

Chief Constable Fant is at home on a short vacation. We believe the young ladies of Anderson are shy of bloomers.

The fig crop is almost a complete failure in this section this season. Flying-also chickens are not equal to the demand in this market.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Tolly have returned from a visit to Elberton, Ga. Sugar is cheap, and housekeepers should preserve all their fruit possible.

The negro excursion to Newberry tomorrow promises to be a success. Miss Mattie Jones, of Hartwell, Ga., is in Anderson the guest of friends.

Footmaster Barr has been quite sick the past week, but is now convalescing. Mr. B. F. Moss, who has been sick for several weeks, is able to go out again.

Good rains have been general throughout the County during the past week. Mr. E. G. Evans wants to buy old brass, scrap iron, &c. See his advertisement.

Twenty wagon loads of melons were brought on the streets at noon on Monday. Mrs. C. B. Murray's school will open at her residence on Main Street, Sept. 2, prox.

Mrs. John P. Bailey and children, of Elberton, Ga., are visiting relatives in this section. The mercury in the thermometer has been getting almost out of reach the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Todd and children, of Seneca, have been visiting relatives in Anderson. Miss Virginia and Maggie Evans are in Union, visiting their brother, Mr. E. G. Evans, Jr.

Mr. F. J. Peizer and family, of Charleston, are now at their summer home near Pendleton. Mrs. Hal Richardson, of Columbia, is in Anderson visiting her sister, Mrs. M. L. Bonham.

The farmers are now anxious to get their fodder in their barns. The crop will be immense. Mrs. T. B. Clayton left Monday for Baltimore, where she will spend several weeks with relatives.

Mr. W. J. Moorhead, of Darlington, S. C., spent last week at Belton visiting his old friends and relatives. Mrs. E. E. Allen went over to Greenville last week to spend a few days with her sister, Mrs. J. N. Watkins.

Mr. F. W. Orman, of Charleston, is spending a short vacation in the city with his brother, Mr. A. L. Orman. Rumor says that one of Anderson's most charming young ladies is soon to wed a newspaper man from a distant State.

Lewis C. Richardson, cadet at the U. S. Naval Academy, is spending a six weeks' leave of absence at his home in this County. Miss Mamie Norris, of the Thorwald Orphanage, Clinton, S. C., is spending a short vacation in this section with relatives.

The sweet potato crop is reported fine. The finest of the season is now on the market last week by Mr. F. S. Stevenson. Dr. Ralph W. Brown, of Roanoke, Va., arrived in Anderson last week to attend the bedside of his sister, Miss Flossie, who is near the end of her illness.

Corneville (Ga.) Tribune: Mr. Eddie Fleming and two sisters, of near Piedmont, S. C., have been visiting relatives near town several days.

Mr. Marion F. Dunwoody, one of the leading pianists and teachers of Atlanta, Ga., is spending a few days vacation with relatives and friends in this city. Mr. Dunwoody is a recent graduate of the Royal Conservatory of Music, Leipzig, Germany.

The Intelligencer force is indebted to Mr. P. B. Brown for a very interesting and clever farmer, for a large, luscious watermelon. Such treats are always highly appreciated. Our thanks are due to Mr. Brown for making it all our friends will follow Mr. Gearty's good example.

Mrs. James B. Moore, formerly of this County, died at her home in Jack County, Texas, recently. We have no particular news of her death, but she was a well known friend and relative in this County who will regret to hear of her death.

Brownlee & Vapinders have an important message to their friends and customers in their new advertisement. On account of their increasing business they are going to move into larger quarters in the latter part of September they will occupy Kay & Baker's old stand on Granite Row.

The Hon. Path Chronicle says: "Miss Mattie Newell, a beautiful young lady of this city, has been spending a week with her friend, Miss Selma Wright. Miss Wright will join her friend, Miss Newell, on her return to the city. We wish them a pleasant time."

The City Council held its annual meeting last Thursday, and re-elected all of the present officers for the ensuing year. The following gentlemen who had been elected officers of the Fire Department were confirmed by the City Council: G. M. Tolly, Chief; John W. Dick, Assistant Chief; Ernest P. Smith, Secretary.

Mr. F. Stevenson has placed the Intelligencer force under many obligations by presenting us with two large watermelons, one of the Georgia Rattlesnake and the other of the Johnson Dixie variety, both of which were very fine. Mr. Stevenson's farm, two miles north of the city, is very successful in growing melons, which always meet with ready sale on the market.

An agricultural exchange gives this advice to the farmers: "Begin to prepare for fall crops. Don't put it off until the last moment and then hurriedly and superficially put in a crop, which of all others is most liable to fail. The spring sown crop can not be relied on but if the fall crop is prepared for and sown early there will be no uncertainty. September is none too early to begin."

