Last Sunday was one of the most beautiful days we have had since Christmas, and all the city churches were well attended.

This March weather is as changeable as a girl in her teens who doesn't think the same way for twenty-four hours. So a bachelor says.

Don't neglect to plant a good crop. Last year gave the farmers a little crop, and matters will improve if the same system is followed.

Next Thursday evening the Ringing Neck Concert Co. will appear in Masonic Hall. Tickets will be on sale next Monday at Hill Bros.

The latest Long Island privileges, and one which the folks indulge with the sanction of the old folks, is carrying the gentlemen to church.

The small boy and his top, the spring peak, the opening books, and the dipping of desks of the editor's winter suit all broken coming Spring.

Mr. Leo M. Whitaker died at his home in Greenville Township on Tuesday night of heart disease, aged 35 years. He leaves a wife and several children.

Mr. J. C. Fitzgerald, the photographer, is now at Maxwell's Gallery, where he will remain until the 29th inst. Call early if you want any photos.

Friday and Saturday, 8th and 7th of April, have been set apart for examining the schools of the public schools. See the Commissioner's notice.

Mr. S. N. Brown, formerly of this County, but now in charge of one of the departments of the State Lunatic Asylum, gave us a pleasant call last Saturday.

G. W. Post & Son have a very pretty stock of Easter cards on hand, and are offering them at low prices. Call and see them and make your selection before they are picked over.

Mr. A. W. Mages, the courteous representative of Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., of Lowell, Mass., was in our office Tuesday. He is a clever gentleman, and represents a reliable house.

Married, on Sunday, March 11, 1888, at the residence of the bride's stepfather, Wm. Davis, by Rev. O. V. Barnes, Mr. E. V. McCoy and Miss Eliza L. Bolt, all of Anderson County, S. C.

During recent trips into the country we noticed that a number of farmers still have cotton to sell. We know of one farmer who has fifty bales to sell, and several who have from ten to twenty-five.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Keys, with their children, of Greenville, came over last Friday to attend the funeral of Mrs. M. L. Keys. Mrs. Keys will remain in the city several days visiting relatives.

Misses Jennie and Mary Erwin and Miss Belle Wing, of Hartwell, Ga., have been spending a few days in the city. They are charming young ladies, and we hope they will visit the city often.

List of letters remaining in the Post-office for the week ending March 22, 1888: Miss Lela Towers, Miss Mattie Adger, Julia A. Bolton, Mrs. Johanne Brock, C. Clark, David Johnson, S. A. Jones (2), Annie Mattison.

The many friends of Mr. Wm. J. Yandiver, of Hopewell Township, who has been quite ill ever since Christmas, will regret to learn that he is not improving, and that his family and friends are doubtful of his recovery.

Messrs. Hill, Webb and Seybt, who have been in the Northern markets buying goods, have returned home. They were in New York during the severe weather of the week, and came near freezing out of existence.

Mr. A. B. Towers' new advertisement speaks for itself. Read it and see what he can do for you. He is offering bargains in blankets, and now is your time to buy. He keeps a large stock of wall papering, and it would pay you to see it before buying elsewhere.

The pews have been completed and placed in position in the new Methodist Church, and it is expected that services will be held regularly in the Church on and after Easter Sunday. It will not be ready for dedication, however, for some time yet.

The stable of Mr. L. H. Seal, on John street, were discovered to be on fire Saturday night about 9 o'clock. The fire was extinguished and no damage done. It is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary, as no one had been about the stable during the day.

On the first Sunday in April Rev. John W. Shaler will preach at Smith's Church, at 11 o'clock a. m., and at Ebenezer in the afternoon at 4 o'clock. It will be announced that he would be at Ebenezer in the morning, but services have been changed as above stated.

Several of our leading merchants say there are more fertilizers being sold this season than for a number of years past. For while a number of our merchants thought they would have several tons left on their hands, but their stock is now exhausted, and they say it will be impossible to get more.

A new rule for removing a cinder in the eye is given by an engineer. It is: "Let the injured eye alone and rub the other one, and the cinder will be out in two minutes." It is a simple remedy, though it sounds unreasonable, and worth trying.

