

Mr. Chas. E. Henry, representing the Greenville News, is in the city.

Mr. D. S. Maxwell and family have returned home from the mountains.

Miss Eugenia Martin, of Pickens County, is visiting relatives in the city.

Mrs. John McGrath and children, of Charleston, are visiting relatives in the city.

We ask the attention of our readers to the account of Geo. E. Prince, which appears elsewhere.

The Intelligencer is in no way responsible for the views and expressions of its correspondents.

The Messrs. Pickett, of Williamson, offer a valuable farm for sale. See advertisement in another column.

Miss Maggie Hudgens, of Honora Park, daughter of the late Dr. T. A. Hudgens, is visiting Mrs. W. H. White.

Miss Daisy Badger and George Stealy, both of Georgia, are visiting the families of Messrs. L. E. Norryce and J. J. Gilmer.

Mr. Wm. M. Wilcox, of Bibbston, Ga., has been spending a few days in the city. With his old friends are always glad to greet him.

We are requested to give notice that the public schools in Broadway School District will close on Friday, the 29th day of September.

Misses Lula and Marie Wagner, of Charleston, are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Koy, and other relatives in the city.

Mr. J. A. Welch has opened a meat market at Mr. Poppe's old stand on Brick Range, and proposes to handle nothing but the best of meats.

The Centennial mission meetings of the Synagogue are again in progress, and are being conducted on account of the illness of the wife of Rev. C. W. Pruitt.

Mrs. Henry Stephens and little son, who have been spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Stephens, have returned to their home in the city.

Mrs. Clementina Hall, of Vancennes Township, one of the oldest residents of the County, is spending while in the city with her daughter, Mrs. Harris White.

Messrs. John H. Clarke & Bro., Anderson, are live tailors, suit, dress, and children's clothing, in our neighborhood, Asheville, last week. Their work gives satisfaction everywhere.

The Honora Park High School opens its fall session next Monday. Prof. Wallace, of Edinburg, has been appointed another column about this school, and we ask you to read it.

Relishing showers have fallen in this section the past few days, and were beneficial to the crops. In some sections of the County the farmers are needing a good season of rain badly.

Rev. S. J. Cowan closed his meeting here on Sunday night and will go to Georgia from here. Large crowds have attended the meetings, and have been deeply interested in the exercises.

A party of young ladies and gentlemen from here pitched at Clemson College last Saturday. They took with them a number of visiting friends who were anxious to see Clemson and the surroundings.

The Home School, this city, begins its term on September 1st. We refer to the advertisement in another column. Miss Hubbard, the principal, will have the number of pupils to be received.

San Rhodes, Jr., and John Sullivan, both colored, were sent to jail this morning on a preliminary hearing. Trial will be held for the breaking of Mr. G. W. Sullivan's store and safe at Williamson some night soon.

An infant of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Hudson died at the home of Mr. C. S. Maxwell, where they are visiting, and was buried in the Presbyterian Churchyard Sunday afternoon. The babe died from illness incident to teething.

Messrs. D. S. Maxwell & Son announce in their new advertisement that they can supply you with seed oats, rye and barley at low prices. Their stock of groceries is always complete, and if you need anything in their line give them a call.

We are glad to welcome Mr. W. M. Sherrard and family back to Anderson. Mr. Sherrard has been living near Seneca the past year, and comes back to Anderson to work in Mr. C. S. Minor's store. He will be pleased to have his old friends call and see him.

J. L. Tribble, Esq., returned home Monday from a visit to the home of Rev. A. Marshall, near Rome, Ga. He reports Mr. Marshall as having greatly improved in health, and is glad to hear with great pleasure that gentlemen's many friends in Anderson.

The Conservative Club of Broadway Township met at Eureka school house on Friday at 4 p. m. The club now numbers forty-nine, and hopes to increase the number considerably before the election. Several speeches are expected at the next meeting.

Mr. Barlow Jameson, a rising young merchant of Chattanooga, Tenn., has just returned home from a visit to his uncle, Mr. Jameson, of Brantley Creek. This was Mr. Jameson's first trip to Anderson, but his friends have reason to believe that they will have the pleasure of seeing him again before long.

Mr. W. R. Zimmerman has resigned the agency at the Savannah Valley Depot, and J. B. Beese Fant has been appointed to succeed him. Mr. Zimmerman is a nice gentleman, and a good instance of the rising young men in his Church. He and we hope he may still remain a citizen of Anderson. Mr. Fant will make a most efficient agent.

