The whole Democratic populace t, and go to the country with his own are happy or not.

The defeat of the Blair Education will, in our judgment, be a political lander for the Democrats. The Senite, by a vote of thirty-three to eleven, has passed the measure, which has for is object the education of the poor man's children all over the United States. The defeat of this bill by the Democratic House of Representatives would give the Republicans an issue which would be dangerous for us in New York, Indiana, and perhaps Connecticut and New Jersey. There are a great many persons in the South who do not like the features of the bill touching negro education, and we confess that the bill as amended in the Senate is not as acceptable as the hill passed last year, but at the same time the passage of the measure as it now stands will add greatly to the efficiency of the public schools all over the country, and give to the several States decided material advantages from the expenditure all over the country of a large amount of money from the United ates treasury. This feature of the bill will give it great strength in every part of the Union. For the Democratic party to srray itself against this measure is deliberately to yield a decided advantage to the Republicans in the coming contest.

For eight years after its passage there shall be annually appropriated from the treasury the following sums in aid of common school education in the States and Territories, and the District of Columbia and Alaska: First year $7,000, 000, second year :10,000,000, third year $15,000,000, fourth year $13,000,000 fifth year $11,000,000, sixth year $9,000, 000, seventh year $7,000,000, and eighth year $5,000,000, making $77,000,000, besides which there is a special appropri ation of $2,000,000 to aid in the erection of school houses in sparsely settled districts, making the total fund $79,000,000. The money is given to the several States and Territories "in that proportion each who, being of the age of 10 years and over, cannot write, bears to the whole number of such persons in the United States," according to the census of 1880, until the census figures of 1890 shall be obtained, and then according to the latter figure. In States having separate schools for white and colored children the monev shall be paid out for support of such proportion that white and colored children between 10 and 21 years old in such State bear to each other by the census. No State is to receive the benefit of the Act until its Governor shall file with the secretary of the interior a statement giving full statistics of the school system, attendance of white and colored children, amount of money expended, &c., the number of schools in operation, number and compensation of teachers, &c. Blue Outlook for the Blair Bill.

The correspondent of the Richmond State, which is a fast friend of the Blair come. The bill passed the Senate last directly from members of the educational committee to show that there was very every member of that committee. Since then there has been a slight change in sentiment, owing largely to the individulast week, even with the change that has come over some members, stood seven to bill, was absent owing to bad health. From the best information obtainable Many plausible reasons can be cited to substantiate this statement. In the first place the revenue reformers in the House, will in any way forestall tariff reduction. To vote away millions of dollars for educational purposes they hold is not practi-

Some of the ablest lawyers in the House object to the proposition on constitutional grounds, even claiming that a question of States' rights is involved that may cause trouble at any time. The Work of the Present Congress.

The present Congress has thus far very ittle in the way of practical results to session. With the exception of the presidential succession bill, no measure of more than local or personal interest has passed both houses and become a law. Including measures of all sorts, the num ber of bills passed has not averaged over one per week. It does not follow, how ever, that members have been idle There has been an immense amount of labor performed in committee, for which there is something to show in the bills and resolutions reported to the House and Senate. The agricultural, and probably the District of Columbia, bills will be reported this week; the Indian, the postoflice, the military academy, the army and the consular and diplomatic bills have already been reported. The pen-sions and urgent deficiency bills have passed the House and now go to the Senate. The bills yet remaining to be reported are the naval, the legislative, executive and judicial, the sundry civil, river and harbor, fortification and general deficiency bills. Most of the latter are practically completed, so that the sum total of the money proposed to be spent by the committees representing the majority of the House will soon be known. The amounts called for in the regular appropriation bills are, as a rule, liberal. The item for $75,000,000 for pensions is not an inconsiderable one, and the $54, 326,588 given to the postmaster general ought to provide generous mail facilities for all the States, Maryland included. The river and harbor bill will call, it is said, for $15,000,000. The naval and fortification appropriation bills, owing to the adoption of the popular policy of building a new navy and improving our coast defenses, are expected to exceed by very considerable sums the figures of re-cent years. Upon the whole, no reduction of government expenditure, as shared by the regular appropriation bills, is to be anticipated. Should the many wild schemes that bave impressed indi vidual House committees favorably meet with like acceptance in the House itself. in the Senate and at the white house the prospect would include a large increase over the expenditures of former years, and perhaps an addition to the public debt. But the leaders of opinion in both branches of Congress, and, if they should fail, the President may be relied upon to restrict appropriations within the wide limits of our income.

STILL KICKING !

BUT NOT KICKING VERY HIGH.

IT does not matter with the dear people whether I am making money or doing business just for the fun of the thing, so long as they can buy Goods from me cheaper than from those who are doing a legitimate business. Folks who buy on credit have to stand "legitimate profits"; but these who can pay cash are free to buy where the best bargains are offered, even when done by small potatocs like me.

I will stand to all I advertise as long as the Goods last. I do not guarantee the prices for six months, nor that I can keep the Goods even a month. My past experience has been that the wide-awake people generally took my offerings during the first and second weeks after advertised. Be assured if you come AT ONCE you will get them. No humbuggery in this.

Notwithstanding the number sold, I still have The Best Goose-Necked Hoes at 35 Cents, And when I say this I do not mean the cheap, light Hoes usually put off as substitutes by some others for these Goods.
