Governor Thompson has appointed the following gentlemen members of the State Board of Examiners: H. P. Archer of Charleston, J. S. Murray of Anderson, R. W. Boyd of Darlington and Prof. R. Means Davis of Fairfield. Messrs Boyd and Davis were appointed in place of Mr. Chas, Petty and the Rev. J. E. Dunlap, who declined reappointment. The members of the board receive no compensation. Messrs. Petty and Dunlap have served for four years, and by their faithful discharge of duty have rendered valuable service to the public school system. Messrs, Archer and Murray have served also for four years past. The new Board is an excellent one. In the hands of Col. Coward, with the advice and assistance of this board, the common school interests will be carefully watched, and efficiently administered for the two years.

The city of Columbia has just completed the purchase of right of way for the Canal, and made deeds of it to the State under the conditions of the last Act for continuing the work upon it. The cost to the city was $4,500. Under the Act of 1881 the State could be held responsible for the purchase of right of way, and last year did pay out over $2,000 on this account. By passing this new Act, which has been so recklessly criticised, we take away the opportunity for land owners to charge enormous prices for the the right of way because the State is to pay for it. The city of Columbia has secured the entire right of way remaining to be obtained at the figures stated, while the State would have been charged a much higher price, on the principle that she is able to stand it. The Canal would have gone on with one hundred convicts and ten thousand dollars a year indefinitely, and the State would have wasted in salaries, right of way, etc., over one hundred per cent. more than these items will cost under the present arrangement. The late act is decidedly the most economical for the State in the long run.

The Clifton Manufacturing Company, of Spartanburg, has declared a dividend of seven per cent, on the capital stock of the company, after paying expenses for the past six months work. This is an excellent showing for a new company, and demonstrates the profitableness of manufacturing in the South. The success of the Carolina mills is attracting the attention of capitalists from abroad, and numerous enquiries are coming to our State looking for opportunities for investment in manufacturing enterprises. In ten years at the present rate of development, South Carolina will rival the New England States in manufacturing interests. There is no other industry which will so rapidly add to the wealth of our State, and restore to us as quickly our commercial and material resources. Every County in the State should have as many factories as possible. They increase the price of cotton and all kinds of provisions. They furnish employment to romen and children at remu nerative rates, and in every way add to Our prosperity. There are at least twenty desirable locations for factories in this County, and some of our public spirited men should turn their attention to organizing companies to develope them. It will pay our farmers to put their surplus money in them. They can realize from twelve to twenty per cent. on their stock, besides building up a market at good prices for everything that is made on the farm. Anderson, which is ahead in most progressive enterprises, is far behind in this, the most profitable of all material development. The prosperity of our neighboring city, Greenville, is largely due to manufacturing growth there. Aside from this, Anderson would be considerably ahead of Greenville, but with it, Greenville has an assured prosperity which cannot be affected by crop failures or drouths. She is not dependent upon agricultural prosperity entirely for her business, and hence she is considerably ahead of us in population and business. She will stay so until we imitate her policy and build ourselves up with manufacturing interests. It is time that the people of Anderson were stirring themselves in this important devel-

A Flaming Sea of Fire. CLEVELAND, O., February 4.—The following are the details of the fire announced last night: Early yesterday morning the water of a small creek called Kingsbury Run rose far beyond its usual height and spread over hundreds of acres of low land, surrounding a leaky petroleum still of the Standard Oil Works, located a considerable distance above the company's main works. Escaping oil and refuse were swept down the stream and carried under the boilers of the great Western Oil Works which were nearly submerged. The oil became ignited and floated to a tank containing five thousand barrels of crude petroleun, which took fire and exploded, spreading the blasing oil in all directions, some being carried to Merriam & Morgan's paraphine works below, which were also fired. Continuing down the stream the flaming flood next attacked the tanks of the Standard Oil Works, located in the valley, one after another, which took fire. Five ten-thousand barrel tanks, two five thousand barrel tanks, four stills, one agitator, an engine-house, five hundred feet of railway trestle and various small works were destroyed. The tanks were not all full. Not less than fifty thousand barrels of oil were consumed. The total loss by fire is a matter of speculation. It is estimated at from $150,000 to $300,000. The machinery and stills were worth $27,000. Six steam engines and three hook and ladder com-panies worked all day and a large force of the department all night. The oil must all burn when once it takes fire. Throwing water on it only scatters it and increases the danger. The firemen have to direct their efforts to prevent the fire from spreading. They have been laboring at a great disadvantage because much of the territory where the conflagration is raging is covered with six feet

It becomes my painful and mortifying duty to inform you that Isaac H. Vin-cent, Treasurer of the State, is short in is accounts and has left the city. This fact was made known by Vincent in the following note to Mr. A. D. Crawford, a clerk in his office, dated the 29th inst., which was received by Mr. Crawford on the afternoon of the 30th instant, and was communicated to me at 8.30 p. m.

