

Leaders in Intelligence.
PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.
CLINTON, MISSOURI, EDITORS AND PUBLISHERS.
THURSDAY, NOV. 14, 1889.
YEARLY SUBSCRIPTION $1.50.
SINGLE COPIES 75c.

LOCAL NEWS.
COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE.
Belton Items.
The hand of the gatherer and that of the builder are still busy with their respective duties. The former in filling the barns and store-houses of the deserving producers; the latter in contributing to the comforts, conveniences and ornaments about their houses. The entire County seems to have a full share of the blessings of this plentiful year. Evidence is noticeable everywhere and in everything; the disposition to erect new buildings, improve old ones, to make proper returns to and for all helping agents, whether hands, money, animals, or else; the quick elastic step, cheerful tone, bright and happy faces. There seems to be a consciousness of having done something for which a reward was offered and has been won, honestly and deservedly. Belton is enjoying these common blessings, and by her continued and increasing steps of advancement is setting forth proof of rightly appreciating and using her share of the year's gifts. There are going up private residences, boarding houses, store rooms and painting, and the preparation of the necessary erections. One of the best Academy buildings in the State, The neighboring kindness and consideration for the comfort and pleasure of everybody else, on the part of each genuine well-wisher for Belton's prosperity, is not the least to be admired private contribution towards promoting public good. We have been so often the recipient of these favors that experience as well as observation is our best source of information and means to arrive at a correct judgment.
Rev. E. C. Rice left on 8th inst. for Texas. He expected to go several days before, but was unavoidably detained. He is so good at heart, and his many friends in this native State that he believes, but for his promise to friends in Texas, he would have decided against going; though for a few months only will be absent. The favorable offers of positions in his field of labor in Texas, has made the impression with some that he has gone to remain there. We are glad that he has been so successful in his efforts, and we believe he can be induced to notwithstanding the ties of long existence there of friends and relatives. Besides, the graves of his parents are there.
Mr. J. W. Campbell says the report of his big pigs is a little too heavy, and one too many even on light weight, but he claims to be close behind the leader in the sale of cotton. He sold already fifteen bales from twenty three acres. Several more bales to be gathered. Hurrah for Mr. Campbell!
Mr. J. M. Cox from Toney Creek was in town Friday. He doesn't allow us to see him as often as we would like to. He reports gathering well along.
The Mill School will open next Monday in the new building. Miss Calabash has worked up the people to a right view of such matters.
Todd Bros. have received some splendid specimens of Canadian turkeys of the Raga variety. It will do one good to see them, much more to try them at meal time. We had the pleasure of seeing a few of them, and for which we return thanks. We are much indebted to Mr. G. W. McGee for a similar and appreciated favor.
Rev. Mr. Wrotech preached a greatly enjoyed sermon to a large congregation Sunday at the Methodist Church. We wish the entire County may the State could emulate him.
Next Wednesday protracted services will be begun at the Baptist Church here. Everybody invited to attend.
Married, on Wednesday evening, November 13th, by Rev. Chas. Manly, Mr. J. A. McDaniel, of Greenville, and Miss Nora Brown, of Belton.
KAPPA.
Moffattville Items.
Returning from the meeting of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Synod at Prosperity, in Newberry County, S. C., Dr. and Mrs. Pressley, of N. C., made a stop here on their way to the State Fair, in this County. Passing through your place they spent a day and night with each of two of your citizens—Mrs. Jephtha Wilson, whose wife is a sister of Mrs. Pressley, and with her son-in-law, Mr. George Broyles. By these they were most kindly received and hospitably entertained. When invitations were extended to them to visit old friends of forty years ago, a son of Mr. D. J. Sherard, the Doctor's brother-in-law, who owns the old homestead, appeared with a turnout, cutting short their visit in your place.
Mr. Albert Bowie is building a new house near Good Hope Church. When completed it will be a very neat little cottage.
Candy "pullings" must be all the go at present—can't some one start up something new?
Rev. R. C. Ligon had his fall communion last Sunday. Dr. J. E. Pressley preached two very interesting and instructive sermons for him.
The school at this place is not quite as full as was expected. Most of the children are busily employed in the cotton patch these days.
Mr. Jim and John Cuddy, two Abbeville boys, are keeping bachelor's "hall" and going to school at the Moffattville Academy.
Mrs. Dr. Sherard is visiting relatives in Abbeville County.
Quite a crowd of young people went down on the excursion to Augusta last week; also to the Charleston Fair.
JACK.
Honea Path Items.
On last Wednesday Rev. D. W. Hiett moved from this place to his former home in Williamston. We regretted very much for him and his family to leave here, for they have a warm place in the hearts of their neighbors here. We know they will be warmly welcomed by their many friends in Williamston. The Baptist Church here has been under charge of Mr. Hiett for the last two years, and though he has moved away, it is understood that he will still preach here. He is a tireless worker, and under his charge the church has greatly prospered. He was to have been back and preach for us last Sunday, but sickness prevented. In his absence Mr. B. M. Cheatham made a very interesting talk on Missions in Japan.
Prof. Henry Newton, teacher of vocal music in the school here, has organized a choir to lead in singing in the different churches here, and we have some excellent singers.
Rev. A. C. Stepp paid our town a brief visit this week. We are always glad to see him.
Miss Sallie Moore, of Laurens, is visiting friends in Honea Path, and some of our young men are happy.
Mr. S. L. Burts, who has been at home sick for about two weeks, is still very weak, and will not be able to return to his work for some time.
Miss Rosa Eskew, of Grove Station, who has been at home sick for some time, has returned to school.
Mr. E. B. Rator, of Donaldville, who has been attending school here, has been called home on account of the serious sickness of his mother.
The school here has enrolled about one hundred and fifty pupils since the first of September, about fifty of them boarders.
At the hot supper last Friday night all seemed to have quite a pleasant time and a nice little sum was realized. It is expected that we will have another hot supper about Christmas.
Mr. M. L. Wilson, manager of the All-ance store, has moved into town. We called to him a hearty welcome.

