The Constitutional Convention, on Monday, refused to change the term of office of the Governor from two to four years. This is proper.

Atlanta's great big Exposition opened last Wednesday with imposing and interesting ceremonies. It is going to be a success, and the whole South is going to be benefited by it.

The Constitutional Convention is costing the State only about four hundred dollars a day, yet that is a pretty good sum to pay just to "protect" its President.

Rev. Dr. Talmage has been called to the associate pastorship of the first Presbyterian Church (known as the President's Church) in Washington, D. C., and it is bolieved he will accept.

The Charleston Post truly remarks that the Constitutional Convention cannot grant the demands of the female suffragists without giving mortal offense to 99 per cent, of the women in the State.

According to the Atlanta Constitution the Alabama iron furnaces now dictate the price of pig iron in the United States. Never before has the iron industry of the South been in so prosperous a condition. Ben. Tillman continues to try to draw a partisan line in the Convention, but the few Conservatives and more liberal Reformers are against any such attempt, and treat him with more or less contempt. Colonel Thomas W. Halloway, Secretary, says the prospects for the State Fair are very encouraging. Many applications for space have been received and the outside attractions will be numerous.

An appeal has been made to the Constitutional Convention to increase the usion rate for disabled Confederate eterans. We hope it will be increased These old heroes deserve it. Their ranks are gradually thinning every year, and it is our sacred duty to provide as liberally as possible for them.

The Constitutional Convention gave us another little circus last Thursday, and one Patterson, of Barnwell, was the chief clown. The reports from the seat of war in Caba continue unsatisfactory and conflicting, but it is known that the insurgents are steadily gaining ground. Mrs. Lease, who is to settle down on a farm at Fresno, Cal., as soon as her term of office expires, speaks thus on the woman question: "I think our emancipation is merely a question of time, but I will candidly admit that women are not prepared for it. Women are cruel to women, are they not? Men are more just to women than women are to each other. We have many things to learn before we are fit to exercise the full right

Since 1891 the number of immigrants coming into the United States has steadily declined. In 1894 the amount was smaller and it is understood that the Committee on New Counties will report that new counties may be created with 400 square miles, provided the present counties are not cut down to less than 500 square miles.

The Committee on the Bill of Rights than in any year since 1878. There has been a falling off in immigrants from every European country except Italy and Russia. These show an increase. It might not be a bad idea to stop immigration for a while, until we thoroughly chew up, digest and assimitate some of the discordant elements that we have been receiving for the past twenty years.

Elections take place this year in eleven States, one-quarter of the whole number, and but few are really important. The States voting are Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Nebraska, New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania. A Governor will be returned in Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New Jersey and Ohio, and four of the seven now have Democratic Governors. Besides these Utah will abandon the Territorial stage and become a State, choosing a full set of officers. The evidence is that they were never the wives of the soldiers named by them and were not entitled to the pensions. A third woman drawing a pension to which she was not entitled has disappeared. The women were sent to jail in the continuation of the continua default of bond.

Both Senator Tillman and Senator Irby were on their mettle, and gave the Convention the very best that they had in their storehouse of eloquence and thunder. There can be no question of the vast influence of Senator Tillman over certain of the members of the Convention, but in this particular case it seemed from the preponderance of the argument that the people of the immediate section wanted the new county named Saluda, and that fact, perhaps more than anything Barker, of Charleston, who in the most collected manner possible called Senator Tillman to order for questioning his motives and charging him with injecting factionalism. Senator Tillman, after the vote, apologized to any member whom he might have offended in the heat of debate.

Closely allied to the suffrage problem is that of providing for the schools. There is a popular wave here just now in favor of the public schools, and it is safe to say that ample provision will be made for their support. The Committee on friends of higher education are expected to rally to the common schools. The Finance Committee recommends two mills and a dollar poll tax, and the Edu-cation Committee will recommend about the same, although many members want a three mill tax. The great fight is going to be on the distribution of the school fund. The committees seem to think that there is a constitutional objection to providing that the school fund be disributed through the Constitution or paid inder its direction to either of the races.