STATE OF ALABAMA,
TREASURY DEPARTMENT, MONTGOMERY, January 29, 1883. DEAR CRAWFORD: I find this even ing that my money is not here, neither has it been paid over to the Importers' and Traders' Bank, as promised. for New York to straighten the whole matter. I have, perhaps, waited too long, and will be censured, but I have no idea of running away. I wish you would assist the committee, and after the bal-ance is ascertained ask them to wait a day, and telegraph me, care Fred Wolffe, New York. If anything happens to me I wish to state emphatically and posi-tively that being behind in my cash is my own fault, and that you have had nothing to do with it. Your friend,

I. H. VINCENT. The amount of Vincent's defalcation an only be ascertained after a careful examination of the books and a careful count of the money in the treasury, but a hurried and partial investigation indicate that it is more than $200,000. It is not known by what train or in what direction Vincent left Montgomery. Means have been adopted to intercept and detain him if possible. It is believed hat the State is largely secured against ultimate loss. The two houses will have communications delivered to them from time to time of any further information that comes in my hands.

E. A. O'NEALE, Governor. Large sums of money sent to Fred Wolffe, supposed to be dealings in cotton, have been traced up, and Vincent dealt also, it is supposed, with other cotton houses. A legislative committee is counting the money in the treasury.

There is but little to add to the details already given. The deficit is now put at $212.69 secured by the treasurer's bond. The investigation in progress may decrease or diminish these figures, and may develop mitigating circumstances or bring to light evidences of greater turpitude. Only the fullest inquiry can develop the whole scope of the great wrong done and fix such responsibility for it as may attach elsewhere than to the chief offender Every possible effort will be made to proteet the State. All necessary legal proder the direction of the attorney general.

A TREASURER WITHOUT A BOND. Mr. Vincent should have filed an approved bond for $250,000 before entering upon the duties of his third term. This he did not do. He took the oath of office on the 1st of December, simultaneously with the retirement of Governor Cobb and the inauguration of Governor O'Neal, and between the two adminis trations slipped in without a bond, which neither Governor was called upon to approve. As soon as Governor O'Neal learned this a demand was made for a bond, and one was presented for approval, but was rejected as insufficient. Mr. Vincent's bondsmen on his last term were Messrs. M. E. Pratt, Daniel Crawford, J. J. Robinson and J. M. Driver. A second bond, presented last week, was on Monday last rejected; and the office for this reason yould have been soon declared vacant had it not been, unfortunately, vacated otherwise. It is understood that less than $5,000 of the defalcation has occurred since the 1st of October last.

The temporary loss to the State will not at all embarrass the administration of the government. With the money in the treasury and the current receipts, all current expenses will be paid and the July interest will be promptly met. The amount of the defalcation is just about that of the treasury surplus; and its worst effects will be to postpone any ma-terial reduction of the tax rate, and to render impolitic, and perhaps impossible, some unusual appropriations which to many had seemed advisable. Ultimately, every dollar of the loss will, it is confidently expected, be made good, The State's credit, at home and abroad, will be maintained unimpaired, and its reputation will suffer only the reprose taching to the misdeeds of a le official. In one week the bonds the State will recover from any depression resulting from the occurrences of the past two days. As soon as the treasurer's default was publicly announced Mr. Josiah Morris, the well known banker of Montgomery, sent a telegraphic order to New York for the purchase of Alabama bonds, Class A, to the amount of $100, 000; and that he would take a million if they could be purchased. Of course, pending the examination of the treasury and the appointment and qualification of a new treasurer, no money can be re-ceived and no payments can be made; but this state of affairs will not probably continue more than three or four days.

WHO HE IS. The most talked-of man in Alabama, and for some time will be the most talkedof man in America, was raised in Au-tauga County; he lived there for a number of years in the early period of his life. He moved from Autauga to Chambers County, where he served a long time as register in chancery. He was Gover-nor Houston's private secretary, and from that position was elected State Treasurer in 1878. He was re-elected in 1880, and again in 1882. He took the oath of office of his third term on November 20th last. He had thus been time and again honored by his people, and up to this day they had never seen reason to repent the large share of confidence they had given him. He was regarded as a man of moderate ability but garded as a man of moderate ability but of unimpeachable integrity. His sterling honesty was his strong point. He is about forty years old, of medium height, has a foll beard, a rather pleasing countenance and a scar on his forehead, a mark left there by the war, in which he was a brave soldier. He was desperately wounded in the head in Virginia. It was thought he was dead. His skull was shattered, and a pieco of it shot away. The wound was trepanned, and House.