Mr. A. P. Hubbard is now occupying his new residence at the corner of the street just beyond the railroad bridge, which will be known hereafter as "Hubbard's Corner." He proposes keeping a better stock of goods than ever before, and will keep up with the "procession." Call and see how nicely he is fixed in his new place.

Rev. L. B. Brownlee and family, of Union City, Ala., are visiting his brother, Mr. B. D. Brownlee. Mr. Brownlee has become widely known as an able minister and a good instance of the rising young men in his Church. He preached in the Presbyterian Church last Sabbath night, and his discourse was heard with the closest interest and attention.

Miss Lizzie Williams and Miss Mamie Webb, of this city, and Mrs. E. A. Stringer, of Belton, left Tuesday on a trip via Atlanta, Nashville, Cincinnati, Detroit and to Niagara Falls, whence they return to New York and back home by Washington and Baltimore. Mr. A. Lesser will accompany them, and he and Miss Williams will buy their stocks of goods before returning home.

We have before us a copy of the Southern Dental Journal in which we find an excellent picture of Walter G. Brownlee, of this city, who is now President of the Georgia State Dental Society. Dr. Brownlee, who is a native of Anderson, has been in the profession of dentistry since he was adopted citizen, and is a popular citizen. The State Society is a large body, and the selection of Dr. Brownlee as President shows how he stands in his profession.

Col and Mrs. B. F. Clayton gave an enjoyable reception to Miss Ella Avery, of Rock Hill, who is their guest, on Friday evening last. A large number of young people from the city were present, and the occasion was made pleasant to every one. The Colonel's splendid mansion was brilliantly illuminated and the elegant supper was provided. The guests thoroughly enjoyed the evening, and were happy to meet Miss Avery.

Williamson correspondence of Greenville Daily News, August 17th: "The late of Savage & Sullivan, at this place, was aided by safe burglars last night. The thieves effected an entrance by forcing open a rear door. The explosion, which was heard by several persons in the vicinity, blew the door entirely off. About $30 in money, an insurance policy belonging to J. M. Scott and some land papers were taken. Nothing else in the store was disturbed. This fact, together with the clean character of the work, leads us to believe that the perpetrators were professional burglars. So far there is no clue to the identity of the thieves."

Honora Path Items.

[The following notes from Honora Path were written for the Intelligencer, but did not come to hand until after the paper was issued.] Mrs. E. A. Stringer, of Belton, is the wife of a prominent citizen of that city. She has a large family, and is a devoted mother and wife. She is also a member of the Baptist Church, and is very active in its work. She has been instrumental in building up the church in Belton, and is a great blessing to the community.

The G. A. R. annual gathering, Washington, D. C., and the naval review at Baltimore, are among the big attractions that are being talked of here. These occasions the Richmond and Danville Railroad will sell from all its coupon office excursion tickets its lowest rates. The round trip, on September 13th to 20th, inclusive, valid returning until October 10, 1892. This special system has made extensive arrangements to handle this immense business better this year than any previous campaign. Full information obtainable from any agent of the Richmond & Danville Railroad.

The Wallaha Courier, of the 18th inst., says: "We are grieved to announce the death of Mrs. George Norris nee Wicker, wife of Mr. E. B. Norris, which occurred in Wallaha this morning at 8 o'clock. She was a native of Newberry, and her remains will be taken to that place for interment to-morrow. She was a consistent member of the Methodist Church, and had expended in her Christian life all the good she was capable of. She leaves a husband and three little children, with many friends, to mourn her death." Mrs. Norris has many friends and relatives in our midst who deeply sympathize with her and her little children in their bereavement.

After eighteen days of rest and recuperation we are again on our feet, and are feeling greatly benefited by our trip. We spent the greater portion of our vacation with an uncle's family, who reside in Pleasant Valley, Murray County, Ga., at the base of the Cohutta Mountains and a few miles from the Tennessee line. There were some pleasant incidents connected with our trip, and if time and space permitted we could write a column or two about it. The scenery is beautiful, and the best farming sections of North Georgia, and fine cattle is grown there. Murray County has many unexplored resources, and a little more capital. The climate is fine, and the pure cold limestone water is very healthful. We spent several days at the famous old Cohutta Springs, where we were first discovered years ago by the Indians, who would extract the mineral in one of its dozen or more in number, each of which contains different minerals. The place is most beautiful and romantic, and is visited every summer by crowds of health-seekers. The property was formerly owned by Hon. Joe Brown, of Georgia, and has not been improved very much. A Company, composed of Messrs. J. H. Dillard and Spring Place, have recently purchased the property and propose next year to improve it. The work done there was limited. We shall expect to go back to the trip with the most pleasant recollections.

