The Successful Advertizer! In the man who writes something the people will read, and reading, believe. In this age of education and enlightenment, the County that we have moved our place of business to the elegant and when men read and think for themselves, all that stuff about "selling goods cheape than your competitors buy them," being the "only competent dealers in the line," "handling better stuff than anybody se," Ac, is mere clap trap, and subjects the writer and the firm back of it to the e npt of all right-thinking people. The man who has something to offer, and then salls the folks about in a plain, business way, is the man who "gets there," and getting there, stands.

Lots of people handle Paint. Some all realize, if they have any business sense at all, that in order to make that business a permanent success it is absolutely necessary to give the people the very best ma-terial. This we have tried to do, and at a price that puts it in the reach of all. In this connection we call attention to the fact that crops are about laid by, time is plentiful, and a little paint not only freshens and beautifies, but improves wonderfully the sanitary condition of the premises. If your house is all right maybe the fence needs a coat. A little Paint would keep that old buggy from falling down, and the wagon might last a year or two longer by spending seventy-five cents or a collar in Paint on it. Remember this, the longer you put it off the more it takes and the less good it does. Remember another thing, it costs just as much, and takes just as much time, to have cheap paint put on as it does good Paint. Always buy the best, even if you HILL BROS., Druggists,

Willie was asleep and Dan was onely. Willie is the minister's son; Dan is his dog. It was Sunday morning and everyone was at church but these two friends. It was warm and sunny, and they could hear the preaching, for their house was next door to the church.

"Dan," said Willie, "it is better here than in church, for you can hear very word.'

In some way, while Willie was lishim on the nose; but when Willie pass. went to sleep he went to sleep to stay and did not mind trifles. So Dan sat down with the funniest look of care on his wise black face, and with one ear ready for outside noises.

Now the minister had for his subject, "Daniel." This was the name he always gave Dan when he was teaching him to sit up and beg, and other tricks. While the dog sat thinking the name "Daniel" fell on his ear. Dan at once ran into the church through the vestry door. He stood on his hind legs, with his forepaws close beside the minister, who lid not see him, but the congregation did. When the minister shouted 'Daniel' again, the sharp barks said Yes, sir," as plainly as Dan could answer.

The minister started back, looking around, and saw the funny picture. Then he wondered what he should do next; but just then through the vestry came Willie. His face was rosy "Please 'scue Dan, papa. I went

They rallied in curious excitement and dispersed in disappointed disgust.

"My Sin" in huge flaming letters was what the painter had already printed. If ever a crowd was bent on anything it was on the discovery of what that sin was. They asked each other what it might be and hazarded guesses while the man laid by his red paint pot and brought forth green instead. What would the next word be?

The crowd grew so excited they called to the man, "What is it?"
"Tell us." "Go on." "Hurry." Paint quick if you won't talk," until it seemed he might grow too bothered to print anything. But he did. He printed out in small green let-ters, added to the gigantic "Sin," the syllable "gle," and when the sign was done it read: "My single aim is to sell at nominal profit."-New York

Hon, M. L. Donaldson-Dear Sir You ask of me for use at Clemson College a copy of an article published in the Greenville News many years ago describing a remarkable experiment made by Mr. Cole. of Shenectady, N. Y, in saving the rain water on the hill sides for use new one that comes has to have a silduring the usual summer drouths. I ver cup or a silver spoon or something can't find a copy of the paper—the News files having been burned several years ago-but will try in a few words to describe the Cole, and its application to our scribe the Cole, and its application to our terrace system, as attempted in the article referred to. Mr. Cole selected five acres of hillside clay land and dug paralel ditches, which he called reservoir ditches, 3x3 feet on a dead level, across the hill side, fifteen feet apart, all the way down to the base of the hill; he filled in the collection of t down to the base of the hill; he filled in these ditches, to within a few inches of the surface, with angular and jagged rocks and such other material as would give the largest space for the rain water, which it is intended to hold in reserve for the summer drouth; he then put some straw on the rocks to keep the sand and dirt from filling the crevices in the rocks and then threw back the earth on the ditches and brought to a sufficient level to be plowed over. He then dug little ditches which are called "outlet drains" from one reservoir ditch to the
