

Clothing at Cost!

COMMENCING to-day we will sell our entire stock of CLOTHING at COST for the next ten days.

This is no advertising scheme. We mean what we say, and to convince you we will show to any one our cost mark.

B. O. EVANS & CO.

The Successful Advertiser! In the man who writes something the people will read, and reading, believe...

SHAKEM UP AND LETGO GROCERY! WE beg to announce to our many patrons in Anderson and throughout the County that we have moved our place of business to the elegant and commodious saleroom...

GLASS IN ALL SHAPES, CUT TO ORDER, AT Evans' Pharmacy. REMEMBER our $5.00 TURNIP PRIZE, due November 20, 1894.

HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE, ETC.

Victoria Bue-Vigilant Iron King and Elmo Stoves at Prices you cannot afford to be without one.

SHOES in all Styles! SHOES OF ALL QUALITIES, SHOES FOR ALL PEOPLE, THE MEANS SHOE, THE MILES SHOE, THE HYND'S HONEST HOME MADE SHOE.

ONE entire side of our Mammoth New Store is devoted entirely to Shoes. This is a slight worth seeing, and the PRICES WILL INTEREST YOU. We are always in the Cotton Market!

Application for Charter. NOTICE is hereby given that the undersigned Corporation will apply to the next session of the General Assembly of South Carolina for a Charter to build a Railroad from Greenwood, South Carolina, to the West, Anderson, Fortville and Westminster, S. C., to the South Carolina and Georgia line at or near the point where the line of the Railroad crosses said line, to be called "The Greenwood and Western Railway."

THE BARGAIN OF THE YEAR. $1.50 THE BARGAIN OF THE YEAR. $1.50 WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED A DRIVE IN MEN'S FINE HATS.

HOW GETTYSBURG WAS LOST.

FITZHUGH LEE'S STORY OF THE FATEFUL FIELD. Condensed from an Account in Fitzhugh Lee's Life by Robert E. Lee.

The discussion of the battle of Gettysburg is more general to-day, not only throughout the country, but throughout the world, than it was thirty years ago, when it was yet fresh in the minds of all the living, and its fearful sacrifices and heroic exploits were on both sides were as living pictures in view of the nation.

It is now undisputed that it was the decisive battle of the war. When Lee formed his lines on Seminary Ridge he presented the largest Confederate army that ever appeared on any battlefield during the entire war.

HOW THE BATTLE BEGAN. It is known that both Gen. Meade and Gen. Lee were moving toward each other when their armies met at Gettysburg, without either knowing the particular direction of the other, and both armies were moved in such positions as to be able to concentrate readily at different points.

What was supposed at first to be a mere skirmish at Gettysburg on the night of July 1st, presided over by Gen. Heintz, who got permission to move into Gettysburg for the purpose of supplying his men with shoes.

It is fortunate that three of Gen. Lee's trusted staff officers—Taylor, Venable and Long—have recorded the plan of assault which was executed by a half of Hill's, or all of it if he called for it, or upon the bright shield of the Southern chieftain there might have been a lasting blot on the army's honor.

THE SECOND DAY'S FIGHT. On the second day instead of a simultaneous attack upon the Union lines, as Gen. Lee's plans contemplated, and as he had verbally ordered, no attack was made until late in the afternoon, thus largely increasing his force and strengthening his position, and when the attack was made it was a desperate and bloody effort to gain Little Round Top and Culp's Hill, both of which would have been taken unopposed any time during the day.

On the evening of the second day it was evident to Lee that the position of the Federal army was too strong to be broken on either of its flanks, as he had sacrificed many of his soldiers in vain efforts to get possession of Culp's Hill and Round Top.

On the evening of the second day it was evident to Lee that the position of the Federal army was too strong to be broken on either of its flanks, as he had sacrificed many of his soldiers in vain efforts to get possession of Culp's Hill and Round Top.

PICKETT'S AWFUL CHARGE. We cannot better convey to the reader the story of Pickett's luckless assault than to quote copiously from Gen. Fitzhugh Lee's story as it comes from his own pen.

THE GOLDEN FORMER. The assaulting column was at last formed. Pickett's division of three brigades, 5,000 men, was formed in two lines, Kemper on the right, Garratt on his left and Armistead in the rear.

AND I WILL PLEASE YOU IN PRICES AND GOODS. G. F. BIGBY.

SARGE PLUNKETT.

A Remedy for the Great Strain That is Upon the People.

Atlanta Constitution. It is surprising to find how many people there are who would welcome a war as a relief for the hard times— sound them as you pass around and you will be surprised.

Two Georgia Stories. Some time during 1884 Colonel A. W. Toombs, of Easton, Ky., obtained possession of an old pipe, which was curious and attractive.

INTO THE JAWS OF DEATH. Screaming shells broke in front, rear, on both sides, and in every direction, but with their objective point steadily in view, kept step to their music.

TESTIMONY OF LEE'S STAFF OFFICERS. It is fortunate that three of Gen. Lee's trusted staff officers—Taylor, Venable and Long—have recorded the plan of assault which was executed by a half of Hill's, or all of it if he called for it.

THE BATTLE WAS ENDED. "This has been a sad day to us," said Lee, "but I cannot always expect 'our' victories."

Three Followers. The wily old Hassan sat in his door when three young men passed eagerly by.

THE YEAR OF JUBILEE HAS COME. "The year of jubilee has come," said the young man of the well-to-do.

A Field for Mothers. It is in America that we find boys and girls smart beyond their years, and with more nerve tissue than they know what to do with.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, ss. FRANCIS CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & CO., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of DOUGLASS' BALSAM FOR THE BRONCHES that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK M. CHENEY. Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1888.

All Sorts of Paragraphs.

—We cannot sow bad seed and reap a good harvest.

—There are three times as many widows as widowers. —Divorce is the imperfect remedy of an imperfect social state.

—When all men know little, how can any one man know it all? —Most people are better than their neighbors give them credit for.

—An express train locomotive on a railroad consumes 10 gallons of water per mile. —It is hard to find a man who does not put the blame of his misfortune upon his wife.

—God never did, never will, never can make a mistake. His will and ways are always right.

—If you want flathead ears, man's vanity good," said Uncle Eben, "tell 'em he ain't got none."

—If the United States has as great a relative population as Japan, it would have 950,000,000 people.

—Economic writers declare that the income of the Czar of Russia is equal to $25,000 per day every day in the year.

—Ho that can feast upon another's misery, vexation or disappointment has a most unhealthy soul.

—Lovers love to tell each other what they think of each other. So do married people, sometimes—and they do it too.