HOW HE LIVED. For several years Mr. Vincent has MONTGOMERY, ALA., January 31— lived in a style of luxury entirely beyond the committee to examine the books and the capacity of his salary, and the genaccounts of State Treasurer Vincent eral opinion has been that he had money were to begin their examination yestercertain circles, that his money was made by lucky speculations in futures, but no he seemed to suspicion that he had used the State's money in making his deals he was behind, but was going to New on Change. Only those with whom his York to get money which the letter indimet with heavy losses and covered them redress. The other side of the story has promptly. Some months ago he pur-chased a house of modest pretensions in largely in cotton futures. The deficit, as far as can be gathered at this time, is better $225,000 and $300,000.

appearance and cost, and it was reported that he would pay for it in instalments. He furnished it handsomely, however, and has spent considerable money in the way of good living. He has kept a carriage and a pair of horses. It seems that in his first deals in futures he was fortunate, and this gave ground for the belief that he was not dependent on his $2,100 income. But his early successed The Governor will offer a large reward only whetted his appetite, and he went and has sent telegrams to the police of on from bad to worse until the announcement of the examining committee showed him that at the next jump he would hit bottom, and so he left, and the Devil only knows where he is. HOW HE FELL. The cause of Vincent's defalcation was undoubtedly speculation. Montgomery has been famous for many years for its beavy speculators in cotton. Few Southern cities have handled futures in larger lumps or more constantly than Montgomery. It is said that New York brokers make more commissions out of to more than $100,000 supposed to be for dealings in cotton, have been traced up, and Vincent dealt also it is supposed with other cotton houses. It is surmised that he may have loaned some, although no evidence to that effect has been shown.

WHERE HE IS. Nothing has been ascertained as to Vincent's whereabouts. All sorts of rumors are affoat. Some think he has committed suicide.

Bills have been introduced, and are likely to pass, for no one to enter the office until the bond is approved, and also to in vest all the surplus over $100,000, at the end of each fiscal year, in the purchase of State bonds

A Row in the ... ral Academy.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., February 2.-There is serious trouble at the United States naval academy here, and the entire cadet corps has been deprived of all privileges, while the first-class men, numbeing in all about forty-five, have been placed under arrest. The trouble arose on Friday last, when Cadet C. E. Woodruff, of Pennsylvania, who is one of the most popular men in the academy, was arrested for dishonorable conduct, having certified on honor to a falsehood in connection with his examination papers. It is said Cadet Woodruff has since admitted in writing the justice of the charge. On his arrest, being a petty officer, he was immediately reduced to the ranks, which caused great excite-

The superintendent immediately ordered Street's arrest, and he also was reduced , and the State is believed to be by the treasurer's bond. The in-ion in progress may decrease or Woods and Aldrich. They were all sent on board the Santee in accordance with a general order issued by the superintendent. When this order was read the first class men, almost in a body, groaned and hissed for several minutes, and all disci-pline was disregarded. Annarolis, Md., February 2.—There are no further developments nor orders in the naval academy insubordination. Access to official bulletins is now given to the press. There are about ten members of the first class who took no part in the cheering demonstration. These, as well as the other cadets who were not reported for violation of the regulations, however, have been deprived of their usual privileges.

A Lesson to the South. In an interesting article upon the rates of wages of farm laborers in the different States, in the last annual report of the United States Department of Agriculture, it is shown that the influence of manufactures upon agriculture is very great, both in the wages of farm labor and in the prices of farm products. The rate of farm wages in Massachusetts, the centre of manufacturing interests, is higher than in any other State east of the Rocky Mountains. In Ohio, which is dotted over with thriving manufacturing towns, the rate of farm wages is about thirty per cent. higher than across the dividing line in Kentucky, where manufactures are across. factures are scarce. There is also a marked difference in the several districts of Ohio. The northern belt, which includes the thrifty manufacturing centres—Cleveland, Toledo, Canton, Wooster, Mansfield and other towns—and the section including Cincinuati, Columbus, &c., pay a much higher rate of farm wages than in other districts where agriculture is more prominent. In Illinois and other States the same thing is seen. In discussing this point the report says:
"Wherever other industries flourish, and the number of persons employed in agriculture are fewer than those engaged in other occupations, it is found that the wages of farm labor are higher than in districts more exclusively agricultural; and statistics show, further, that the prices of farm products are also higher, and the gross and net earnings of the farm proprietors are greater. Wherever, from manufactures, mining or commerce, the non-agricultural population is relatively in smaller proportion to the whole people, the law of supply and demand inevitably secures a higher reward to rural labor. It would be well to think over the preceding statements.

