth, beauty, old age, gray hairs, 800-pound women, little 16-pound children, slender and sylphlike Calypsoes, Oriental-eyed Negroes, and the most grotesque and grotesque forms of poetry—alive and kicking and swimming in a glorious healthy way that would make a doctor blush for a month.

FAT WOMEN IN A MAJORITY.

During the reporter's visit of an hour or two to the 200 visitors looked aghast. The number of fat women was something to gaze upon in them. "How the bath house grans when they dive!" "How the blue fish outside scold for Sandy Hook when they see them get off the belt line street cars!" "How much water it takes to wet 'em all over!" were some

An Interesting Interview with General Hancock.

In conversation with Judge Mackey, a few days since, he gave us a very interesting sketch of men and things as he saw them on his recent visit North. He was profoundly impressed with General Hancock, with whom he had an extended interview and regards him as the first rank of American statesmen. The Judge states that General Hancock is confident of victory in the pending election and expresses his firm conviction that with a free and untrammelled ballot, unswayed by the organized interference of Federal officials, he would be elected by the vote cast in the Northern States alone.

Extract from Speech of Hon. Johnson

To-day you are assembled to do honor to these martyrs of a lost cause. It is fit and proper that you do so. Recall their deeds of valor and of endurance. Recall their triumphs and show how grandly they bore themselves in defeat. Tell your children the story of the past; tell them that when trial comes to them, they may meet it as unblenchingly and bear themselves as truly as did the men in grey.

The Census of the State.

The Supervisor of the Census in the Second District of South Carolina has furnished a statement of the returns from the counties composing his district, which he does "not give as absolutely correct, but which he believes to be nearly so, and the most accurate statement that can possibly be obtained until the official count is made in Washington."

The Cattle Herders of Florida.

A letter dated Fort Myers, Florida, says: The Caloosahatchee at this point is a deep and wide stream, affording easy navigation or ocean craft. From here eastward the river narrows, and drains an open prairie, or savanna-country. This region is a vast cattle range, and inhabited only by herders and the remnants of the Seminoles.

More than Public Honors.

A man died in Boston a few weeks since, who never held a public office, neither was he rich, nor of high social position. Yet more than a thousand merchants were present at his funeral, and that, too, in the busiest hour of the day.

Political Notes.

The census of 1880 will undoubtedly cut down New England's representation in Congress. Senator Logan has returned to New York from Maine, and gives his opinion that the State is safe for the Republicans.

Extract from Speech of Hon. Johnson

To-day you are assembled to do honor to these martyrs of a lost cause. It is fit and proper that you do so. Recall their deeds of valor and of endurance. Recall their triumphs and show how grandly they bore themselves in defeat. Tell your children the story of the past; tell them that when trial comes to them, they may meet it as unblenchingly and bear themselves as truly as did the men in grey.

The Census of the State.

The Supervisor of the Census in the Second District of South Carolina has furnished a statement of the returns from the counties composing his district, which he does "not give as absolutely correct, but which he believes to be nearly so, and the most accurate statement that can possibly be obtained until the official count is made in Washington."

The Cattle Herders of Florida.

A letter dated Fort Myers, Florida, says: The Caloosahatchee at this point is a deep and wide stream, affording easy navigation or ocean craft. From here eastward the river narrows, and drains an open prairie, or savanna-country. This region is a vast cattle range, and inhabited only by herders and the remnants of the Seminoles.

More than Public Honors.

A man died in Boston a few weeks since, who never held a public office, neither was he rich, nor of high social position. Yet more than a thousand merchants were present at his funeral, and that, too, in the busiest hour of the day.

Political Notes.

The census of 1880 will undoubtedly cut down New England's representation in Congress. Senator Logan has returned to New York from Maine, and gives his opinion that the State is safe for the Republicans.

Extract from Speech of Hon. Johnson

To-day you are assembled to do honor to these martyrs of a lost cause. It is fit and proper that you do so. Recall their deeds of valor and of endurance. Recall their triumphs and show how grandly they bore themselves in defeat. Tell your children the story of the past; tell them that when trial comes to them, they may meet it as unblenchingly and bear themselves as truly as did the men in grey.

The Census of the State.