A Word to Voters.

By reference to another column it will be seen that the following gentlemen are announced in this paper as candidates to the September Nominating Convention: E. B. Murray, A. H. McGee, J. H. Cox, J. R. Vandiver, J. W. Clement, W. B. Qualis, G. W. Sullivan, P. B. Allen, W. P. Cook, T. C. Shearer.

In the same column the following gentlemen are announced as candidates for the Legislature: L. E. Campbell, W. P. Wright, S. L. Eskew, John C. Gantt, George E. Prince.

In the same column you will find the names of other gentlemen who are announced for various offices.

We take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to a careful perusal of this column. It contains the names of the gentlemen, known throughout the country, to be good men and true and worthy of the confidence of all men. As friends stand by their fellow-citizens without reproach, and are proud to ask the votes of the man of the hour, for they know that if entrusted with the honors and responsibilities which they will discharge they will do so with credit to themselves and with ability and to the best interests of Anderson County.

Death of Mr. E. K. Sullivan.

It was with the deepest sorrow that we witnessed the death of Mr. Hewlett Sullivan was heard by our people last Wednesday. For several days he had lain in a critical condition, and his friends and faithful physicians were doing all that lay in human power for the recovery, and his friends everywhere sincerely trusted that he would be restored to health and strength. But the years of his life had been numbered, and at about noon on the 17th inst. his spirit took its flight to Him who made it.

Hewlett Kelley Sullivan was born in Wallaha, S. C., on the 11th day of March, 1861, and was the son of the late Capt. N. K. Sullivan and Mrs. Emily K. Sullivan, who survives him.

Some weeks since, soon after returning from a business trip to the country, Mr. Sullivan was attacked by malarial fever, but his condition was not regarded as serious until a few days before his death, when peritonitis set in, and proved fatal within a short time.

The funeral services took place on the evening of the 18th and were conducted by the Rev. W. H. Smith, assisted by the Baptist Church. Messrs. J. R. Vandiver, R. S. Ligon, F. T. Whitte, John M. Hubbard, Dr. A. C. Strickland, Messrs. J. F. Brown, G. H. Brown and S. D. Brownlee acted as pall bearers.

The business hours of the city closed during the funeral ceremonies and a large concourse of people assembled at the Church as a mark of respect for their dear friend.

When the services in the Church were completed the body was tenderly removed to the Brook Cemetery and there placed in the grave while hearts ached and tears were shed in sorrow for him who was loved in life and in death would be mourned.

The early childhood of the deceased was spent on the farm of his maternal grandfather, near the town of Belton, where the family resided while his father was in the Confederate Army. After the war was over the family took up their abode in this city, and the subject of this notice was soon after sent to Prof. W. J. Ligon's school, where he remained until he was sixteen years of age.

At an early age he entered a mercantile store, and in a few years became a partner in a firm with his brother, Jas. M. Sullivan, in the hardware and machinery business, which is now known as the Sullivan and Hardware Co. Mr. N. B. Sullivan, a younger brother, becoming a member of the firm in 1878.

Mr. Sullivan had formed an extensive acquaintance in this State and Georgia, and being the travelling representative of his firm, was instrumental in building up a large hardware and machinery trade all over as well as at home. His high business qualifications, untiring energy, and thorough knowledge of the trade in which he was engaged, soon attracted the attention of some of the largest manufacturers in this country and often, when his engagements at home would permit, Mr. Sullivan was employed by them upon important missions. On one occasion he was engaged to look after the affairs of a large manufacturing concern in the West, and this same firm was so well pleased with his services that they soon arranged with him to represent them and take charge of their exhibit at the World's Fair in Chicago in 1883.

Mr. Sullivan united with the Anderson Baptist Church about three years ago under the preaching of the Rev. Mr. Pearson, and was instrumental in building up the church in his religious duties. His last moments bore evidence of his undying faith in the Lord.

His widow, the daughter of the late J. E. Brock, of Honora Path, S. C., and four children survive him.

Mr. C. C. Cummings desires to inform her friends and patrons that she will be at home this coming season, where she will be pleased to receive all who wish to visit. She uses the New York and French styles, and guarantees satisfaction in cutting and fitting, and will sell at prices. Residence on McClain Street.