The present purpose seems to be to leave the manner of distribution to the Legis-ature, so that if it cannot stand the fire of a legal test it may be changed. Another plan by which it is intended to increase the common school fund is by paying all the School Commissioners, Exam-

ing all the School Commissioners, Examiners, Superintendent and other official salaries out of the general school fund, and divert to this school fund all money derived from the forfeiture of lands or from escheated estates.

pension something more substantial than it now is, and the Legislature will be asked to increase the pension fund to $100,000, twice what it now is.

Fortunately for the serenity of the pro-ceedings, all of the new county schemes have been told to refer their grievances to the General Assembly. Provision is likely to be made that new counties may be formed after certain conditions have been complied with. There will be a fight as to the area of the new counties, committee will try and get out all the good things that have been suggested by the various members, not including female suffrage, and make up a plan tha is expected to be generally acceptable. From what can be understood the plan will be a modified form of the famous Mississippi plan. In a word, the idea is

The County Court matter is more than The Constitutional Convention spent ast week letting its surplus eloquence off. There seemed to be a series of unimportant and petty squabbles, which in the end amounted to but little. Whatwill be in session a month longer, although Governor Evans makes the outever factional feeling or debate that has side limit two weeks longer.

In the final vote on the Butler County shown itself up to this time has been connected with these trivial questions. The naming of a county or the censuring of a

Mr. Prince took an active part in the debate this week, and ca led Senator Tillman's attention to the fact that such speeches as that he had just made on the newspaper incident were calculated to do more harm than good.

The members of the Anderson delegation have given close attention to their committee work and the sessions of the Convention AUGUST KOHN.

Blue and Gray Day. ATLANTA, GA., September 21.—An army of Federal veterans swept down upon Atlanta for another time last night and this morning, headed by five night and this morning, headed by five Generals of the Union Army and by the Governors of six States. "Blue and and Grey" day at the Exposition is a success. There are in Atlanta to-day six Governors of as many great States, each accompanied by his staff. Governor McKinley, of Ohio; Governor Morton, of New York; Governor Werds, of New Jersey; Governor Holcombe, of Nebraska, and Governor McIntyre, of Colorado, are the Executives who have honored the occasion with their presence. The Grand Army of the Republic is represented by Gens. Schofield, Dodge, Howard, Horace Porter and Williamson. The Confederate legions are headed by Gen. James Longstreet, the grizzled hero of Chickamauga. The city is thronged with the manga. The city is thronged with the old soldiers of both armies, and stirring scenes and incidents can be noted all over the city as well as in the limits of Piedmont Park. This morning the entertain-ment committee of the Exposition directors met the Governors and the members of their staffs and accompanied them to the Exposition grounds. Carriages were provided and the visitors were taken around the grounds to the various buildings. Afterwards they were taken to the Piedmont Club, where lunch was served. After the lunch Governors Morton, Mc-Kinley, Werts and Gen. Fairfield made short speeches. The Governors spent the remainder of the day viewing the Exposition grounds. All of them will leave for their homes to-night and tomorrow. Since yesterday morning twenty special trains from Chattanooga have arrived in the city. On these trains came members of the Grand Army and of the Confederate veterans, who had been attending the exercises at Chickamauga. It is estimated that since yester-day morning fifteen thousand members of the G. A. R have arrived in the city. From the surrounding country thousands of the Confederate veterans came to attend the reunion exercises, which oc-attend the reunion exercises, which co-curred at 3 o'clock this evening at the Auditorium at the grounds.