The Supervisor of the Census in the Second District of South Carolina has furnished a statement of the returns from the counties composing his district, which he does "not give as absolutely correct, but which he believes to be nearly so, and the most accurate statement that can possibly be obtained until the official count is made in Washington."

The Cattle Herders of Florida.

A letter dated Fort Myers, Florida, says: The Caloosahatchee at this point is a deep and wide stream, affording easy navigation or ocean craft. From here eastward the river narrows, and drains an open prairie, or savanna-country. This region is a vast cattle range, and inhabited only by herders and the remnants of the Seminoles.

More than Public Honors.

A man died in Boston a few weeks since, who never held a public office, neither was he rich, nor of high social position. Yet more than a thousand merchants were present at his funeral, and that, too, in the busiest hour of the day.

Political Notes.

The census of 1880 will undoubtedly cut down New England's representation in Congress. Senator Logan has returned to New York from Maine, and gives his opinion that the State is safe for the Republicans.

Extract from Speech of Hon. Johnson

To-day you are assembled to do honor to these martyrs of a lost cause. It is fit and proper that you do so. Recall their deeds of valor and of endurance. Recall their triumphs and show how grandly they bore themselves in defeat. Tell your children the story of the past; tell them that when trial comes to them, they may meet it as unblenchingly and bear themselves as truly as did the men in grey.

The Census of the State.

The Supervisor of the Census in the Second District of South Carolina has furnished a statement of the returns from the counties composing his district, which he does "not give as absolutely correct, but which he believes to be nearly so, and the most accurate statement that can possibly be obtained until the official count is made in Washington."

The Cattle Herders of Florida.

A letter dated Fort Myers, Florida, says: The Caloosahatchee at this point is a deep and wide stream, affording easy navigation or ocean craft. From here eastward the river narrows, and drains an open prairie, or savanna-country. This region is a vast cattle range, and inhabited only by herders and the remnants of the Seminoles.

More than Public Honors.

A man died in Boston a few weeks since, who never held a public office, neither was he rich, nor of high social position. Yet more than a thousand merchants were present at his funeral, and that, too, in the busiest hour of the day.

Political Notes.

The census of 1880 will undoubtedly cut down New England's representation in Congress. Senator Logan has returned to New York from Maine, and gives his opinion that the State is safe for the Republicans.

Extract from Speech of Hon. Johnson

To-day you are assembled to do honor to these martyrs of a lost cause. It is fit and proper that you do so. Recall their deeds of valor and of endurance. Recall their triumphs and show how grandly they bore themselves in defeat. Tell your children the story of the past; tell them that when trial comes to them, they may meet it as unblenchingly and bear themselves as truly as did the men in grey.

The Census of the State.

The Supervisor of the Census in the Second District of South Carolina has furnished a statement of the returns from the counties composing his district, which he does "not give as absolutely correct, but which he believes to be nearly so, and the most accurate statement that can possibly be obtained until the official count is made in Washington."

The Cattle Herders of Florida.

A letter dated Fort Myers, Florida, says: The Caloosahatchee at this point is a deep and wide stream, affording easy navigation or ocean craft. From here eastward the river narrows, and drains an open prairie, or savanna-country. This region is a vast cattle range, and inhabited only by herders and the remnants of the Seminoles.

More than Public Honors.

A man died in Boston a few weeks since, who never held a public office, neither was he rich, nor of high social position. Yet more than a thousand merchants were present at his funeral, and that, too, in the busiest hour of the day.

Political Notes.

The census of 1880 will undoubtedly cut down New England's representation in Congress. Senator Logan has returned to New York from Maine, and gives his opinion that the State is safe for the Republicans.

Extract from Speech of Hon. Johnson

To-day you are assembled to do honor to these martyrs of a lost cause. It is fit and proper that you do so. Recall their deeds of valor and of endurance. Recall their triumphs and show how grandly they bore themselves in defeat. Tell your children the story of the past; tell them that when trial comes to them, they may meet it as unblenchingly and bear themselves as truly as did the men in grey.

The Census of the State.

The Supervisor of the Census in the Second District of South Carolina has furnished a statement of the returns from the counties composing his district, which he does "not give as absolutely correct, but which he believes to be nearly so, and the most accurate statement that can possibly be obtained until the official count is made in Washington."

The Cattle Herders of Florida.

