Last week he asked the Chief of Police to detail a detective to shadow the girl, stating that if she was honorably courted he would have nothing to say, but that he did not desire his children to be entrusted to a girl who was not strictly honest. The detective accordingly shadowed the girl.

On Monday morning he saw her get on a Rutledge Avenue street car where she was soon after joined by Dr. McDow, the murderer. The detective followed the pair for several hours and submitted a report in writing to the Chief of Police who communicated its contents to Capt Dawson this morning. As stated above Capt. His face was badly beaten and a pistol bullet don for them, or a commutation of was found lodged in his heart. It is supposed that he went to Dr. McDow's office to remonstrate with him, a married man and the father of several children, against seducing his maid servant, and that Mc-Dow had shot him after the two had been engaged in a struggle. After the murder McDow disappeared until about 6.30 p. m., when he appeared at the police station and surrendered himself. McDow is said to be the only doctor in the city who is not a member of the State Medical Society and has an unsavory reputation. He married some years ago the daughter of C. H. He left his home about 9 clock and was not heard from till about a. m. to-day, when his body was found stuck in the mud at Hunter's dock, on the Eastern water front. The body was found buried in the mud, the water being just below his arms, which were xtended, and myriads of crabs feasting on his face. It is supposed that he fell from the wharf into the dock, and while trying to extricate himself sank so deep in the mud as to be unable to get out. At this hour (10 p. m.) the tide was low, and at high tide there is not over three feet of water on the spot where he perished. He must have been slowly drowned by the rising tide. There are residences within 100 yards of the place where the unfortunate man met his terri ble death, but his cries were unheard. He must have been alive for four hours before the tide reached his mouth and drowned him. The place where the accident occurred is noted as a death trap. THE CENTRAL LYNCHERS.

Brief Review of the Case-Reaching Compromise Verdict After Four Hours of Consultation-Three Men Acquitted and Greenville News, 8th inst. The end of the famous Central lynching ase was reached at Pickens Wednesday night, resulting in the acquittal of three of the men charged with the lynching of the white man, Manse Waldrop, and the conviction of three others.

The case is familiar, having been pubshed far and wide at the time of its occurrence as furnishing the first known instance of the lynching of a white man by egroes for a crime for which the same mishment had come to be meted out as by an unwritten law in cases where the criminal was a negro and the victim New railroads are being built through sections of this evangelistic field and new towns are springing up, and communities hitherto remote are made easily accessible white. Manse Waldrop, a half witted white man, was charged with felonious assault on the thirteen year old daughter of Cato Sherman, a negro man living near Central. He was given a preliminary hearing before a Trial Justice at Central and committed for trial. Late in the evening of December 30th, 1887, Waldrop was started to Pickens to be placed in jail in charge of two constables. one of whom was R. Gaylord Eaton. Within a mile of Central, the officers were nalted by a party of negroes and their risoner taken away and hanged to a tree

The lynching created great excitement in the neighborhood and throughout the country. Very soon after the inquest over the body of the victim, Waldrop, a number of arrests of pegroes were made. and one white man, Gaylord Eaton, was taken into custody. The case was called it the spring ierm of court following the ynching at Pickens, but was continued egroes throughout the State had heldneetings and collected funds to help defend the case, and when it came up John M. Freeman, a colored lawyer from Charleston, was at Pickens in the interest of the colored lynchers.

The lynchers were finally brought to rial at the summer term of court last year, and the hearing resulted in a misrial. The case then came up for a secand trial last Tuesday afternoon, the six lefendants being then arraigned as follows: Gaylord Eaton, white; William Williams, Cato Sherman, (father of the girl in the case,) Jno. Reese, Harrison Heyward and Henry Bolton, The five regroes had been in jail since their arrest. ourteen months, but Eaton had been out on bond during that time. The prosecuion, which had been begun in Col. Orr's erm as Solicitor, was conducted by Soicitor Ansel. The defendants were re presented by Colonel R. W. Simpson, of Anderson, Maj. Wm. A. Williams, of this city, and Messrs. Child & Carey, of Pickens. The trial was ended Wednesday afternoon, after five hours of speeches. James P. Carey opened for the defence and was followed in order by Messrs Williams, Simpson and Child, Solicitor

Ansel closing for the State. The jury, after being charged by Judge Norton, went out with the case about six o'clock. For more than four hours they were closeted and fears began to rise of another mistrial. But about 11 o'clock. p. m., they returned with their verdict. They found Gaylord Eaton, white, and Oato Sherman and John Reese, colored, not guilty, and they found William Williams, Harrison Heyward and Henry Bolton, all colored, "guilty" of the crime of murder, and recommended them to the morey of the court.