Pickens Sentinel of the 15th inst. says: "James Laboon, one of the prosperous merchants of Anderson, is in Anderson county, was in Pickens last Monday looking after shingles and lumber. His dwelling was struck by lightning during the rain storm last Saturday. Several trees near the house were also shattered. The dwelling of Mr. Durbin, a near neighbor, was also struck and slightly damaged."

Daley Messenger of the 15th inst. says: "A lawn party was given at the residence of Mr. W. M. Long, in Anderson county, last Friday evening, which was very enjoyed by a large number of young people. A goodly number from Piedmont was in attendance. Mr. E. F. Wyatt has gone on a trip of several days to Pendleton and Anderson. Watch Ed."

We find the following in one of our esteemed exchanges, and as it equally applies to Anderson, we appropriate it to our readers: "When any one says there is a better place, or prettier girls elsewhere, than in Anderson, every potato slightly winks its eye, every cabbage shakes its head, and every foot of land denounces the statement by kicking."

The Jellico (Tenn.) Advance Sentinel says: "The survivors for the Black Diamond railroad started out this week in two companies. One company begins at a point on the left road south of Knoxville and proceeds southward, while the other begins on the left line near Fountain City and proceeds westward. It will be several days before they reach this place. But you may look out for them, they will be here. Bone means to build the road or die in the attempt. He overcomes obstacles that would crush the hope of others."

The dwelling house of Mr. S. A. Hutchinson, in Elberton, was destroyed by fire last Sunday night. The Elberton correspondent of the Augusta Chronicle says: "The fire was caused by a gas stove in the kitchen. The narrow escape with their lives, the fire having closed nearly all the exits before they were awakened. The fire was evidently the work of incendiaries, because all having been used under the house. The loss is about $2,000. Mr. Hutchinson, who formerly lived in this County, will regret to hear of his misfortune."

Franklin (N.C.) Press Aug. 7th: Capt. J. K. J. of Abbeville, and A. Zimmerman, of Westminster, S. C., were in town last Thursday and had a conference with the proprietors of our local rail character with a view to organizing a plan by which the company can be organized and go to work with a view to solving the problem. The fire was evidently the work of incendiaries, because all having been used under the house. The loss is about $2,000. Mr. Hutchinson, who formerly lived in this County, will regret to hear of his misfortune.

Mr. J. E. Wipington, Secretary of the Brusby Creek Debating Society, of Brusby Creek Township, requested the Society to give a public debate at Mr. Airy next Saturday, 24th inst., beginning promptly at 8:30 o'clock. The lively subject has been selected, and the young gentlemen are going to do their best to entertain all who honor them with their presence. The ladies of the community are cordially and especially invited to attend. This Society has been in existence about three months since it was organized to learn the art of debating. It is a good people that to such an organization is beneficial to any community.

The Southern Railway has now completely perfected the service of its famous Pullman cars, which first was considered could be no room for improvement. On August 13th, palatial vestibule through coaches were put on the line between Atlanta and Washington, both ways, and at the same time new and enlarged dining cars, built by this great system expressly for the Pullman cars, were put into service. This dining palace is not only "all that art yields," but it is every way a masterpiece of comfort and convenience. The journey between the South and the East is made a short and restful pleasure. There is no extra charge to ride on this train anywhere. Passengers can take the Pullman cars or not, just as they like. The vestibule only stops at principal points.

The Gainesville Georgian Crocker of last Saturday says: "Mr. W. A. Holland, who lives at Candler, in this County, happened to a very painful accident. Tuesday afternoon of this week he had been across the river on business and was returning in a road cart to his home. Near Shaw the cart tipped over in the road and Mr. Holland was thrown out, falling under the shafts. The horse attached to the vehicle became frightened and began kicking. He struck Mr. Holland a terrible blow just over the right eye, inflicting a fearful laceration. Mr. Holland could not extricate himself as he came on to town, a distance of some four miles, and Dr. Ham attended to his hurt. Mr. Holland's many friends in this (his native) County will regret to hear of his accident, and will join us in wishing him a speedy recovery."

Hartwell M. Ager, of Charleston, editor of the State Handbook, is in the city for the purpose of interesting the friends of Anderson in the work and advertising the resources of this section. Mr. Ager is particularly anxious to secure representation for Anderson in the book, because, as he says, Anderson has really more to offer to capital and immigration than any town in the State. The plans of the work were shown to a meeting of the Board of Trade Monday afternoon and were heartily and unanimously endorsed after a thorough examination. The Board appointed a committee to lay the matter before the City Council and see that the necessary appropriation, which was done at a special meeting of Council yesterday, Council did not see its way clear to make the appropriation, and the matter falls back upon the Board of Trade. This is the first year of the kind ever issued by the State, and may be the last, certainly for many years. It is issued to supply a great and growing demand for information and to give the Board of Trade credit and support of leading towns and business men of the State, and is generally approved. The Board of Trade Committee will take further action this week.