On to-morrow (Friday) evening an entertainment, consisting of an "auction party," music, etc., will be given at the residence of Mr. J. E. Peoples for the benefit of the Baptist Church Organ fund. Take your drive with you, and be on hand at 8 o'clock.

The girls will this spring and summer vie with the boys in painting the town red. They will not, of course, do it in such a shocking manner as they will on ordinary occasions, but they will put on beautiful smart dresses, which is the leading fashionable color.

Rev. W. A. Hodges will preach at Providence Church next Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. After preaching, as has been announced, the Providence Camp-Ground Arbor will be sold by a committee appointed by the Quarterly Conference. Mr. Hodges will also preach at the same place on Sunday.

Mr. Fred J. Ludette, general agent for the McCafferty Bros., gave us a pleasant call Wednesday. Mr. Ludette was formerly managing editor of the Columbia Register, and established a reputation as No. 1 newspaper man. He is a general, courteous gentleman, and makes friends wherever he goes.

Miss Amanda Stewart died at her home in Savannah Township on Friday night, 16th inst. She was about 50 years old, and had been a member of Ruhama Church for about 37 years. Her remains were interred at Cross Roads on Sunday morning, after funeral services by Rev. H. M. Allen.

Our readers will learn something of interest by reading J. J. Baker & Co.'s new advertisement. They are now offering their stock of dry goods at cost, and will give every purchaser a bargain. Their stock of groceries is complete. When you come to the city, be sure to give them a call and see what they can do for you. It will pay you.

During Passion Week the services at Grace (Episcopal) will be as follows: Tuesday, March 27, at 10 a. m.; Wednesday, half-past 4 o'clock p. m.; Good Friday, at 1 o'clock a. m.; Easter Day (April 1st), divine services with the Holy Communion at 11 a. m., and children's celebration at half-past 4 p. m.

Messrs. Gray, Girard & Co., of Centreville Township, had the misfortune to have their gin house, together with two gins, two condensers, feeders and press, grist mill and saw mill destroyed by fire last Saturday about 12 o'clock. The loss will amount to about $1000. The fire is supposed to have caught from a spark from the engine.

Those who begin to garden the middle to the last of March have vegetables almost as early as those who plant in February. The main thing is to prepare the ground well, manure well, plant seed enough to get a good stand and work fast and well. Be sure to plant enough vegetables to have an abundance for the family.

We have just received a new piece of music, called "Silver Bell Waltz," by the popular composer, Charley Baker, which we can recommend to our readers as very good, it is not being too difficult, and at the same time very showy. It can be played on the piano or organ, and will be sent at the special price of only eleven 2-cent stamps. Address J. C. Greene & Co., 30 and 48 Arcade, Cincinnati, O.

Lesser & Co.'s advertisement will no doubt attract the attention of every one of our readers, who should read it carefully. Their stock of Spring and Summer goods is full and complete, and all they ask is a call to convince you that they can please you in styles, quality and prices of goods. They will take great pleasure in showing their goods, and we advise you to go and see them.

Anderson Lodge, No. 5, of the A. O. U. W., will be organized in Knights of Honor hall next Wednesday evening. The Lodge will have about forty charter members, and will be composed of good material. Deputy Master Murphy will remain in the city until after the organization of the Lodge, and any one who may desire to join the order should hand in their name by that time, so as to get in as a charter member.

Mr. Homer F. Kay, a most worthy and excellent young man of Marietta Township, died last Friday night, after a brief but painful illness from pneumonia. Mr. Kay was the third son of the late Marion Kay, and was about 22 years of age. He was a consistent member of Ebenezer Methodist Church, and his remains were interred in the Cemetery adjoining that Church last Sunday. His death is deeply deplored by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

We would invite special attention to Blockley, Brown & Fretwell's advertisement. They are now opening up a very large and handsome stock of Spring and Summer goods, which they are marking down at hard-pan prices. They have a large force of polite clerks, who will take great pleasure in showing their goods, whether you buy or not. Their stock of groceries is always complete. They have just received a car-load of the celebrated Tennessee wags, which they will sell cheap. Don't visit Anderson without giving this house a call.