Over three thousand bales of cotton have been bought, since the opening of the season. The merchants here are doing a fine business and selling goods low down.
An Indian doctor has put in his appearance here, and promised to cure people of very nearly all their pains and aches. He has been here about two weeks, but we do not know how he is succeeding.
A number of our people went to Charleston last week and a number of them are going to Columbia this week.
Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Clara Sharpe and Mr. M. M. Mattison of Donaldville. Hyman seems to skip over Honea Path and our bachelors "alone in their glory."
Miss Lou, Smith, one of Laurens' fair daughters, is visiting the family of Mr. H. S. Shumate.
Mr. Will, Milford, of Anderson, is spending a few days in Honea Path.
Mrs. W. A. Davis, who has been spending a few days with her father's family in Brushy Creek Township, has returned home.
Fors.
Andersonville Items.
The farmers are through gathering corn, and are preparing to sow the small grain crop, and from what we can gather they aim to put in a larger acreage than usual.
Hon. E. P. Earle, of Seneca, spent the night in this section this week. His visits are a source of much pleasure to his many friends, who would be glad to see him often.
Married, at the residence of the bride's mother, "Just over the river," November 7th, Mr. John Dyer and Miss Della Parlane, both of Hart County, Ga. The groom and his bonny bride are well known in this section, and their many friends join in congratulating them in their happiness. May the richest blessings be their portion.
There is a man in this section so anxious to know who "Ray" was, put himself to the trouble to ride all the way to Anderson to find out. Such is human nature.
Game of all kinds, except the turkey, is very scarce in this section. We have heard of only one dove of turkeys this fall, and it was in Georgia.
Recently we accepted an invitation to spend the afternoon with our clever young friend, Mr. E. E. McAdams. After a short ride behind his handsome sorrel, we arrived at the hospitable home of his father, and after partaking of the good things provided for the inner man, to our limited capacity, were taken out to see his fine pig. It is of the common scrub stock, nine months old, and will weigh two hundred pounds. A goodly crowd of young people came in and the afternoon was spent in pleasant conversation and singing. The stinking sun warmed us to the bone, and it was with great relief that we left that happy familiarity, but we left armed with an invitation to come again at hog killing time. We'll be there, friend Mc, if we are spared to see that day. Before we close we wish to extend our thanks to the family for their kindness, and especially to Miss Sadie. Oh! that we were a young man again.
RAY.

