

C. LANGSTON, LOCAL EDITOR.
BRIEF MENTION.
The potato crop is an abundant one.

Restorers present an attractive appearance. The Jewish New Year, 5645, began last night.

Edling cotton was quoted at 84 cents Wednesday.
E. L. Clarke has moved his family to the city.

A copy of "Fresh Oysters" will soon appear on our streets.
I forgot the INTELLIGENCER when at my cousin's.

New York Cash Store's new sign is in place.
I'll soon be in order for you to chronicle my accidents.

My body is looking for better times, you will come.
J. C. Whitten has presented us with a large sweet potato.

Lightning, the weather prophet predicts exceedingly cold winter.
Very freight train brings two of three loads of lumber to the city.

A trip to the Northern markets improves the looks of our merchants.
It is believed that Anderson will get 20,000 bales of cotton this year.

Miss Mattie Weaver, of Greene County, is in the city visiting Mrs. T. P. Bell.
The cotton fields are looking white, but the frost is being gathered rapidly.

Mr. C. Wardlaw and family, of Jefferson, Ga., are in the city visiting relatives.
We are receiving new subscribers nearly every day. There is room for many more.

How could he be saved until frost. There will be a demand for all that will be gathered.
The Young America Cornet Band gave an open-air concert on the square Monday afternoon.

Mr. A. Lester's store will be closed today and on the 19th inst., on account of religious holidays.
Miss Mattie Brown, one of Williamson's accomplished daughters, is visiting relatives in the city.

Miss Leta and Nellie Bewley and Miss Annie Funt have gone to Salem, N. C., to attend college.
There is nothing lower than hypocrisy. To profess friendship and act enmity is a sure proof of duplicity.

A partial eclipse of the moon will take place on the 23rd inst. It will be visible between 1 and 2 o'clock a. m.
Miss Ruth Mitchell, an accomplished young lady of Charleston, is in the city visiting Mrs. Dr. J. O. Whitte.

Butler has been across in the city for two or three weeks past. Something unusual for this season of the year.
Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brock have returned from a pleasant visit to New York, Niagara Falls and other places in the North.

Our friends should remember that we will publish no communication unless it is accompanied by the real name of the author.
Let our farmers get out of debt and resolve to stay out, and they will be the most independent and happiest people in the world.

Miss Carrie Hill, a charming young lady of Greenville, is in the city visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Mays, at the Waverly House.
Our advertising columns will always tell you where to go to get the most goods for the least money. Read them every week carefully.

The Pioneers presented a fine appearance on their parade last Friday afternoon. The firemen always attract a large crowd when they appear on the streets.
Mr. J. C. Osborne, who has been clerking in Greenville for two years past, has returned to Anderson, and has accepted a clerkship in the store of Mr. E. B. Benson.

Two new locomotives, from the Rogers Locomotive Works, passed down the Road last Saturday. They will be used on the Atlantic Coast Line as passenger engines.
Mr. J. F. Auld, a substantial and popular citizen of Eiberton, Ga., was in the city last week. He was accompanied by his son and daughter. The former has entered the Anderson Military School.

Maj. DeHop, the affable and courteous representative of the News and Courier, is in the city.

The people of Eiberton, Ga., are agitating the question of building a railroad from that town to Eiberton's Store, on the Savannah Valley Railroad.

Note the change in the advertisement of Capt. John W. Daniels. In the former he is invited to give his whole time and attention to the real estate business, and persons desiring to either purchase or sell real estate should consult him.

The Wallaha Courier, of last week, says: "Rev. Thomas F. Gadsden, of Anderson, conducted religious services in the Wallaha Methodist Church on Monday and Tuesday, morning and evening both days."

Round trip tickets, good for four days, will be sold at the stations on the Blue Ridge division of the Columbia & Greenville Railroad to the survivors of Orr's regiment of Rifles and their friends, to attend a reunion of the Regiment at Sandy Springs, this County, September 29th and 30th and October 1st, at the following rates: Anderson, 35 cents; Pendleton, 25 cents; Seneca City, 60 cents; Wallaha, 90 cents.

