Fact against Fiction. There is no figment of the imagination—if it is at all within the limit of possibilities—more curious or strange than some things that actually happen. The following is an instance in proof of this:

A few years ago Frank Millet, the well-known artist, war correspondent and A few years ago Frank Millet, the well-known artist, war correspondent and story writer, published a short story in a leading magazine which had as its principal features the mysterious killing of a Parisian artist in his own studio. A web of circumstancial evidence led to the arrest of a model who had been in the habit rest of a model who had been in the habit of posing for him. But through seme chain of circumstances, which the writer of this has now forgotten, the murder—if murder it can be called—was found to have been caused by the discharge of a firearm through the force of capillary attraction. The firearm was used by the artist as a studio accessory, and was hung in such a manner that he was directly in rest of a model who had been in the habit officers refuse to give any information as artist as a studio accessory, and was hung in such a manner that he was directly in line with it. Its discharge occurred when he was alone in his studio. The small station on the line just outside the stery was a vivid and ingenious flight of the imagination. Now for its parallel in as to tempt those engaged in train robact:

A recent number of the Albany Law dered. When the trair, reached Elkhorn Journal tells of the arrest of a man upon the charge of killing his cousin. The dead crossing, about a mile beyond West Side, and stopped to whistle, two of the robbers jumped into the cab and covered the en-gineer with revolvers. Others in the parman was found lying upon a lounge about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, with a 32-calibre ball in his brain. The cousin, who had an interest of $100,000 in his death, was alone with him in the house at the time. The discovery of the real cause of ty turned their attention to the Pacinc Express Car and held up Messenger Green with a couple of miniature Gatling Guns at his head. Green was ordered to open the express safe or have his body his death was due to the lawyer of the accused, who took the rifle from which the ball had been fired, loaded and hung it upon the wall, and then marked the form perforated with bullets. Green opened the strong box and was bound and covered with revolvers. As quickly as possi of a man upon a white sheet and placed it ble the entire contents of the safe were dumped into the bag. Switchmen and upon a lounge where the man had been baggagemen were compelled to walk back down the track a mile or two in order to flag other trains After the hold-up the train ran to Portal, eight miles distant, found. Then a heavy cut-glass pitcher of water was placed upon a shelf above. The temperature was 90° in the shade. The pitcher of water acted as a sunand side-tracked, while the engine ran back to pick up the fireman and brake-man. None of the passengers or crew glass, and the hot rays of the sun shining through the water were refracted directly upon the cartridge chamber of the rifle. Eight witnesses were in the room, and a were hart or robbed. few minutes after 3 o'clock there was a puff and a report, and the ball struck the outlined form back of the ear, and the theory of circumstantial evidence was necticutt has a new prophet, James J.
