

BRIEF MENTION.

Court is now in session at Walhalla.

And winter, lingering, chills the lap of Spring.

Don't neglect the garden. It is worth ten times what it costs.

Seven Geiser agricultural engines were received by Dr. Diver this week.

Mr. J. W. Leaper and Miss L. E. Smith, both of Pickens county, were married on the 21st ult. by S. P. H. Elwell.

Dr. Diver has gone to Florida on business for the Geiser Company, and will not return home in several weeks.

The frosts Sunday and Monday mornings killed a good proportion of the fruit then in bloom; but there is plenty left yet.

Messrs. Whitlie & Wilhite and Orr & Sloan will both be prepared in a short time to serve you with a refreshing glass of soda water, the tectotaler's beverage.

Prisoners convicted at the recent term of Court for this county, twelve in number, were taken to the penitentiary last Thursday by the Sheriff and four constables.

Mr. Charles W. Webb and Mrs. Hattie M. Earle were married Thursday morning, 20th inst., at the Methodist Parsonage, by Rev. J. E. Carlisle. Both of this city.

The crop of small grain was never more promising in this county, at this season of the year, than it is at present. Let us hope that a good yield will be realized at harvest time.

There will be a meeting of the Sandy Springs Grange on next Saturday evening, 18th inst., at 2 o'clock. A full attendance is desired, as business of importance will come before the Grange.

The Circuit Court for Anderson county adjourned on Saturday last after a two weeks' session. Very little civil business was attended to, and every person was delighted at the end of the term.

Mr. Nathan Harris, of Savannah township, showed us a handful of sweet potato tubers last week that grew from potatoes that had been lying in the open air all winter. This shows how mild the winter has been.

Prof. C. L. Irving, late principal of the Washington, D. C., Normal Music School, is forming a class in music at this place. He lectured in the Baptist church Monday night to a small audience on the use and abuse of music. He comes well recommended.

In the commodious and well-filled furniture establishment of Mr. G. F. Tolly can be found anything that any one may need in his line, and everything is sold at remarkably low prices. You know where his store is; give him a call when you want furniture.

The recent frosts in this county have done very great damage to some plantations and have impressed others. As a general thing the washing of uplands has been found to be as injurious as the overflow of the bottoms, for the latter have in very many instances been benefited by the settlements from the lands above.

The City Council should see to it that the premises of every resident of the city is thoroughly cleaned within the next thirty days. Such precautions are necessary to the public health, and by no means should they be neglected. Now is the time to see to this business. To delay is to jeopardize the lives of our citizens.

Mr. L. H. Seel has put up a new sign in front of his store, a golden shew, and a new advertisement in the INTELLIGENCER, both of which will be sure to direct attention and trade to his establishment. He hopes to have a stock of stoves, tinware, leather, etc., always on hand, and guarantees satisfaction to all customers. Give him a call.

Our lady readers will find a word or two for them in this issue from "Liss Della Keys, which they will be sure to read and remember. She is too well and favorably known in this community to need any word of commendation from us. Her stock of millinery is complete, and she invites you to examine it before making your purchases.

Clarence Sassard, eldest child of Mrs. Amanda Sassard, died at the residence of his grandmother, Mrs. Fant, in this place, on Monday last of typhoid fever, after an illness of six weeks. He was fifteen years old, was an industrious and obedient son, and his death is indeed a sad bereavement. The remains were buried in the Baptist graveyard on Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. F. F. Gary, of Cokesbury, Abbeville county, contributes an interesting and instructive paper to the Second Annual Report of the State Board of Health on "Forestry in South Carolina," in which he argues that the clearing up of our pine and oak forests produce dangerous and deadly sickness more liable. Think of this when you contemplate cutting down your timber.

J. P. Meredith, master of trains on the Columbia and Greenville Railroad for several years, has been ordered to Atlanta and will assume charge of the same department on the Air Line Road. His place on the Greenville Road will be supplied by J. T. McCants, a prominent young Columbian who has steadily worked his way up. The change was made Tuesday, and is regarded as a very important one in local railroad circles.

When anybody dies, gets married, runs away, steals anything, builds a fine house, makes a big sale, breaks his leg, or does anything that is in any way remarkable, and you have reason to believe you know as much about the occurrence as anybody else, don't wait for some other person to report it, or trust to us to find it out by instinct, but come and tell us about it, or send the fact on a postal card, and we will thank you kindly.

Our remark last week that the women would help about the garden by sitting in the shade and directing their husbands how to do the work, was taken by some of our fair readers as an unkind out at their sex. We did not intend it as such, and thought we were simply making a plain statement of facts. It is not any man's business, however, for a wife to sit in the shade and direct a husband how to plant the garden as it is for the husband to loaf around town and let the wife do the work, as some do.

We would call attention of all Confederate soldiers to the advertisement of Gen. Mangault, which appears elsewhere in this paper. We are satisfied that every possible assistance will be rendered by the survivors of the late war to make this work complete, and in order to do so every person who has a Co. cap, Regiment or Brigade roll, or a portion of one, should at once forward the same to Gen. Mangault. The most thorough care and effort will be made to secure and preserve an accurate record of the names and personal war history of every South Carolina soldier in the late war. It is a most laudable purpose, and should be ceive the assistance and co-operation of all who can contribute towards its perfection.