The Anderson Female Seminary opened last Monday with seventy-six pupils on its roll. This is the largest attendance the Seminary has ever had at the beginning of a session, which is very gratifying to the friends of the institution.

Reader, if you desire bargains in dry goods, we ask you to read Mr. A. Lester's advertisement in this issue, and then visit his establishment. His large and varied stock of goods, which are arriving every day, has been brought very cheap this season, and he proposes to give his customers the benefit of this reduction.

THE FLAT ROCK PIONIC.
An Unexpected Acrobatic Developed on Prohibition.

According to previous announcement a large number of ladies and gentlemen assembled in Flat Rock Church on last Saturday morning to attend the Sabbath School and Temperance Pionio. The morning was devoted to the Sabbath School meeting, Mrs. J. A. Hall presiding. Her address was on "Clinkscales, Columbus Wardlaw and J. E. Brazzale made interesting and appropriate addresses. At the close of the morning speeches, a recess of one hour was announced, and an abundant and delicious repast was enjoyed by those present.

After dinner the audience again repaired to the Church for the purpose of hearing the subject of prohibition discussed.
The first speaker introduced was Maj. John B. Moore, the present Senator from this County. He began by deprecating the mixing of the subject of prohibition with religion, and said that those who did it sought position for themselves and not the good of the people, and proceeded to characterize them as "cowards and cowards." He remembered "William the Conqueror" was in every house, on one of them things—what do you call them? (a voice in the audience—"sideboards") that is, sideboards, and there was not as much drunkenness then as now. He cited the instance of a venerated deceased member of this Church who died in 1810, and who had asked if the audience was ready to say that he was "in hell." He said the reason there is more drunkenness now than then is, because liquors are not pure. The stiller says it is of a nature ninety cents per gallon and sells it for $2.50 per gallon, and yet the bar-keeper sells it at seventy-five cents per gallon.

Mr. Murray has been heard of in the INTELLIGENCER had called for his reasons for not favoring the prohibition bill for this County, and he had given them. He continued, when Mr. Prep and the INTELLIGENCER claim that they are the people they lie, and they are cowards if they take it.

Mr. Murray: I want to understand your charge. Do you say that the INTELLIGENCER ever claimed that it was the people?
Mr. Moore, after some hesitation said, Yes, Sir, I do say so.

He then said that the INTELLIGENCER had stated that the bill had time to pass after it had been no opposition to it. I pronounce that statement a lie. There was not time enough to have got the bill through, though I believe the INTELLIGENCER is right when it says the bill was introduced two days sooner than I stated. Now, because we opposed this bill we are to be branded as outrageous enemies for changing the law?

Mr. Murray has the credit of passing the Local Option Bill, which is the first law ever enacted in this State that gives a man living in town more rights than a man in the country has. If I had been in the Legislature I would have voted against it, but when I got here I found the people were satisfied, and I am in favor of letting it alone. I do not think it wise to disturb the people on this subject. They are a unit on all questions but this, and are about equally divided on it. If this issue is forced, there will be danger at the polls. We may catch the negro in a trap, but we will see who man negging another at the polls, and the negro will hold the balance of power. "Now, then, my sentiments, and damn'd be he who differs from them."

Mr. Murray wants you to vote in this matter, but he has never suggested that he wants you to vote for Cotton, Weigher for City Council, or that he wants a portion of the license money to go to the country. Our smoke-house is in the West, but if you could distill your corn, the swill would fatten as many hogs as the corn, and you would have the profit from selling the whiskey. I have made corn whiskey, and I was boy, but people are born men now, and we old folks must give way to Young America. No man has a higher appreciation of temperance than I have, and he who says to the contrary lies, and the truth is not in him, but I am opposed to prohibition. The Savior was afraid of wine, like my young friends, and David gave wine to the people. It was no sin then to drink wine, but in modern times the giant has discovered that it is a sin. I don't think you will vote for prohibition. If you do you are a greater "set of asses" than I take you to be. He who tries to make capital for himself out of this question deserves the condemnation of all good people.

