

We are told that there is a time for all things, and that a "certain eternal fitness" is universally applicable to all human affairs. This is the time for Anderson to build her cotton mill, and she is going to do it.

The successful towns and cities have been made by property owners pulling together. Public improvement is an interest that pays. Don't waste your energy in neighborhood quarrels and petty squabbles for God's objects. Fight for the good, and you will find yourself benefited.

The candidate who does the least in the way of doing good, and who is the most content and acquiescent in the present state of things, is the one who is least likely to succeed. He is the one who is least likely to reach the goal. He is the one who is least likely to be successful in his efforts.

Henry Clay Lusk, an experienced journalist, has accepted the position of editor-in-chief of the Anderson Intelligence. He has entered upon his duties with the same energy and vigor that he has shown in his previous work.

The Anderson Intelligence has been a valuable asset to the community. It has provided a platform for the expression of public opinion, and has been instrumental in the advancement of the cause of education and industry.

ANDERSON'S COTTON MILL. The Intelligence takes it for granted that every citizen of the city and County of Anderson wishes to see Anderson prosper, and would prefer living in an enterprising, wide-awake community to an existence in Sleepy Hollow. But the prosperity of any community depends upon the efforts of the people of that community, and those communities that are displaying the most energy and encouraging every effort to advance their property are the ones that are making the greatest strides forward.

A company to build a cotton mill in our city has been organized, and the books to receive subscriptions to the capital stock of the same are now open. The gentlemen who are at the head of the enterprise mean business, and they have determined to push it to success. They realize that it is a big undertaking, but they are relying on the assistance of every citizen who feels any interest in the welfare and prosperity of his County and County. Now, if these gentlemen can go, the assistance, the task before them will be an easy one, comparatively. The question before our people is, will this cotton mill add anything to the prosperity of our County? The question is not a new one, for, as every man, woman, or child, who possesses the least bit of reason, knows that it will. The next question then, is, will our people assist in pushing this cotton mill to completion? We believe they will, for we are not yet ready to believe that they will be so derelict in their duty as to fail to grasp the opportunity. Every man in the County, whether he be a merchant or clerk, a lawyer, a land-owner or farmer, a contractor or workman, is directly interested in the success of this enterprise, and it is his duty to encourage the good work to the extent of his ability. Let no one fail to do his duty because he may see others shirking.

If the city and County of Anderson are to go ahead from this time forth and prosper, as we hope to, we have not only to work for it, but we also have to pay for it, often perhaps at the cost of a personal sacrifice. Eras of great public prosperity and the steady accumulation of wealth surely follow the putting forth of energy in the right direction, and the intelligent, discriminating expenditure of large sums of money. This is the case with the people, and the man who deceives himself into the thought that others can do the work and pay the bill, will only selfishly look after his own personal interests, while he belongs to a community in which the men and property in it, and its progressive and prosperous only as its citizens are public spirited and their means devoted in a proper measure to the promotion of the public good.

The erection of a cotton mill in Anderson will certainly be followed by other enterprises, all of which will benefit, directly or indirectly, every citizen, be he rich or poor. We hope our friends in the County will come forward and lend their aid in erecting this enterprise. The shares in the cotton mill are only one hundred dollars each, and there are few men in our County who could not take at least one share. The payments will be made easy, and no one need have any fear in not being able to meet them.

A Piedmont Normal Institute. In a quiet way a movement of importance to the teachers of this section is being agitated by School Commissioners Mayfield, of this county, and Clinkcales, of Anderson county. The idea originated from the Inter-County Institute of Greenville and Anderson counties, at Williams, last summer, and it looks to the union of teachers of all the higher Piedmont counties, Greenville, Anderson, Pickens, and Spartanburg, in a grand Inter-County Piedmont Normal Institute in this city this summer.

The institute at Williams last year was a splendid unbroken success. This year, by a more judicious arrangement, the institute was fixed to be held in Greenville beginning Monday, June 26th, and closing Friday, July 6th. Mr. Mayfield is now in correspondence with Prof. E. B. Klemm, of Ohio, who was principal of the institute at Williams, and who is now in Germany, and with a number of other Normal School specialists, including the Presidents of the Alabama and the North Carolina Normal Institutes with a view to securing an able faculty of at least five for this summer's session. The session, in fact, is an assumed success even if no other counties come in.

