Well, How About TINWARE?

Who brought the prices down on this article of merchandise? Why, the RACK-ET, of course!

If you could hear the voice of all that would say "the RACKET has brought down the price on everything he has handled since he came," you couldn't hear your ears! We don't sell some articles at cost or below, and put on two or three hundred per cent on others. We don't put out such baits. If we wanted to give you saything we would give it straightout. Now, don't you know if we sell you an article at cost that we are bound to make it up on something else, (that you don't know the value of,) or the Widow and Chaps will be cheated?

So we propose to deal fairly and squarely—charge you a living profit on everything. You may rest assured you won't be hurt by the RACKET PRICES! Best Stick Candy at IOc. a Pound. C. F. BOLT is now with me, and will be glad to see his friends.

How to Keep Sweet Potatoes, For the benefit of your readers, I give ou my experience, extending over twenty years, in preserving sweet potatoes. When a small boy, I noticed that my father, who had a costly cellar, never had potatoes after Christmas, and that he always had to buy his plantings from neighbor Tom Phillips. I well remember swapping biscuit for potatoes with the Phillips children at school in March and April. From this neighbor

I learned how to keep sweet potatoes. Dig after the first signs of frost are on the vines. Don't be in a hurry about it. Take plenty of time rather than worry over getting them in the same day, let them stay in the patch all night, in small piles, putting vines over them to keep frost or heavy dew off. Put one or two months' supply in the cellar; the others to keep should be put up as follows: Take time and do not be in a hurry.

Throw up a foundation of dirt at least eighteen inches, large enough to hold twenty-five bushels or less, never more, in one hill. On this foundation should be spread dry pine straw at least six inches deep. After the potatoes have been carefully piled on, coat with four or five inches of dry pine straw; on this place corn stalks vertically, making each stalk fit snug and close to its neighbor-one round of stalks being sufficient. Let stalks lap over apex of hill. Then carefully cover with dirt about three inches thick until the weather gets colder, when an additional coating of dirt will ALL orders will receive prompt attention. Prices and quality guaran- be necessary. Always leave top of hill free from dirt The straw and lapping stalk ends are sufficient protection. An And save labor-the best and cheapest Washing Compound in the world. Half old window shutter, door or eighteeninch board placed slopingly, with slope to the north, is all the shelter needed. The colder the winter, the more dirt is necessary on the hills, too much dirt will cause rot in mild weather. Potatoes are more often damaged by heat than by cold. Take down a whole hill, as necessity requires, for table or market, and go for several days rather than broach your hill in damp, foggy or rainy weath-

Yet the same houses had not an easy chair to rest the body, a book to entertain the mind, nor a convenience to lighten labor. Nor had the inmates a kindly thought or word for each other, let alone the work outside. Can God bless+such I have FRESH BREAD, CAKES, PASTRY, Etc., every day, and will be homes with children? "Curious notions some of these philanthropical people have who want young ize them !"

It was John Selend of Helena Mon., Fifth Avenue Hotel.

"I have lived," said he, "more than my opinion on the Indian question is worth something. I tell you that once is something in this easy, careless, irresponsible life they lead that holds them proof against any line of civilization. Their chief occupation is their own adornment, and their days are a succession of talks, smokes, sleeps, feasts, funerals, weddings, and all woven into a never ending warp of poker, with an occasional dash or horserace. Educate them? You can't do it. I was told something the other day which will do as a proof of the truth of what I say. On the Osage Indian Reservation there are about fifteen hundred Indians, and among them some fifty graduates-boys and girls of the Carlisle University. It would grieve those excellent educators who have charge of that seminary if they should perchance visit the Osage agency at Panhusks and review their former scholars. The last one of them is in his breech-clout and blanket, and avoids English as a language as if every word was a rattlesnake. There is not one left to tell you the tale of their sojourn at Carlisle, for not one of them the full blood Indian is an exasperating failure. It will ever fail, as will all attempts by one race to make its civilization fit another and a different one."-New York Star.
