Pay of Congressmen.
 When a member dies his pay ceases on the day of his death. The salary of the successor commences the day after the decease of the former member, though the election may not occur for several months. The new member in other words draws his pay from the time he is elected.

A member is allowed twenty cents mileage each way, or forty cents a mile one way, and he can check for the full amount of both ways when he takes his seat. He is allowed $125 a year for stationery. The most of this sum is pocketed. The members draw their money in different ways. There are probably twenty of the present house who get their salaries run into next eggs. Among these are Scott and Everett, of Pennsylvania; Powell, of Illinois; Bottelle, of Maine; Henly, of California; Jones, Stewart, Keegan, of Texas; Anderson, of Ohio; Stone, of Massachusetts; Wakefield, of Minnesota. Scott has over a year's salary owing him, about $6,000. The other members mentioned have from $1,000 to $5,000 to their credit. There are a couple of dozen members who work over- or, rather, borrow from the head of the bank. They borrow or get in advance sums ranging from $10 to $300 and at the end of the month they pay back. The great majority of the members draw all that is coming to them at the end of each month, particularly those who have their families with them. Some of them never see an outside bank, but their monthly salary remain and draw it in small sums. Others take out their salaries and place them in other banks. But this is not done as much as formerly. A number of them got caught in the Middleman bank that broke some time ago.

Most of the members do all their financial business over the counter of the congressional bank, and some of them check up as high as $5,000 in a single session. — Washington Herald.
 An Electioneer Failure.

Captain Negleworth, who is a candidate for the Legislature, stopped at the unpretentious house of old Sam Sabar. After supper, while the candidate was sitting on the porch smoking a cigar, Sabar's little boy softly approached.
 "Come here, my son. Sit on my knee. Now you're fixed. Do you go to school?"
 "No, but an Dick killed a water moccasin yesterday."
 "You did."
 "Yes, and I was afraid he would bite you."
 "He couldn't bite me. I could get outen his way an' hit him with a rock."
 "My little man, after while you can tell the people that you sat on Captain Negleworth's knee."
 "Yes, that ain't nuthin' to tell. I sat on my pap's knee yesterday, an' he's bigger'n you."
 "Yes, he was something to tell for I am going to the Legislature."
 "Pap says you ain't."
 "What? putting the boy down."
 "Yes, when he see you comin' he said: 'Yonder come that blamed fool. He thinks he's goin' to the Legislature, but he ain't got sense enough to holler when he's dog bit.' That's what my pap said."
 "Get away."
 A few moments later, had the night not been so dark, a solitary horseman might have been seen riding along the old military road.

A Dakota Judge on His Dignity.
 We will stop taking testimony for ten minutes, said a Dakota Justice of the peace, removing his coat, during which time the court will lick the attorney for the defense. The constable will please remove the chairs and small boy, as we propose to lam him down on the floor about twenty times. When a lawyer refers to this court as a square-cornered sagehen of the alkali desert and accuses it of having been bought by the prosecution for $2.50, he will find that this judicial body is loaded for game found only in the tall timber, namely, bars gentlemen, large grizzly bears. We propose to maintain our dignity while sitting on this here nail-k-r bench and will do so if we have to play at home circus day and pound every one who talks with him alone we intend to invoke the power of the United States and get backed up by the supreme court and regular army. If the attorney for the defense has any friends in the room, they will be given an opportunity to shake hands with him and take any instructions he may wish to send to his family. The gentlemen will please form a ring and we would direct the constable to pull him off the attempt to bite or pull hair. Take your position for the court is a coming! — Estimate (Dak.) Bell.

Vegetables Better than Drugs.
 Spinach has a direct effect upon complaints of the kidneys. The common dandelion, used as greens, is excellent for the same trouble. Asparagus purges the blood. Celery acts admirably upon the nervous system and is a cure for rheumatism and neuralgia. Tomatoes act upon the liver. Beets and turnips are excellent appetizers. Lettuce and cucumbers are cooling in their effects upon the system. Onions, garlic, leeks, olives and shallots, all of which are similar, possess medicinal virtues of marked character, stimulating the circulatory system and the consequent increase of the saliva and the gastric juice promoting digestion. Red onions are an excellent diuretic, and the white ones are recommended, eaten raw, as a remedy for insomnia. They are a tonic and nutritious. A soup made from onions is regarded by the French as an excellent restorative in debility of the digestive organs.

