Sunday and saw more pretty girls than you could shake a stick at. By the way, we came near getting struck, but remem-bering a pretty little maiden, whose step is lighter than the fawns, and whose eyes Every Democrat in this township, or is lighter than the fawns, and whose eyes are softer than the gazelles, and whose voice is sweeter than the mocking bird, when he carols his love song to his happy mate, and whose tresses would surpass the gloss of the raven's wing, and whose form an angel would be proud of, and when we rembered all this, we wept. No! het we came near "creting in that fir." as

Dots from Long Branch,

Rev. N. G. Wright filled his regular appointment at the Long Branch Academy on last Sunday a. m.

on last Sunday a. m. At this writing it continues to rain, and the grass continues to grow. If this kind of weather continues much longer I am afraid that we won't get through "laying-by" before fodder will be ready for pull-ing, and if this be the case I won't get to go to the mountains. My wife has con-sented for me it or at lest ented for me to go at last.

I don't know that I ever saw a better prospect for a corn crop than we have at present.