A Pleasant Day at Lebanon.
Mr. Editor: "Bible Day" at Lebanon last Sunday will be remembered with pleasure by all whose privilege it was to be present.
The Church was festively decorated with the most beautiful flowers, and at an early hour a large congregation had assembled to observe with appropriate ceremonies the bright Sabbath that had been set apart for this occasion. Prof. W. P. Holland, Sunday School Superintendent, after making a few remarks concerning the observance of "Bible Day," asked Rev. W. C. Hawkins to give a talk on "Bible Week." In compliance with this request Mr. Hawkins briefly, but ably, reviewed this noble work, which is being so vigorously carried forward by Christian denominations in all parts of the civilized world.
After the splendid talk by Mr. Hawkins, the following interesting programme was carried out:
Music—(Mrs. J. H. Hutchinson, Organist.)
Recitations—"Over and Over Again," Julius Wilson; "A Comforter," Anna Bowen.
Music.
Recitations—"The Blessed Bible," Nena Brazelae; "The Cruise that Falloch Not," Dora Patterson.
Music.
Recitations—"The Guiding Pillar," Daisy Duckworth; "The Immortal Book," Louis Richardson.
Music.
Recitations—"An Open Bible 'Neath the Flag," Miss Rosa Welborn; "Give," Maggie Buchanan.
Music.
Recitation—"Christ's Sympathy," Miss E. Corlie Hutchinson.
A collection amounting to twenty dollars was then taken up.
The above recitations were well rendered and the music was especially good.
After singing "Shall We Meet beyond the River," the exercises were closed with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Hawkins.
The pastor of the Lebanon Academy was certainly fortunate in again securing the services of Prof. W. P. Holland. Prof. Holland and his assistant, Miss Rosa C. Milford, have given universal satisfaction to patrons, pupils and trustees of this flourishing institution of learning.
They use the most improved methods in teaching and their motto is "Thoroughness in school work and kindness, yet firmness in controlling."
What we need in our homes, our schools, our Churches and in our legislative and executive departments is more earnest, more zealous, more patient, Christianlike workers—men and women who are ever ready and willing to sacrifice their own persons for the interests of the up-building of their Church and country.
We will long and pleasantly remember the occasion which brought us to Lebanon, and would here express our most heartfelt thanks to each and every one who contributed so much to the pleasure of "Bible Day," and especially would we thank Prof. W. P. Holland and family for the pleasant manner in which they so hospitably entertained us. VISTOR.

Holland's Store Items.
Married, by J. C. Winter, at his residence, on Sunday evening, November 3rd, Mr. Jos. Adams and Miss Susie Estes, both of Hartwood, Ga.
Mrs. Polly Reed, a lady of about sixty years of age, died at her home in this community on Sunday night, the 3rd ul. Her remains were interred at the 3rd ul. Her remains were interred at the 3rd ul. Her remains were interred at the 3rd ul.
A row occurred on Mr. J. T. McCown's place among some negroes one night last week, in which razors were brought into service. One darkey was sliced up pretty badly, but Dr. Whiteport appeared and set the razor wounds up, and he is doing very well.
Any old soldier remembering the regiment in which T. M. Fisher served during the late war, will confer a favor by letting Mr. Joe Winter know it. His widow is entitled to a pension, but she is unable to locate her husband's whereabouts while in the war.
Rev. Mrs. T. Hanks has been confined to her bed for several days with fever. We are glad to say she is improving.
Mr. John Vassar killed a wild goose weighing about twenty pounds on the Savannah recently. They are quite numerous, and furnish fine sport for our sportsmen.
Misses Amy and Pallie Dean, of Deans, R. C., are visiting the family of Mr. W. I.

Frozen to Death.
DENVER, COL., November 4.—One of the results of the terrible blizzards which swept over Colorado and Kansas last week reached here to-day from Folson, New Mexico. Thursday night Henry Miller, the range foreman for Col. R. G. Head, was reported to have been frozen to death. He was carrying 1,800 beef cattle, which they were holding for the purpose of loading in cars. At a place that morning a blizzard from the Northwest laid the range foreman and his cowboys being unable to hold them. The snow was so blinding that it made it impossible to see fifty feet ahead. Miller called his men to get on their feet and to follow the herd, and made an attempt to keep them bunched as far as possible.
The men became separated. Friday night one of them wandered into Head's home and died of the cold, and of starvation and hunger. He told his story and a rescuing party was immediately sent out, and at noon the frozen bodies of Henry Miller, Joe Martin and Charlie Jolly were found lying on the ice. They were taken to the herd, and made an attempt to keep them bunched as far as possible. Friday night one of them wandered into Head's home and died of the cold, and of starvation and hunger. He told his story and a rescuing party was immediately sent out, and at noon the frozen bodies of Henry Miller, Joe Martin and Charlie Jolly were found lying on the ice. They were taken to the herd, and made an attempt to keep them bunched as far as possible.