The Baptists of South Carolina are making an effort to raise an additional $10,000 to the endowment fund of Furman University. Let every one of our readers, by several churches in the Saluda Association to raise its quota ($1,000) of the amount. Dr. Manly occupied Mr. Marshall's pulpit in this city, and preached a most impressive sermon, after which the congregation made a contribution of about $300 of that sum.

McCafferty Bros., the well known Texas horsemen, will have another auction sale of horses at Anderson next sale day, Monday, April 2. The Barwell People will also be present. The McCafferty Bros. are straight men, representing their stock exactly as it is, and making no concealment of defects. They handle more horses than any other dealers in the South, and have won a good name wherever they have gone. Read their advertisement in another column.

Maj. Theodore Dehon, who is now general agent for the Greenville News, has been spending a few days in the city looking after the interests of his paper. Maj. Dehon is an energetic worker, and has added quite a number of the names of our citizens to his subscription list. The News is now a representative paper of upper Carolina, and deserves a liberal support from the people of this section. It contains the latest market reports and press dispatches, and for its value at a local correspondent will furnish its readers with Anderson news.

Jap Davis, the wife-murderer, will not hang next Friday. Mr. Prince, of Prince Yandiver, his attorneys, went to Columbia Monday and carried with him a petition signed by a large number of citizens asking Gov. Richardson to commute Davis's sentence to life imprisonment in the penitentiary, on the ground that he is not a sane man. Mr. Prince conferred with the Governor, who respected the prisoner until the 27th of April. We presume he did this in order to give him more time to investigate the matter.

Miss Annie Cannon, eldest daughter of Dr. I. Cannon, of Williamson Township, died last Thursday. She had been in feeble health for several months, but her death was a surprise to her friends and family, as it was not thought her end was so near. Miss Cannon was about 72 years of age, and was a most amiable young lady. Until recently she was a student of the DeWitt Female College, but was forced to leave that institution on account of her ill-health. Her remains were interred at Lebanon Church, in Greenville County.

Miss Lizzie Williams, the popular proprietress of the Ladies' Store, has returned from New York, where she spent several weeks selecting her stock of Spring and Summer goods. She has purchased a very large stock, and at very low prices, consequently she has bargains for every person who will favor her with a call. Miss Lizzie always displays superior judgment and taste in selecting her goods, and keeps thoroughly posted in all the latest styles. Our lady friends would do well to give her an early call, see her goods and hear something of all the latest styles. Look out for her new advertisement next week.

The season is now at hand when both old and young men want a new suit of clothes, hat or other furnishing goods, and Foster Hart is ready to supply their wants. His stock of Spring and Summer goods is now ready for inspection, and we are advising our readers to call and see them. His goods have been purchased at very low prices, and he will sell them the same way. He makes a specialty of hats and neckwear. And don't forget that Clark Bros., merchant tailors, occupy the same room with Mr. Hart, and are ready to serve you at any time.

Let us make a suit for you on hand and will make a suit to order on short notice. See advertisement.

Easter falls on the first of April this year. The earliest possible day for Easter was the 22nd of March, and it fell on that date in 1818, for the last time in two hundred years. One object in arranging the calendar moon was that Easter might never fall on the same day as the Jewish Passover. They did occur together, however, in 1805, on the 4th of April; in 1825, on the 3d of that month, and will do so again on the 13th of April, in 1927 on the 17th, and in 1981 on the 18th of the same month. On last year Easter and the Jewish festival were separated by but a single night. The Jewish festival occurs in Passover week in Lent, and never before the 29th of March or after the 25th of April. On the other hand, the Christian festival is never before the 22d of March or after the 25th April.

Last Tuesday night our city and vicinity was visited by a severe storm. It began about 2 o'clock and continued for some time. The chapel of the Military Institute was unroofed by the wind, and considerable damage was done to fences in the city. The most damage so far heard of was at the farms of Messrs. Robt. T. Chambers, J. Mat. Chambers and J. B. Atcheson, about six miles west of the city. At these places the out-houses were blown down or unroofed, chimneys untopped, the fences scattered and timber blown up by the roots. The storm traveled from southwest toward northeast. The lightning was almost incessant. One flash would hardly die away before another would appear. There was considerable unrest among our citizens while the storm raged, and cyclone pits were in demand.