But the idea is that by the four other Piedmont counties co-operating with Greenville, the institute could be made of very great benefit to each county with an increase of the faculty and a reduction of the cost to each county. In fact, with the aid derived from the Peabody fund, it is estimated that Oconee, Pickens, Laurens and Spartanburg could join with Anderson and Greenville in the institute at an expense to each of not more than $50 or $100. The teachers of each county would have exactly the same footing in the institute and would derive the same benefit.

Commissioner Mayfield has broached the matter to the teachers of the several counties and is hopeful of success. Now that all the counties are working in harmony for one and the same end, it is but a matter of time before the institute will be a reality. The public school work where so much can be done for so little money. The movement is heartily backed by Commissioner Clinkcales, who is himself a member of the most progressive, popular and efficient organizations in the State—Greenville News, 27th inst.

Representing Borrowing Neighbors. "Till I've got one of the meanest neighbors a fellow ever had," said a man to some half a dozen loungers; "they're always on the borrow. One family in particular sends every day or two for a cup of brown coffee—of which we keep only the very best—and then returns, in place of it, a most inferior article. We're going to head 'em off on that though; they owe us a cup now, and when they get out at last with less than a spoonful in it." "How much was in it when the woman sent it home?" queried a listener. "Not a single grain—I when I washed the cup!"—Detroit Free Press.

Major E. A. Burke, of New Orleans, one of the best known newspaper men in the South, expects to visit, realizing something like $10,000,000 from his land speculations in Bessemer, Ala. If he does, it will represent an enormous profit on an investment of $100,000. It is the biggest re-velation that Rome ever had. People may say what they please about the Rev. Sam, but the fact cannot be denied that he wakes up and shakes up the sinners.

A young gentleman of France, one evening at a dance, made a bet with a fellow that he would allow a "egg without breaking the shell, and he did so. A few days afterward he experienced violent pains; the doctor administered a strong emetic, the egg came back, but broken, and out sprang a young chicken. The name of the young man's stomach had produced the unexpected result, and if any one doubts the truth of the story, say those who vouch for it, he can go to Oshlons and see the chicken that was hatched.

The Augusta Chronicle is pitching into the Rev. Sam Jones. In the meantime Mr. Jones is conducting one of the biggest revivals that Rome ever had. People may say what they please about the Rev. Sam, but the fact cannot be denied that he wakes up and shakes up the sinners.

CRIMES AND CASUALTIES. GREENVILLE, S. C., May 27.—Calvin Williams and Allen Smith, two white men were drowned while seining in Reedy river, near Fork Shoals, this afternoon. Williams, who is in deep water, was taken up in the cramp, was in the act of drowning when Smith tried to rescue him. In the attempt to do so he also was drowned. J. A. Mooney, a prominent lawyer of Greenville, who was with the men, was rendered unconscious, plunged in and made a gallant attempt to save them, but without success, life being extinct from both bodies, when found a few hours later. Williams leaves a wife and four children and Smith a wife and five children.

CHICAGO, May 24.—A dispatch from Bonham, Texas, says: A destructive cyclone swept over Brownson, 25 miles east of here, yesterday, destroying the Methodist, Baptist and Congregational churches and eight dwellings. One building was carried across a railroad track and crushed. Amanda Willis (colored), who had taken refuge inside, was instantly killed. Eight persons, including the Sheriff and County Recorder, were fatally injured. The damage will exceed $12,000. The path of the storm was three hundred yards wide and extended within those limits, crops, fences, barns, out-houses and trees, was swept away. A terrible rain, hail and lightning storm followed.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 26.—Eugene Chalkant, a laborer in the glass works at New Albany, Ind., died here this morning of hydrophobia. He was bitten some weeks ago by a small Spitz dog, but as the wound healed he paid no attention to it. Yesterday he was seized with slight prostrations of nausea which he could not explain. He sent for a doctor, who, by the time of his arrival, found Chalkant frothing at the mouth and delirious. In spite of attempts to relieve him the malady grew worse through the night until this morning. The sufferer was passing through a succession of terrible convulsions, which rapidly grew more frequent, until death. The immediate cause of death was the bursting of a blood vessel.