The Inevitable Democracy.
The Democratic party "was not born to die. It has survived greater defeats than the present and emerged stronger than before." Such were the courageous words of David B. Hill on the night after the Presidential election in November last. They served as a cordial to the drooping spirits of a faint hearted, and inspired with hope and high resolve all the Democratic voters of the Union. Defeat did not dismay them nor move them from their allegiance to the party which "doctors" and "assurances" as Mr. Cleveland says, "will insure the happiness, contentment and prosperity of the people." The result of the elections on Tuesday showed the perfection and the strength of the leadership possessed by the Democratic party throughout the country. But more than this it affords striking proof of the progress that has been made in the way of education, and the growth which attends the development of sound political principles. Elections were held in ten States on Tuesday. In seven of these States, only the Democratic party was in the field, the Democrats achieved splendid victories, while in the remaining three States the Republicans sustained decided losses.
New York is overwhelmingly Democratic. Maryland holds its proper place in the Democratic column.
New Jersey has again repudiated Republican principles and policies. The Democratic party has been vindicating for eight days come to an end, and next morning will show the country covered with dead bodies of animals as thickly as was the old Santa Fe trail in the winter of 1876. The Democrats did not less than twenty-six inches on a level, and in many places it has drifted seven feet high. When the storm struck this section seven large herds of cattle, numbering 2,000, were being driven near this place, awaiting shipment to Eastern markets. The rain of a week ago was followed Thursday morning by blizzards of snow and sleet, which sent the Democrats into a panic. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.
Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Proclamation.
STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
WHERESAS there has been received at this Department that an atrocious murder was committed in the County of Anderson on or about the 30th day of October, A. D. 1889, upon the body of William Barry by Henry Murphy, and that the said Henry Murphy has fled from justice: Now, therefore, I, J. P. Richardson, Governor of the State of South Carolina, in order that justice may be done and the majesty of the law vindicated, do hereby offer a reward, subject to the approval of the General Assembly, of Seventy-five Dollars for the apprehension and delivery to the Sheriff of Anderson County of the said Henry Murphy.
Said Henry Murphy is of "ginger-cake" color, short, heavy built, reddish-brown, curly hair, twenty-five years old, thick lips, wide mouth, somewhat round shouldered.
In testimony whereof, I have herewith set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at Columbia, this eighth day of November, A. D. 1889, and in the one hundred and fourth year of the Independence of the United States of America.
J. P. RICHARDSON, Governor.
By the Governor: J. Q. MARSHALL, Secretary of State.
Nov 14, 1889 19 1

PROCLAMATION.
STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
WHERESAS there has been received at this Department that an atrocious murder was committed in the County of Anderson on or about the 30th day of October, A. D. 1889, upon the body of William Barry by Henry Murphy, and that the said Henry Murphy has fled from justice: Now, therefore, I, J. P. Richardson, Governor of the State of South Carolina, in order that justice may be done and the majesty of the law vindicated, do hereby offer a reward, subject to the approval of the General Assembly, of Seventy-five Dollars for the apprehension and delivery to the Sheriff of Anderson County of the said Henry Murphy.
Said Henry Murphy is of "ginger-cake" color, short, heavy built, reddish-brown, curly hair, twenty-five years old, thick lips, wide mouth, somewhat round shouldered.
In testimony whereof, I have herewith set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at Columbia, this eighth day of November, A. D. 1889, and in the one hundred and fourth year of the Independence of the United States of America.
J. P. RICHARDSON, Governor.
By the Governor: J. Q. MARSHALL, Secretary of State.
Nov 14, 1889 19 1

The Democrats of Cincinnati painted the city red as soon as the fact of a Democratic sweep in Ohio was definitely ascertained. Processions moved about the streets, and the tooting of horns and the beating of drums made night hideous. The most unique way of celebrating was displayed by Allen O. Myers, a well-known newspaper man, who was recently imprisoned by a Republican Judge, for alleged contempt of Court. Mr. Myers rode down Vine street mounted on one of John Robinson's camels. The animal was gayly attired and the turnout was followed by an immense mob of yelling men and boys. Accompanying him was a wagon in which an organ had been placed, and a big fat saloon keeper grinding out the music.