A letter dated Fort Myers, Florida, says: The Caloosahatchee at this point is a deep and wide stream, affording easy navigation or ocean craft. From here eastward the river narrows, and drains an open prairie, or savanna-country. This region is a vast cattle range, and inhabited only by herders and the remnants of the Seminoles.

More than Public Honors.

A man died in Boston a few weeks since, who never held a public office, neither was he rich, nor of high social position. Yet more than a thousand merchants were present at his funeral, and that, too, in the busiest hour of the day.

Political Notes.

The census of 1880 will undoubtedly cut down New England's representation in Congress. Senator Logan has returned to New York from Maine, and gives his opinion that the State is safe for the Republicans.

Extract from Speech of Hon. Johnson

To-day you are assembled to do honor to these martyrs of a lost cause. It is fit and proper that you do so. Recall their deeds of valor and of endurance. Recall their triumphs and show how grandly they bore themselves in defeat. Tell your children the story of the past; tell them that when trial comes to them, they may meet it as unblenchingly and bear themselves as truly as did the men in grey.

The Census of the State.

The Supervisor of the Census in the Second District of South Carolina has furnished a statement of the returns from the counties composing his district, which he does "not give as absolutely correct, but which he believes to be nearly so, and the most accurate statement that can possibly be obtained until the official count is made in Washington."

The Cattle Herders of Florida.

A letter dated Fort Myers, Florida, says: The Caloosahatchee at this point is a deep and wide stream, affording easy navigation or ocean craft. From here eastward the river narrows, and drains an open prairie, or savanna-country. This region is a vast cattle range, and inhabited only by herders and the remnants of the Seminoles.

More than Public Honors.

A man died in Boston a few weeks since, who never held a public office, neither was he rich, nor of high social position. Yet more than a thousand merchants were present at his funeral, and that, too, in the busiest hour of the day.

Political Notes.

The census of 1880 will undoubtedly cut down New England's representation in Congress. Senator Logan has returned to New York from Maine, and gives his opinion that the State is safe for the Republicans.

Extract from Speech of Hon. Johnson

To-day you are assembled to do honor to these martyrs of a lost cause. It is fit and proper that you do so. Recall their deeds of valor and of endurance. Recall their triumphs and show how grandly they bore themselves in defeat. Tell your children the story of the past; tell them that when trial comes to them, they may meet it as unblenchingly and bear themselves as truly as did the men in grey.

The Census of the State.

The Supervisor of the Census in the Second District of South Carolina has furnished a statement of the returns from the counties composing his district, which he does "not give as absolutely correct, but which he believes to be nearly so, and the most accurate statement that can possibly be obtained until the official count is made in Washington."

The Cattle Herders of Florida.

A letter dated Fort Myers, Florida, says: The Caloosahatchee at this point is a deep and wide stream, affording easy navigation or ocean craft. From here eastward the river narrows, and drains an open prairie, or savanna-country. This region is a vast cattle range, and inhabited only by herders and the remnants of the Seminoles.

More than Public Honors.

A man died in Boston a few weeks since, who never held a public office, neither was he rich, nor of high social position. Yet more than a thousand merchants were present at his funeral, and that, too, in the busiest hour of the day.

Political Notes.

The census of 1880 will undoubtedly cut down New England's representation in Congress. Senator Logan has returned to New York from Maine, and gives his opinion that the State is safe for the Republicans.

Extract from Speech of Hon. Johnson

To-day you are assembled to do honor to these martyrs of a lost cause. It is fit and proper that you do so. Recall their deeds of valor and of endurance. Recall their triumphs and show how grandly they bore themselves in defeat. Tell your children the story of the past; tell them that when trial comes to them, they may meet it as unblenchingly and bear themselves as truly as did the men in grey.

The Census of the State.

The Supervisor of the Census in the Second District of South Carolina has furnished a statement of the returns from the counties composing his district, which he does "not give as absolutely correct, but which he believes to be nearly so, and the most accurate statement that can possibly be obtained until the official count is made in Washington."

The Cattle Herders of Florida.

A letter dated Fort Myers, Florida, says: The Caloosahatchee at this point is a deep and wide stream, affording easy navigation or ocean craft. From here eastward the river narrows, and drains an open prairie, or savanna-country. This region is a vast cattle range, and inhabited only by herders and the remnants of the Seminoles.