This is only a synopsis of this remarkable speech, and after its delivery Maj. Moore immediately left the Church and did not re-enter it during the evening. Mr. Moore was twice stopped by members of the Church, who objected to such language as his being used there. Each time Mr. Murray stated that he hoped he was conserving it, and shows that he did not wish to see him cut out from saying whatever he pleased, and he was permitted to conclude.

Hon. H. G. Soudy next made an admirable prohibition speech, and was followed by Hon. R. P. Clinkscales, who made the best speech we have ever heard from him. His speech was opposed to prohibition, without he could be convinced the people wanted it. His position was consistent, and shows that he has the question under advisement, and will seek to carry out the wishes of the people. Mr. E. B. Murray was next introduced. He stated that he was there in deference to their invitation, and regretted that he should have been the occasion of compelling the intelligent audience of ladies and gentlemen to listen to such a speech as his which had been attacked. From it one would have thought he was on trial, and not the subject of prohibition. He could not descend to the use of such coarse language as Maj. Moore had used, and would not bandy epithets with him. He regretted that Maj. Moore had made such a speech, and had not the inclination to do so. He regretted the necessity of noticing the personal utterances of that speech, but the INTELLIGENCER had been charged with falsehood in two instances, and he could not afford to permit them to pass unrebuked, even in this house.

To begin with, Maj. Moore says the INTELLIGENCER lied as to the time necessary to pass a bill through the Legislature. Col. Rucker, how long does it take to pass a bill through the Legislature that is not opposed, and is pressed as fast as possible. (Col. Rucker, five days.) Mr. Soudy, what do you say to that? (Col. Rucker, five days.) Mr. Clinkscales, what do you say? (Mr. Clinkscales, five days.) This bill was introduced on the 15th of December, and the Legislature adjourned on the 24th, nine days after. Therefore, the bill could have passed if there had been no opposition to it. Now, I submit to you that Maj. Moore has used the same old-fashioned falsehood in the charge which he has made. There can be no question about it, for you have the statement of these members of the Legislature to prove it. Next he says the INTELLIGENCER said that it was the people, and that this is a lie. I pronounce the statement that the INTELLIGENCER made in this connection a deliberate falsehood. The lies of the INTELLIGENCER will show if such a statement was ever made by it. I will give Maj. Moore access to the files of the paper, and compensate him liberally for the time it takes him to make the search if he will produce the article in which this claim is made. If he does not produce it, I call you to witness that I charge him with deliberate falsehood. Maj. Moore arraigns me for having introduced the Local Option law, and says that it makes a discrimination between the town and the country. Maj. Moore either has never read this law or has a very limited understanding of the Local Option Law only gives the right of an election to the towns, cities and villages where no license is granted. He refers to the bill prohibiting the sale of liquors outside of incorporated cities, towns and villages. You can see how insincere he is when he tries to get you to ensure me for introducing a measure which he says the people are satisfied with, and is working well. He characterized Maj. Moore's statement that the people are not in favor of the country electing Cotton Weigher and City Council as ridiculous and hypocritical. He said that if the election of Cotton Weigher could be confined to the cotton buyers, and men who sell cotton in Anderson, he would not object, but that he was opposed to letting the Country vote on it because there were many men in the County who did not sell cotton at Anderson, for it to be fair. Maj. Moore does not even say that he favors such an election. He said that such a thing as the country electing a City Council had never been heard of in the world's history, and yet Maj. Moore made it grow out of the back of his head. He did not favor a thing that had never been heard of. Maj. Moore has been in the Senate three years, and he has never tried to change the mode of electing the City Council or Cotton Weigher. As to not dividing the license with the country, I can only say that Maj. Moore is not any more correct in his statements of law than he is in stating other facts. The License Law, which I introduced, does give the County a license fee of one hundred dollars for every bar-room. Mr. Murray showed that there was no danger from letting the people vote on it. It is that that Maj. Moore has never tried to change the mode of electing the City Council or Cotton Weigher. As to not dividing the license with the country, I can only say that Maj.