Mr. Cameron, who in 1882 was elected Governor of Virginia by 11,716 majority, defeating Mr. Daniel, the Democratic candidate, and who has acted with the Republicans of late years until Mahone's recent nomination, said in an interview published in the "Daily Capital": "I consider that President Harrison went to protest last Tuesday as an endorser of Mahone's note, and I have no more to say of one of them than I have to say of the other. I believe the result of Tuesday's election to have been North and South, a substantial rebuke to the pretensions and hypocrisies of Mr. Harrison's Administration. In Virginia, Ohio and New York the President refused recognition to friends who had made his nomination, and in each of these States recognized and assisted the worst elements of his own party, and in these States as well as in New York, after less than twelve months of service as President, he has received at the hands of the people who elected him full notice that his Administration of public affairs has not been satisfactory to them."

Game of all kinds, except the turkey, is very scarce in this section. We have heard of only one dove of turkeys this fall, and it was in Georgia. Recently we accepted an invitation to spend the afternoon with our clever young friend, Mr. E. E. McAdams. After a short ride behind his handsome sorrel, we arrived at the hospitable home of his father, and after partaking of the good things provided for the inner man, to our limited capacity, were taken out to see his fine pig. It is of the common scrub stock, nine months old, and will weigh two hundred pounds. A goodly crowd of young people came in and the afternoon was spent in pleasant conversation and singing. The stinking sun warmed us to the bone, and it was with great relief that we left that happy familiarity, but we left armed with an invitation to come again at hog killing time. We'll be there, friend Mc, if we are spared to see that day. Before we close we wish to extend our thanks to the family for their kindness, and especially to Miss Sadie. Oh! that we were a young man again.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

PROCLAMATION.
STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
WHERESAS there has been received at this Department that an atrocious murder was committed in the County of Anderson on or about the 30th day of October, A. D. 1889, upon the body of William Barry by Henry Murphy, and that the said Henry Murphy has fled from justice: Now, therefore, I, J. P. Richardson, Governor of the State of South Carolina, in order that justice may be done and the majesty of the law vindicated, do hereby offer a reward, subject to the approval of the General Assembly, of Seventy-five Dollars for the apprehension and delivery to the Sheriff of Anderson County of the said Henry Murphy.
Said Henry Murphy is of "ginger-cake" color, short, heavy built, reddish-brown, curly hair, twenty-five years old, thick lips, wide mouth, somewhat round shouldered.
In testimony whereof, I have herewith set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at Columbia, this eighth day of November, A. D. 1889, and in the one hundred and fourth year of the Independence of the United States of America.
J. P. RICHARDSON, Governor.
By the Governor: J. Q. MARSHALL, Secretary of State.
Nov 14, 1889 19 1

The Democrats of Cincinnati painted the city red as soon as the fact of a Democratic sweep in Ohio was definitely ascertained. Processions moved about the streets, and the tooting of horns and the beating of drums made night hideous. The most unique way of celebrating was displayed by Allen O. Myers, a well-known newspaper man, who was recently imprisoned by a Republican Judge, for alleged contempt of Court. Mr. Myers rode down Vine street mounted on one of John Robinson's camels. The animal was gayly attired and the turnout was followed by an immense mob of yelling men and boys. Accompanying him was a wagon in which an organ had been placed, and a big fat saloon keeper grinding out the music.

Mr. Cameron, who in 1882 was elected Governor of Virginia by 11,716 majority, defeating Mr. Daniel, the Democratic candidate, and who has acted with the Republicans of late years until Mahone's recent nomination, said in an interview published in the "Daily Capital": "I consider that President Harrison went to protest last Tuesday as an endorser of Mahone's note, and I have no more to say of one of them than I have to say of the other. I believe the result of Tuesday's election to have been North and South, a substantial rebuke to the pretensions and hypocrisies of Mr. Harrison's Administration. In Virginia, Ohio and New York the President refused recognition to friends who had made his nomination, and in each of these States recognized and assisted the worst elements of his own party, and in these States as well as in New York, after less than twelve months of service as President, he has received at the hands of the people who elected him full notice that his Administration of public affairs has not been satisfactory to them."