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 27.—Great excitement is reported to exist in the upper portion of Union county, this State, in consequence of the brutal murder of Gunnings Byers, a white youth of sixteen years, by a negro named Ben Cunningham. This negro has previously had a difficulty with Byers, and on whose farm he was taken, swearing vengeance against the whole Byers family. Cunningham took it on the first member he met unprotected. Meeting young Byers alone in the woods he dealt him a mortal blow on the head with an axe and fled. A party are already in pursuit, and it is not likely that Cunningham can escape. There is much talk of lynching him, unless he falls into the hands of the authorities before the pursuers take him he will doubtless never come to trial.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 26.—A bloody and brutal tragedy occurred late last night at Helena, a small mining town, fifteen miles from Birmingham. A party of negro laborers were drinking together, and Jack Williams and Dick Russell became involved in a quarrel. Williams drew a long-bladed knife, and attacking Russell came near cutting his heart out. The negro's breast and abdomen were laid open by heavy blows with the dirt, and he was otherwise mutilated in a horrible manner. The second stab with the dirt laid open Russell's breast and penetrated the heart, killing him instantly. Williams was arrested by three white men. While on the way to the jail he attacked them, and succeeded in making his escape, after having severely beat one of his captives. He is still at large, but was trailed with blood-hounds to-day.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 23.—A pardon has been issued by Governor Martin to Chas. H. Rotrock of Ottawa County, who killed his wife a number of years ago while under the influence of drink. The peculiar feature of the pardon is the fact that the Governor issued it upon the condition that Rotrock will forever abstain from the use of intoxicating liquor. Such a condition has never been imposed in a pardon issued by a Governor of this State. The Supreme Court of Iowa has held that the Governor may impose any condition he chooses in granting a pardon, and that in case the condition is even violated the person pardoned may be re-arrested on the order of the Governor and made to serve the balance of the penalty. Attorney General Bradford has advised the Governor that such a condition as imposed in Rotrock's pardon would be sustained by the courts.

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 25.—An attempt at poisoning, which came near being successful, is reported from Yorkville. The household of Withers Adickes, a prominent citizen of the place, consisted of six grown persons. All felt alarming symptoms immediately after breakfast, and a physician's services were required. He said their symptoms indicated arsenical poisoning. They refused medical treatment. Next morning Adickes, suspecting something still wrong, went to the kitchen, and there found that a gray powder had been put into the several articles of table ware. Analyzed by two different tests showed the presence of arsenic in these articles, including the milk. The second attempt to poison somebody was more determined than the first. Anabel Jones, a negro woman, has been arrested on suspicion and she is in Yorkville jail. The generally accepted theory is, that the attempt to poison was directed against Adickes' cook, also a colored woman.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 25.—A few weeks ago a man named "Abbidical" and "Holy One" said he had received instruction by Divine revelation to free the negroes of Georgia from the bondage of a false religion, and to lead them to the Father of Satan. He was regarded by the white people as a harmless crank. The stranger secretly informed the negroes that there was a "land of promise" which he had recently discovered. It was, he said, a place prepared for negroes, where they had neither to work nor starve, a paradise that was to be home of all who followed him. He bade them steal or to sell all they had, and to follow him to his keeping, and on a certain night they would start on their journey. A dozen families sold their cabins, crops, and all they possessed and put the money in the hands of the "Abbidical." The stranger appointed two nights ago for a meeting at an isolated spot, when a band of about forty men, women, and children congregated and waited in vain. It was ascertained that the "Abbidical" had been miles distant in an opposite direction, making his way across the country. The pilgrims pursued "Abbidical," caught him, hung him to a tree, and the expedition was abandoned. The stranger had produced the unexpected result, and if any one doubts the truth of the story, say those who vouch for it, he can go to Oshlons and see the chicken that was hatched.

Evolution Exorcised. BALTIMORE, May 26.—The Southern Presbyterian General Assembly met at 9:30 this morning. Dr. Bullock in the chair. Dr. Woodrow's case was resumed and the call continued for an expression of the views of members on evolution. Most of those who gave expression to their views announced their belief in the sinfulness of Dr. Woodrow but could not sustain his complaint. Others declared the question to be beyond the jurisdiction of the assembly and said it should be dismissed without consideration. Others announced the theory of evolution as opposed to Scripture and subversive to the interest of Christianity and of the church. Still others insisted that Dr. Woodrow in his teachings did not violate any law of God or of the church and that his complaint against the Synod of Georgia should be sustained. The delegates from the South Carolina Synod, with three exceptions, spoke in favor of sustaining the complaint of Dr. Woodrow and the Rev. Dr. J. O. Lindsay declared his entire belief in evolution, not only in the creation of the body of Adam but in the creation of all things. His remarks were greeted with applause which was promptly checked by the Moderator, who told the Assembly that they were in a court of Jesus Christ and he hoped they would in his teachings did not violate any law of God or of the church and that his complaint against the Synod of Georgia should be sustained.