Cedar Grove Items.

We have kept silent for awhile and everything seems to be still in this section. People have stopped talking politics for a few days and have engaged in more serious matters. The Cedar Grove people are more than all the political meetings. But, Mr. Editor, the subscribers to your paper desire me to give you some of the particulars of a certain meeting held here on the 21st of August. The citizens present were in fine spirits, and I wish in all it was one of the most enjoyable occasions that we have had this year. The committee was fit to appoint a meeting here on that day. It was very soon in the morning the people began to come in from every quarter, and by 11 o'clock there were about 4,000 people gathered. It is to be regretted that the weather was not so good as the people were composed of some of our people as the County affairs, and some very prominent citizens. At 11 o'clock Mr. E. W. Murray came on the grounds. He was told to leave, as you have all before seen in every paper, and was made to leave, as you all know, and was in a very rough way. This the citizens did not like. He saw in the Columbia Register of the 11th inst. that Mr. J. J. Cooley said the Cedar Grove people will be satisfied with the result of the election, and he said that they were willing to bear it. Mr. Cooley states that the Cedar Grove folks in a meeting of which he was Chairman, that did all the arranging for the day. If there was such a Committee, the Cedar Grove people did not know of it. Mr. Cooley invited the speakers, but the Cedar Grove folks did not know who gave him the authority. He does not live in Cedar Grove community, and the people of this section do not wish him to represent them. Mr. Cooley did not hold up the Cedar Grove folks, and I wish to say that all and Mr. Cooley took the wrong step when he said the Cedar Grove folks would take all the blame or any part of it.

Mr. Editor: It becomes our duty by request of the Cedar Grove people to say that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

Now, Mr. Editor, we want it understood that we are willing to bear no part of it. Mr. Cooley's duty was to publish it, and we wish to correct it in an article that appeared in the Columbia Register, written by John C. Gantt. He said that the Cedar Grove people had fixed the stand for a Tillman meeting on the land of Hugh Mansfield, that it was dedicated for that purpose and that they had a right to use it. He said that the Cedar Grove people were willing to bear all the blame for the treatment Mr. Murray received while there.

A Card.

It having been printed in certain parts of this County that in the coming Primary election I was to be a candidate for the Legislature, or a candidate for the Conservative ticket in order to have his vote counted, I desire to say to my friends that they can vote as they please, provided they vote for five candidates for the County. They may be either all Tillmanites or all Conservatives, or they may vote as they please. I have no objection to the voter chooses. This rumor has evidently been circulated for the purpose of injuring me, and I hope my friends will correct it as far as possible.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF ANDERSON COUNTY. OFFICE OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE. ANDERSON, S. C., AUG. 24th, 1892. All the candidates to be elected at the primary election on the 29th inst. have filed their pledges as required by the rules of the party, except J. R. Taylor, the House and W. Spoon for Sheriff. Any vote for Mr. Earle, under the rule of the party, will be a vote for a man not a candidate, and under the rule against plumping the others names on the ticket for the House cannot be counted. Mr. Earle and Mr. Spoon are the only candidates from the mass as they failed to comply with the rule to file their pledges. J. I. GILKIN, Sec. Ex. Com.

Editors Intelligencer: "Observer," by his article to the Advocate of Monday, has laid himself liable to the charge of gross ignorance, as we fear the Editor has insulted him, by heading the article "Observer defends the Cedar Grove affair." "Observer" is not a candidate, and he has no right to speak. He has either intentionally or otherwise grossly misrepresented things in general. He begins with a display of ignorance by saying Maj. Murray had no right at Cedar Grove. We beg to refer him to the proceedings of the County Executive Committee in appointing the County campaign meetings. He will find by reference to this that all the candidates were invited to attend and present their views to the people whose suffrage they desire. Maj. Murray is a candidate for the Legislature, and he is nominating convention, and for that reason had a perfect right to speak. He finds fault with the time of his arrival at the beginning of the meeting. He says that candidates were not compelled to be present at the beginning of the meeting. He says that the Beneficial Aid in Abbeville is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the Murray affair at Cedar Grove. Ignorance again! He does not know that the Beneficial Aid is purely personal. He does not know that some of Benet's political opponents prevented Mr. McKeen from hitting a clear right handed blow, and that it was these same political opponents who prevented Mr. McKeen from going further. Oh! what a pity "Observer" could not collect at least two or three facts to write about. How can he be so ignorant as to say that the Beneficial Aid is similar to the