Game of all kinds, except the turkey, is very scarce in this section. We have heard of only one dove of turkeys this fall, and it was in Georgia. Recently we accepted an invitation to spend the afternoon with our clever young friend, Mr. E. E. McAdams. After a short ride behind his handsome sorrel, we arrived at the hospitable home of his father, and after partaking of the good things provided for the inner man, to our limited capacity, were taken out to see his fine pig. It is of the common scrub stock, nine months old, and will weigh two hundred pounds. A goodly crowd of young people came in and the afternoon was spent in pleasant conversation and singing. The stinking sun warmed us to the bone, and it was with great relief that we left that happy familiarity, but we left armed with an invitation to come again at hog killing time. We'll be there, friend Mc, if we are spared to see that day. Before we close we wish to extend our thanks to the family for their kindness, and especially to Miss Sadie. Oh! that we were a young man again.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

PROCLAMATION.
STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
WHERESAS there has been received at this Department that an atrocious murder was committed in the County of Anderson on or about the 30th day of October, A. D. 1889, upon the body of William Barry by Henry Murphy, and that the said Henry Murphy has fled from justice: Now, therefore, I, J. P. Richardson, Governor of the State of South Carolina, in order that justice may be done and the majesty of the law vindicated, do hereby offer a reward, subject to the approval of the General Assembly, of Seventy-five Dollars for the apprehension and delivery to the Sheriff of Anderson County of the said Henry Murphy.
Said Henry Murphy is of "ginger-cake" color, short, heavy built, reddish-brown, curly hair, twenty-five years old, thick lips, wide mouth, somewhat round shouldered.
In testimony whereof, I have herewith set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at Columbia, this eighth day of November, A. D. 1889, and in the one hundred and fourth year of the Independence of the United States of America.
J. P. RICHARDSON, Governor.
By the Governor: J. Q. MARSHALL, Secretary of State.
Nov 14, 1889 19 1

The Democrats of Cincinnati painted the city red as soon as the fact of a Democratic sweep in Ohio was definitely ascertained. Processions moved about the streets, and the tooting of horns and the beating of drums made night hideous. The most unique way of celebrating was displayed by Allen O. Myers, a well-known newspaper man, who was recently imprisoned by a Republican Judge, for alleged contempt of Court. Mr. Myers rode down Vine street mounted on one of John Robinson's camels. The animal was gayly attired and the turnout was followed by an immense mob of yelling men and boys. Accompanying him was a wagon in which an organ had been placed, and a big fat saloon keeper grinding out the music.

Mr. Cameron, who in 1882 was elected Governor of Virginia by 11,716 majority, defeating Mr. Daniel, the Democratic candidate, and who has acted with the Republicans of late years until Mahone's recent nomination, said in an interview published in the "Daily Capital": "I consider that President Harrison went to protest last Tuesday as an endorser of Mahone's note, and I have no more to say of one of them than I have to say of the other. I believe the result of Tuesday's election to have been North and South, a substantial rebuke to the pretensions and hypocrisies of Mr. Harrison's Administration. In Virginia, Ohio and New York the President refused recognition to friends who had made his nomination, and in each of these States recognized and assisted the worst elements of his own party, and in these States as well as in New York, after less than twelve months of service as President, he has received at the hands of the people who elected him full notice that his Administration of public affairs has not been satisfactory to them."

Game of all kinds, except the turkey, is very scarce in this section. We have heard of only one dove of turkeys this fall, and it was in Georgia. Recently we accepted an invitation to spend the afternoon with our clever young friend, Mr. E. E. McAdams. After a short ride behind his handsome sorrel, we arrived at the hospitable home of his father, and after partaking of the good things provided for the inner man, to our limited capacity, were taken out to see his fine pig. It is of the common scrub stock, nine months old, and will weigh two hundred pounds. A goodly crowd of young people came in and the afternoon was spent in pleasant conversation and singing. The stinking sun warmed us to the bone, and it was with great relief that we left that happy familiarity, but we left armed with an invitation to come again at hog killing time. We'll be there, friend Mc, if we are spared to see that day. Before we close we wish to extend our thanks to the family for their kindness, and especially to Miss Sadie. Oh! that we were a young man again.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

PROCLAMATION.
STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
WHERESAS there has been received at this Department that an atrocious murder was committed in the County of Anderson on or about the 30th day of October, A. D. 1889, upon the body of William Barry by Henry Murphy, and that the said Henry Murphy has fled from justice: Now, therefore, I, J. P. Richardson, Governor of the State of South Carolina, in order that justice may be done and the majesty of the law vindicated, do hereby offer a reward, subject to the approval of the General Assembly, of Seventy-five Dollars for the apprehension and delivery to the Sheriff of Anderson County of the said Henry Murphy.
Said Henry Murphy is of "ginger-cake" color, short, heavy built, reddish-brown, curly hair, twenty-five years old, thick lips, wide mouth, somewhat round shouldered.
In testimony whereof, I have herewith set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at Columbia, this eighth day of November, A. D. 1889, and in the one hundred and fourth year of the Independence of the United States of America.
J. P. RICHARDSON, Governor.
By the Governor: J. Q. MARSHALL, Secretary of State.
Nov 14, 1889 19 1

