Mr. Clemson's Bequest.

As this is a matter in which the people of the whole State are interested, and on which much conjecture and speculation has been indulged, and as we are so situated as to give the public exact figures and reliable data, with that view we have examined the return of the five appraisers appointed by the Probate Judge, an exact summary of which is given below. The appraisers were men of intelligence and business qualification, and from their return they seem to have labored to do their full duty. The result shows the amount to be larger than the estimated sum published in our last issue as given us by the executor. as stated under the heads :

on a close examination of the appraise bill the eminent financiering ability of Mr. Clemson is unparalleled. All his stocks and bonds command par, many of them a premium, the appraised value of them a premium, the appraised value of them being nearly $3,000 above their face value. Out of upwards of $24,000 of personal bonds and notes $22,928 of them are secured by mortgage of real estate, and of the remainder only $69 are valued. personal bonds and notes $22,928 of them are secured by mortgage of real estate, and of the remainder only $69 are valued as doubtful. Another fact appears on the face of the appraise bill: that the large bulk of them are dated in 1887 and 1888, showing he either renewed frequently or collected and loaned again. That an estate in personalty of $80,000, mostly in money and securities, should be so managed that only $69 are found worthless, is wonderful.

The above are facts as they appear on record, wonderful facts in themselves, all twelve cars were destroyed and sevenbut more wonderful in the face of the letter of Mr. Lee, as to the value of the the windows in the Locust Gap churches estate, as taken by us from the Charles- and schools were broken and the doors

The Clemson Will.

As many of my friends think that I should reply to the two extraordinary articles from the pen of Mr. Gideon Lee, of New York, recently published in the News and Courier, I ask you to permit me to make the following statement: I have been reliably informed that Mr. Lee intends to contest Mr. Clemson's will, of which I am the executor. The law makes it my duty, as xecutor, to defend the will and to carry into effect the purposes of the testator as set forth therein. With this fact before me I have concluded that both prudence marriage occurred at 4 o'clock this after-noon at the Woman's Christian Home, 49 West Peters street. The bride is Belle Rooney, a white woman who was sent to the penitentiary for murder, and the groom is Dock Davis, a white man who was sent to prison from Bibb County for three years for manslaughter. It appears that the two met in the penitentiary and loved each other. Several months ago, through the efforts of Mrs. Harper, a pardon was secured for Miss Rooney, and she was brought to Atlanta and taken to the Woman's Home. Saturday Davis was granted a pardon, and this afternoon made the woman his wife. Mrs. Harper, who has kept a supervision over Belle, would not countenance the marriage until she was convinced that Dock was sober and industrious and that he would make a good husband. Investigation showed that Dock had made a model convict. He is a carpenter by trade and can support a wife. The bride is about 20 years old and the groom is 30.

CRIMES AND CASUALTIES.

On Saturday evening Wm. E. Coxe, Jr., Lucein Odom and Eugene Coxe were on their way to McDaniel's mill to go in bathing. When near the East end of the jury. dam they were met by a colored boy named Dock Dargan (a son of the wellknown Essex Dargan) armed with a double-barreled shotgun. A few hurried words passed between Wm. E. Coxe, Jr., and Dargan, when Dargan raised his gun and fired, the ball entering the left breast and causing death immediately. Dargan then ran off, going in the direction of his home. He was arrested Sunday morning and lodged in jail. Rumors of lynching are heard, but the Sheriff will protect the prisoner until court meets in June. The deceased was in his twentieth year, and was the son of Mr. W. E. Coxe. Dargan had previously had a difficulty with one o'clock P. WICHITA, KANSAS, May 7 .- A strange atmospheric phenomenon was seen at Maize, west of this city, yesterday. A storm cloud burst and extended over a space, parallelogram in form, about 500 yards wide and one mile in length. For half an hour the rain came down in torrents. The heavens were black, and darkness almost equal to that of night covered the entire area. The people ran afrighted from their homes, many crying that the end of the world had come. Maize is situated on the south bank of the Arkansas River and the streets were turned into rivers, which fortunately found outlets into the Arkansas. An eye-witness described the rain coming lown in torrents, washing away a number of houses and moving others from their foundations. A house in which a family named Rockby lived was picked up by the floods and carried into the Arkansas River, where it sank, drowning Rockby, his wife and two children. A number of narrow escapes are reported. The water from the cloud seemed to come straight down and could not have been thicker had it found its scource from a lake in the air. The bodies of the Rockby family have not yet been recovered. The damage will be very large. A great many cattle and horses

Duties on Farm Products.

Washington, May 3.—General Browne of Indiana intends to offer a number of amendments to the Mills tariff bill, which will bring the farmers within the circle of protected interests. Ten central agencies are to be established at Chicago, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Omaha, St. Louis, Cedar Rapids, St. Paul, Milwaukee and Louisville to do all the selling for members of the association. The territory tributary to these commercial points is to be divided into eight principal districts and subdivided into sub-district associations by counties. The principal of each central agency, together with a general superintendent of the association, is to constitute an executive board, with power to regulate and control shipments of products on the markets, and to do all other things that shall in their judgment appear to be for the best interest of the association. Agents will be appointed to organize the farmers, stock growers and feeders into district and sub-district organizations, requiring pledges and obligations to obey the orders of the executive board with respect to sale and shipment of produce.