The scene in the Exposition Auditorium at the reunion of the Blue and the Grey the retunn of the Blue and the city this afternoon emphasizes the statement that the opening of the Exposition has inaugurated a new era of good feeling. The ovation received by the Northern Governors, especially that by Governor Morton and Governor McKinley, reached a climax of enthusiasm seldom equalled. It is something unusual to see the Gov-homestead that the money so derived will have to be reinvested in another homestead. Some such provision will be insisted upon, although many members think that its chief effect will be to Victor Herbert, of Gilmore's Band, ushered in a dramatic scene by playing a succession to "Yankee Doodle," "Dixie," "Columbia" and the "Star Spangled Ban-ner." Deafening cheers greeted "Dixie," "Yankee Doodle" and "Columbia," and deprive those who are most in need of credit of the basis of the credit they now when the inspiring strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" were heard the great enjoy by being able to pledge that amount of property which it is proposed to reserve against such use. The proposed section provides that all Senators are to be elected spangied Banner were heart the great audience arose as one man, waving hand-kerchiefs and cheering to the echo. It was at this juncture that Governor Morprovides that all Senators are to be elected in November, 1896.

An important and entirely new section comes through the Committee on Municipal Corporations and Police Regulations. Full provision is made for all city elections, and the first step towards female suffrage is made by this Committee in its recommendation that women holdon was introduced and received the great ovation. The standard-bearer of Governor Morton's staff had planted the New York flag on the stage and waved it as the Governor came forward. The flag called forth a new burst of applause.

The first formalities of the occasion were brushed aside when Capt Evan P. Howell, the veteran editor of the Atlanta tions involving the increase of the bonded indebtedness. This plan will be vigor-ouely opposed. The Committee recommends a section that will cover the Dis-Constitution, rose to speak. He is an epigrammatic speaker, and with ringing voice and sharp, incisive utterance he brought down the house with his wit, mends a section that will cover the Dis-pensary, and the State is given the right through the Legislature to license the liquor traffic to corporations or individu-als, or to engage in it through State or County agents. This Committee makes the maximum limit for municipal in brought down the house with his wit, saying: "These must be peace times when so many Governors are present." The speech was an eloquent tribute to the bravery of the soldiers of both armies, and lacked the sterotyped phrases so ommor on such occasions. He made the very significant utterance that as a slave-holder he would declare that but for slavery the Southern country would long ago have been a garden. This utterance he would have deemed disloyal thirty years ago. Now he believed it to be the truth.

Capt. W. D. Ellis, of the Atlanta Bar, who followed Capt. Howell, made a short, eloquent speech on the same line. He was followed by Gen. J. R. Lewis, a onearmed Federal veteran, who now acts as secretary of the Exposition Company. He spoke in behalf of the Grand Army of spoke in benait of the Grand Army of the South and assured his comrades of the good will of his people.

Gen. Longstreet was next introduced and made a short talk, describing the bravery of the soldiers of the North and South in the Mexican war. He received a great ovation, the audience rising to meet him. Then came the incident in which the national airs played a conspic-uous part. When the audience had paid its tribute in succession to "Dixie," 'Yankee Doudle' and "Columbia," and had risen in one grand ovation to the "Star-Spangled Banner," Chairman Hemphill, catching the enthusiasm of the moment, introduced Governor Morton in a dramatic manner. Then came the scene in which the New York flag received its ovation. Governor McKinley followed. He was called forth by loud cries, and responded in a happy vein. His opening sentence was: "There is a unity in the hearts of the people that can never be broken." He was cheered loudly at this and similar utterances throughout his speech.

He received an ovation when he said: "The country needs a new baptism, and the best way to take it is by immersion."

The audience was carried away when he said: "Americans never surrender At this Gen. Longstreet sprang to his feet and waved his handkerchief, which was the signal for renewed demonstration by the audience.

The next speaker was Gen. Fairchild, representing Governor Upham, of Wisconsin, who had broken his leg two days ago at Lookout Mountain. Gen. Fairchild said that he had been in many camp fires of the G. A. R., and had never heard in any of them anything but good will for the boys in groy. He was received with applause and at the close of his speech Chairman Hemphill arose and speech Chairman Hemphill arose and presented him with a Confederate badge, dinning it on his coat. This, of course, recipitated another demonstration. Governor Holcombe, of Nebraska, and Governor Mocdoury, of Vermout, fol-lowed in short and patriotic speeches. The last speech was made by Capt. James W. English, chairman of the exe-cutive committee of the Exposition, who received from a Federal officer at Appo-mattox Gen. Grant's dispatch to Gen. Lee, calling for the surrender. Capt, English's speech was on a line with the others and was well received. The visitors were deeply impressed with what they saw and heard and went away declaring that a new era had begun.

