Crayton Items

It seems that your readers might con-clude that Crayton had fallen through, but not so. We are still here, despite the hard times, and if they don't think so, Bill Williams and his son, George Wil-liams, are now in jail charged with assault and battery with intent to kill. It seems that John Craft and Elias McGee, both just ask the candidates. There is a series of meetings at Mt.

Bethel this week, conducted by Rev. B. Hays. The protracted meeting will begin at Bethany next Saturday. We hope much good may result from these neetings. The schools of the township are in full that John Craft and Elias McGree, both white, had gone to the negro association, for what purpose we are not informed. They ran into the buggy of Bill Williams and broke a wheel, claiming that their team was unmanageable. Over this point a dis-pute arose, and as is usual in such cases, the negroes were attacked with a knife, and the younger negro, George, was cut by one of the white men. The father of George to save his son as he claims, interblast. L. M. Mahaffey still holds the fort at Bethany, Miss Minnie Cowan at Mt. Bethel, and Miss Lena Campbell at Martin Grove. They were out collecting money for some big heathen institution or somefor some big beathen institution or some-thing. We did not like their looks but told them to come in. Now if there is any-thing in this world that gets us out of sorts it is one of those largnette fiends. The eldest was accompanied by a little old spaniel to whom she was continually ad-dressing in the most endearing terms. After listening for a half an hour to their tale of wee, the spaniel sprang up on our desk where he overturned the ink stand and ruined a sweet little billetdou that we more penning to our best cirl.