Didn't See It at First.
 A joke is a mystery to some people. In a certain court in Maine, one time the proceedings were delayed by the failure of a witness named Sarah Moly to arrive. After waiting a long time for her, the court concluded to wait no longer, and wishing to crack his little joke, remarked:
 "This court will adjourn without Sarah Moly."
 "Everybody laughed except one man, who sat in solemn meditation for five minutes, and then burst into a hearty guffaw, exclaiming:
 "I know I see it at first."
 "When he went home he tried to tell the joke to his wife:
 "There was a witness named Mary Moly, who didn't come," said he, and so the court said. "I adjourn without Mary Moly."
 "I didn't see any point to that, I'm sure," said his wife.
 "I know I," said he, "I didn't at first but you will in about five minutes."

He Survives them All.
 John Kelly thought Tilden too old and frail to run a second time as President. John Kelly is dead. The Star-wart Chandler wrested the Presidency from Tilden. Chandler is dead. Grant is dead. Hancock is dead. Hendricks is dead. Tilden is President and he survives them all. Hancock is dead. Hancock was chosen to be a more likely man to live through the Presidential election. Hendricks is dead. Hendricks seemed to have a long life ahead of him as compared with the man at the head of the ticket. Hendricks is dead. Seymour, McClellan, all dead. Tilden thinks there is nothing so invigorating as working away before the mast on his yacht. — Jacksonville Herald.

Benedict was killed in the store of his uncle, Auerbach, in the town of Abbeville, by Ferguson. The terrible catastrophe resulted in the death of the man in a city, a mental and physical wreck. His goods were sold at auction, and now the "last scene of it," which closes this strange, eventful history, is the death of Auerbach, which took place Monday. — Columbia Register.

MOTHERS.
 Often neglect and delay in giving proper attention to their children who have become unhealthful. Place your sickly daughter upon the use of B. B. D. as a tonic and general regulator; give it to your weak and feeble children; prescribe to your husband and yourself, as a general tonic and preparator before breakfast, and they will never have any trouble for whiskey bottles.

BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION.
 Thousands of single and married ladies are using various cosmetics, in order to improve their complexion, and to hide the many faults and imperfections of the face, neck and hair. These local applications are of a temporary nature, and leave the skin in a worse condition. An internal preparation is now being used, operating through the blood, which renders the skin smooth and soft as an infant, and imparting a beautiful alabaster complexion so much admired by the elite. The remedy casts off all impurities from the blood, removes all bumps, blotches and spots from the face, neck and hair, and gives the complexion the rosiness of nature. The article alluded to is B. B. D., a blood purifier and general family tonic, which never fails to give entire satisfaction. No male should fail to use it. To be beautiful, you must be healthy, and to be healthy you should use B. B. D.

WONDERFUL ULCERS.
 In 1878 there came on my hand what was thought to be a carbuncle, which ran its course several months, broke, and finally healed. The next spring knots or nodes, came on my arms, which were thought to be rheumatism, and I took gallons of medicine from the best physicians in Culbert, Ga., where I then resided. About this time my limb below the knee commenced swelling at a fearful rate, and finally came to a head and broke. Both arms were sore, and I could hardly bear my weight standing, and hardly know how I managed to live through it all. About this time we moved from Culbert to Atlanta. I began to despair of ever getting well; the sore on my limb was a regular ulcer, now about three inches in length, two inches in width, seeming to be down to the bone, and discharging about a quartful of matter daily. My arms kept running, my sleep disturbed, and I sometimes thought I would lose my reason. A friend called on me one day, Mr. A. L. DIAL, and he recommended B. B. D., and finally in a short time I got my son to get me two bottles, and I saw the improvement from the very first. I have now taken 8 or 9 bottles, and my arms are entirely cured. My son, who had a sore on his face, I now feel like a new person, thanks to your noble remedy, B. B. D.
