If we had a regula mailrider, a three-times-a-week mail and a post-office located in our community near the Institute, we would be a community to be envied. Look at our advan-tages. Our healthy climate and our affable doctor drive away all fear of any ravages of disease. We try to meet each other, visiting friends and strangers with such a welcoming salutation as to, at once, make them feel at home. We are surrounded by the Churches of Rocky Piron First Creek Varnessand Hebron River, First Creek, Varennes and Hebron, hence our moral and religious advance-ment is secured. Besides these Churches, we have a very flourishing Sunday School at the Institute, whose good work is bound to influence the lives of our young for the better in years to come. That makes me think, Mr. Editor, about John's, of Alice, question. If he will come up to our Sunday School next Sunday, and pay close attention to our workings, he will be better answered than in any other way. We have a union school. Our school selected its literature, which is gotten up by a Baptist institution. Every one is earnestly solicited to join us. Our motto is "To do what is right, as God gives us light to see what is right." We are united for the purpose of obeying, as we can, God's command, "Go ye, there-fore, and teach all nations." We use our literature as a means of attaining that end or aim. Our Sunday School is also actuated by the command, "Go out into the highways and hedges and compel them to come." We earnestly entreat John to come and bring others to aid our good work. But I was speaking of the advantages of our community, and am about to say too much about our Sunday School, to the exclusion of others. But if one should not believe we have a good school 'iust come and see." Our school is another great advantage we enjoy. While the Sunday School and Churches insure our moral and religious levelopment, our school gives us an inte ctual development which so many othlectual development which so many other sections fail to enjoy. Our soil is fertile, and the present outlook for wheat and oats is promising. Our people are kind and hospitable, and, taken all in all, we are truly a blessed community.