It was our privilege and pleasure to worship with the congregation of the Belton Baptist Church last Sunday. Rev. A. A. Marshall, who had exchanged pulpits with Dr. Manly, the pastor, preached a most eloquent and interesting sermon, and fairly captivated the good people of Belton. After the sermon, Mr. Marshall announced that the day had been set apart for contributing to the endowment fund of Furman University, and in a few minutes over two hundred dollars had been subscribed. This was indeed a very liberal subscription for the church, and we doubt if there is a congregation of the same size in the State that will equal it. But the Belton people never do anything by halves, and when it comes to doing a noble act, they are always in the front line. This congregation intend building a new church this year, and they will erect a building that will be an ornament to their village and an honor to themselves.

The Athens (Ga.) Banner-Watcher, of a recent date, in speaking of the Athens Fire Department, says: "No. 5 will put themselves in training to contest for the championship at Anderson, S. C. Chief Mason has received an invitation for the Fire Department of Athens to visit Anderson, S. C., on the 12th, 13th and 14th of June, to take part in their Tournament. No. 5, who now owns the champion belt, will accept the invitation and go over to South Carolina and show the Palmetto boys what the Georgia boys can do. A large number of firemen from Athens will accompany No. 5, and a glorious time is expected. Let the Carolinians look out for a clever set of boys, and the fastest on record. No. 5 is composed of the best young men of the city, and all are perfect gentlemen." We will give the Athens boys a genuine old Carolina welcome, and will assure them that our boys will do their best to make their visit a pleasant one.

Hopewell Township has lost one of its best, oldest and most respectable citizens in the death of Mr. William R. Duckworth, who died last Friday morning very suddenly from something like apoplexy. He ate his breakfast as well as usual, and while fixing his ploughs to go to work was taken with a severe pain in his head. He went in the house and sat down. The pain increased and was accompanied by nausea. While in this condition he gave his son William a $5.00 gold piece, with the request to keep it in remembrance of him. He also gave one of his mules to this son, to which he called William. As this was about concluded, he threw himself back in his chair and showed great suffering for the time. He was placed on the bed and expired in a few moments. He was about 65 years old. For many years prior to his death he had been a consistent member of the Hopewell Baptist Church. Mr. Duckworth was a quiet, unpretending, honorable, upright and worthy citizen. He leaves a large family, who have our sympathies in their sore bereavement.

Mrs. M. Lou Keys, after a painful illness of about three weeks, departed this life at her home in this city last Friday morning, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Keys was the relict of the late Peter A. Keys, who was killed in a collision on the Air Line Railroad several years ago, and a daughter of the late Jas. Allen, of Lowdesville. Her death was a great shock to many friends. It is regretted that she was not called to rest, but it was not thought that her illness would prove serious until a few days before her death. Her disease was of a complicated form, and she passed away without a struggle. Mrs. Keys was about 42 years of age, and was a most excellent lady. For a number of years she was a faithful and devoted member of the Baptist Church, and was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances, who will long cherish her memory. She leaves behind her an only daughter, to whom the sympathies of our entire people are extended in her sore bereavement. On Saturday afternoon, after impressive funeral services being conducted by Rev. A. A. Marshall, the remains were laid to rest in the Baptist cemetery.

A True Statement of the Shooting Affair at Piercetown.