A BRIDE FOR A NIGHT.—A dispatch from Halifax Court House, Va., dated January 27, says: "Last night James Guthrie, a prosperous young farmer was married to Miss Hulda Martin. A large company was present at the wedding, which was solemnized at the residence of the bride's father. Owing to bad weather the guests remained at the mansion all night. This morning when they had assembled at the breakfast table, it was remarked that the bride and groom were late in coming. Suddenly the shrieks of a woman were heard, and the startled guests hastened into the hall, where they guests hastened into the hall, where they met the bride of a night, who cried:
"My husband! Oh, my husband!"
When she awoke this morning, she found her husband dead by her side. She is almost insane from grief."

He is said to have come here a month ago and to have stayed at Wright's Hotel and then returned North after a conference with Melton. He is making preparations to this than any other city. Large sums of stay here, and, I presume, will fill the money, sent to Fred. Wolffe, amounting place of the lamented Sanders at the April trials.

BEAUFORT, February 4 .- This morn ing at about 10 o'clock the body of Alfred G. Thomas, the late chairman of the board of county commissioners, was discovered suspended by the neck with a rope in the water closet attached to the premises he occupied. There is no evi-dence yet to justify any other conclusion than that he committed suicide by jump ing from a chair on the top of the seat to ground which his feet touched Death no doubt was produced by strang ulation. No cause is yet ascertained of assigned for the commission of the deed. The coroner has been summoned. Thomas was also clerk of the town council and editor of the Sea Island News would ask the farmers to see me before making their arrangements for Fertil-s. I have on hand the old reliable Solizers. I have on hand the old reliable Sol-uble Pacific and Stono Guanos and Acid Phosphate. These brands analyze over 3 per cent, of Ammonia in the Guano, and from 10 to 12 per cent, of available Phosphoric Acid in the Acid. The Com-Phosphoric Acid in the Acid. The Companies have their own works, and manufacture their own goods under their old formula. I have no special brands but the original brands of the Companies, upon which they stake their money and reputation. Prices as low, if not lower, than any other standard 3 per cent, ammoniated fertilizer.

FACTS FOR THE FARMERS!

I have a full stock N. O. Molasses.

I have a full stock N. O. Molasses.
Flour, Bacon, Coffee, Sugar, Plows, Plow Stocks, Nails and Farmers' Supplies Generally.
Cash buyers and Granger's orders solicited.
I will give you the benefit of all low prices.
I also have a good line of Shoes, Boots,
Dry Goods, Hardware, &c.
If you want to buy a good flat at If you want to buy a good first at New York cost for cash, I can fit you out in the latest style. I am anxious to close out my stock of hats at cost within the next thirty days.

Bear in mind that I am determined to meet compatition; in prices on Chapter Case.

meet competition in prices on Guanos, Gro-ceries or any other goods that the farmers may want. Price my goods and enquire about ray Guanos. I will not charge you anything for the information.

To those who are owing the late firm of Lison & Sharne I would say that firm of Ligon & Sharpe, I would say that they will save cost by settling up, as I am determined to collect these old matters up within the next sixty days, and they can't think hard of me if they are sued, as I have given all hands timely warning. I mean given all hands thing exactly what I ray.

Respectfully,
W. S. LIGON.

PERSONS INTERESTED

ANDERSON, S. C., Jan. 23, 1883. WE would again politely call the attention of the trading public to the following

That we have now, and constantly keep on hand, a large stock of Goods in the various lines, consisting of-Meat, Flour, Coffee, Sugar, Molasses, Dry Goods, Hardware, Shoes, Hats, Saddlery, Yankee Notions, Crockery,

Ploughs and Plow Stocks, Hoes, Hames and Trace Chains, Axes, Nails, Iron, Tobacco, Axes, Nails, Iron, Tobacco, Clothing, And all other Goods generally needed in this market, including the celebrated Studebaker Wagons and Wagon

Studebaker Wagons and Wagon Harness.

We are agents for the "Dow Law" Cotton Planter, said to be the best in use.

Also, for the Hazard Fowder Co., of which we keep stored in our Magazine here a full supply, which we sell as cheaply as it can be bought in any market.

We are also still the agents of the world-renouned Wando Fertilizer and Acid Phosphate, and of the Saluda Fertilizer, manufactured by the same Company, prices for all of which are reasonable, either for eash or at Cotton option. We would like very much to furnish all of our friends this year their Goods and Fertilizers, and will promise to do them justice in every instance.

We buy Cotton leavely for Goods.

We buy Cotton largely for Cash on our own and for account of foreign buyers, and are always in the market.

And to those who now owe us money, on any account whatever, past due, we assure you that we need the money, and it has got to come right away.

Very truly yours, &c.,

Bleckley, Brown & Fretwell. Feb 1, 1883