It is said that the verdict was a compromise, some of the jury favoring the conviction of all the defendants and others advocating the acquittal of all. The trial was watched with the intensest interest by a large crowd, in which there were numbers of negroes, but there was no excitement over the verdict and no violence is expected. An appeal will be taken in the case.

The 'recommendation to mercy' in this case, it is explained, does not limit the punishment to life imprisonment. The Judge would be compelled to sentence the convicted men to be hanged, and the Governor might or might not act upon the recommendation by computing the sentences to life imprisonment.

- The latest estimate places the United States Senate at a valuation of $139,-000,000. According to this calculation there will be, including Vice-President Morton, nineteen millionaires in the American house of Lords. Only fourteen - A New York jeweler says that SIMPSON, REID & CO'S. sometimes when a gold necklace turns black when it is worn a lady jumps to the conclusion that it is not genuine. The trouble is in the girl and not the gold.

The Need of South Carolina Presbytery An Evangelist is the need. Is that need felt. This question will be answered at the approaching meeting at Edgefield on the 12th of April. Before an Evangelist can be put in the field a salary is needed. Will that need be met? This question, we hope will be answered affirmatively at the meet min be answered amrmatively at the meeting referred to above.

The evangelist field in South Carolina Presbytery has not been occupied by a regular evangelist for several years. The way has been effectually blocked by the want of the material support of an evangellist. The salary question has been the principal difficulty, and when that question is fully met the man will be found and the work begun.

The territory is large, embracing seven counties and covering an area of 4,500 square miles. In this immense field there are only fifty-one Presbyterian churches -about one church to every ninety square miles. In one county there is not a Pres-byterian church, in a second only one, and in a third only three—thus giving us more than a thousand square miles in three counties alone, unoccupied with Presbyteand here and there can be found a nucleus of a church. But who can look after and levelop such points into a church but an evangelist, whose duty will be to go from place to place preaching the Gospel by the authority and under the control of the court appointing him?

Now, can this need of South Carolina Presbytery be met? To meet it I am not authorized to say how much money would have to be raised—not more perhaps than a thousand dollars. To say that fifteen pastors, with fitty-one churches and over three thousand communicants can't raise that amount is to utter what no one will accept as true. It would cost each member 331 cents annually, and that is less per month than the cost of an old fashion postage stamp.

But some, perhaps many, are not able to give anything for this work. Probably there are sons of the Presbyterian church within the bounds of South Carolina Presbytery whom God has blessed with much of the good things of this life who would readily and cheerfully pledge themselves to pay each one-tenth or one-twentieth of the needed sum.

Surely out of these three thousand members the out of these three thousand members the control of the second of the bers there can be found one hundred per-sons who will contribute on an average vangelist. Certainly there are many who evangelist. Certainly there are many who will gladly aid what they can in this work, if the opportunity is offered them.

The Executive Committee projected a plan for raising the money which seems feasible, and which received the endorsement of the Presbytery at its last meeting. Each minister is asked to canvass his congregation and solicit, from such persons as he thinks likely to give, individual subscription to the salary of the evangelist, to be paid annually as long as he is in the field. These are personal gifts and not to effect the different causes embraced in the Assembly's scheme.

We have been asked by the executive committee to call the attention of pastors

WILL be better prepared than ever before to please their customers the approaching season. Our senior, Mr. J.H. Clarke, is now in New York, taking a thorough course in the art of Cutting, and when he returns we will be able to give perfect fits in the latest styles. We propose to give as good fits as can be had in any Tailor Shop of the larger cities.

We now have on hand a fine line of Samples of Spring Goods, and would be pleased to have our friends call and see them. Old Suits cleaned and repaired at short notice. CLARK & BRO.