The Democrats of Cincinnati painted the city red as soon as the fact of a Democratic sweep in Ohio was definitely ascertained. Processions moved about the streets, and the tooting of horns and the beating of drums made night hideous. The most unique way of celebrating was displayed by Allen O. Myers, a well-known newspaper man, who was recently imprisoned by a Republican Judge, for alleged contempt of Court. Mr. Myers rode down Vine street mounted on one of John Robinson's camels. The animal was gayly attired and the turnout was followed by an immense mob of yelling men and boys. Accompanying him was a wagon in which an organ had been placed, and a big fat saloon keeper grinding out the music.

Mr. Cameron, who in 1882 was elected Governor of Virginia by 11,716 majority, defeating Mr. Daniel, the Democratic candidate, and who has acted with the Republicans of late years until Mahone's recent nomination, said in an interview published in the "Daily Capital": "I consider that President Harrison went to protest last Tuesday as an endorser of Mahone's note, and I have no more to say of one of them than I have to say of the other. I believe the result of Tuesday's election to have been North and South, a substantial rebuke to the pretensions and hypocrisies of Mr. Harrison's Administration. In Virginia, Ohio and New York the President refused recognition to friends who had made his nomination, and in each of these States recognized and assisted the worst elements of his own party, and in these States as well as in New York, after less than twelve months of service as President, he has received at the hands of the people who elected him full notice that his Administration of public affairs has not been satisfactory to them."

Game of all kinds, except the turkey, is very scarce in this section. We have heard of only one dove of turkeys this fall, and it was in Georgia. Recently we accepted an invitation to spend the afternoon with our clever young friend, Mr. E. E. McAdams. After a short ride behind his handsome sorrel, we arrived at the hospitable home of his father, and after partaking of the good things provided for the inner man, to our limited capacity, were taken out to see his fine pig. It is of the common scrub stock, nine months old, and will weigh two hundred pounds. A goodly crowd of young people came in and the afternoon was spent in pleasant conversation and singing. The stinking sun warmed us to the bone, and it was with great relief that we left that happy familiarity, but we left armed with an invitation to come again at hog killing time. We'll be there, friend Mc, if we are spared to see that day. Before we close we wish to extend our thanks to the family for their kindness, and especially to Miss Sadie. Oh! that we were a young man again.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

Two cowboys drifted into a canyon, where they found a cedar tree with a rat's nest in it. They managed to light a fire with it during the second night, and the Democrats were saved. The Democrats did the already half frozen cowboys try to check the march of the herds, but on they went, through the increasing storm, until, finding it utterly impossible to hold them, and when nearly dead or partially exhausted into canyons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours of misery, without food or fire.

PROCLAMATION.
STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
WHERESAS there has been received at this Department that an atrocious murder was committed in the County of Anderson on or about the 30th day of October, A. D. 1889, upon the body of William Barry by Henry Murphy, and that the said Henry Murphy has fled from justice: Now, therefore, I, J. P. Richardson, Governor of the State of South Carolina, in order that justice may be done and the majesty of the law vindicated, do hereby offer a reward, subject to the approval of the General Assembly, of Seventy-five Dollars for the apprehension and delivery to the Sheriff of Anderson County of the said Henry Murphy.
Said Henry Murphy is of "ginger-cake" color, short, heavy built, reddish-brown, curly hair, twenty-five years old, thick lips, wide mouth, somewhat round shouldered.
In testimony whereof, I have herewith set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at Columbia, this eighth day of November, A. D. 1889, and in the one hundred and fourth year of the Independence of the United States of America.
J. P. RICHARDSON, Governor.
By the Governor: J. Q. MARSHALL, Secretary of State.
Nov 14, 1889 19 1

The Democrats of Cincinnati painted the city red as soon as the fact of a Democratic sweep in Ohio was definitely ascertained. Processions moved about the streets, and the tooting of horns and the beating of drums made night hideous. The most unique way of celebrating was displayed by Allen O. Myers, a well-known newspaper man,