Reunion at Sandy Springs. Mr. Ebron: On last Wednesday, 14th August, I had the pleasure of attending the 15th annual reunion of the survivors of the 3rd Regiment of Rifles, at Sandy Springs. There were not a large attendance of survivors or of spectators, but energetic steps were taken to insure the presence of a large number of both at the next meeting. After the transaction of some routine business, Maj. J. M. Vandier, President of the Association, requested Judge Cochran to open the meeting with prayer. I have never heard of a more appropriate or eloquent prayer. Col. B. F. Clayton delivered a warm and hearty address of welcome to the survivors, the visitors and the members of our committee present. To this, Col. J. B. E. Sloan, the old commander of the 3rd C., replied in fitting and impressive terms. Maj. Vandier introduced as "the old war horse," Col. Jas. A. Hoyt, who gave the survivors a stirring speech, reviving the memories of a large number of both at the next meeting. After the transaction of some routine business, Maj. J. M. Vandier, President of the Association, requested Judge Cochran to open the meeting with prayer. I have never heard of a more appropriate or eloquent prayer. Col. B. F. Clayton delivered a warm and hearty address of welcome to the survivors, the visitors and the members of our committee present.

Maine's potato crop is expected to be 10,000,000 bushels. Bicycles are said to have seriously affected the sale of pianos in England. The reason given is that when a girl is asked to choose between the two for a present she invariably selects the wheel.

It is estimated that 20 per cent of the iron manufactured by Tennessee is sold outside the State. The State is expected to be the favorite iron with pipe, plow and stove makers in the East and North.

Several Georgia watermelons weighing more than fifty pounds have been brought to market this season, but it is likely the record will be carried by one weighing a little over seventy-five pounds, cut last week on a Thomson farm.

According to a recent lecture of Professor Shuster, of London, the safest course for a human being in a thunderstorm is to get through it. It is remarked that he could kill a rat when dry by means of an electric discharge, but never when it was wet.

An anatomist is reported to have dissected a skull frequently filled with small bones and placed the whole in a basin of water. The bones were slowly split the skull. The bones which were split by the exerting under these conditions is equal to the average pressure in the boiler of a steam engine.

The blue jay is proving a decided pest in California by eating the eggs of other birds, particularly quail and game birds. So the Olympic Club, of San Francisco, has appointed a St. Bartholomew's day on which everyone who can buy or beg or borrow a shotgun is to be in the slaughter.

Convicts in the Michigan State prison are allowed to keep birds, and as a result of this there are fully 600 feathered songsters in the prison, all owned and cared for by the prisoners. Their care in the morning are one of the odd features of life at this institution. It is responsible for the good behavior of the prisoners, as there are fewer outbreaks at Jackson than anywhere else.

Negroes in Marshall, County Miss., are being wrought up to a state of religious frenzy by the preaching of a man and two women. One of the converts is said to have his horse at 2 o'clock on Monday morning, and he and his wife threw their effects into the flames. When found the fire, and the man and woman, when interfered with, begged to be allowed to die in the flames themselves.

There is a military swimming school at Nogot, where recently on the visit of the inspector general a curious exhibition took place, which may have some interest to our readers. At a given signal thirty young men, armed cap-a-pie in full uniform, with helmets, their rifles and bayonets fixed on their backs, plunged into the river and proceeded to swim across the river. None of them flinched, though the preliminary line soon became broken and the strong ones showed the way to the others and were first to land to meet the supposed enemy.

Electricity is relieving city horses of drudgery and the agricultural journals are looking forward to the time when electric feed will reach to the pump, churning, chopping, lighting and eventually the ploughing and hoeing. Already electric power has been used in Germany, and is found to perform its work well, though not quite so cheaply as the electric power from central stations, neighboring streams or wind mills. When this happens it is likely there will be a return drift of population from the cities to the country.

The California jury system, whereby fourteen jurors are drawn in order from a list, and the last juror drawn that there may be "spares" in case of sickness or other impediment, is the part improvement on our system, which necessitates the loss of a juror becomes disabled. The Detroit Free Press says: It would seem, however, as if an equally good result might be reached with less circumspection. Why should we cling to the number twelve as if it had some special sanctity in the jury box? Why would it not improve the system to provide, for instance, that while twelve men shall be sworn, a verdict by nine of them shall be conclusive whether the shortage is occasioned by disagreement or by the death or the disability of any one or more of them?

In her new school history Mrs. Susan Pendleton Lee, speaking of the death of General Polk, says: "On the first night of the battle of Gettysburg, when the general had been killed and General Hood's army was in the hands of the Union, General Johnston received his baptism kneeling in his tent with Hood and Hardee. Hood was on crutches, could not kneel and he was allowed to receive his baptism standing on his crutches. The Sunday previous to the battle of Gettysburg, he had through his private devotion, assembled his staff and all who could get within sound of his voice and read the morning service of the Episcopal church in his usual devout and impressive manner. In his pocket, soaked with his heart's blood, were four religious tracts, on three of which he had written the names of his companions in responsibility and duty: (Generals Johnston, Hardee and Hood.)"