[EDITOR INTELLIGENCER: I notice in your last issue an account of the shooting affair which occurred on my place the 6th inst., and I must say that your informant, whoever he is, is mistaken as to how the difficulty occurred and how it ended. I have promised some parties at Williamson, if they would come to Piercetown, that I would go bird hunting with them, which they did on the evening of the 5th. I was compelled to be at Williamson on the 6th, but I could not get back from Williamson by 2 o'clock, and I could not, therefore, go to my place before I started hunting. I ordered the hands to go to plowing, and to keep the plows moving, and to never mind anything else. I told them that I would pile them myself. On my way from Williamson I met the hunting parties at Piercetown. I had ordered my boys to get my pistol and buggy home, and to get my pistol at the store and clean it up, as it would not arrive, as Mr. Kelly had sent him the money and he would get them somewhere else. Mr. Kelly then went down to the store to carry some things, who I gave him and to get my pistol. Kelly took the pistol and went home, and after cleaning it up, sent his little son back to the store to get my pistol. Kelly then loaded the pistol and shot one load off in the yard. Kelly then went to the field where the hands were plowing and was filling up some logs when Austin came along, stopped and commenced talking to Kelly. Kelly had some words, but he got away from Kelly, and the others say he got away from Kelly. Austin's son said that Austin took a rock from the ground and struck Kelly on the head; some of them say that Austin got the rock out of his pocket and the others say he picked it from the ground. Kelly was struck on the left side of the head, which turned him around, some say, as often as two or three times. Kelly fired as he turned with the pistol against Austin. The ball struck Austin in the left side, about 1 1/2 inches below the heart. Dr. Smith thought it was shot through the right lung or liver, and also that he passed around the heart to the back. Austin went about twenty-five yards and laid down. Kelly then went to him and said that his clothing was on fire, and put it out. He helped Austin up and told him that he would assist him in getting to the house. When they had gone about fifty yards Kelly took sick and lay down. Austin went on to the house and lay down by the fire. When I got to him I found that he was in Mr. Kelly's house by the fire. Kelly was still down in the woods and had not got up. We got him up and assisted him to the house.

This is true a statement as I can give of the whole affair, as I had to take it from the parties who saw it. Austin is doing well, and will probably recover, as he is up walking about in the house.

Mr. MERRY WILLIAMS.

Not long since a preacher, who had bought a horse on trial, concluded to test the animal's speed under the saddle. Upon finding a level bit of road, and thinking no one in sight, he reined up to a bush and proceeded to cut a switch with which to urge the horse to greater speed. The horse which had been there before started off at a tremendous rate of speed, when this preacher, who is an eminent divine, reined back so hard on the reins trying to cast anchor as to break the bit, when away bounded the horse and down went the preacher and every encounter.

This preacher held on for dear life for about a mile and a half, when the horse's wild career was stopped and things righted, and no one hurt. It is said the preacher rivalled John Gilpin in his wild ride, with coat tails streaming out behind almost straight enough to carry a glass of water.

A great deal of excitement and comment has been caused lately by the visitation of a number of residences of something that is supposed by a number of reliable persons to be some kind of a wild animal. These visits are made in the night, and generally consist in a general attack on every dog that is found, and ends in the complete rout of the dog attacked. In some cases the dogs have not returned for a day or two, and in one instance a small dog belonging to J. H. Hyatt was killed and eaten—literally devoured—the same as a cat would devour a rat. This correspondent has made a number of observations, and in investigating trying to find out something definite as to what it is that seems such a terror to dogs and bugaboo to people. I have examined a number of tracks and have been made by this great terror—this great "What is it?"—its attack on dogs, and am forced to say that a distinct appointment is felt in falling to find any tracks or sign that could not have been made by an ordinary dog. Still we wait for further developments.

Farmers are making good use of all the fair weather to get their land in condition for planting. Some have commenced to plant corn, and another week of fair weather will be greatly appreciated by them.

A large per centage of the peach crop was killed by the late cold snap, though enough is left in most places for a tolerable good crop.

Wheat is generally looking well, though there is some complaint of the fly doing some damage.

Mr. W. B. Quail, contractor and builder, boarded the cars at this place the 19th inst. for the vicinity of Birmingham, Ala., where he goes to look after work.

Mr. N. J. Hufsteter, who has been assisting his brother in his blacksmith shop at this place, has returned to his home in North Carolina.

It is our sad duty to announce this week the death of one of our oldest and most highly esteemed citizens. Mr. John Bay Clark died on last Thursday morning in the 65th year of his age.

Mr. W. H. Morgan, merchant, Lake City, Fla., was taken with a severe cold, attended with a distressing cough and running into Consumption in its first stages. He tried many so-called popular cough remedies and steadily grew worse. Was reduced in flesh, had difficulty in breathing, and was unable to sleep. Finally tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and found immediate relief, and after using about a half dozen bottles found himself well and had no return of the disease. No other remedy can show so grand a record of cures, as Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption guaranteed to do just what is claimed for it. Trial bottles free at Hill Bros. Drug Store.