Married in a Minute.

An unusual romance had its happy culmination in the parlors of the Gospel tabernacle on Wednesday night, when the Rev. J. E. Duren, who is in charge of the tabernacle, united in the holy bonds of wedlock the Rev. J. S. Lewis and Mrs. F. A. Griffin, two Holliness evangelists. He was a widower and she a widow.

The strange feature of the wedding is that the two parties had never seen each other until about ten minutes before the wedding ceremony was performed. It seems that they got into a correspondence with each other and exchanged photographs. The courting was done through the medium of epistles—which, by the way, was quite appropriate in this instance—and the question was popped and answered in the same manner. Mrs. Griffin was waiting, all attired in her wedding clothes, when her betrothed, whom she had never seen, arrived, and no time was lost in tieing the knot. The bride has been associated with the Rev. Mr. Duren here for the past seven months in missionary work, and had made many friends. The groom is a member of the South

Ris Stomach Collapsed.

Col. Benjamin F. Norton, well known in Chicago politics, who is at the home of his daughter in New York, has rallied from one of the most remarkable opera-tions known in surgery. Col. Norton, when he came here, began to have intense pains in his stomach. A stricture formed in the gullet and communication between in the guilet and communication between his mouth and stomach became impossi-ble. Despite the best medical skill he was slowly starving to death. Physi-cians were called in. An operation was decided upon. It was performed July 27. A hole was cut in his stomach about two inches above the naval, large enough for a hand to be inserted. It was found that the walls of the stomach had collapsed, and lay flat against the spine. Dr. Weir pinned the forward wall to the intestines It is something unusual to see the Governors of so many States on one platform, and still more unusual to see such an incident as the pinning of the Confederate badge on Gen. Fairchild by Chairman Hemphill. Governor Morton's speech was very short, but his appearance was greeted by a tremendous demonstration. Governor McKinley was received in the same manner and made a splendid utterance, thoroughly in harmony with the occasion.

With two gold pins, each four inches in length. The stomach was stitched to the intestines on August 1, and the pins were withdrawn. Then a silver tube was in the series of rubber tubing attached to it, and through this canal food was forced into the stomach. A daily wash of nitrate of silver cured the ulcers. A sounder, consisting of a jet bulb on the end of a whalebone rod, was inserted once a week. This operation will have to be kept up for a year or more to keep the passage from growing with two gold pins, each four inches in more to keep the passage from growing together again.—St. Louis Globe.

The murderer's home was in Fairfield, Ia., where his father was formerly a Rock Island railroad agent. He came here Friday and visited friends, while his wife gon permission from the college president to visit here. Stinson met her at the depot, and he registered as man and wife. The Biggest Shipment of Ever made to Anderson, and perhaps the largest to any point in the State. The following explains itself. Don't read it, if you are not interested in your County and your Town, and the people whom you call neighbors:

SEPTEMBER 18, 1895.

C. S. MINOR & CO.

GENTLEMEN: I have the pleasure of stating that we have received at this depot, marked to your address, one and one-third Car Loads of Crockery, all shipped from same place at one time. The one-third Car Load had to be shipped in separate Car, as it all could not be put in one Car.

To the best of my knowledge, this is two and a half or three times larger than any previous single shipment of Crockery to this point.

way. I congratulate you and this community.

You will accommodate us by removing these Goods as early as you can make room for them, as we hardly have sufficient space for storing so large a lot of this ware in our depot for any length of time. J. REESE FANT,

Agent Port Royal and Western Carolina Railway.