Mr. Robert M. Warren, of Pendleton, was killed on last Monday by falling from a car while passing along the top of a freight train in motion near Columbia. Mr. Warren was one of those noble young men who, by the adversity of the war, was compelled to work his way up from boyhood, and by integrity, industry and a high moral character had steadily risen, until recently he had been promoted to the position of conductor on the Columbia and Greenville Road, and assigned the charge of a regular freight train on the main line. He was a young man of exemplary character, and was greatly admired and beloved by those who knew him. His widowed mother has the most genuine sympathy in the loss of one whose dutiful life and filial love made him so worthy of her ardent affection.

The Abbeville Press and Banner speaks of an enterprising and prosperous colored man of this county, William Mattison, a colored farmer living near Honea Path, was at Abbeville Court House last Monday to buy the Maddox Mill property. He ran it up to $5,500, and the best of it, he had the money and property to make good his bid. This man was emancipated without a dollar in his pocket, and by dint of good judgment and economy is now well off in this world's goods. His money he made at farming, while hundreds of farmers in this county have in that time squandered their farms and gone into debt. Mattison never buys on a credit, but generally has money enough to help out his thrifty neighbors. Let no man say that farming will not pay in this country.—When we hear a man say that he can't make a living on a good farm, we think there is fault somewhere.

Our correspondent, "N." will do the county grant service, we are inclined to think, if he can get the Overseers of the public roads together in a County Convention, where they can have a full and free conference as to the ways and means employed in different sections in working the roads, and a better and more general understanding can be had as to what are the duties and powers of a road Overseer. While we never expect to see the public highways properly kept up under the present law, at the same time we recognize the fact that there is little hope of any material change in the law for several years to come, and therefore still aid in whatever way we can any measures that we think likely to enhance the utility of the law. It is not in order for the County Commissioners to appoint a day next week for the Overseers of the highways to meet them in a convention? Stated in April would be a good time for the meeting.

The Public Roads—The Overseers' Convention. In the convention of Overseers of public highways, the principles and philosophy of road-working should be thoroughly considered and freely discussed, with a view to perfecting some uniform plan for road-working. And let it be adopted and carried to the four corners of the county, to the end that all the roads may be worked on the same system and all the lands liable to road duty be required to bear equal burdens in the performance of that important duty. And in conclusion some plain rules for working roads, to be incorporated in the discharge of this unavoidable work of necessity. Rules, in substance, like the following would contribute to harmonize and conform the various plans and systems of road-working into one continuous system all over the county:

RULE 1. Every Overseer shall be held responsible for the faithful and economical repair of highways in his jurisdiction. See that all his hands begin and quit labor at the same time, and that each one performs the same amount of work during the day, according to personal ability. Lay off and direct the hands to do such work as he may deem necessary to the economical repair of his road section. He shall treat his hands respectfully and kindly, but firmly and authoritatively. He has no right to try or excuse any default or short-coming of hands; his duty is to make a note of defaults and return the party to the higher authorities for legal adjudication.

RULE 2. All hands liable to road duty are bound to do full and faithful days' work, according to ability and by the order and direction of the Overseer; of the section in which they reside.

RULE 3. Roads should be ditched on each side wherever water will run, the loose dirt thrown to the centre and leveled so as to carry the water from the road on the short-cut line into the side ditches, which must slope from their bottom upward to the centre of the roadbed. Sand accumulated in side ditches should be thrown to the centre two or three times a year and spread over the clay road to harden it.

RULE 4. Water breaks should not be introduced when they can possibly be dispensed with. And all loose rock over one inch square should be removed, and none of larger size used in repairing the road. Water should never be allowed to stand on any part of the roadbed.

RULE 5. Water should never be diverted from the road and wantonly directed into cultivated fields nor into timbered lands. No unnecessary display of work should be made near a dwelling house, and hands should never manifest an unbecoming familiarity with orchards and watermelon patches located along the roadway.

N.

Military Notice. The Legislature at its recent session having passed an Act providing for the enrollment of the names of all who served their State in the late war, and as far as possible to preserve and perpetuate the history of each Company that entered the Confederate service from this State, now, with the view of aiding in getting up a complete enrollment of Company "C" of the Palmetto Sharpshooters, the survivors of said Company are invited to meet an Anderson on Saturday, the 25th of March inst. The property of forming a Survivor's Association, and of having a re-union of the Company during the Summer will be considered at this meeting.

Let every member of the old Company be present who can.

W. W. HUMPHREYS, Ex-Captain.

"$10,000 would not purchase from me what S. S. & Co. has effected in my cure." Thus writes Archie Thomas, editor of the Intelligencer, Springfield, Tenn. A few bottles of this simple vegetable remedy, S. S. RHEUMATISM cannot remain in the system after the blood has been purified. Price, $1.00 and $1.75 per bottle.
